

An Open Letter.

Open letter to the Minister of Education, the Chancellor of the University of British Columbia, and the President of the University of British Columbia.

Dear Sirs,—I am a member of the Senate of the University of British Columbia. It is now more than three years since the Minister of Education put into operation the machinery whereby a body of about 1000 alumni was created for the University of British Columbia out of the university graduates resident in the province. This body of alumni in due course appointed their representatives in the senate of the university and subsequently the appointments of the government to the same body were made. Three years ago last August the first convocation of the university was held in Victoria and certain announcements were made by the Minister of Education to the Alumni and Senate there gathered. From that day to this the senate has been practically non-existent.

By the act of legislation creating the University of British Columbia certain powers and duties were conferred on the senate of the university. As far as my knowledge goes none of the powers have ever been exercised nor have any of the duties been performed.

Some time ago I received a copy of what purports to be the calendar of the University of British Columbia, in which a course of instruction is outlined, for the students and faculty of the university, and certain rules and regulations are laid down for the conduct of this curriculum. It would seem that the issue of this calendar was irregular, that the curriculum was ultra vires of the issuing body and the work done under the same authority was also irregular and of questionable value for examination and degree purposes. I have waited for some other member of the senate to move in this matter but so far have noted nothing in the way of a formal protest against the procedure that has been followed by the university authorities. I trust I may not be accused for presuming to speak with undue haste or to be questioning matters beyond my province as a member of the senate. As a duly appointed member of the senate I have certain obligations resting upon me and certain responsibilities to those by whose votes I was placed in the office I hold. It is incumbent upon me therefore to meet the obligations and responsibilities as far as I may. In view of the publicity given to the creation of the senate may I not expect from you, individually or collectively, some public explanation of the procedure that has been followed and a statement regarding what the senate may look for in the future. Either the powers and duties of the senate have not been exercised and performed or they have been assumed by some body not legally empowered to exercise and perform them. The senate, according to the act of incorporation, is a vital part of the university body and as such should be given its rightful place or else be dissolved and the organization freed from a needless encumbrance.

Respectfully yours,

E. P. SAWYER.

(Note.—This letter reached "The News-Advertiser" Saturday morning, after it had appeared in another morning paper. We depart from the usual rule in publishing it.)

UNIVERSITY SENATE.

Professor E. W. Sawyer, a member of the Senate of the University of British Columbia, has addressed an open letter to the Minister of Education, the Chancellor of the University and the Presidents, asking why the Senate has not been convened for the discharge of its duties. We print the letter, though it was received at this office after its appearance in another paper. Dr. Sawyer is entitled to the explanation he seeks, and we may suppose that he makes his enquiry thus publicly because he considers that the public has the same right to the information as himself. It may not be quite convenient for the three officers to reply by an open letter to Dr. Sawyer, but the object of the criticism will be accomplished if the chief university authorities explain the position. The Senate has important functions in the direction and regulation of the University work and cannot be ignored by other governing bodies.

IMPOSING PARADE AT FIRST CONGREGATION

Ceremonies Marking Close of University's First Academic Year Will Take Place Tomorrow

Preparations are practically completed for the first Congregation of the University of British Columbia, which takes place tomorrow. The ceremonies mark the close of the institution's first academic year, and have been planned on a scale commensurate with the dignity and importance of the occasion.

The university not being as yet housed in its own premises at the Point Grey site, has no buildings suitable for the accommodation of senate, governors, students and friends of the institution, who are expected to be present to the number of a thousand or more. The university authorities have, therefore, secured the ballroom of the Vancouver Hotel for the conferring of degrees upon the first graduating class, some 40 in number, as well as for the presentation of scholarships and medals, and addresses by notable speakers.

The limited accommodation will necessarily prevent hundreds of citizens interested in the university from being present at the conferring of degrees, but, if the weather continues favorable, all will have the opportunity of seeing the procession which will precede it. The board of governors, senate, official guests, convocation, faculty and student body will march from the Court House to the Vancouver Hotel. As the majority will be in academic costume, which varies according to degree granted and university conferring it, the procession will be one of a kind hitherto new to Vancouver and presenting features of unusual attractiveness. It will leave the Court House promptly at 2:45, and take the northwest driveway to the intersection of Hornby and Georgia, and thence east to the main entrance of the hotel. It will be headed by a section of the B. C. Company of the Western University Overseas Battalion, under the command of Major Brock. On arrival at the hotel, the company will form a guard of honor at the entrance, the remainder of the procession passing through to assigned places in the main hall.

The Procession.

The order of the procession, as at present arranged, is as follows:

Company of Western Universities Overseas Battalion; Hon. Frank S. Barnard, Lieutenant-Governor and visitor to the University, the Chancellor, Mr. F.

Carter-Cotton, M.P.P.; the Premier, Hon. W. J. Bowser; President Tory of the University of Alberta; Hon. Thomas Taylor, Minister of Education; Hon. Henry Esson Young; the Right Rev. Bishop of Caledonia; Principal Mackay, Westminster Hall; Dr. Seager, St. Mark's Hall; Principal Sanford, Columbian Methodist College; Principal Vance, Latimer Hall; the board of governors; the president and senate; Dean Kinck and faculty; members of convocation; the graduating class; third year students; second year students; first year students.

On arriving at the hall, the various sections of the procession will take position in places assigned, and promptly at 3 o'clock the formal exercises will begin with the singing of "O Canada." After addresses by the Chancellor, the Lieutenant-Governor and the Premier, the ceremony of conferring the degrees on the graduating class will be performed. This will be followed by the announcement of winners of the Governor-General's medals and distribution of prizes by President Westbrook. Then will succeed addresses by President Tory, Major Brock and Hon. Dr. Young, the proceedings terminating at 5 o'clock with the National Anthem.

Concert in Hall.

Ticket holders will be admitted to the hall at 2:30. The hotel orchestra will give an orchestral concert until the arrival of the procession at 3 o'clock. Official guests, members of the board of governors, of the senate, of convocation, of faculty and teaching staff, and the student body will assemble at the Court House at 2:30. By the kindness of the Provincial Government, robing rooms have been arranged, so that all necessary preparations can be completed by 2:45.

Though it will accommodate more than 1000 people, the ballroom of the Vancouver Hotel is unable to hold convocation, senate, faculty and students. It is, therefore, impossible to issue tickets to students of the first three years. But while provision has to be made for the whole of the convocation, it is certain that many living at a distance will be unable to attend. As soon as information is received as will enable the university authorities to estimate the number present, tickets will be issued to friends of third year students, and, if accommodation permits, to second year also.

Application should be made to the University on Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning.

May 3/16.

PREMIER TO ATTEND UNIVERSITY CONVOCATION

Victoria, May 3.—Hon. F. S. Barnard, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, Premier Bowser, and Dr. H. E. Young, M. P. P., left this evening for Vancouver where they will attend the convocation of the University of British Columbia tomorrow. The Premier will be one of the speakers.

May 4/16.

Another Student Enlists—Mr. George C. Cross, a son of Mrs. George B. Cross, Second Street, who has been a student at the university, has enlisted with the Western Universities Battalion.

May 4/16.

University Convocation—The close of the first academic year of the University of British Columbia will be celebrated this afternoon in the ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver, when degrees will be conferred on 40 members of the graduating class. The entire body of the university officials and students will march from the Court House at 2:45 o'clock to the hotel, the majority attired in the academic garments. The procession will be headed by the band of the University Overseas Battalion. Addresses will be given by President Tory, Major Brock and Dr. H. E. Young. The proceedings will terminate at 5 o'clock.

May 4/16.

University Launch Party — A very enjoyable outing is promised the students of the University for next Monday. The Science Undergraduate Society, in conjunction with the Ladies of Arts '17 and Arts '18, is giving a launch party in honor of the graduating class. The boat will leave the foot of Bidwell Street at 1:30 p.m. and will carry the party to Sunnyside, where a good time is assured. All students of the University are cordially invited. Members of Arts '16 and their friends are especially invited. Ladies are requested to bring refreshments.

The first Congregation of the University of British Columbia is an event of historic interest. With due regard to form and ceremony degrees were conferred on the first graduating class of forty-one, of whom a number are abroad in military service. To one accustomed to the habits of Canadian students on these occasions, the grave and serious manner of officers, visitors, and more especially of the students, would be noticed, though it needs no explanation. The sobering influence of the time was manifest. The presence of the lads of the University Battalion, the list on the programme containing one hundred and seventeen names of student volunteers were among the reminders of wartime. For many reasons the presence of President Tory of Alberta University was welcome. He had a share in laying the foundations of this university. But if he had been a stranger his inspiring and suggestive address would have made him welcome hereafter. So long as the people of the West will hear and support such a vindication of the university and its mission in the land they will not lose contact with the things of the mind, nor yet will they forget the things that belong to their prosperity.

FIRST GRADUATION DANCE OF UNIVERSITY

Large Number of Young People
Assemble at Lester Court in Honor of First Graduating Class

The Alma Mater Society of the University of British Columbia gave a dance last evening in Lester Court in honor of the graduating class of the university, under the patronage of the wives of the board of governors, Mrs. G. E. Robinson, Mrs. R. W. Brock and Mrs. L. S. Klineck.

