U.B.C. Student Court Planned

Plans for a proposed Student's Court for the maintenance of discipline within the University have been drawn up by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs and submitted to the Student's Council where they were discussed yesterday. The formation of such a body would mark a distinct change in the method of enforcing order at U. B. C. and would place this University side-by-side with the larger Canadian Universities in its method of securing discipline. The suggestion for a Court arose when the old Marshal system was discarded, in the spring of this year, as unworkable. It is expected that the proposed constitution of the Court, as drawn up by the Faculty Committee, will meet with the approval of the Council in its main features and that some form of Student Court will be an actuality this year.

Provision for Student Counsels

The constitution provides that the Alma Mater Society through its Student Court shall have full powers of punishment and shall, through disciplinary Class Officers maintain order. The Class Marshals would be the Presidents, and Vice-Presidents (if any), of the various years. Minor offences would be dealt with summarily, by the issuing of warnings by the Class Marshals, but offences of a more serious nature, such as theft, wilful infliction of bodily injuries, dishonesty in examinations, damage to University property, insubordination to the constituted authorities either of the University or of the Student Body, must be reported by the Marshals and dealt with by the Court. Any student may make a complaint, and the accused may engage counsel from among members of the student body.

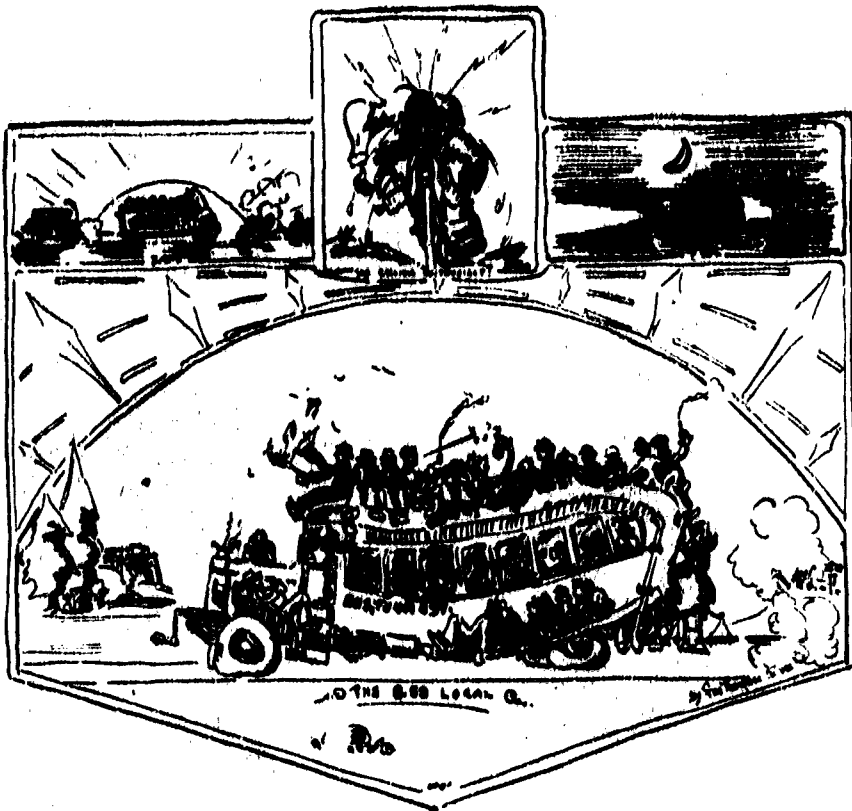

Personnel of Court

As planned in the proposed constitution, the Court would consist of the Presidents of the A. M. S., of the Men's Undergraduate Society, of the Women's Undergraduate Society, of the Agriculture, Arts and Science Men, of one Senior Class, in the respective positions of Chief Justice, Junior Judge, Deputy Junior Judge, Senior Prosecuting Attorney, Junior Prosecuting Attorney, Sheriff and Chief Marshal. The Vice-President of a Junior Year would be Clerk, and the Presidents of the Junior and Sophomore Classes in the three Faculties

EXTRA!

This is an extra Four-page number of the Ubysssey, prepared spasmodically during the frantic rush of registration and published two days earlier in the term than any other Ubysssey. The speed with which this edition has been thrown together has handicapped its appearance and news value but we hope the few announcements which it has been found possible to make through its columns will justify its appearance and hold the field until our first regular edition appears, early next week.

