Enrollment
Now 9200

The official UBC registration figure stands at 9,200.

Another 500 are expected to register this week, after paying their $20 late registry fee.

J. E. A. Parnell, UBC Registrar, believes total registration will fall short of the predicted 10,000 by about 200 students.

He suggested the delay was partially due to "Too many students have been unable to find jobs as soon as the summer vacation began," he said, "and as a result find themselves with less money than usual."

Record numbers of students went through the new system of registration, which Parnell termed "definitely a success."

Next year he hopes to eliminate the long hours of queuing by allocating times of registration in places to both fresh and upperclassmen.

Students Can Expect
More Government Aid

Government aid to UBC students is expected to increase, according to L. R. Peterson, provincial minister of education.

Peterson made the comment in a wire to AMS president Chuck Connaghan Monday.

Connaghan requested the government to take steps to aid more students this year.

"I urge the Provincial Government to provide immediate financial assistance to UBC students who have been unemployed this summer," he said.

"The government action is taken is possible that a high percentage of the present enrollment will be forced to discontinue their education this fall.

"The full text of Peterson's reply stated:

"Immediate financial assistance is being considered and processed in relation to the economy and the financial need of present enrollees that greater numbers will be assisted."
Do I Really Have To Buy All This?

It's become traditional that Alma Mater Society organizations set up headquarters in the Armoury during registration where they purvey "A" cards, club memberships, yearbooks, and other wares of questionable worth. As a rule, however, registrants are not in the mood to buy. This year, though, something unusual happened. Let's put the words "unusual" into perspective. The organizations arm the Armoury registration facilities less to stimulate student spirit than to make a fast buck. We think the bucksters could probably not sell half their wares without the high-pressure tactics at registration.

We think AMS activities should be made to stand on their own feet. If the students won't voluntarily support them, the AMS activities should be allowed to die a peaceful death.

Newcomers to a place of learning should not be greeted with the hard sell. Registration officials should focus upon the presence of AMS booths in the Armoury.

No Spirit
Editor, The Ubyssey,
Dear Sir:

An impromptu quick show at Saturday's Churchill Cup game forced me to cross the field to a drier seat. The notable difference between the response to the game by bleacher students and reserved-seat adults was due to more than rain.

On the east side of the stadium, a large student crowd contained a few bottle munchers, who were just attentive enough to know what quarter the "Birds" would be playing. In the west, many noisemongers were not even aware of an exciting game. There was no need to go to the Armoury to find the ACMS-Mary Wickliss was in a state of perfect euphoria.

The Ubyssey's willingness to send their staff to the newspaper was an excellent recognition of UBC's growing importance in WUS activities, locally, nationally and internationally. This impression was strengthened at the Assembly by many delegates, who in casual conversation were referring, in warm terms, to WUS activities on our campus. It is, therefore, natural that I should pay tribute here to all those UBC students and staff who devoted their energy to building our WUS program and enabling our university to become an international phenomenon. WUS is going strong today.

One can only hope that in future WUS will not let go this good reputation but rather will continue to fulfill the promise of WUS activities to maintain it. This will necessitate being active and imaginative in both a national and international capacity.

In this respect it is gratifying to note that over the years UBC will host the 13th National Student Conference of the University Service of Canada. Let's take an active interest in this Assembly and let our voice be heard!

WUS (formerly known as International University Service) is a worldwide organization of professors and University students. The purpose of WUS is to provide ideal of a University community transcending all barriers of creed, culture, or nationality. Its history dates back to post World War I when many universities throughout the world organized relief to assist their fellow-members in the then war-torn Europe.

Today WUS is active in 42 countries in Europe, Africa, the Middle East, Asia, and North America. These countries are all designed to promote inter-university and international cooperation, understanding, and collaboration.

1. Material aid to university communities in need through self help and mutual assistance projects.
2. Promotion of international understanding through seminars, conferences and study tours.
3. Research into university problems.
4. Cooperation with hundred University students and professors from about thirty countries attended the WUS international conference. Members-at-Large selected for their knowledge and experience of University affairs, and representatives from international organizations.

Many countries were represented: British Guiana, Brazil, Egypt, England, France, Ghana, Greece, Holland, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Lebanon, Nigeria, Pakistan, Philippines, Sierra Leone, Sweden, Switzerland, Singapore, Thailand, India, Uganda, United Nations of South Africa, United States of America, Vietnam, and West Indies. Thus, in a space of ten years the WUS has added a new activity to three new regions.

Such expansion naturally requires new demands upon WUS resources. New demands upon WUS resources must be anticipated, and these anticipate problems in making the foundations of this expansion solid. However, WUS has not advanced into a new area for the past two years.