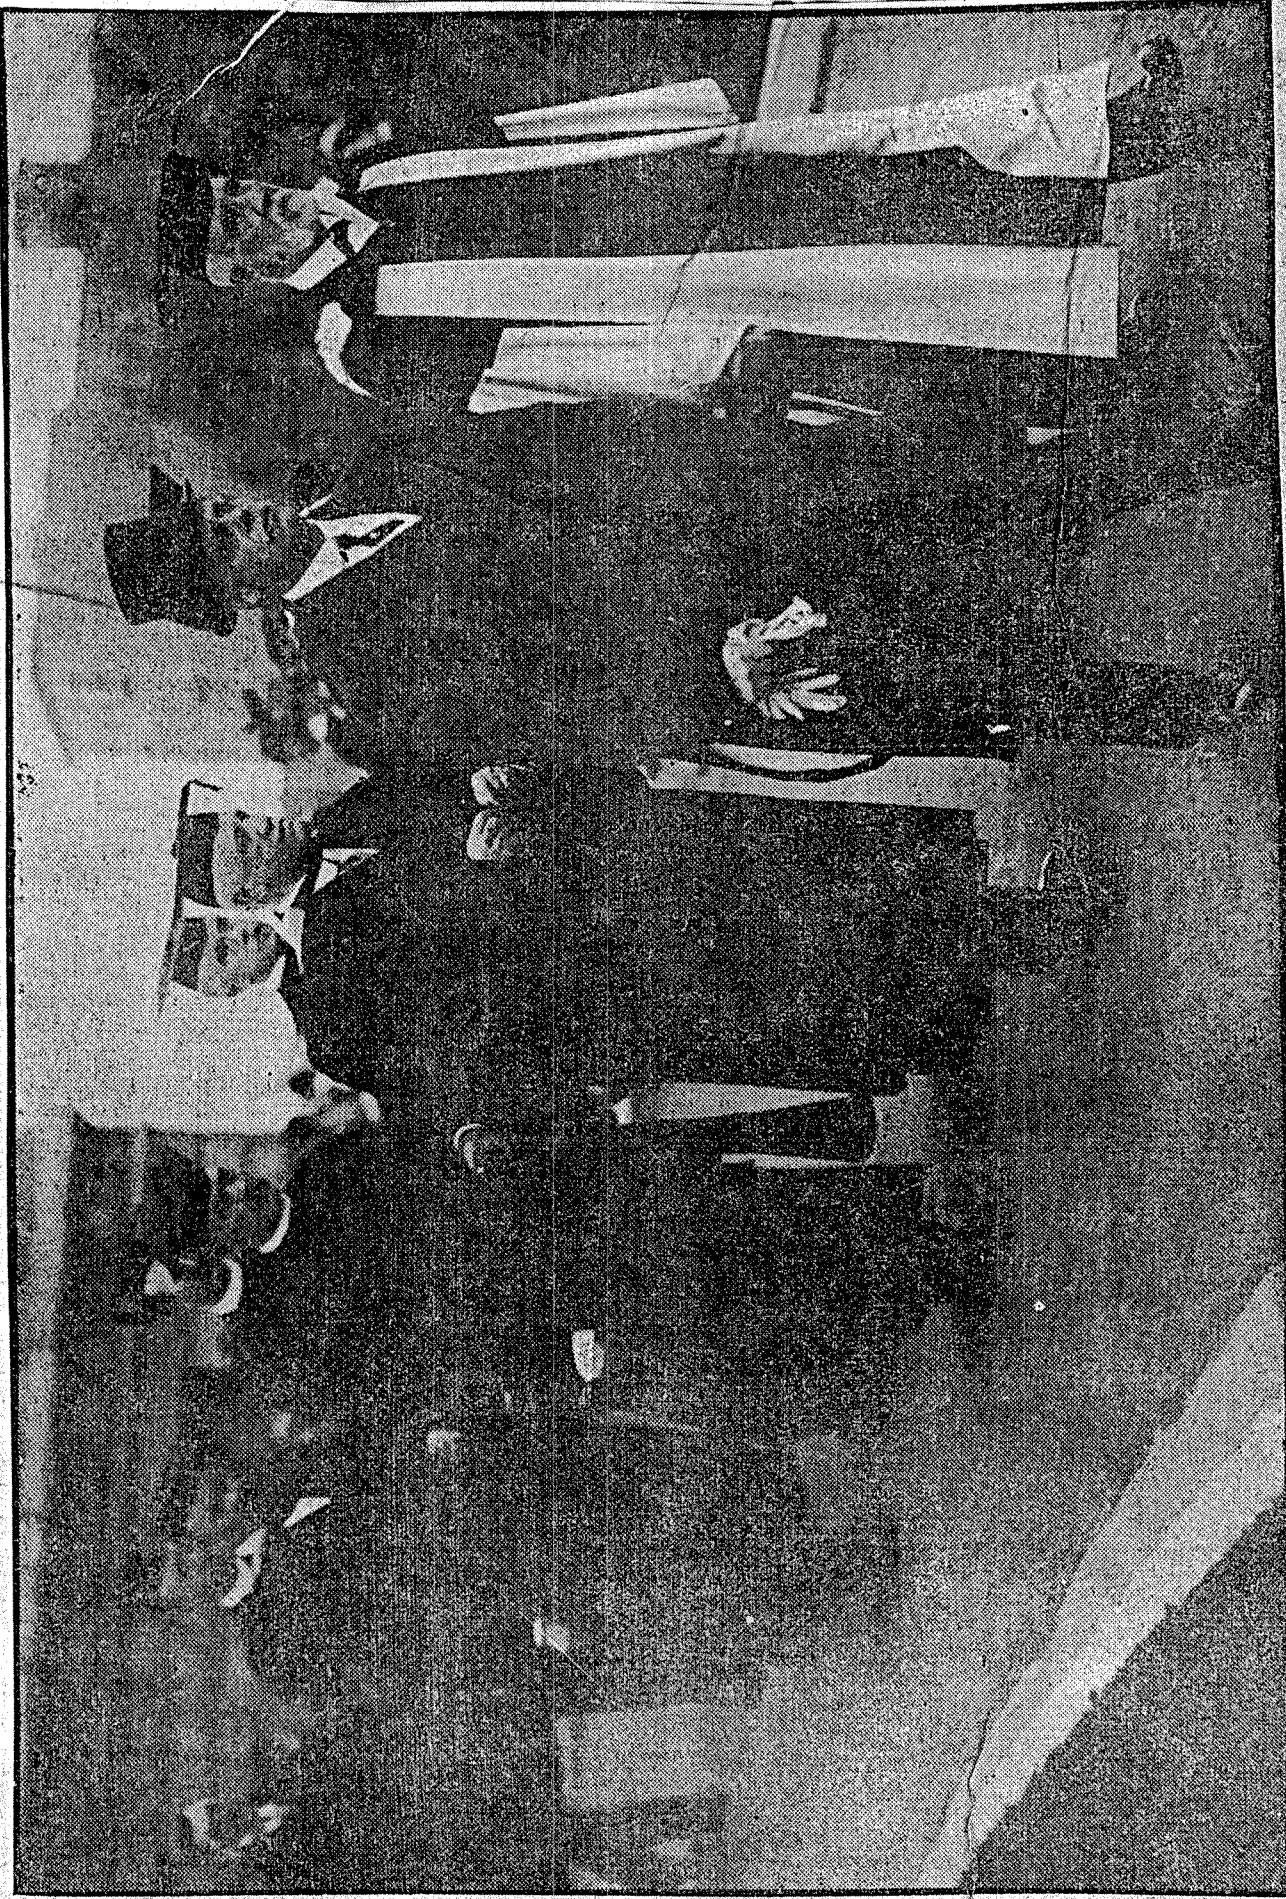

There were just sufficient people for really comfortable dancing space, and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the splendid programme, to the accompaniment of Weaver's orchestra.

Among those present were: Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Westbrook, Dean and Mrs. Klineck, Mrs. Alexander Robinson of Victoria, Mrs. W. J. White, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Reid, Mrs. S. D. Scott, Mr. J. E. Mulhern, Miss Isabelle McMillan, Miss Evelyn Storey, Mr. J. S. Johnson, Mr. T. Shearman, Miss Norah Coy, Mr. Charles Wright, Mr. A. E. Lord, Major and Mrs. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull, Mr. Russey, Dr. Eastman, Mr. Chodat, Miss Ouida Gow, Mr. Meakson, Miss Mary MacDonald, Mr. Robertson, Mr. Percy Southcott, Miss Agnes Damer, Miss Winnie Lee, Miss Rosebrough, Miss Hawe, Miss McMillan, Miss Anderson, Miss Schwesinger, Miss Chapin, Miss Robson, Miss McNeill, Miss Janet McTavish, Miss McLeod, Miss Isabelle Foran, Miss Rose, Miss Handry, Miss Annable, Miss Jean Robinson, Miss Grace Henderson, Miss Vera Woodell, Miss Helen White, Miss Margie Suggitt, Misses Bonny and Shirley Clement, Miss Kathleen Peck, Miss Marion Mounce, Misses Margaret and Kathleen Maynard, Miss Edith Letson, Miss Stella McGuire, Mr. Fred Wood, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Kemp, Mr. Sherwood Lett, Mr. Ernest Le Messurier, Mr. Morrison McTavish, Mr. Lyall Morrison, Mr. Frank Branchley, Mr. Herbert Rochester, Mr. Thomas McGowan.

First Congregation of University of British Columbia

The procession leaving the courthouse yesterday on its way to the Hotel Vancouver for the first congregation of the University of British Columbia. Hon. Francis L. Carter-Cotton, chancellor of the university, is at the head of the procession, wearing his robes of office. On his right is Lieut.-Governor Barnard. Immediately behind Lieut.-Governor Barnard is Premier Bowser and on the Premier's left, with only a portion of his hat and gown showing, is President Tully of the University of Alberta. The others in the picture are Hon. Dr. H. E. Young, Right Rev. F. H.

FIRST CONGREGATION IS AN IMPOSING CEREMONY

Vast Assemblage Witnesses Important Event in the History of University of British Columbia—Procession of Board of Governors, Senate, Faculty and Students From Court House to Hotel Vancouver Viewed by Thousands—Ceremony in Ball Room of Hotel, Where Degrees Were Conferred and Prizes Presented Made Inspiring Spectacle—Prominent Men Speak.

ATTENDED by all the pomp and ceremony befitting the occasion, the first congregation of the University of the British Columbia took place yesterday in the spacious ballroom at the Hotel Vancouver, in the presence of a gathering that taxed the seating capacity of the big hall to its limits. The ceremony was held at the Hotel Vancouver owing to the university buildings at Point Grey being in an uncompleted condition.

But the magnificent surroundings of the Vancouver ballroom furnished a splendid setting for what will always stand out as one of the most important events in the history of British Columbia's University.

The familiar colors of the university, old gold and blue, were draped in profusion around the windows and fixtures of the hall, and at the north end of the hall a platform had been erected and covered with the varsity colors. It was from this platform that the addresses and presentation of degrees, prizes and diplomas were made. Several rows of seats to the front were reserved for the graduating class, students and officials of the university and the portion of the hall set apart for the friends of the students and the public generally was well filled long before the hour set for the ceremony to commence. The hotel orchestra provided a splendid programme of music while the public was being seated, previous to the arrival of the procession.

Much Interest Taken.

Outside the hotel great crowds assembled, lining the route of the procession from the court house to the hotel entrance. So great was the throng around the court house entrance that the provincial police had to be called upon to assist in clearing the route. Cameras were to be seen at work on all sides, there being no less than three moving picture machines in use and scores of other photographers, professional and amateur, occupied every vantage point.

In the court house the distinguished gathering donned their brilliant robes and formed up in the line of march. As the procession came down the steps of the court house, the British Columbia company of the Western Universities Battalion under the command of Major R. W. Brock, formed up and marched ahead. Hon. F. Carter-Cotton, chancellor of the university, with Hon. F. S. Barnard, Lieutenant-Governor of the province led the procession, while Premier, W. J. Bowser and President Tory of the University of Alberta came next with Hon. Dr. H. E. Young and the Right Rev. Bishop of Caledonia, immediately behind. Rev. Dr. Mackay, Principal Sanford of Columbian College and Principal Vance of Latimer Hall, the Board of Governors, the president and Senate, Dean Klinck and Faculty, the members of convocation, the graduating class, third year, second year and first year students followed in the order named.

When the procession reached the hall it was followed by a great throng and in addition to every seat on the main floor of the hall, every seat in the galleries was quickly filled, a large number remaining at the rear of the hall. The graduating class occupied the first row of seats on the main floor, while Chancellor Carter-Cotton occupied the centre seat on the right platform with Premier Bowser on his left and President Tory on his right.

Immediately following the singing of "O Canada," which was led by the orchestra, the chancellor welcomed the assemblage on behalf of the University of British Columbia, and alluded to the great importance of the occasion not only to the university, but to the people of British Columbia generally. It was an occasion he said which all who had the welfare of the university at heart would cherish for many a long day. He urged all present not to view the big institution at Point Grey as representing so many stone buildings; it represented more than that, just how much no man could say.

He congratulated the Board of Governors and Senate on the success which had attended their efforts, and predicted that this was but the beginning of further successes which would go on from year to year, with the men who had been responsible for the present success always looking forward to the accomplishment of even greater things. The idea had prevailed among many that the university was for only the well to do, he declared, but that idea was being quickly dispelled, and if the people would look back, he said, they would see that such an institute of learning was for all.

Lieut.-Governor Barnard's remarks were brief, when he rose to congratulate the Board of Governors, the Senate, Faculty and students on reaching the present important step in the university's history. Just how much unflinching faith and untiring energy was represented in the occasion then being observed, it would be indeed hard to say. He predicted that it was but the beginning of still greater successes and the first significant step in the history of what would be one of the most important seats of learning in the Dominion.

Premier Bowser prefaced his remarks by declaring that it was a distinct privilege to hold a position that carried with it an invitation to occupy so honored a place at the first great event in the history of the University of British Columbia. He regreted that the great change which had been cast over the world since the work was first started on the university prevented the government from carrying out the plans it had outlined for the advancement of such an important institution to the people of the province.

Premier's Congratulations.

He tendered his sincerest congratulations to the men who had displayed the zeal and energy to make the present occasion possible, and while the government had given assistance to the extent of $500,000 to the work of clearing the site for the university and in carrying out other work, he declared that the province would do well to give all the assistance in its power to further such a splendid work.

The university had sent a large number of students to take up arms in behalf of the Empire and the Premier expressed the fervent wish that all who had gone or who were going would come back safely. In giving themselves for such a work, he said, these men would come back with wider and broader views on Imperial destiny.

President Tory, of the University of Alberta, to whom was given the honor of delivering the congregation address, congratulated the board of governors and members of the senate on reaching their first convocation, and remarked that there was no doubt that they had the people behind them in their work. The great crowds that had assembled on the streets, and the big crowd gathered in the building, gave undeniable proof to the speaker of the deep interest taken by the people of Vancouver in the University of British Columbia. During his whole experience, he said, he had never seen such a great gathering of people present at such an occasion.

Value of Education Recognized.

"I congratulate you because you have shown the courage by going forward at a time when courage was needed to go forward," said the speaker, "and I congratulate you because you have a province here in which, irrespective of politics, the people have wanted and have been given an institution that is a credit to it. I congratulate you on securing an institution such as the University of British Columbia, at a time when the great value of education is universally recognized. It is not always the case. There was a time when support that was badly needed for this purpose was indeed hard to get. I am glad to say that spirit has long since passed away."

In England such a spirit had remained for a long time, said the speaker, but it had also passed away there. He was glad to say that there was not a state in the country to the south, or a province in Canada, that did not now have a university or similar educational institution. One reason why this state of affairs existed now, he declared, was because intellect alone had demanded it. The call to the intellect of the present race had to be attended to. The speaker then went into the evolution of education, tracing the different steps taken during the past hundred years, contending that the university of the present day had found its inception in the demand of the masses, a demand that the voice of the man on the street be heard. One of the reasons that the people of the present day had to be proud of their universities was that they made it possible for the boy working in the shop to one day become prime minister of his country. In this connection the speaker said that in the city of Montreal alone fully 75 per cent. of the men occupying important positions had come from the common people.

Turning to Premier Bowser the speaker tendered his congratulations on the fact that despite the stress of hard times the government of this province had found the money to make the establishment of such a great institution possible. He had heard that in England some $3,000,000 was to be withdrawn from institutions of learning. He hoped that such would not prove true, for he did not like to think that while the need for retrenchment was evident, money could be found for other purposes which were not nearly so vital to the future of the nation as education.

Education as Investment.