Musical Society Plans Early Start

All Students Interested are Asked to be Present at the Try-outs

The Musical Society proposes to resume its activities early this year, and no time should be lost in making application for membership.

First-year students especially are urged to take advantage of this opportunity of participating in the musical life of the University. The purpose of the society is not only to promote the cause of music, vocal and instrumental, but also to offer an opportunity, to those students interested in music of partaking in ensemble work throughout the year. The society, consisting of a Glee Club of mixed voices, and an orchestra, will endeavor to produce work of an artistic nature, and all members, old and new, may look forward to a year that will establish music more firmly than ever in the life of the University.

Mr. C. H. Williams, the conductor, has stipulated that the old members, as well as the new, be tried out this year. The try-outs will be held at an early date, and information as to the time and place will be posted in the halls. Voices of different parts will be tried on different days, there being one day for sopranos, another for contraltos, etc., and a day for the orchestra. Applicants for membership in the orchestra will please bring their instruments.

In former years it has been the custom of the society to present two concerts during the college year, one before Christmas and one in the spring, and other minor musical events during the year, such as student recitals. This year several changes may be made in the programme.

All students interested will please watch the notice boards for further information.

DID YOU WORK THIS SUMMER?

Here's a Chance to Make Money Telling About that Vacation Job

Many students of U. B. C. spend their summer holidays working for wages which will assist them in carrying on their University Courses.

Students are therefore invited to submit to the Sunday Editor, the Daily Province, descriptive articles, not exceeding 2000 words in length, recording their experiences in various jobs. Photographs (Negatives Preferred) will be welcome, and the articles should be written in light, breezy style. The more unusual the job the better the chance of its making a worthwhile story.

Two or three such articles may be paid for at current rates and published in the Sunday Province. Unaccepted articles will be returned.

MSS. SHOULD BE SUBMITTED NOT LATER THAN OCTOBER 7.

Council Positions Must be Filled

Nominations Close at Noon on Friday, October 1st

Nominations for the positions of Treasurer of the Alma Mater Society and President of Men's Athletics will be received by the secretary of the A.M.S. up to 12 noon, Friday, Sept. 25, these positions having been left vacant by resignations since the spring elections. A vote will be taken on the Friday following, Oct. 2. According to the constitution both officers must be undergraduates of the Junior or Senior year of any Faculty. Nominations must be signed by ten members of the A. M. S.

Amendments Made to Constitution

Lit. and Scientific to Appoint New Members to its Executive

The appointment of the remaining members of the Literary and Scientific Executive must be made at a meeting to take place this week, according to one of the amendments to the constitution of that department, made at the close of the spring term. The relation of subsidiary organizations to the central body have been fixed by the new clauses, the more important of which read as follows:

Art. 4., Cl. 2.—All constituent societies shall be placed in one of five divisions, i.e.: Literary, Scientific, Social Science, Musical, Dramatic.

Cl. 3.—Each of above to have one representative on the Executive, to be elected during the first week of the term by the various presidents of societies in the respective divisions.

Cl. 5.—Fourth week of each month, each representative shall call a meeting of the presidents of the various societies in his division and shall report to the executive at the first meeting of the month.

Art. 7, Cl. (a).—A general meeting of the department shall be held within the first two weeks of the fall term, at which the functions and activities of the department and its constituent societies shall be outlined.

All presidents of societies included under the department are requested to leave their names and a rough draft of their time-table at the Lit. and Scient. Office Room, Auditorium Building, before Thursday, Sept. 24th.

Reporters to be Chosen by Contest

Students with Journalistic Ability urged to Compete

Are you journalistically inclined? Well, here's your chance. The Ubysssey wants reporters, and is going to choose them by competitive open try-out. This is an opportunity which you should not pass up, for while, as a general rule, the Ubysssey offers neither fame nor quick promotion to would-be reporters, this year special circumstances compel it to offer both. For one thing, almost every member of the editorial staff is graduating this year, so that successors will have to be chosen within the next few months, and these successors will, of course, be picked from the reportorial body. Then the feature editor wants people with bright ideas for his department. Another opportunity for budding journalists and humorists to make names for themselves. All in all, if you have ever thought of trying out for the Ubysssey, now is the time to do it. Freshmen and freshettes are especially urged to do so.