The Assembly expressed in its final decision to continue maintaining and expanding, wherever this is practicable. It also determined that the present, specific WUS projects which consist of the following: Newcomer's Guide, Conference projects, and other specific activity projects. This includes assistance in developing cooperative methods and ideas for organizing and maintaining existing projects, and direct material aid for the initiation and establishment of student centers in halls of residence, common rooms, canteens, hostels, etc., which shops selling articles needed by students.

2. Student Health: Basically, this involves the establishment of health services, particularly with regard to promoting effective preventive measures; clinics with out-patient facilities, student wards at general hospitals and sanatoria and, lastly, the provision of medical supervision.

3. Educational Activities: Facilitating students to participate in educational activities involves two aspects, namely academic and Extra-Curricular. The Academic is concerned with need for more and better text-books reference works, laboratory and study material and for improved educational techniques. The Extra-Curricular, on the other hand, is concerned with the need for more activities and extra-curricular activities to three new regions.
Students Needed to Sell Advertising

Students are needed to sell advertising in various campus publications. A 12% commission is paid on all local sales.

Applications are invited from all students.

Educators And Statesmen Honored At Symposium

Academic leaders and Canadian public figures will receive degrees at special congregations commemorating the B.C. Centennial, the UBC Jubilee and building.

The first congregation, Wednesday at 2:30 p.m., in the War Memorial Gymnasium will honor academic leaders from the Commonwealth and the United States.

Lussier Speaks
The Right Reverend Monsignor Irene Lussier Rector of the University of Montreal, will be the Congregation Speaker. Monsignor Lussier was appointed Rector in 1956, and is also a member of several committees in Quebec's department of education.

Symposium Stresses Humanities
An academic symposium, held in conjunction with UBC Jubilee congregations, starts tonight in Brock Hall.

The symposium has been arranged especially to accompany the opening of the Buchanan Building, according to Malcolm McGregor, faculty organizer.

Humanities Stressed
Since the Buchanan Building is the centre for the Arts and Science Faculty, and since last year a great stress was put on Science, the focus of this symposium will be on the Humanities and the Social Sciences, he said.

The symposium is being held at the beginning of the Fall term, in hopes that this time would be the most convenient for students.

Symposium For Students
Dr. McGregor said that the symposium has been arranged for the students, not the faculty.

Dr. Roy Daniels will present the opening address in Brock Hall, at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

". . . Jove's Court"

His topic is "The Threshold of Jove's Court." He graduated from UBC with his B.A. in 1939 and received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Toronto.

In 1939, Dr. Daniels received the Royal Society of Canada Fellowship and studied at King's College, University of London. He was appointed head of UBC's English department in 1948.

Costin On Education
The second speaker at the Symposium, W. C. Costin, will speak on education and welfare state Wednesday in Brock Hall, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Costin is president of St. John's College, University of California in 1950.

Classical Scholar
He is a director of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens.

His publications include "Folk Tale, Fiction and Saga in Spain" and "The Sculpture of the Nike Parapet."

All lectures are open to the public at large.
Elections Near; Frosh Told "Get Organized"

More than 60 class representatives and six Frosh Council executives will be elected by the 1958-59 freshman class during the first weeks of lectures.

Frosh President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and Girls' and Boys' Athletic Representatives will be nominated Monday, September 29 in Physics 200 at 12:30. All Frosh are eligible for these positions and are urged to turn out and nominate their friends.

One representative from each Frosh English 101-101 class will be elected to Frosh Council during the early weeks of lectures. All Fresh Council President nominees will receive invitations to the annual student Leadership Conference, Peter Meeckison, Fresh Orientation Committee Vice-President said today.

"Get out and get organized," Meeckison advised Frosh. "You can aid both the campus and yourself by supporting various student events."

Eric Nicol Classic Presented

Sex, murder, laughs and an intimate close-up of the university subculture are in store for frosh when UBC Player's Club presents Eric Nicol's "Her Sex Cellenian Lover" late this month.

The play has been a tradition of frosh week since time immemorial. Many upperclassmen have seen it every year.

The Frosh version, noon in the Auditorium September 29, will be directed by Joan Reid, who has just returned from the United Kingdom where she studied theatre techniques.

Admission is 25c a head.

Nursing

Students registering in First Year Arts who are interested in entering First Year Nursing next year are asked to report to the School of Nursing, Wesbrook Building before October 1, 1958.

Big Moot Obsolete?

Controversial issue of representative student government at UBC will be investigated by a new Students' Council committee.