Dealing directly with the subject of education and its achievements the speaker quoted statistics to show that as a matter of dollars and cents alone education was one of the best investments possible, in that it increased a man's earning power and was something of which a man could not be deprived, except by his own actions. He dealt with education from its economic significance and referred to several illustrations in support of his statements.

Touching upon another phase he declared himself to be a Democrat of Democrats, but urged his audience not to get it into their minds that while he believed that the public institution was for the public, that that meant that he thought Dr. Westbrook and his staff were government employees. These men, he said, were there to give all that was in them for the cause to which they had allied themselves, but were not, as he had heard himself described, "one of those fellows employed by the government."

Referring to the war in which the British Empire is engaged, he said he wanted to call attention to the relation of the universities in Canada to the war. In response to the call sent out by the Motherland, he said, the universities should have been the first to respond, and they had been. No man hated bloodshed more than himself, but he rejoiced in the fact that the students and teaching staffs of Canada's universities had realized that Britain's freedom and all sense of justice was at stake and had responded nobly to defend the finest traditions any race could possibly possess. If he had his way, he declared, he would say that no student should be allowed to enter any university unless he fully realized what British institutions stood for. He was proud of the stand Great Britain had taken on behalf of Belgium and for right and freedom.

Turning his attention to the members of the B. C. company of the Universities' Battalion, who occupied a portion of the hall, the speaker said that some of the young men present might not come back but, he asked, how could a man die better than facing fearful odds and upholding the traditions of the British race? In closing he again voiced his congratulations to the governors, senate and faculty.

Earlier History.

The earlier events which led up to the passing of legislation dealing with the University of British Columbia was touched upon by Hon. Dr. H. E. Young during his remarks, in which he mentioned the fact that he had the good fortune to be Minister of Education at that time. Looking back, he said there were times when the outlook looked to him black, but now in the day of accomplishment it seemed as if the worries he had had then must have been magnified.

Fair-minded Criticism.

During those days, he said, criticism was indulged in, but that criticism, he was glad to say, had never been in opposition to the institution, but had been offered with the one aim of obtaining the best results. The sentiment of the masses had never been better exemplified than in British Columbia. The people of this province had made up their minds, and the result of that can be seen in the splendid institution existing today.

The Government had done all that it possibly could do, and it was unfortunate that troublous times had met it. The war and the depression resulting therefrom had prevented the Government from carrying out its plans. But he had no hesitation in saying that with the return of better times the government of the day would be as ready to give the support needed to accomplish the work for which the university had been established.

It had been hoped to hold the first convocation in the university buildings, but this had been found impossible. With the same spirit of unity existing among the men behind the university, he predicted that the work so well begun would continue.

Major R. W. Brock tendered thanks for the splendid reception accorded him on behalf of the men of the B. C. Company of the Western Universities Battalion. There was no doubt in his mind that the warm reception was meant for his company as a whole. He believed that the men who had thrown in their lot with the B. C. Company would be a credit to the province. He was proud of them, he said, and expected to have his company up to full strength, similar to the companies of the other Western provinces, in a short time.

He referred to the position his name occupied on the programme as that of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," in that he hardly knew what subject to speak on. He, however, touched upon the work of his department, referring to its importance to the future of the province.

President Westbrook said he did not intend to make a speech upon rising. He did, however, touch generally upon the work of the university and of the men who had labored with him. He had nothing but praise for the untiring energy and faith displayed by these men, he said, and asked for the co-operation of the people of the province in their future labors.

Forty Receive Degrees.

There were 40 members in the graduating class who received the degree of bachelor of arts, nine of whom, it was mentioned, had been granted their degrees without examination, they having enlisted for service overseas. These nine members were Edward Weldon Berry, Charles Andrew Duncan, Ernest LeMessurier, Sherwood Lett, William Forrest Maxwell, Franklin Frederick Burrows, Sexsmith, Thomas Stinson Beckett Shearman, James Percy Caldwell Southcott and William Cochrane Wilson.

The members of the class who qualified by examination were: Anderson, Jessie Josephine; Annable, George Reynolds; Cairnes, Clive Elmore; Cameron, Ella Gladys; Carruthers, Bertha Mruel; Chapin, Florence Birkett; Dick, Agnes Johnston; Duntun, Marjorie Mae; Elliott, Carrie Isabel; Galloway, James Robert; Gibson, Henry James; Lane, Laura Mathilda; Logie, Edward S.; Luckraft, Edward Charles; Macleod, Jean Marie; MacMillan, Isabel Gray; Miller, Grace Winnifred; Miller, Roland McLeod; Mills, Lennox Algernon; Mulhern, John Edward; Munro, Donald Hugh; Robertson, Thomas Joseph; Robinson, Jean; Schwesinger, Gladys Clotilde Johanna; Shearman, Thomas Stinson Beckett; Smith, David Angus; Taylor, Edno May; Thompson, Clausen A.; Uchida, Chitose; Vermilyea, Ada Irene; Walsh, Harold Edgar; Wilson, Mary Letitia.

The presentation of medals, prizes and Royal Institution Scholarships, Faculty of Arts, was made by the registrar, Mr. George Robinson, the following being the recipients:

Fourth Year—Lennox Algernon Mills, Governor-General's medal; Edna May Taylor (proxime accessit), prize $30; James Robert Galloway, second prize, $20.

Third Year—John Hamilton Mennie, first prize, $25; John Russell, second prize, $15.

Second Year—Abraham Lincoln Marshall, first prize, $25; Caroline Pansy Munday, second prize, $20; Harold Remington Stevens, third prize, $15.

First Year—Constance Elizabeth Highmoor, first scholarship; Pauline Emma Gintzburger, second scholarship; Isabel Martin Thomas, third scholarship; Elizabeth Agnes Thomas, first prize, $15; Kosaburo Shimizu, second prize, $10.

Faculty of Applied Science, Third Year—Clive Elmore Cairnes and Charles Alfred Holstead Wright, equal, prize of $25 divided; second year, Theodore Harding Morgan and Frederick Choate Stewart, equal, prize of $20 divided; first year, William Orson Banfield, scholarship; George Frederick Fountain, prize $15.

Fanny and the Servant Problem.

"Fanny and the Servant Problem," the sparkling four-act comedy by Jerome K. Jerome, which the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia is to produce in the Avenue Theatre on Friday next, had its premiere performance in London in 1907. On that occasion the part of Fanny, the perplexed and temperamental Lady Bantock was taken by Miss Fanny Ward, who of late has made such a name for herself in the "movie" world. Her recent successes in such plays as "The Cheat" and "Tennessee's Partner" have shown her to be an actress of more than ordinary ability. The present play has been considered one that has given excellent scope for her wide talents.

A point of interest to theatre goers might be the fact that "handsome Jack Dean," who played the part of Fanny's business manager in the original London cast, has, within the past two months, assumed a permanent managership of that winsome lady's happiness.

Regarding the play itself, it may be said that "it has the characteristic Jerome cleverness of construction and dialogue. The plot is light, with an amusing turn, and concealed here and there in the lines are examples of the humorous Jerome philosophy."

The atmosphere of the play, which takes place in an old English mansion, is enhanced by the presence of Lord Bantock's two sweet old aunts in "Lavender and Old Lace," who view the rapid advance of society with timorous eyes.

A sudden dash of brightness is introduced in the third act with the advent of 12 members of the Lady Bantock's former theatrical company. These girls, whose costumes, formed by a well-known modiste, are "le dernier cri," by their very contrast accentuate the old world atmosphere as well as introduce a riot of color.

Fanny and the Servant Problem—For the joint benefit of the Voluntary Aid and the Western Universities' Battalion, the University Players' Club will stage "Fanny and the Servant Problem" in the Opera House on Thursday evening. It has been successfully produced in Vancouver.

"FANNY AND THE SERVANT PROBLEM"

For the second time this spring, the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia has delighted theatregoers with the light and clever four-act comedy by Jerome K. Jerome, "Fanny and the Servant Problem." The company was the same, with one change, as when the former performance was given in February, Mr. Ian Shaw replacing Mr. Lincoln Marshall as the superior butler's (Mr. Henry Gibson's) perpetually dazed nephew.

As before, Mr. Henry Gibson and Miss Jessie Todhunter, having the leading roles, shared the chief honors. Miss Todhunter was graceful and pleasing, and showed improvement in what might be called appreciation of the character of the perplexed Lady Bantock. Besides being pretty and charming, she has a knowledge of the humorous turn of many of her lines, and when added to this is a well restrained power of emotional expression, revealed in the last act, the result is a satisfying Lady Bantock. Mr. Gibson as Martin Bennet, the butler who is bound to make a model Lady Bantock of his niece, has a good part, almost actor-proof, and last night portrayed it to the full value. He has just the right touch of dignity in bearing and utterance to bring out the comedy of his lines, and not for a moment does he allow any sign of indecorum to cloud the issue between him and Lady Bantock.

Mr. Pat Fraser, as the nice but not over-intelligent Lord Bantock, as at the previous performance of the play, distinguished himself in the last act when he became reconciled to his wife being the near relation of his whole staff of servants. The former business manager, "George P. Newte," in the person of Mr. George Annable, was a study of business efficiency as applied to matrimonial affairs. Mr. Annable was sincere and effective, doing his best work in the naive explanation of how he came to drag a bishop and a judge of the Ohio Supreme Court into the relations of Lady Bantock.

Miss Kathleen Peck and Miss Grace Henderson, as the two distressed maiden ladies, were splendid all through the play, fluttery and fastidious. Miss Peck is a most convincing weeper, and Miss Henderson still has the Maude Adams' trick of finely distinct and clipped speech and the natural and unaffected manner of that actress. Her evident ability will, no doubt, be shown in a more distinctive part in further efforts of the Players' Club.

The remainder of the company in minor parts were thoroughly at home. Mr. Shaw received quite a reception for his few halting remarks, and Mr. Chas. Duncan, as the family physician, played his part like a veteran. Miss Jessie Anderson, Miss Connie Highmoor and Miss Norah Coy, as the other members of the Bennett family, did all expected of them.

Taken as a whole, the performance was certainly as good as was expected from the first performance of the play, and was, if anything, better, being smoother and swifter. There was a large audience, which appreciated to the full the efforts of the university players, who are to be congratulated on the success they have achieved under the direction of Mr. F. G. C. Wood.

Vancouver Debating League—Two semi-final debates will be held this evening. In the Y. M. C. A. building, the Bayview Debating Club will meet the Y. M. C. A., and at St. John's Presbyterian Hall, corner of Comox and Broughton streets, the St. John's Literary and Social Society will meet the British Columbia University. The winners of these two debates will meet in the final contest in about a fortnight.

TO have succeeded in presenting a play by a modern dramatist is something to the credit of the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia, and when it is considered that the play was a huge success in every way the result justified the experiment. To the best of an uncertain memory, for the first time the students of a Vancouver educational institution have ventured to stray from the classic dramatic field. Before McGill College was established in Vancouver by the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning the high school students used to occasionally present plays, and can be depended upon to give at least one every year. The McGill students have also produced a play or two every year through the agency of different student bodies, but in the past the weight of intellectual tradition which envelopes a student from the time he or she enters high school until graduation from the university seems to have forbidden anything but plays of the severest scholarship. As a result frolicsome youths and maidens of the university and high school have been seen on the stage, mostly in masquerade costumers' version of the garb of ancient Rome, piping the introspective woes of Brutus and the amorous perplexities of Queen Titania, which they may or may not have fully appreciated. At the risk of being characterized as the opinion of a brow of no elevation at all, except under exceptional circumstances, it may be said that plays of whatever literary beauty but written in the severity of Athenian tragedy or the spaciousness of Elizabethan romanticism are not suitable for young and inexperienced actors. In the English-speaking world at present the theatrical organizations capable of presenting Shakespeare acceptably can be counted on less than the fingers of one hand and why every academic body on the American continent aspires to produce a play of this character every year, more or less raggedly, passes one's understanding. Of course this is considering the question from the standpoint of the audience rather than from the educational standpoint but there may be a grain of reason involved.

In "Fanny and the Servant Problem" at The Avenue Theatre on Friday evening the student actors of the Players' Club were at home. The play was suited to their abilities. Although there was a complete lack of heroic dialogue and not much extremely elevated sentiment the audience appeared to be genuinely interested in the modern, human, and not at all morbid troubles of the Lady Bantock with her servants who were also unfortunately her relations. The young actors wore their everyday clothes, even if the spats were purchased for the occasion, and if a slippery teacup or a slippery saucer momentarily embarrassed a masculine member of the cast there were at least no swords and Roman togas to lend complications. No great depths of emotion, beyond the powers of students presumably so far protected from the slings and arrows of life, were demanded from them. As for the play itself, the name of its author, Jerome K. Jerome, and the author of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," is a sufficient assurance that it could not furnish the intellectual lustre of the most highly browed institution of learning.

