Introduction

Various organizations used the space available in the offices of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries commission to store old cannery records, newspaper clippings, and other material relating to the commercial fishing industry. The commission agreed that these records that were not related to the activities of the Commission be transferred to the UBC Library, Special Collections Division, in 1974 to facilitate their preservation and use. The Fisheries Association of B.C. agreed to the use by researchers of the minute books of their predecessor organizations. When possible, the records identified as created by specific donors were kept together. Other material was arranged by series.
