Biographical Sketch

Luciana Duranti was a Professor at the University of British Columbia's iSchool (the School of Library, Archival and Information Studies), an appointment she has held from 1987 - 2023. She was a part of developing the curriculum for the Master of Archival Studies degree, teaching courses on diplomatics, records appraisal for selection and acquisition, preservation of digital records and advanced archival theory. Additionally, she helped develop educational guidelines for the education of Canadian archivists. Prior to her UBC appointment, she was a Researcher Professor in the Special School for Archivists and Librarians at the University of Rome (1982 – 1987); served as State Archivist in the State Archives of Rome (1978 – 1982); and was Project Archivist for the Italian National Research Council (1974 – 77). She is specifically known for her series of articles on Diplomatics published in Archivaria (1989-1992) and as the director of InterPARES, since 1998.

InterPARES (International Research on Permanent Authentic Records in Electronic Systems) is a multi-national and multi-disciplinary research project studying the long-term preservation of authentic electronic records. Interpares means "amongst peers" in Latin, which made the acronym feel especially appropriate for such an internationally collaborative project. The Project was divided into four phases, stemming from the results of an earlier research project between Luciana Duranti, Terry Eastwood and the Department of Defense called The Preservation of the Integrity of Electronic Records or the UBC project (1994-1997) which focused on maintaining the authenticity and trustworthiness of records throughout their life cycle. Phase 1 of the InterPARES project (1999-2001) focused on the long-term preservation of authentic electronic records. Phase 2 of the project (2002-2007) continued researching authenticity in electronic records, focusing on experiential, interactive and dynamic records. InterPARES 3 or Theoretical Elaborations into Archival Management (TEAM), which ran from 2006-2014, worked to apply the findings of the first two projects to smaller archival institutions. The fourth phase, or InterPARES Trust ran from 2012 – 2019 and focused on the trustworthiness of records and data in online environments. For further information into the InterPARES projects and results, review http://www.interpares.org/.

In addition to the research for InterPARES, Duranti has been the lead investigator for a number of SSHRC-funded research projects, such as Records in the Clouds and Digital Records Forensics, all accessible from the Center for the International Study of Contemporary Records and Archives (CISCRA). She published extensively in the areas of archival diplomatics and archival theory, and presented at conferences around the globe. She served on the Association of Canadian Archivists as President between 2017-2018 and was the co-chair for the Steering Committee on Canada's Archives from 2018 - 2020.

Scope and Content

This collection consists primarily of records relating to Duranti's career and professional endeavors throughout her UBC appointment, including InterPARES. This includes documents and correspondence for conferences, professional associations, teaching and various grant and research projects.

Notes

File list available.

Transferred to the UBC archives in June 2023. Further accruals of digital records are expected.

The series were determined according to the labels on the boxes received by Duranti. Some records were physically rearranged in order to fit into their intended order.

Please refer to the InterPARES websites, archived through Archive-It as part of the UBC Web Archives Collection.

Languages include English, Italian, Spanish and French.