When the Players' Club looks around for another play to produce, the works of other modern dramatists may be investigated with profit. There might even be found a play by Oscar Wilde of sufficient excellence to provide a fine vehicle for expression. Henry Arthur Jones, Arthur Wing Pinero and James Matthew Barrie have also written plays of excellence which might be investigated. And if among these well known dramatists there cannot be found a play with sufficiently elevated sentiments there are many other plays so elevated that the mass of playgoers have never arrived at a proper appreciation. In any case, by their fine showing in "Fanny and the Servant Problem," the university players have no reason to be afraid that modern dramatists have not already written a play that will be enjoyed by the audience as well as by the actors.

Given good weather the garden party to be held this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Glitzburger, on Harwood Street, by the Women's Ice Hockey Club of the University of British Columbia, in aid of the funds of the 196th Western Universities Battalion, will be a brilliant affair. It is to be held both afternoon and evening, and a varied programme to suit all tastes is being arranged.

The Alma Mater Society of the University of British Columbia comprises all registered students as well as all honorary members and graduates of the institution, its purpose being to promote, direct and control all student activities within the university.

The executive of the Alma Mater Society is known as the students' council, and is the only recognized medium between the university authorities, the general public and other organizations and the student body.

At the conclusion of every year, in March, the president of the Alma Mater Society, who must be a senior student of any faculty during his term of office, is elected by the registered students, and immediately assumes his duties as president of the Alma Mater Society and students' council.

Near the end of last year Mr. Charles Wright of Science '17 was elected to the office for the year 1916-17. Last year students will recall the exciting elections, at which Mr. Wright was victorious, and the vigorous campaigning that was done at the time.

The splendid support he received at these elections goes to show Mr. Wright's great popularity among his fellow students. His whole college career has been marked by a deep interest in all student activities as well as an exceptional executive ability. He will be remembered for the good work he performed on last year's second basketball team. Mr. Wright has the extreme honor and pleasure of coaching the girls' team this year. His executive ability has been shown on various occasions. He has held successfully several offices on the Science Undergraduate Society during the last few years, and was recently appointed to the staff of the university as demonstrator in the chemistry laboratory.

Mr. D. Bayly Is President.

On Wednesday a meeting was held of the men's undergraduates to elect a president and vice-president of the Men's Literary Society. Although the meeting was not very representative, the business was satisfactorily completed. Mr. M. D. Bayly of Arts '17 was elected president and Mr. Merrill of Arts '17 vice-president of the society.

Arts Freshmen Elections.

Apparently the arts freshmen believe in the old saying, "better late than never" in regards to their elections, so they held them on Tuesday. The following were the results: Mr. Russell Hunter, president; Mr. Colgan, vice-president; Mr. Pratt, secretary; Mr. T. Hughes, treasurer; Mr. McClay, literary representative; Mr. Coates, class reporter.

Miss Beck Elected.

On Thursday the Players' Club held a meeting for the purpose of considering Mr. "Pat" Fraser's resignation as president, and to elect some one to assume his duties. Mr. Fraser explained that, having been elected president of the literary department, he would be unable to continue his duties as president of the Players' Club. His resignation having been accepted, Miss K. Peck was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. F. G. C. Wood, who has charge of the club, has invited the members of the executive to meet at his house on Monday to discuss the future of the club. A general meeting will be held shortly, and those desirous of joining the club will have an opportunity of doing so.

Notice Boards Useful.

There are still a great many students who think that the notice boards are simply for ornament and do not realize they are for a definite purpose. This is the only way the student body can keep in touch with the activities of the college. If more students would take heed to what appears on the boards, there would be no more badly represented meetings.

Women Freshmen's Election.

The women of the freshmen year held their elections on October 11. The executive is as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Westbrook; president, Miss Way; vice-president, Miss Roberts; secretary, Miss Letcher; treasurer, Miss Noble; literary representative, Miss Collier; athletic representative, Miss Abel; class reporter, Miss Cowan.

Students' Council.

At the last executive meeting of the students' council, Mr. Austin was appointed treasurer and Mr. J. Allardyce secretary, respectively, of the council.

Men's Athletics.

This week has rendered the prospects for a successful year in men's athletics most encouraging. A meeting of the Men's Athletic Association took place on Wednesday, when officers were elected for all branches of athletics.

Contrary to expectations, it has been found possible to form a rugby team. Mr. R. Bullard was elected president, Mr. F. Brown secretary and Mr. E. Caspell treasurer. A track club has been formed, of which Mr. D. Morrison is president, Mr. F. Emmons secretary and Mr. L. Baker treasurer. Mr. Thompson was elected president of the ice hockey team, Mr. Williams secretary and Mr. Nelson treasurer. The president of the rooters is Mr. Austin.

and the secretary-treasurer is Mr. Robertson. Mr. Abercrombie is president of the basketball team, Mr. McDougal secretary and Mr. Evans treasurer. It will not be long before a first-class basketball team can be formed. There were many enthusiastic players who turned out for the second practice on Wednesday.

The Men's Athletic Association has been most fortunate in procuring for their president Mr. F. H. Drewry. He has had a great deal of experience in Victoria in connection with athletics. His services will assuredly help to bring about a successful year. The association much regrets that their honorary president, Dr. Davidson, will be leaving the university next term.

Y. W. C. A. Rally.

On Thursday the University Young Women's Christian Association held a rally, the first afternoon meeting of the season. Its aim was to welcome the freshettes to the society and make them acquainted with the association and with the students of the other years. Miss Mutch, the president, gave an outline of the eight departments and the nature of each, so that new students might understand the various branches of work carried on by this society. Miss Muddell, the vice-president and a delegate to Seaback summer conference, gave a report of her trip. Miss Frame and Miss Mutrie contributed to the musical part of the programme, and were warmly applauded.

Mrs. J. Stuart Jamieson, president of the Women's University Club, addressed the students on the topic that went to the root of the matter—"Why Have We a Y. W. C. A. in Our University?" First, she asked, "Why does a young woman go to college? In order that she may be of greater service to her fellowmen. The present generation, more than any previous one is imbued with the desire of serving. This desire, unconscious it may be, brings a young woman to the university. And of the three great social organizations in college—athletic, literary and the Y. W. C. A.—the latter best of all gives training for this desire of service. It is very important that one society should have for its chief aim the idea of service, and that each student should identify herself with it. What the line of expression the desire takes is not important but it should be expressed and the expression given will form the happiest memories of college life. The one society best fitted to give training to this desire is the Y. W. C. A." she said.

Miss Martin moved a vote of thanks which was heartily endorsed by the students. Mrs. Klinck, the "camp-mother" at White Cliff during the university camp in June, spoke briefly urging the young women not to fall to associate themselves with the Y. W. C. A. Lunch was served by the association after the conclusion of a most enthusiastic rally.

Oct. 16/1916

May 13/16

PROBABLY the most energetic and wideawake part of the college last year was the University Players' Club. Everyone who was at the college last year will recall the creditable work done in the play of last season, "Fanny and the Servant Problem," and the enviable record it set for future years. Although many actors and actresses who took part last year have not come back to help this term, an equally good cast can be chosen from the remaining talent and the freshmen's class.

The club will suffer no dearth of members this year; in fact, it is feared that the membership will be limited. Already the membership committee has been swamped with the names of aspiring students who hope to become masters of the drama. Next week a tryout, similar in nature to that of last year, will be held. Those who have signed up will be given an opportunity of interpreting some piece of drama before a few examiners. Those who pull through this ordeal will be made members of the club.

On Monday the club met at Mr. Wood's residence to discuss the future work. It was decided to put on four short one-act plays of a modern nature in the first week of December. These will serve a double purpose. They will give the coach an idea of the talent in the club, and the parts best suited. Secondly he will be able to choose his cast much more easily. This performance will be held in the auditorium, and will be free. The audience will consist of only invited guests and members. Each member will have the privilege of inviting four or five of his friends. After Christmas, in the early part of 1917, the annual play will be produced in one of the city theatres.

At the end of last year Mr. "Pat" Fraser, of Arts '17, was elected president of the club for this term, but as he was elected this fall to the presidency of the literary department of the college he was forced to resign his former office. Miss K. Peck, who was on the executive last year, was chosen to take up Mr. Fraser's duties. Mr. Fraser was president of his class last year, and is very popular. He will be remembered for his excellent interpretation of "Lord Bantock" in last year's play.

Night at Orpheum.

On Tuesday the Freshman class held a meeting for the purpose of discussing whether or not to hold a college night at the Orpheum before Christmas. It was finally decided to hold it on Hal-lowe'en. Accordingly a block of seats has been arranged for, and the freshmen expect to have quite a good time. At the same meeting Mr. Russel was elected hon. president of the class.

Literary Society.

On Thursday, at the meeting of the executive of the Men's Literary Society, it was decided not to enter the Vancouver Debating League this year. The debates with Columbian College and Washington University will be held as usual. The latter debate will be held some time in the middle of February, and the U. B. C. is in hopes of winning back its lost laurels. The Debating Club will hold its first meeting on Wednesday night, when a mock parliament will be held. The bill before the house will be the question of the desirability of having bi-lingualism in Canada. Mr. Bayley, president of the club, will be premier, while Mr. Wood, hon. president, will be speaker of the house. Ten members will speak for either side, and a large attendance is expected.

Pennant Sale.

Blue and gold, the colors of the university were very much in evidence last week when the Y. W. C. A. undertook to supply a great variety of pennants to the students at popular prices. There were pennants with the three signal letters, U. B. C. There were other pennants bearing the four magic initials, U. B. C. C., which quite as effectively as snapshots of the camp at Whytecliff held last June under the auspices of the Varsity Y. W. C. A. There were pennants for every year from Arts '16, the "grads" of last session, to Arts '20, the freshmen who were initiated on Friday night. Then there were pennants of a magnitude for bookmarks and pennants, not too curtailed for mural decorations. The Varsity Y. W. C. A. will be pleased to fill further orders for these attractive souvenirs.

Women's Literary Society.

On Tuesday afternoon the Women's Literary & Debating Society held a general meeting to elect a president, since Miss Grace Henderson had resigned. Miss Pearl Rosebrugh was elected by acclamation, and taking the chair, she thanked the society for her election, and asked the co-operation of the members, promising to give her best during the coming year. Miss Laura Pim was then elected vice-president, and Miss Winnie Lee, treasurer, as these offices were vacant. It was decided, at an executive meeting, that the society would hold its first meeting of the year on November 2.

Men's Athletics.

There was a meeting of the men's athletics executive on Wednesday for the purpose of electing officers. The president, Mr. Drewry, presided. The following were elected: Vice-president, Mr. Bullard; secretary, Mr. Morrison; treasurer, Mr. Thompson; curator, Mr. Abercrombie. At a second meeting of the executive the budgets for the basketball and ice hockey teams were passed. Among the basketball expenses is a pennant to be given to the winning team in the inter-class league. Basketball practices have continued during the week and have been well represented.

Oct. 31, 1916.

On Thursday afternoon the Women's Literary Society of the University of British Columbia held its meeting in the Arts building. The president, Mrs. Rosebrugh, called upon Miss Pim, a senior, the leader of the affirmative, to introduce the subject of debate for the afternoon. The discussion was on the topic, "Resolved that co-education is better in universities than separate education." Miss Pim treated the subject under two headings, economy of expenditure and standard of scholarship and instruction. The first division was handled in a very skillful manner, as the speaker touched on matters of salaries, laboratories and apparatus, the expense of which is kept down in co-education. She next enlarged on the idea of the standard of scholarship and instruction. In co-education it is possible to maintain a higher standard of mentality because of competition. Miss Pim stated her case with the confidence and clearness of an experienced debater and did much to strengthen the position of the affirmative.

Miss Griffith, the leader of the negative, represented the juniors. She grouped her arguments under as many as seven headings, but stated them very well, maintaining that the distracting influence of the two sexes should be taken into account as well as the fact that there is no real association, only four years of propinquity.

The other senior member of the affirmative, Miss Shirley Clement, treated the subject under the topics; as the natural system and as social improvement. "Since education," she said, was a preparation for life work, and the pursuits of both sexes are much the same, why not educate them together?" She next spoke of the good influence of women over men's manners and the benefit thus derived. By this means extremes of both kinds were prevented.

Miss Clark, a junior, was the other speaker of the negative. Her arguments furthered her colleagues' causes and her rebuttal was managed very fairly.

The judges, Miss MacInnes, Dr. Boggs and Mr. Henderson, brought in a decision in favor of the affirmative won by the seniors.

The constitution of the society was read by the president. It was moved by Miss Henderson, seconded by Miss M. Peck, that the constitution be adopted as read.

After a vote of thanks to the judges the meeting adjourned.

The Arts' Dance.

The most important of all the college activities is the Arts' dance. This, as all former students of U. B. C. know, is the greatest function of the college year. This year it is believed that this party will supersede all previous years. It is to be held next Friday evening, Nov. 24, in the Auditorium. Weaver's orchestra has been engaged to supply the music. This year a full attendance of the students is anticipated.

Oratorical Contest.