To learn the conditions of the contest all candidates are requested to be present at a meeting to be held Friday, where the rules of the contest will be laid down. Time and place of the meeting will be announced later. Watch the notice boards in the auditorium.

EDITOR FOR THE WEEK

KLAWOWYA!

We have arrived!

Once more the Ubyssy sends forth greetings to its fellow students, new and old. Once more we hail familiar friends; once more we extend to-be-familiar friends cordial welcome not unmingled with paternal advice. But with what added cheerfulness should our welcome this year be colored, greetings sent forth from the heart of the Promised Land, the long, long-promised land into which we have been safely transported without the loss of our Joshuas or our Moses.

To those of us who began our academic careers in the catacombs at Fairview, this sudden accession to a wealth of light and beauty is positively bewildering. We are dazed with the appearance of architectural cleanliness and bewildered by our lineal freedom. Hence it is that we of the older years partake, in some respects, even more of the qualities of the Frosh than the members of the Class of '29.

Environment, however, is only a part of the world of a University, and therefore we still feel it incumbent upon us to focus the spotlight of our three-, two-, or one-year's experience upon the stranger within our gates.

To '29, we would say, then, what others have said to us before. Let your studies have the first but not the only place in your mind. You are primarily students, but your position as such entails secondary obligations. All are expected to participate in some form of student activity. At least one sport interest is essential if the student is physically capable. Take time to consider in choosing both your courses and the clubs you join. It is not too much to say that many of the friendships which last as long as any others into mature life are formed and shaped in the student club and on the playing field.

The problem of concentrating on one particular form of study and student activity, or of leading as all-round a life as possible, is one that each student must settle for himself, always remembering that the specialist is generally the most successful but not thereby the happiest of men.

All of which is by way of a moral digression and, as such, constituting a serious lapse from the jubilation with which we saw fit to launch our first editorial ship of the year. But the importance of the immediately forthcoming years lays heavily upon us. The obligations, the strenuous activity they will demand from those who are now but entering student life for the first time, compels us to point the solicited finger. This year and the years immediately following are ones of foundation-laying, years in which traditions will be formed to be passed down to dim futurity.

In the words of our untranslatable motto, it is up to you to see that these traditions are of the right sort.

TO THE PUBLIC

It is fitting, in these first days in our new home, to extend the thanks of the student body to those who are primarily responsible for our bettered conditions—the Public. British Columbia is a comparatively sparsely settled province, burdened with a tremendous debt, and with her rich, natural resources scarcely touched. Here, there is no wealthy class—our people are forced to work, and work hard, for their living.

These factors loomed formidably before our eyes, when we determined to launch a publicity campaign that would draw people's attention to our woeful lack of accommodation in the old buildings. Many thought it improbable that British Columbians would be willing to make further sacrifices to make more pleasant the lot of the minority who attend college in this city. Yet what occurred? In the short space of one day almost fifty thousand signatures were obtained to a petition asking for the immediate construction of the proposed new buildings. Few indeed were the refusals with which we met—with the result that work on our new home commenced almost immediately.

Now that the work is about finished, the Ubyssy, as representing the entire student body, desires to thank the people of British Columbia for the sacrifices they have made and the sympathetic support they have so freely given, during these last few years.

May Issue Ubyssy Twice Every Week

The proposal to convert the Ubyssy into a twice-weekly, four-page publication is receiving consideration by the Student's Council in conjunction with the Editor-in-Chief this week. It has been felt for some time past that a more up-to-date news service than could be provided by a weekly publication is needed by the students and this want, joined with the problem of increasing the size of the paper to give all student activities their fair share of publicity, has resulted in serious consideration of such a step. With sufficient co-operation from the advertising public it is expected that a bi-weekly paper could be financed without difficulty.

The remaining appointments to the Ubyssy staff will be announced next week when it will be known whether it will be necessary to create additional offices.

The Handbook

A Handbook will again be published this year, work on this publication being well under way. Any executive members who wish to check over information being published in it respecting their societies should do so AT ONCE. The deadline for copy is tomorrow. Miss Marion Smith is the editor of the Handbook.

