WIL HUDSON PAPERS

INVENTORY

Introduction

The Wil Hudson Papers (0.6 m.) consist largely of print samples of commercial work produced by this well-known B.C. fine printer. These materials were recovered during the final closing of his print shop in Powell River in September 1991. Mr. Hudson has retired completely from the print trade and has moved to Nelson, B.C. The circumstances of his retirement and the donation of these materials are outlined in the brief correspondence file which leads off the collection.

Wil Hudson has been a noted printer for over 30 years. In Vancouver in the 1960s, he was known successively as Grouse Mountain Press, New Age Press, and "Wil Hudson, Printer". In the 1970s at Cape Dorset, NWT, he published with the West Baffin Eskimo Cooperative (and was involved in the creation of the Cape Dorset Eskimo Syllabic type (5-1.5), "a native language printing type for ... use in promoting literal printed communication among the Inuit people"). Finally, he settled in Powell River as a commercial printer until 1991. He is highly respected by printers and lovers of fine presswork, "a legend" to younger printers, noted for his "style and flair" (1-1.1).

This collection consists of two formal sample books and a varied range of fugitive samples of Hudson's commercial printing. It contains materials from throughout his career, and is an important addition to our collections of such materials from other fine-press printers of B.C., including Robert Reid, Gerald Giampa, and Jan and Crispin Elsted. As well, materials documenting Hudson's work with the Alcuin Society supplement our records of the Alcuin Society itself: in particular, for the rather acrimonious Canadian Settler's Guide project, compare the records in the Alcuin Society Papers, 8-24,25 and 15-1,2,3,4.

For convenience, files of materials relating directly to Hudson's own places of business are included as the second series. Thereafter, materials have been classified generally according to type--commercial notices, stationery, invitations, cards, church notices, poems, woodcuts, broadsides and covers--with special series for some corporate bodies for which significant quantities of materials are present, the Gallery Tantalus (Powell River), the Alcuin Society, and UBC.

The collection includes also a copy of A Compendium of Historic Canadiana, four facsimiles of historic documents in historically appropriate folders, with explanatory cover sheet. This has been catalogued for the library's pamphlet collection, with a note linking it with the Wil Hudson Papers (SPAM). Similarly, complete copies of some of the periodicals in Series 10 have also been moved to the pamphlet collection.