Next Monday evening at 8 p.m. the annual oratorical contest under the auspices of the Vancouver Debating League will be held in the First Congregational Church. In this contest the U. B. C. will be represented by Mr. Roland Miller, B.A., the well known orator of U. B. C. A large number of students will be present to support their contestant. It will be a very interesting evening as such adepts as Felix Penne are taking part. This will be a splendid opportunity for the students to show the true college spirit by attending in large numbers.

College Yell and Song Competition.

There has been set aside the sum of $5.00 as a prize for the best college yell or song. Up to the present a few suggestions have been handed in, one of which is printed below. A song to the tune "Marching Through Georgia." We'll rally round our college, boys, We'll sing another song, To praise our Alma Mater, and To help the work along. We'll show to all antagonists The place where they belong— While we are going to college.

Chorus—

Hurrah! Hurrah! We'll always loyal be; Hurrah! Hurrah! for our college by the sea.

So we sing in chorus, we hail the U.B.C. While we are going to college.

We will stand together boys,

We'll surely make things hum; We'll show our profs. we're equal to Their old curriculum; As for our athletic might, let all Other crowds be dumb— While we are going to college.

Those who think they can beat this should hand in their suggestion and may win the $5.00. Those who are not in need of the money should hand in their suggestions by all means. The annual trip to New Westminster is anticipated as also the Washington debate. What would the college be without a large collection of yells and songs on these occasions? The contest will soon be closed so everyone is expected to get busy and augment the scanty supply.

Men's Athletics.

The basket ball games last Saturday turned out quite differently from the previous engagements at the Normal gym. There was little excitement in the first game when the Varsity girls defeated the Normals with the score of 36 to 2, and thoroughly convinced them of their superiority.

In the second game the excitement reached its highest pitch. At the end of the first half the Normal first team had a small lead over the U. B. C. second team. The Varsity boys came back with a strong determination to win and were successful, the score being 18 to 15.

To complete the series of victories, the first team by its good combination and shooting, won the encounter with the ex-Normal stars by 35 to 11. Mr. Morrison as a result of his agility and splendid shooting is now a substantial forward on the first team. The ex-Normals were unfortunate in not having one of their best men.

The unique feature in basket ball this week was a game between the Arts and Science. It was a thoroughly interesting contest, but the engineers were unfortunate in their shooting. They were defeated by 24 to 10.

The Inter-class League continued its series during the week. The Freshmen Science had another victory to their credit when they defeated their companions in the Faculty of Arts by 38 to 21. The Senior Arts played off their long standing feud with the Juniors on Thursday afternoon, winning 9-8 after a very closely contested match.

Discussion Class.

On Monday last the initial meeting of the "Discussion Class" saw its inception under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The subject: "Ideas of Creation," after being introduced by Mr. M. D. Bayly, was left open for discussion. In the controversy that followed many original interpretations of long established principles were freely given and freely criticized. By the time the class closed everyone had a sufficient supply of new ideas to keep the mental faculty in rapid operation until the next meeting on Monday.

Our next subject, "Money-changers in the Temple," will be introduced by Mr. Denham. All members of the Y. M. C. A. and those who wish to be members are cordially invited on Monday next.

The Players' Club.

The Players' Club of the University has been working overtime during the week rehearsing for the plays that will be presented in the first week of December. Particular care has been taken in choosing the plays in order that the students should not be troubled with something heavy before the Christmas exams. The four plays are all of high order and well written. "Spreading the News" is a delightful Irish comedy; "Rosalie" is a screamingly funny farce on domestic life. The two other plays are equally good, one, "Modesty," and the other, "Op 'O Me Thumb." The judges selected the following casts last week: Rosalie—Miss P. Rosebrugh '17, Miss M. Hardie '20, Mr. I. Shaw '19.

"Modesty"—Miss E. Mutch '18, Mr. J. Allardice '18, Mr. Agabob '19.

"Op 'O Me Thumb"—Miss H. Bodie '18, Miss Morrison '18, Miss P. Gintzburger '19, Miss C. Leah '20, Miss Campbell-Brown '20, Mr. R. Hunter '20.

"Spreading the News"—Miss H. Westbrook '19, Miss N. Ballentine '19, Miss I. Harvey '18, Miss H. White '17, Miss I. Griffith '18, Messrs. C. Wright '17, C. Austin '18, Nelson '19, McClay '20, Bush '20.

Skating Party a Great Success.

The annual skating party under the auspices of the Science Undergraduates Society was held on Friday, November 10, in the arena rink. This affair, as in previous years proved to be a great success, some 175 persons being present.

Skating commenced about 8 p.m. and continued until 10.30 p.m. This time proved only too short as was keenly manifested by the crestfallen countenances of the guests when the band played the National Anthem. But was it short? Probably most of those present thought the next morning they had had a rather too strenuous time. However, after the last band the guests assembled in the refreshment pavilion where supper was served by the ladies of the Woman's Graduate Society.

The party was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Even the professors seemed to find relaxation from the trials and tribulations common only to their calling. Students were frequently heard to enquire why such a party was only an annual event.

Dr. Sherrard on Buddhism.

Dr. Sherrard's second lecture to the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday, was on the subject of "Buddhism." There are many legends regarding the founder of Buddhism, and some of which have grown up since his time. At the age of 27, Buddha left his home to seek salvation. He sought it in many ways. First, by trance, or self-hypnotism; then in the ascetic system; finally he sat down under the famous bow-tree on the banks of the Ganges where the conception of salvation or revelation came to him. His dissatisfaction with Brahminism caused him to formulate the Four Noble Truths.

These were, the problem of new birth or the escape from the round of events, not really a philosophical pessimism, but a condition brought only by experience; next to this universal suffering, the cause of that suffering; then the necessity of getting rid of the desires of the world, and lastly, the problem, how, to do this. It was to be effected by the Eight Fold way, which include: Right belief, right resolution, right speech, right conduct, right means of subsistence, right effort, right reflection, right concentration. It is worthy of note that in all this it is salvation by one's own efforts, there are no gods to assist. Buddha too seemed to have no belief in a permanent soul, and consequently none in immortality. His teaching was very practical, like Christianity. Gradually the question seems to have come to Buddha, as to Christ in His temptation, is this religion or salvation one that can be transmitted to others? He went back to the Ascetics under whose system he had become so emaciated that he was one time given up for dead. He travelled through India for years, gathering his disciples around him in the rainy season. Monasteries grew up. The sect increased in influence till in the first century A. D. it reached the highest political importance, and at one time was the chief religion of India. Though today only about 50,000 people in India claim that they are Buddhists, yet Ceylon is influenced most by Buddhism, Japan, China and Burmah also. In accounting for its hold on the people today one must consider the developments of Buddhism. There are two divisions, the Hinayanas or the little vehicles, and the Mahayanas or the big vehicles. The latter sect declared that it was not enough that Buddha had won sainthood and salvation for himself, but that every man was potentially a Buddha, and following this thought, Buddhism became partly a philosophy, partly a new salvation. It became a religion of service. There grew up the idea of an absolute God with many attributes that would seem to indicate a borrowing from Christianity, but careful research would show this to be historically impossible.

To Friends of the 196th Battalion.

There are at present at college many copies of the 196th newspaper the "Wub." If any of the friends or relations of the boys in this battalion wish to get copies of this paper they can do so by calling at the students' council room. Also if they are desirous of sending to the boys some of the U. B. C.'s handbooks these also can be purchased from the students' council.

Nov. 18 1916.

The members of the Players' Club of the university are beginning to realize that only a few more days remain before the private Christmas performance to be given on December 2, and are making a great effort to ensure its success. The admission to this performance, which is being held to give the new members a chance to show their worth, will be by invitation only, the guests including the Board of Governors, the senate, and the faculty. The stage, which proved unsuitable for dramatic performances has been enlarged and equipped through the kindness of the Board of Governors.

The plays themselves are of a cosmopolitan nature and have been chosen not only because of their dramatic qualities but also with a view to literary worth. Two are by French writers, another depicts life in Soho Square, London, and the fourth is a breezy Irish comedy.

"Rosalie" is by Mr. Max Mauray, the director of the "Guignol Theatre," Paris. In this sparkling little comedy Mr. Henry Gibson, last year's president of the club, will appear, owing to the illness of one of the members. "Modesty" is a subtle character study from the pen of the illustrious Paul Hervieu, one of France's greatest dramatists. In "Op-o-me-Thumb" a pathetic figure is that of Amanda, the laundry drudge, with visions of happiness fated never to be hers. This role was first played in America by Miss Maude Adams with tremendous success. Lady Gregory, the writer of "Spreading the News," is one of the three most prominent figures in the "Modern Irish Theatre Movement." Associated with Yeats and the late J. Synge she has made the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, a centre of artistic effort.

Beside the actual work on the part of those in the four casts, much else has to be done. Those who are not taking part in the Christmas performance are busy sending out invitations, seeing to the "props" and many other necessary details. The committee of management is composed of six veterans, Misses Peck, '17; Martin, '18; Henderson, '18; Highmoor, '19, and Mr. Fraser '17.

Religions of World.

On Tuesday last, Dr. Sherrard gave the third of a series of lectures on the various religions of the world. This time the subject was Mohammedism and the lecture was listened to with a great deal of interest and pleasure. In the short time at his disposal Dr. Sherrard sketched briefly the beginning of this religion, the character of its founder and the esteem of his followers for him. It is the most significant of all religions beyond Christianity to which it seems to be the direct opposite. It arose during a classical period of wandering poets and musicians at a time when there was a new national spirit among the Arabs themselves and coupled with that a need for emigration and at a time of general religious unrest.

Mohammed was born of poor parents, and became an orphan left in the care of relations. He had a very enticing personality which played an important part in his career. He was brought up under straitened circumstances. When a young man a widow gave him the position of taking charge of one of her caravans. He travelled in this capacity to Egypt where he met many Christian ideas. His return resulted in his happy marriage with the widow. He fell into the habit of wandering into the desert and there he appears to have fallen into a trancelike condition. He had on his mind the ideas of religion he had newly received. There appeared to be some doubt for him as to the reality of these trances. He began to wonder if he were under the power of God or the Evil One. He finally conceived it was Allah who existed in the minds of the Arabs as God over all. He became gradually to feel sure he was sent of God. He began to teach people of the existence of one God only. In these teachings he often met with failure and was almost about to give up in despair. Up to this point he seems to be an entirely sincere prophet, who could win a name by his method and inspiration.

Mohammed's life now reaches a turning point. Instead of a prophet he becomes an organizer of his people. He was poor and to get money drove out the Jews and captured their wealth. From being a mystical prophet in companionship with God, he is now a military despot. He conquered his old enemies the Meccans whom he had previously tried to teach. His great belief was the Unity of God. Under God he was the one great prophet. Religion was not separate for civilization. The Day of Judgment was his great theme but his conception of Paradise was materialistic. All must obey certain observances, prayer, alms-giving and fasting and make some pilgrimage during their lives.

Mohammed was never believed to be a God but that God's action was manifested in him. Mohammedans of the present day revere the Bible but still more the Koran which is their conception of Christian life and which they believe to be verbally inspired. As a militant religion it is weakening. Many have gone to the mountains and these lived their religion as hermits. Others stand and declare their faith in their leader. The religion has been stagnant. Now they are getting back to their leader and then will be the time for Christianity to step in and do its utmost to conquer it.

Chemistry Society.

At a joint meeting of the chemistry classes on Nov. 15 a chemistry society was formed, the members of the executive were elected and an institution somewhat after the same principle as that of the Alma Mater Society was adopted.

The object of this society is to promote and encourage interest in topics of scientific value among the students. An interesting programme of lectures has been drawn up. The first to be a lecture by Dr. Archibald on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the chemistry lecture room. Among the topics that will be discussed from week to week are such as "High Tension Electricity" and the "Chemistry of Photography."

The lectures will not be of an entirely technical nature and will be dealt with in a manner that will be interesting to all. In the course of the year various social events will be held for the members of the society.

Discussion Class.

The second meeting of the discussion class under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on the subject of the attitude of the Church toward social problems took place on Monday last. The subject was ably introduced by Mr. Denham. His forcible arguments emphasized the fact that the attitude of the Church ought to be changed or else there would be trouble at the close of the present conflict. When the class was thrown open to discussion, Mr. Wright expressed the opinion that the best course of action in dealing with the social evils was to take in the undesirables bringing about the evils rather than to throw them out. Mr. Agabob considered that the cause of these evils was due to the minority in the church who were in favor of wiping them out. One substantial exception to Mr. Denham's criticism of the Bishops in England was given by Mr. McKechnie. After further discussion to the interest of those present, the meeting adjourned.

Men's Athletics.

The three important games of the week take place tonight in the Y. M. C. A. gym. Varsity Men's I vs. Normals. Varsity Girls vs. Normal Girls.

Both hockey and basket ball practices have been well represented during the week. Hockey games will probably be commencing very soon.

