January, 1995

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

Established in Chicago in 1905, the International Workers of the World sought to unionize industrial workers. The Vancouver Branch was founded ca. 1911. After the Branch's demise in the early 1970's, it became active in the 1980's under new leadership.

SCOPE/CONTENT

The earlier deposit consisted of a variety of materials, once housed in the Vancouver offices of the I.W.W., including correspondence, newspapers, convention reports, brochures and cash books, posters, sound recordings of I.W.W. insignia. Addition #1 consists of material acquired or created mainly in 1986 around labour and political issues of the time such as Expo '86 and includes the correspondence of Bill Culp, Pam Tranfield and Tom Wayman. The fonds consists of correspondence, subject files, minutes, photographs, posters, and periodicals.