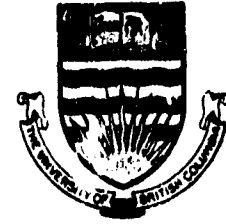

The issue is being rushed to ensure its being out on time for Initiation. It is expected that Freshman Copies will be ready even sooner, though it has not been found possible to publish the booklet this week, owing to the difficulties attendant to the settling in our new home. It is hoped that this extra edition of the Ubyssy, though bearing obvious marks of the haste with which it had to be prepared, will serve as a partial guide, in conjunction with the University Calendar, to accommodate students until the Handbooks are printed.

Xerxes Welcomed With Greatest
 Of Enthusiasm

"Xerxes," said our new editor-in-chief, "where have you been all summer?" "Ah," I said, "wouldn't you like to know? And where have you been, and why this unexpected civility?" "I," he said, "having been working for the Point Green Guesstet, and what I want is some of your advice. Who do you think would make me a good feature editor? To run the funny page, you know."

I was silent a moment thinking, you know. Then I spoke. "What you want, chief, is a clever man, one who stands out above the common mob, a man of intellect, of imagination, of genius, with a sense of humor, and a gift for mixing with people. He must have a wide and varied experience, a knowledge of human nature, of men and women, of books and events, and possess tact, judgment, foresight, and, if possible, be handsome as well. Chief, on thinking it over I will accept the position."

"But I never--" he began. "There, there," I replied, "I know you never dared hope that I would take the job in view of our disagreement of last spring. But that was only momentary and was never serious. You may have called me a totally unnecessary incubus on the fabric of society, and I may have added that you made me as mad as a giraffe with a sore throat, but that was only a lover's quarrel, as Elsinore used to say when she threw the Pub. phone at me. I cannot desert your paper in its hour of need. My experience is at its disposal. This summer I have seen much and travelled far, from the rum-running settlements to the south, up to our Northern border, at Mount Edith Cavell, where she was shot. After I take care of your humorous page, unusual things will begin to happen to your circulation."

"That," said the chief, "is what I am afraid of."
 "Have no fear, sir" said I, "I may be intellectually miles above the common mob, as Elsinore has so often told me, but I can and frequently do, stoop to their level. As to the quality of humor you will get, that will depend entirely on the students themselves. With me in charge--"

"But I never--"
 "--with me in charge, and a capable staff working under me, say Elsinore, and one or two others, any thing can be done. I want all those who can, to try their hand at a feature story when they try out for the reporters contest, and I would much appreciate it if the various members of the student body would turn in to the Pub. office, any good jokes

The real reason why George Led- ington got that job driving the B. C. Electric bus out here was so that he could tell Doc. Sedgewick where he got off at.

CHORUS TO DALLAS

One purse is too often drained
 Further to drain it;
 One payment too seldom disdained
 For thee to disdain it.
 One feeling too like despair
 For prudence to smother;
 And fees this year more dear
 Than those of any other.

I can give not the cold hard cash,
 But will find defect not A cheque from a year so rash
 That the banks will accept not;
 The desire of the Fresh for some sense.

Of the blunked for some sorry
 The need to curtail expense

THOUGHTS OF A FRESHMAN ON INITIATION

Public Thoughts on Left. Private Thoughts, Reading from Left to Right, in the Order Printed

Well, this is the time they initiate me, and I let them do it. Initiation is something you really want. Moral Development is the big thing I really think that a little chastisement, etc., won't do me any harm. T. M. C. Taylor, Pres. of M.U.S. tells me that I get off easy. This year I'm going to work hard and if I see him next year show him that I really amounted to something that I have to stand by while guern I've got to far from being The guy who tells you that is a Har, mess of paint in my hair and a is very unpleasant and it to get out of it. I hope I meet on a dark night. The dirty crook old line about being sorry, but if it'll be over his dead body taking boxing lessons I sure am going to am a damalte better man than he, after all, the big ---!! *!!-- *!!-- they happen to see (photographs excepted). And if they don't like the quality of stuff they get, I hope they will write to the paper about it. Instead of going yelling around the common rooms about the paper being in the hands of a clique, or being rotten, or no good, or words to that effect. As to the feature writers, I will share the office with them, fifty-fifty, and I'll let them do the work, while I'll take the credit. And Elsinore can always answer the phone for me."

Even then, the chief seemed loath to accept my sacrifice in taking the position, but after I had talked to him for about three-quarters of an hour more, he acceded with a graceful "Oh, well, what's the use?"

—A. Xerxes McGlockle.