On Thursday night the Varsity Seconds defeated the Y. M. C. A. employed in the Intermediate League by a score of 34-14. Sid Anderson starred for the Collegians. In the Inter-class League Arts I, II and Arts IV and Science I will play on Monday night.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

IN QUADRUPLE BILL

Invitation Performance Will Be Presented Tonight to Select the Cast for Later Production

A quadruple bill, made up of Paul Hervieu's delightful one act play, "Modesty," Lady Gregory's "Spreading the News," and one-act curtain raisers by Max Mauray, whose "Rosalie" is to open the evening and a tender whimsical morceau by Messrs. Fenn and Pryce, "Op-o'-Ma-Heart," in which Miss Maude Adams originally appeared, will be presented by the University Players' Club this evening on the occasion of the invitation performance to which friends of the students have been bidden.

The auditorium, the University Building, corner of Tenth Avenue and Willow Street, has by the courtesy of the board of governors, been fitted up with stage and effective settings, and adequate lighting arrangements installed. The presentation begins at 8.15. Pleasant recollections will be retained of the excellent performance staged last year at the Avenue Theatre by the university students, and the public will be glad to know that the main object of this evening's performance is to pick out the best of the performers for a cast that will later in the season give another theatrical production on the same large scale and finished manner as the first enterprise. Like it, the presentation in contemplation will be for the furtherance of war work and will be held at one of the down-town theatres. Professor F. G. C. Wood has undertaken, as before, the exacting role of stage manager and producer and has been at work early and late for the past three weeks bringing his company up to a state of proficiency. Last evening, following a dress rehearsal, a flashlight photograph of the company was secured.

The roles allotted to the student-players in the four casts are as follows: "Rosalie," title role, Miss Pearl Roseburgh; M. and Mme. Bol, Henry Gibson and Miss Margaret Hardie. "Modesty," Henriette, Miss Ethel Mutch; Jacques, John Allardyce; Albert, W. J. Agabob. "Op-o'-Ma-Heart," Mme. Didin, Miss Pauline Gintzburger; Clem, Miss Constance Leah; Celeste, Miss Agnes Morrison; Rose, Marjorie Campbell-Brown; Amanda, Helena Bodie; Horace Green-smith, Russell Hunter. "Spreading the News," Mrs. Tarpey, Miss Nellie Ballentine; Bartley Fallon, G. McClay; Mrs. Fallon, Miss Helen Westbrook; Mrs. Tully, Miss Isobel Harvey; Bridget Early, Miss Helen White; Tim Casey, Mr. J. C. Nelson; magistrate, Alvin Bush; police, W. Coates; Mrs. Ryan, Miss Iona Griffith; Jack Smith, C. W. Austin.

MUCH credit is due to the varsity girls for the way they upheld the honor of the institution in basketball on Saturday last. Their evenly matched contest with the ex-Normals at the "X" gym. caused a great deal of excitement. When the time was up the Normals were in the lead by 11 to 10. As the rules of the game do not permit a victory by the lead of one point gained by a foul, the game was continued overtime. Miss Tennant saved the situation with a basket for Varsity, winning the game for U. B. C. by 12 to 11.

The Varsity men's first team won its third contest with the ex-Normals by 27 to 18.

The Science Freshmen found they had to stick to business to defeat the Seniors last Monday by 24 to 14. The Sophomores were handicapped in having only four men in their game with the Freshmen. The latter won by 36 to 13.

The U. B. C. third team lost the initial game with the Excelsiors by 27 to 17.

The University ice hockey team is fast rounding into shape. On Monday last they played Wovalegs, champions of the Commercial League, and disposed of them by the score of 5 to 0. The club is trying to secure a berth in the Inter High School League for Varsity II team, and by so doing hope to develop good hockey material in future.

To Hold Debate.

On Wednesday evening, December 6, a debate is to be held in the University auditorium between the Freshmen and Sophomores. The resolution is "That the present attitude of the United States in the present war is in the best interests of humanity." The second-year team will be represented by Messrs. Sutcliffe and Agabob, and the first year by Messrs. McClay and Pratt.

The Arts' Dance.

The Arts' Men's Undergraduate Society held a successful dance on Friday evening, November 24. The college auditorium was tastefully decorated with the university colors—blue and gold. Weaver's orchestra was in attendance. About 200 of the students and their friends were present, and all thoroughly enjoyed the music. Among the members of the faculty present were Dr. and Mrs. Westbrook, Dean and Mrs. Klinck, Dean and Mrs. Robinson, Dr. Eastman, Dr. and Mrs. Boggs, Dr. Archibald, Dr. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ridington, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Miss McInnes, Mr. F. G. C. Wood, Mr. Hodge and Mr. and Mrs. Chodat. The dance, in the estimation of all, was the best ever held in the college.

Literary Society Meets.

On Thursday afternoon the Women's Literary Society held its last meeting before Christmas. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, the president introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. MacIntosh, who spoke on "Feminism and the Works of Ellen Key."

After speaking of past social instruction and its known history, Mrs. MacIntosh enlarged on the subject of the reason of girls going to college. Now it is because girls wish to become economically independent by fitting themselves for many professions, whereas in former years the only profession open to women was that of teaching. But still we girls of today owe a great debt to the feminists of the past. Havlock Ellis puts it very well when he says: "Suffrage and its attainment is but the beginning, and not the end."

The former view of feminism was to disregard almost entirely the idea of sex attraction. But now the reaction has come, and woman has gone back to her place, while man has retained his proper sphere.

The speaker then discussed the works of Ellen Key, and explained her theories. This author says that the women's movement should teach women a wider knowledge and a truer harmony in life.

Miss Key shows the "parenthood" effect on philosophy and poetry, citing "The Luck of Roaring Camp" as a very fine example.

After a vote of thanks given Mrs. MacIntosh, a piano duet was rendered by Miss Lee and Miss Nutrie.

Discussion Class Meets.

The third meeting of the Discussion Class was held last Monday. The subject, "The Church and the Social Problem," was introduced by Mr. J. Russell. The speaker did not in any way relieve the individual of his share of the responsibility in this great problem. On the other hand he vividly showed that individual responsibility and its recognition formed the basis upon which collective responsibility rested, and that indifference on the part of the former meant disaster to the latter.

The question of individual responsibility having been disposed of, the speaker spoke largely on the attainment of spiritual fitness. In the discussion that followed, Mr. Agabob enlightened the gathering with explanations of theological technicalities as interpreted and outlined by Mr. Campbell Morgan. This question led up to one that seems to have been lost sight of in modern days, viz., the distinction between morality and spirituality. After a most enlightening discussion on this question the meeting closed.

On Monday next the last meeting of the term will be held. The subject to be dealt with is "Christ and the Social Barriers," and will be introduced by Mr. H. W. Hagelstein.

UNTRIED PLAYERS DISPLAY MERIT

University Students Stage Excellent Dramatic Bill to Enjoyment of Appreciative Audience Last Night

AN oncoming corps dramatique drawn from hitherto untried University players, made their first appearance last evening at the University, before a large and obviously delighted assemblage of invited guests. The purpose of the performance, that of enabling a number of promising students to show their possession of dramatic ability, amply fulfilled its end, and occasioned much amusement and genuine pleasure to the spectators. Excellent variety was offered in the quadruple bill, compiled from one-act plays by eminent playwrights, and no small ability was shown by the student actors, although the difficulties of the Irish brogue and the cockney accent imposed no small handicap. There was music from members of the undergraduate body and others throughout the evening, which met with well deserved applause. A group of women students, comprising Miss B. Bain, Miss M. Gill, Miss B. Clement, Miss I. Thomas, Miss M. McCrimmon, Miss S. McGuire, Miss M. Macdonald and Miss M. Suggett, showed the visitors to their seats.

Fastidious, sensitive souls, whether they be philosophers, or merely little workhouse waifs like Amanda Afflick, around whom the delightful one-act play, "Op-o-My-Heart," by Messrs. Fenn and Pryce revolves, when they chafe at the world's sordid and cold realities, can always withdraw into the glorious world of make-believe, that best of all possible worlds that transcends the barriers of place and time, and is only limited by human imagination. Philosophers people theirs with strange shadowy shapes. Little Amanda, culling grandiloquent and splendidous phrases from penny dreadfuls of the most melodramatic sort, filled her world with fairy princes, aristocratic relatives, diamond tiarers' and all sorts of the delectable things that pack the pages of romance. Even the imagination of a poet, however, cannot transmute the things of everyday into other than they are, and in Amanda's attempt to fit her words together, the delicate sphere that her imagination had created fell shattered from her hands. The little stunted laundry girl of Soho, who while a sort of Cinderella to her companions, was at the same time "a child of mystery," was played by Miss Helena Bodie, who brought to the interpretation of the part, much sympathetic insight and grasp of the role, and surmounted the difficulties of the Cockney accent in most creditable fashion.

"Spreading the News," like all Lady Gregory's one-act comedies, partakes of that peculiar flair which she so markedly possesses of introducing the unexpected, and her story of a perfectly inadvertent trifling action, which by the many-forked tongue of gossip grows in wondrous proportions as it passes from one of the village gossips to the other, is told with her customary art. The characters are distinct and well-drawn, and if the language had nothing of the Kiltartan fascination about it, the dialogue is sown with many quaint and arrestingly Irish turns of expression that give it no slight fascination and piquancy.

M. Max Mauray, a well-known theatrical director of Paris, who will be remembered as producing an excellent adaptation for the Dickens centenary performances of "David Copperfield," given at the Odeon, was represented by a bright and amusing trifle, in which the domestic servant problem presents a new phase, and the rebellious and down-trampled maid by a clever ruse, scores triumphantly over her master and mistress, who after making generous concessions in order that she may be induced to answer the bell to admit important visitors, find that it was not theirs that had been ringing.

In Rosalie, an amusing little temperamental study, M. Paul Hervieu, that master dramatist, who only so lately passed away, makes a brilliant rapier thrust at feminine foibles, Henriette, the charming widow finding that she did not relish what are known as "home truths," much as she protested she desired to hear them. It is obviously a pre-war bagatelle. Of the seductive widow, Miss Ethel Mutch made an engaging study.

Dec. 3, 1916.

Battalion Not Divided.—A letter received yesterday from a sergeant of the 196th University Battalion, says that the battalion has not been distributed among other corps, as was at first reported. The companies were on their arrival quartered with four other battalions, as stated, but this seems to have been a temporary arrangement. The battalion expected to occupy its own quarters in a few days.

Dec. 5, 1916.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON Mr. Norman Hackett, of the Wilkes Players, delighted a large part of the student body of the University when he spoke to them of William Shakespeare. Mr. Hackett is an Ontario man. He took his degree from Michigan University, and for some ten or more years played in Shakespearean roles, before entering the more modern drama.

He spoke from personal observation, of the birthplace and home of Britain's greatest dramatist at Stratford-on-Avon; of the antique little house, with its queer wee windows, of the odd furniture, and strange souvenirs; of the room where Shakespeare is believed to have been born, and on the walls of which are thousands of signatures of the great and renowned, as well as of the passing tourist.

Then there was described the wonderful flower garden, the path to Anne Hathaway's cottage, and the bench before the fireplace, where, maybe, young Anne was wooed by younger William. Mr. Hackett said that in answer to the constantly recurring question which rose within him, as to what all this honor really meant, he could not do better than quote the dramatist's greatest biographer, himself: "He was a man. Take him for all in all, we shall not see his like again."

Proceeding, the speaker impressed on the gathering the fact that owing to the possibility of Shakespeare's dramas dying out as a stage production, the need of careful study of the plays becomes ever greater. Only through study can men appreciate the great genius and influence of this man, about whom is so much mystery. His advice was to throw away the commentator's book, except in so far as it is useful to gain the meaning of an obsolete word or phrase. The keynote of all the characters is in the plays themselves. Cultivate a love for the man, read Lamb, and get the story; then read the plays for their philosophy, beauty, humanity and truth.

Much of the pleasure was added to the talk by the vivid illustrations and fragments which were quoted from various Shakespearean dramas.

The lecture was held under the auspices of the "Players Club," whose membership were congratulated by Mr. Hackett on its existence. He referred to the similar organizations in several American universities, claiming that the three greatest influences on society are the church, the school and the drama.

A vote of thanks, moved by Miss Ethel Mutch, and seconded by Mr. Patrick Fraser, was tendered to the speaker by the president, Miss Kathleen Peck, who, with President Westbrook and Mr. Hackett, occupied the platform.

Ice Hockey Game.

The University women's second ice hockey team wrested a victory from the Swastika second team last night, by the score of 2 to 0. Miss Marjorie Tennant, who played a good centre game, shot the first goal, and the rover, Miss Dorothy Trapp, shot the second. The line-up was: Goal, Eleanor Frame; point, Nellie Ballantyne; cover, Margaret Hardy; wings, Maisie Suggitt and Ruth Fulton; rover, Dorothy Trapp; centre, Marjorie Tennant; spare, Lena Thompson.

Jan. 24, 1917.

