Fonds Description

Association of Professors Emeriti fonds. – [1992?-2018].

25 cm of textual records.

Administrative History

The UBC Association of Professors Emeriti was established in 1987 as a voluntary association of retired UBC faculty (academics, librarians, and senior academic administrators). To qualify for membership a Professor had to be at least 65 years or older with five years service at UBC, or be retired and have worked at least 25 years. It was a division of the UBC Alumni Association. A main objective of the organization was to maintain a strong relationship with the University by putting the intellectual and academic resources of the Association at the disposal of the University. The Association also aimed to serve as a forum for members to pursue matters of common interest and to foster intellectual and social interactions between them.

In February 2019 the Association was dissolved, and its assets transferred to UBC Emeritus College.

Scope and Content

Fonds consists of letters, printed emails, reports, newspaper clippings, drafts, minutes, newsletters and other materials.
