Fonds Description

UBC Student Christian Movement fonds. – 1930-1935.

1 bound volume.

10 pp. of textual records.

Administrative History

The Student Christian Movement of Canada was created in 1921 through the merger of university student Christian clubs and associations with YMCA and YWCA student departments. A Student Christian Movement “study group” was organized at UBC in 1922, and by 1926 had been formally established as an official branch of the Canadian SCM. The SCM was dedicated to discussion and consideration of economic, social, and political issues from a Christian perspective. The UBC branch hosted a number of public discussions and other events on campus, and hosted seminars and conferences for the regional and national SCM. In 1974, the UBC SCM amalgamated with the Anglican-United Campus Ministry to form the Cooperative Christian Campus Ministry (CCCM) at UBC. In 1979, UBC SCM left the CCCM – it continued to operate as an active student organization until at least 1993.

Scope and Content

Fonds consists of documentation of the activities of the UBC Student Christian Movement during the early 1930s, and includes a minute book for the SCM “Grad Group” (1930-35), two small SCM promotional pamphlets (1934), and assorted correspondence (1933-34).