MUCH pleasure attached itself to the dance given at the university last night by the Women's Undergraduate Society, when the guests of honor were those men of the university from staff and class who have done their best for King and Country, or who will before the end of the term have joined the ranks. Many men have already gone, as an example the senior class may be cited, for it started four years ago with some 50 men and today has less than a dozen and has those against their will. From the faculty various members have been drawn away, the latest to leave being Prof. Mack Eastman, who enlisted as a private with the 263rd Battalion and has recently been transferred to the 196th, or Western Universities Battalion, which has received permission to recruit another platoon in the city.

The guests were received by Mrs. E. E. Jordan, Miss Isabel MacInnes, honorary president of the society, and Miss Evelyn Story, president. Mrs. F. F. Westbrook and Mrs. R. W. Brock who had consented to act as patronesses, also were unable to be present.

In order that the working of student brains might not be unduly impeded by drowsiness today, the dance, which was entirely informal, began at 8.30 and ended at 11.30. The programme, consisting of some 20 dances, was broken by intermission, during which time refreshments were served.

The executive of the Women's Undergraduate Society, consisting of Misses Evelyn Story, Margaret Maynard, Helen White, Norah Coy, Eleanor Frame, Marjorie Day and Bernice Bain, carried out the excellent arrangements with great expedition. Pretty programmes, made by the girls with the assistance of the science men, bearing the Union Jack, gave the requisite patriotic touch to the affair.

Among those present were a large number of the members of the staff and their wives, Dr. Eastman, Lieut.

Reginald Gilbert and a crowd of the university students and their friends.

Hold Class Debate.

The Women's Literary & Debating Society of the University yesterday afternoon argued warmly the question of the advisability of turning Canada into a social democracy. The debate was one of an inter-class series, in which the freshmen and sophomores are striving for honors. The sophomores won, arguing the affirmative of the case.

The resolution as stated was "That the Canadian state should be reorganized into a social democracy, in which the interests of the individual would be entirely subordinated to the interests of the state as a whole." Miss Fraser, Professor Willis and Mr. John Ridington acted as judges. Mr. Ridington, in handing down the decision, commented upon the excellency of the subject as well as the splendid manner in which it had been developed. The first year girls won particular complimentary mention for their form of delivery.

Miss Marjorie Peck led the affirmative. She dealt with the benefits of the new reorganization in the social world. She claimed that the home would be better, education more general, wages equalized, the army more efficient and graft practically unknown in the government.

In leading the negative Miss Jessie Lett, after making an attack on the arguments of her opponent, pointed out that the proposed social change would be disastrous, in that it would eliminate competition, and in this way lower both quantity and quality of production. Moreover, such a system would interfere to too great an extent with personal liberty.

Miss Evelyn McKay continued the argument for the affirmative, speaking of the changes for bettering the economic situation. She claimed that co-operation would result in increased efficiency. This would mean increased agricultural production, increased and cheaper industrial production, and hence lower and more uniform prices. Prosperity would be greater in the country in general; there would be employment for all, because labor, instead of being congested, would be regulated according to need. With improved economic condition would come improved social and individual conditions. The nation as a whole would be more prosperous, progressive and united.

Miss Marjorie Campbell-Brown concluded the remarks of the negative. She took the position that in removing the element of rivalry from society one removed the essential to progress. Further, that altruism to be of any use must be spontaneous. She stated that Canada at the present time had neither the requisite men nor means to make such a scheme feasible.

Miss Peck made the reply for the affirmative, answering the arguments of her opponents in a dextrous way. Her remarks went far to winning the debate for her year.

After the debate the women of the third and fourth years served refreshments. As a special concession the men of the University had been invited to attend the meeting, to which invitation they responded in a hearty manner.

Give Skating Party.

On Monday next, from 5.15 to 7 p.m., the Science Undergraduate Society of the University will entertain the rest of the students and their friends at a skating party at the Arena rink. This is the second skating party that the science men have held. The first was at the beginning of the skating season, and though not as largely attended as usual, was enjoyable. A number of the men were dissatisfied with some of their comrades because they came unaccompanied. The result is that at present a large poster ornaments the men's common-room. There is drawn with splendid accuracy and art a large cross bones and skull, below which is the legend: "Don't be a deadhead, take a girl to the skating party."

Discussion Group.

Under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. the first of a series of discussion classes will be held on Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The subject tomorrow will be "The Theory of Evolution."

This evening the four basketball teams, junior and senior girls and boys, will play at New Westminster, against the teams of the Connaught High School. A special car will leave Hastings Station at 6.30 p.m.

'Varsity Defeats Britannia.

Yesterday afternoon a fast, though muddy game of grass hockey, between the girls of Britannia High and University, resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 4-2.

Skating Party.

For the second time since the skating season began, the Science Undergraduate Society of the University entertained other members of the college and friends at a skating party last night at the Arena Rink and a large crowd of the students spent from 5.30 till 7 enjoying this best of winter sports. After the skating was over the women of the University provided a most acceptable supper. Among those present were: Miss Isabel MacInnes, Prof. and Mrs. Dutcher, Prof. Powell, Prof. Goodwin, Misses Frame, McGuire, Fulton, White, Houston, Bradshaw, Ballantyne, Richardson, Damer, Trapp, Bissett, Bodie, Healy, Maynard, Munro, Mutrie, Suggitt, Hawe, McNeill, Messrs. Wright, Allardyce, Austin, DesBrisay, Livingstone, Meredith, Page, Evans, McInnes, McGougal, Murphy, Caspell, Hatch, James, Marshall, Baker and Crann.

New Jewels for Freshmen.

Yesterday the long and eagerly expected class pins for the freshmen year of the university arrived and now innumerable young collegians are wearing the badge. The pin is almost a facsimile of the university pin, which is a small reproduction of the college crest, in gold, and blue and white enamel. The first year has surmounted the crest with a small scroll, on which is inscribed, "Arts '20."

Players Club.

The members of the Players Club have been unusually busy this week preparing for the play which they will produce early in March. The one which they have chosen, "Merely Mary Ann," by Zangwill, the author of "The Melting Pot," is well adapted to the talents of the students. Rehearsals are progressing favorably. Miss Helena Bodie will play the role of "Mary Ann," supported by Miss Viola Martin and Miss Norah Coy; while Mr. Russell Hunter will take the leading part of "Launcelot," and Mr. Pat Fraser that of his friend Peter. By a unanimous vote it was decided that the proceeds should go entirely to patriotic purposes.

Men's Glee Club.

A meeting of all those interested in the formation of a Men's Glee Club was held last Thursday. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Mr. Russell; president, Mr. Austin; vice-president, Mr. Robinson; secretary, Mr. McDougal; treasurer, Mr. G. Smith. After choosing this committee, the members of the club exhibited their talent by singing a number of popular songs. It was left to the com-

Sophomore Party.

The second year students of the university made merry at a Valentine party last night. The large auditorium was suitably decorated with scarlet streamers, all kinds and sizes of hearts, cupids, arrows, etc. The first part of the evening was spent in games, contests and conversats. Then two hours of very enjoyable dancing followed, with a delightful supper after. Mrs. Lemuel Robertson chaperoned the party. Among the guests were various members of the faculty, the members of the students' council and the class executives.

The committee in charge of the affair was made up of Misses Bernia Bain, Marjorie Peck, Helen Westbrook, Messrs. Brown, Fraser and Sutcliffe.

University Magazine.

After masquerading for two months, as "Anonymous," the University Magazine at last has a name, "Ubicee." On the editorial page, in order that all may learn to pronounce this new name properly, is a little rhyme as follows: "Get used to the name as soon as you can."

And say it correct like a good little man;

If you can say 'Odyssey' rightly and good,

You'll quickly say 'Ubicee,' just as you should."

The name, a rather clever adaptation of the initials U. B. C., was recently suggested to the editorial board. It's apparent originality impressed favorably, so the name stands.

In the month of January, the new feature in the booklet was the correspondence column, where the students were invited to air their views and grievances. With February has appeared a page of caricatures by a member of the freshman year arts. Three of the professors are depicted in attitudes, sufficiently characteristic, to enable anyone, even slightly acquainted with the lecture room poses of the gentlemen, to recognize them.

An interesting article is the one entitled, "In the Library," written by the night janitor of the university. It is made up of the reminiscences of the workman as he picks up this book and that, which carries him back in memory to scenes in the Old Land.

The fourth and last monthly for the term will be published next month. Many of the members of the editorial board will thereafter be engaged in the composition of the college annual.

Hockey Match Postponed.

The decisive match, University Girls vs. Swastika Girls, slated for last night, is indefinitely postponed.

Feb. 13, 1917.

YESTERDAY a very satisfactory report was read at the meeting of the University Red Cross Society, both of its financial status and of the work accomplished during the past term.

The financial report showed: Expended during the past session, $232.21; balance on hand, $72.57. These amounts were made up by fees and donations. From Mrs. R. W. Brock was received $25; from Miss Jean Robinson, of Victoria, one of last year's graduates, $5; Professor Lemuel Robertson donated a valuable book, which netted $23.35 for the society.

Since September 23, 1916, the society has shipped four cases, and one is ready to ship. These cases contain pyjamas, nightshirts, 123 pairs of socks, housewives, surgical stockings, bed-pads, bandages, etc.

At the meeting the question of an entertainment of some kind for the purpose of raising money was discussed. A novel plan, "Ye Olde Book Faire," is under consideration.

The members of the society will help on the coming Belgian tag day.

Illustrated Talk on Rome.

Professor Russell, of the University, entertained the members of the Women's Literary Society and their guests most delightfully yesterday afternoon, when he spoke to them of Rome and his experiences there. He talked from his excellent slides in a way that is possible only for one who is dealing with scenes that he has traversed. Among the views shown were the Coliseum, St. Peter's, celebrated churches of Rome, The Seven Hills of that ancient city, and many other very beautiful and unique buildings and places. Interest was added by the insertion of the old legends attached to the various places shown, and which are in many instances contained in the classical readings of the university student. Mr. Russell also showed a great many of his own snapshots, telling personal anecdotes in connection with them.

Charming piano selections were contributed by Miss Bessie Dunsmuir. The president, on the motion of Miss Agnes Damer, conveyed a very hearty vote of thanks to Prof. Russel for the pleasure which he had given to the gathering. There were present, in addition to the members of the society, a number of the faculty and of the men of the University.

Lectures on Nation Building.

This evening Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, former secretary of the Canadian Welfare League, and director of the Bureau of Social Research for the Prairie Provinces, will give the first of a series of lectures on "Nation Building" from the topic, "Canadian Problems." Mr. Woodsworth has been intimately connected with the immigration question for many years, and speaks from the fullness of his experience with the foreigner in Canada, his difficulties, his fine points, his aspirations, his opportunities, etc. These lectures are to be held in the University auditorium, and it is hoped that the public will take advantage of this opportunity of learning a great many facts that every Canadian citizen should know.

VARSITY PLAYERS IN "MERELY MARY ANN"

Zangwill's Comedy Handled in Splendid Style at Opening Performance Last Evening—Will Be Repeated Tonight.

By the performance of "Merely Mary Ann" last night, the University Players Club has won a permanent and popular place in the heart of the Vancouver public. Zangwill's four-act comedy is really a play starring the title role, but gives scope for other clever work as well.

"Mary Ann" is a slavey in an East London boarding house. She falls in love with one of the lodgers, an unrecognized musical genius. Just when he has decided that he will rescue her from the misery of her position and take her to his country, she falls heir to a large fortune. Things change and remain changed for six years, during which time she becomes a grand lady and he a great composer. Then they meet again, and all ends well.

In the title role, Miss Helena Bodie seemed to live rather than to act. The winsome simplicity of the little servant maid, and the quaint girlish dignity of the heiress, were equally becoming to her. In the gingham with the smudge on her face, and "Mr. Launcelot's" gloves on her hands, she won the love of the audience, and when she appeared, six years later, attired in chiffon and satin, the same simple sweetness still fascinated.

Miss Viva Martin, in the part of "Mrs. Leadbatter," the landlady, played with excellent consistency, and showed a wonderful facility with the difficult cockney accent. It is so much easier to play a part that is pretty and popular than to carry through the character of the unfavored old woman, that Miss Martin deserves much credit for her portrayal.

The third heavy part, "Mr. Launcelot," was taken by Mr. Russel Hunter. With wild hair, he alternated from irritation to love, from despair to inspiration, as is the wont of musicians. Rounds of applause greeted him, and he contrived to put a great deal of sincerity even into the difficult business of wooing in public.

"Launcelot's" friend, "Peter," was well interpreted by Mr. Pat Fraser, while one, could not desire to meet a more pert young miss than Miss Norah Coy, the landlady's daughter "Rosie." Space forbids details with respect to the excellent work of Mr. W. J. Agabob as the music publisher; Mr. J. Ellard, the country preacher; Mr. Ian Shaw, the tipsy journalist, and Mr. Merrill DesBrisay, the motor-crazed lord. Mr. DesBrisay has brought quite a natural English accent back with him from the military hospitals in England. The Misses Helen Westbrook, Kathleen Peck, Isabel Ford and Connie Highmoor made a rare galaxy of aristocratic beauties whose splendor contrasted with the black dress of Miss Isobel Harvey, their maid. Miss Helen White and Miss Agnes Morrison made a dashing pair of chorus girls.