1st Villyun: "Quick, where can I hide? The police are after me."
 2nd Villyun: "Why not try the Administration building. It's impossible to find anybody in there."

Sporting Comment

University has begun again; we are all glad of that; therefore we are glad that we must again study. To not a few, however, the opening of university also implies the beginning of athletics. Although definite information is unavailable, this article, nevertheless hints indefinitely at the general state of athletics.

In the first place a president of Men's Athletics must be elected as Eric Huestis will be unable to take over this office. This means that all men prominent in athletics must better themselves to get things started immediately, possibly without any executive aid. This includes the tracing of that new creature, the freshman, to what haunts of athletics he is wont to inhabit.

English rugby has greater possibilities than ever according to the daily papers. The Varsity officials say that this year the McKechnie Cup will return to the University's silverware case. Everyone hopes their prognostication will come true. U. B. C. will probably again enter two teams in the Miller Cup competition, at least one in the intermediate league, as well as the freshman team.

Canadian rugby players have had several practises under the direction of Coach Rose and Lever Bates. Intercollegiate games with the universities of Washington, Puget Sound and Alberta are to be played in Vancouver this fall as well as regular league games.

The first soccer team is entering the newly-formed Pacific Coast League, if difficulties regarding amateur standing can be adjusted. All soccer teams must be ready to play by October 3rd. All Varsity soccer men rejoice that Mosher will be "between the posts." The front line, however, will practically have to be reconstructed although the defense is intact. The second team has been promoted to the second division of the Mainland League because of past good conduct. The third team will again function in the Junior Alliance.

Finally, possibly most important, where are the teams to practise? The field at U. B. C. certainly does not appear to be ready for use but might be made so if students had time to attempt it.

INITIATION!

Although the plans for Initiation have not yet been disclosed, we are in a position to assure the members of the class of '29 that they will not be disappointed. The ceremony is to be serious, solemn, and impressive; and a word of warning—defaulters may expect to be severely dealt with.
Every member of the Freshman class is required to be on hand—this much is certain; directions as to time and place will be given later. All details are at present shrouded in mystery, but it is a safe guess that proceedings will be in line with the tradition established last year, "only," to quote the time-honored phrase, "more so."

MORE ACTORS ARE WANTED

The new theatre at Point Grey, with its spacious stage, its lighting equipment, and its dressing rooms, luxurious indeed after Bill Tansley's kitchen (for which the Player's Club was truly thankful), is an inspiration to anyone interested in acting. There are quite a number of vacancies in the Player's Club this year, and they will be competed for in the "Try-Outs." People who wish to try-out should make their applications without fail before a specified date, which will be posted on the Player's Club board, to either Alfreda Berkley, Arts '26, Avis Pumphrey, Arts '27,
Harry Warren, Sc. '26, Leslie Brown,
Arts '28 or to the Honorary President
Prof. F. G. C. Wood, Room G., Arts Building.

Library May Issue Handbook

Owing to the non-arrival of furniture and other necessary equipment the Librarian regrets that Loan and Reading Room service cannot possibly be given until October 1st and probably later. Students may register for the library, but identification cards will not be given till library service is installed.

In the meantime the Librarian is working on a handbook containing rules, regulations and general information connected with the library, which he expects to have printed and issued to the students within the next week or so.

ture, would be Assistant-Marshals of the Court.

Powers of Punishment

The court would have full powers of punishment. It might (1) reprimand the Accused; (2) impose a fine, accruing to the A. M. S.; (3) suspend from participation in student activities; (4) recommend suspension or expulsion from the University; (5) impose as an alternative such other penalty as it might deem just.

CAF. OPEN SOON

Unfortunately, there has been much delay in the instalment of equipment—dishes, tables and chairs, etc., and during the first week the Cafeteria will not be open for business. Miss Hanstord is keenly disappointed but hopes to carry on as soon as possible.
She had hoped to serve tea, coffee, and sandwiches, until such time as the kitchen was ready for use.

A 34-YEAR SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS CAREER
IN VANCOUVER PROVES CONCLUSIVELY THAT WE ARE FAVORED MORE THAN OTHERS BY THE BRACING PUBLIC WHEN THEY DESIRE THEIR MONEY'S WORTH.

We make a specialty of Magazines, Annuals, Dance Programmes, Legal Forms and General Commercial Printing
