Vancouver Women in Focus Society

The Vancouver Women in Focus Society, commonly known as Women in Focus, had its beginnings in the Women's Office, Student Union Building, University of British Columbia. The original function of the group was to "support the production of feminist video and film, and to encourage women artists in the making of images which reflected their lives and experiences." Since its inception in 1974 Women in Focus has expanded to include "distribution of feminist video tapes and film; workshops, lectures, and presentations in the community on the theory and practice of feminist art and media; the exhibition of video, film, sculpture, painting, and other visual art." During the period covered by these records the group moved from the Women's Office to #6-45 Kingsway, Vancouver, (in late 1976), and then to #204-456 West Broadway, Vancouver, (end of 1980). The office on Kingsway was next door to the office of Vancouver Rape Relief, and there was close community between the two groups, as well as with other local women's groups. The move to the West Broadway location gave Women in Focus increased gallery space and allowed a greater branching out into promotion of painting, sculpture, etc.

The papers include records of the involvement of Women in Focus with the British Columbia Federation of Women, of which it was a member group. Women in Focus was involved in several projects and groups dealing with violence against women, and distributed a variety of educational materials on this subject. They also organized several film festivals in Vancouver and the Fraser Valley, and attended festivals elsewhere, becoming part of an international network of feminist groups.

Because of the collective nature of the group, it was (and is) not run on a hierarchical basis, and the membership frequently changes. However there are some names which recur frequently, both as representatives of Women in Focus and in relation to independent projects mentioned in the Women in Focus records. These include Marion Barling, founder of the group; Lyn MacDonald, Susan Moore, Michelle Nickel, Jill Pollack, Nicola Sumner, Colleen Tillman, and Kern Windwraith. As of the time of this inventory, none of these women are still with the group, which has again moved and can now be found at 849 Beatty Street, Vancouver.

Guide to the Inventory

Women in Focus papers include correspondence, office files, newsletters, handbills, government grant applications, sales and rental records, jury submission forms, catalogues and bibliographies, clippings, minutes, etc. Records are filed under six headings: Correspondence, Financial, General Business, Other Productions, Resources/Reference, and Women in Focus Productions. Within these sub-groups files are arranged alphabetically, with further alphabetical or chronological organization where necessary. Correspondence relating to special projects of Women in Focus and its members is interspersed with general Women in Focus correspondence, or filed under separate headings, as determined by considerations of bulk and continuity. Printed material from the Women in Focus resource library is in separate boxes, filed by subject or source, and grouped for space efficiency rather than in any particular order. Oversize items may be found in a folder in Maps - Loc.5.