The representative government system, a method of student government that would eliminate the semi-annual general meeting, was hotly discussed last year but never brought to a general meeting for a vote.

Council hopes the new committee will arrive at recommendations for constitutional changes suitable to all interest groups on the campus.

Committee will be chaired by AMS Vice-President Jaitra Mubikentha. It is expected to submit final recommendations in time for them to be discussed at the Spring General Meeting in March.

AMS Checks Food Service

Students' Council Monday formed a permanent committee to examine expansion of food services and other facilities in Brock Hall in future years.

It was felt that council should arrive at some specific plan for expansion of these services to present to the UBC Board of Governors when that body meets to consider growing enrolment.

Committee was named the Brock Planning and Development Committee and will be chaired by AMS Co-ordinator Jim Hornsman.

Notice

The system of giving student activity awards will be investigated by a Students' Council committee under chairmanship of UCC chairman Dave Edgar.

The committee will examine methods used by UCC, USC, WUS, WAA, MAA, and Council itself in determining which students should be given awards.

UBC's honorary society and honorary fraternity are not included in the investigation.

Many Intra-Murals Offered On Campus

UBC has one of the most comprehensive campus-confined athletic programs in Canada. And all you have to do to become part of it is express some athletic interest.

Fraternities, Residences, Facilities and the majority of clubs enter teams in a giant fun-raising intramural program.

More than 3,000 male and 800 female students participate annually in 20 sports.

Points given for each win and each championship go to form an aggregate team champion at the end of the year.

Most sports are scheduled at 12:40 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; Wednesday evening from 6:00 to 10:00 and Friday from 4:30 to 6:30.

Health and desire are the only requisites needed. Compulsory cardiograms are required for students who compete in cross-country, boxing and wrestling.

Officiating is done by student referees who are paid for their services from the intramural treasury.

All contests are covered in The Ubyssey with league schedules and results given each week.

Further and more detailed information can be found on the men’s locker room bulletin board in the War Memorial Gymnasium or in the office of director Bob Hindmarch.

Intra mural sports include swimming, volleyball, tennis, bowling, ping pong, cross country, tug-of-war, golf, touch football, badminton, basketball, soccer, boxing, wrestling, track and field and skating.

The program provides the freshman with an excellent opportunity to form his first university friendships while at the same time providing excellent exercise.

THE UBCYSSE

WOMEN'S SPORTS NOTICE

The most noteworthy item on the women's sports page this week is the formation of a Senior "A" basketball team. This team — the first in ten years, will be coached by Mearnie Summers, well-known player and coach.

Anyone who is interested in trying out for this team is invited to attend the first practice to be held on September 28, from 7:30 till 9:30 p.m. in the Women's Gym.

Girls who would like to play boys' rules basketball, but not necessarily for the Senior "A" team are asked to watch THE UBCYSSE for notices of tryouts for other UBC teams.

GRASS HOCKEY

The first grass hockey meeting will be held in the Women's Gym today at 3:30. Both new players and former team members are encouraged to attend this meeting. Full gym strip is required. Practices will be decided later.

The Intramural Administration Board will hold an organizational meeting on September 29 at 2:30 p.m. in the Commons Room in the Women's Gym. All clubs, sororities, faculties, and other organizations which have and just appointed a girls' sports representative to sit on the I.A.B. are asked to do so by Monday or to send a representative to the meeting.

The I.A.B. Committee will meet September 26 at 12:30 in the offices of Miss Barbara Schrock, Faculty Administrator.

All members of the Women's Big Block Club are asked to attend a meeting at Wednesday noon in the Women's Gym.

Symposium Opens Buchanan Building

This fall, U.B.C. is commemorating three events by its Academic Symposium and Special Congregations.

One hundred years ago, on November 19, 1858, Sir James Douglas, speaking at Fort Langley, proclaimed the birth of the Mainland Crown Colony of British Columbia.

On March 7, 1968, fifty years ago, the Provincial Legislature passed the University Act, establishing the University of British Columbia.

This week, the Buchanan Building, U.B.C.'s new centre for the Faculty of Arts and Science, will be officially opened.

This building marks the completion of the first step in U.B.C.'s present program of expansion.

It has seating capacity for 2,953 students, houses 126 members of the Faculty, and represents twelve departments.

The building was named in honor of Daniel Buchanan, who was Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science for twenty years, from 1928 to 1948.

Dean Buchanan, who started his career at U.B.C. in 1928 as Professor and Head of the Department of Mathematics, died at the age of 76, in December 1950.

These three events are the occasion for this Week of Celebrations: the Centenary of the Province of British Columbia, the Golden Jubilee of the University of British Columbia and the Opening of the Buchanan Building.
