Fonds Description

12.75 m of textual records.

Administrative History

Canadian Literature: A Quarterly of Criticism and Review is a journal published officially by the University of British Columbia. It is devoted to the critical, historical and biographical study of literature in Canada and to the systematic review of new Canadian books. The journal consists of studies of both established and lesser known writers, essays on new writers and contemporary literary movements, articles by poets, novelists and dramatists on their own arts, and discussion of Canadian writing by English, French and American authors. It publishes articles in both English and French, and originally each year issued a bibliography of books and essays in the field of Canadian literature. The idea for the quarterly originally came from the Department of English at the University and was finally accepted by the University Press committee. Publication began with the assistance of a Koerner Foundation grant and with subscriptions from hundreds of individuals who sent them before the first issue went to press. The first issue came out in the summer of 1959. George Woodcock was the first editor, the business manager was Inglis Bell, the circulation manager was Basil Stuart-Stubs and the typographer was Robert Reid. George Woodcock was succeeded as editor by William New in 1977. Professor New paid tribute to George Woodcock in his first editorial when he stated that Canadian Literature had been built into the independent journal of opinion and analysis which in his first editorial he promised it would be.

Scope and Content

Fonds consists of original versions of manuscripts and working records of press (manuscripts, edited and marked for printing, mostly typescript, of editorials, articles, poems and book reviews) of Canadian Literature, Issues #73 - #179, 1977-2003. Also included are correspondence files, 1975-1993. These latter files contain letters from many well-known Canadian writers and poets. Records from the pre-1977 period will be found at Queen’s University Archives interspersed with other correspondence in the George Meredith Woodcock manuscript collection.
Notes