Mr. B. G. C. Wood, of the English department, who trained the cast, deserves much credit indeed for his unfiring work. In the mechanical details of the production he was aided by the following committee: Miss Grace Henderson, Bonnie Clement, Pauline Gintzburger, C. W. Austin, J. C. Nelson and A. L. Marshall. The play will be repeated tonight under the auspices of the Girls' Auxiliary of the Hospital. Proceeds from both nights go to the military hospital.

UNIVERSITY CONCERT IS HUGE SUCCESS

Songs of William Dichmont, Soldier Writer, Are Heard Here for the First Time—Prominent Artists Appear.

Last night's concert at the University for Red Cross funds showed the students setting a new precedent. The customary college glee club was represented by a chorus of women students, possessing fresh young voices, sweet and pleasing, and there was a notable absence of the rollicking humor and boisterous fun that usually prevails at entertainments where the student body gather en masse. Both orchestra and chorus, under the baton of Prof. Russell, acquitted themselves admirably in a number of varied compositions.

Special interest attached to Mrs. Couthard's selections. This accomplished artist, after singing with charming art and distinction of style Hue's lovely "J'ai Pleure en Reve," gave a group of Mr. William Dichmont's songs, "Bonnie Brown Head," "Falling Asleep" and "Spring Song."

Chopin in diverse mood—the sunny, soaring joyousness of the A Flat Impromptu, the showy grace of the black key etude, the festive glitter of the brilliant "Military" polonaise—found Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green an able interpreter, whose finely developed technique met the exacting filigree work of the arabesques of lovely sound.

Perhaps in her interpretations a greater reticence might fitly have taken the place of the frank sunniness of the atmosphere created. Liszt, however, found in Mrs. Green an ideal exponent. Valunes of applause following the second rhapsody, led to a triple recall, with the happy delight in the second number of hearing the player's beautifully gauged command of rhythmic interplay and gamut of tone gradation in the traditional interpretation of the Beethoven Turkish march as a passing cavalcade advancing and receding into the distance.

Mr. Frank Branchley's promising voice, which has good timbre and is of satisfying volume, met admirably the exactions such ambitious selections as "Rolling Down to Rio," "The Two Grenadiers" and "Invictus" made upon it, and was warmly recalled.

March 31, 1917.

THE fourth number of the "University Student Monthly," and the last for the term, has made its appearance. It might well be called the "All Story Number," for the greater part of its matter is made up of fiction. A review of more than ordinary interest, particularly to the freshmen, from the pen of Miss Anna Ermatinger Fraser, of the English department, is reproduced, dealing with the group of essays from the first-year students, on the subject, "The Book Which Has Influenced Me Most." The editorial staff, augmented, is applying its energies to the production of the "annual."

University Elections.

No small interest and excitement is being occasioned at the university by the annual election campaigns. Yesterday the nomination list closed for the positions of secretary and treasurer of the students' council. Mr. Sutcliffe, who will be a junior student next year, was named for the office of secretary. Mr. Frank Emmons and Mr. Richards, who will both be in their senior year next year, are in the running for the position of treasurer. The election will take place tomorrow. In honor of the day and to create a little diversion, the freshman class has posted a notice to the effect that Thursday will be observed by the members of '20 as "sock and pigtail day," applying respectively to the "men" and "women" of the year. The idea was very probably filched from the girls of the senior year, who annually mark St. Patrick's Day with hanging hair and hairbows.

Until this year the secretary and treasurer of the student council have been elected by that body from its number. At a recent meeting the constitution was amended according to the new action. Undergraduate society elections come next week.

Convocation Dance.

The convocation dance in honor of the graduating class of the University will be held in the auditorium of the University on the evening of May 3. The wives of the governors have consented to act as patronesses.

April 6, 1917.

Graduation Banquet.

The members of the graduating class of the university will hold their annual banquet in the dining room of the Hudson's Bay Co. on the evening of Saturday, April 28, at 8.15 p.m. There will be present President and Mrs. Westbrook, the deans of the faculties and their wives, the honorary president of the class and his wife, and Miss Nora Coy, president of the council for next year, in addition to the members of the year.

CAMP CONFERENCE FOR WOMEN OF UNIVERSITY

Miss Hamil of Toronto to Be Present — Fine Programme of Lectures and Sports Arranged—Camp Location.

The second annual Pacific Student Y. W. C. A. conference will be held this year from June 14 to June 28 inclusive at Whytecliffe. The camp is happily situated but a few rods on one side from Fisherman's Bay and on the other from Copper Cove. Already more than 25 girls from the University have signed up and as the capacity of accommodation is limited to 50, a full house is expected.

The conference leader will be Miss Velma Hamil, national student secretary, who was at the university on a visit last winter and won great favor with the students. Mrs. L. S. Klinck, as last year, will be Camp Mother, and a trained nurse will be present all the time, in case of sickness.

The forenoons will be principally devoted to study and the afternoons to recreation. The Rev. R. Trumppour of Latimer Hall has consented to give a course of four lectures on Bible study of the New Testament and at the conclusion of these Rev. Hetherington has promised six lectures on Social Service. There is no end of things to occupy the afternoons, as the camp affords boating, swimming, tennis, delightful sea and wood-walks. It is probable that 40 or 50 healthy girls in such surroundings will be able to make the time pass very quickly.

Evening Lectures.

Immediately after supper each night a short lecture will be given by one of the men from the city who are popular among the student people. Dr. Lemuel Robertson, Dr. T. H. Boggs, Rev. Ernest Thomas, Rev. F. W. Kerr and Dr. W. H. Smith have pledged their services and there will be others. Talks will also be given by Miss Hamil on association work in universities and the problems of it.

June 26 has been set aside as visitors' day when the campers will welcome to their quarters all their friends who are able to come. Under the capable management of Miss Dorothy Trapp, who during the past year has been president of the Women's Athletic Association of the university, a programme of sports is being drawn for that day. There will be contests and exhibitions of skill in sports by land and sea, while various "camp stunts" will be put on during the evening.

Bloomers and Middies.

The official costume for the camp is made up of middie-blouse, bloomers and running shoes. The registration fee is one dollar and the rate six dollars per week.

A visitors' book, started by Mrs. Klinck last year, will be continued this year. Correspondence with the local press and central Y. W. papers will be carried on by Misses Helen Westbrook and Madge Gill.

The camp committee consists of Mrs. George Cowan, advisory member; Mrs. L. S. Klinck, camp mother; Miss Bernie Bian, registrar, 1305 Barclay Street; leader Miss Velma Hamil, and programme manager, Miss Isabel Harvey.

All students of this or any other university, members of the faculty, graduates or other women interested in the student work are eligible for registration for the camp.

PLEASANT RECEPTION FOR WOMEN STUDENTS

Hall of Learning Is Scene of Happy Informal Gathering of Faculty and Undergraduates —Miss Peebles Sings.

The wives and the members of the faculty of the University of British Columbia received yesterday afternoon at the University in honor of the women students. The color scheme of the university, blue and gold, were tastefully carried out in the floral decorations of the auditorium, where the function took place. Golden daffodils with blue hyacinths were arranged in blue and white bowls, while on the piano stood a large bowl of the same flowers, tied with broad satin streamers.

Mrs. F. F. Westbrook, with Mrs. L. S. Klinck, Miss Isabel MacInnes, Mrs. R. W. Brock and Mrs. George Robinson received the guests, while from prettily decorated tables Mrs. E. H. Archibald, Mrs. James Henderson, Mrs. F. M. Clement and Mrs. J. G. Davidson poured tea and coffee. The ices were served by Mrs. R. H. Clark and Mrs. Hutchinson.

During the afternoon Miss Brownie Peebles of New Westminster, accompanied by Mrs. Fisher sang several spring songs with such joy and lilt that one quite felt that it was spring. Mr. Ransom entertained amusingly with several monologues, to which a running pianoforte accompaniment was played by Dr. H. Ashton.

Among those present were President and Mrs. F. F. Westbrook, Dean and Mrs. George Robinson, Dean and Mrs. L. S. Klinck, Mrs. R. W. Brock, Miss Isabel MacInnes, Dr. and Mrs. Lemuel Robertson, Dr. and Mrs. McIntosh, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Boggs, Dr. and Mrs. James Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Davidson, Dr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. Boving, Dr. and Mrs. Matheson, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Clarke, Dr. and Mrs. Henri Chodat, Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Hebb, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Dutcher, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Mr. F. G. C. Wood and Mrs. Wood, Dr. and Mrs. Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. St. John Mildmay, Miss Anne Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. John Ridington, Dr. H. Ashton, Sergt. Mack Eastman, Misses Shirley Clement, Norah Coy, Helen White, Dorothy Trapp, Kathleen Mutrie, Laura Pim, Agnes Gregor, Kathleen Peck, Annie Fountain, Olive Orr, Vera Muddell, Maisey Story, Gitt Pearl Rosebrough, Evelyn Story, Mabel Lanning, Winnie Lee, Teresa Pollock, Stella McGuire, Bernie Bain, Lena Bodie, Bonnie Clement, Pansy Munday, Ruth Fulton, Dorothy Bolton, Ruth Stewart, Pauline Gintzburger, Margaret Cameron, Marjorie Tennant, Nellie Balleentyne, P. McGregor, Kathleen Bradshaw, Isabel Harvey, Helen Westbrook, Marjorie Peck, Marjorie Day, Lucy Collier, Margaret Healey, Agnes Healey and many others.

PTE. T. S. A. SHEARMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Shearman of 2269 Sixth Avenue West, and a nephew of Mr. T. H. S. Shearman, Dominion meteorologist, whose death from wounds received in the recent heavy fighting on the western front has just been reported. He was one of the first graduates of the provincial university, taking his B. A. degree in 1916. Popular with his college chums, the late Pte. Shearman held offices in the gift of the students, and took a prominent part in the interuniversity and other debates, being a particularly effective speaker and resourceful in argument. Feeling reference to the loss sustained by his death was made on Sunday by Rev. Mr. Brown and others at the services at the Kitsilano Methodist Church of which young Shearman was a prominent member.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES; ADDRESS BY MISS PIM

The class-day exercises, second in importance only to the graduation exercises, occurred yesterday afternoon at the university. A large number of the friends and relatives of the students, as well as many of the members of the staff, were present. The event of the afternoon was the valedictory address by Miss Laura Pim. Entirely original and wonderfully frank, as the work of Miss Pim always is, was this farewell to college and its life. As president of the student body in the year 1913-1914, Miss Pim welcomed the freshmen of Arts '17. She later remained out of college for some time, and last year rejoined 1917 in its seniority, and was appropriately elected to give the valedictory. Miss Pim not only expressed the regret which the class feels in leaving student life, but passed on to those who will come after a few suggestions, which experience has proven will be very valuable.

A part of the programme which occasioned not a little amusement was the reading of the class poem and the class prophecy, both composed by Miss Kathleen Peck. According to Miss Peck, the past history of the class has been one series of victories, triumphs and applause, and should the prophecy come true, the country will be well supplied with statesmen, preachers, playwrights, female politicians, and even married men.

Several musical selections were most agreeably rendered and a source of real pleasure. Those taking part were: Miss Kathleen Mutrie, Miss Winnie Lee, Miss Phoebe McGregor, Miss Hazel Wilband, Miss Roberts and Miss Bloomfield. Mr. Charles Wright, president of the student body, occupied the chair. After the completion of the programme, refreshments were served by the women of the sophomore year.

Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Wesbrook Receive.

In honor of the graduating class of the university, President and Mrs. F. F. Wesbrook were at home yesterday afternoon. Among the guests invited were the graduating students, the members of the university senate, university governors and the members of the faculty. Mrs. Wesbrook received with Mr. John Mennie, president of the class, Miss Margaret Maynard, vice-president of the class; Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. L. S. Klinck, Mrs. R. W. Brock, Mrs. S. D. Scott and Mrs. M. J. Rogers. Among those who assisted at the tea hour were Miss Alice McInnes, Miss Kitchen, Miss Alice Scott, Miss Hazel Kitchen, Miss Isabel Harvey, Miss Gwen Robson, Miss Pauline Gintzburger and Miss Helen Wesbrook.

University Annual—The 1917 edition of the Annual of the University of B. C. is now off the press. The new book is bound in full cloth and is a considerably better production than the previous annuals. This number is essentially military in character, containing as it does a complete honor roll of the University and pictures of the killed and wounded. There is also, of course, the regular reading matter, the usual pictures and groups, as well as a page of snapshots from the trenches. Any who are desirous of obtaining copies of this Annual may get them at the congregation of the University this afternoon, or may send their orders to the circulation department. Some of our boys, whose pictures do not appear, have since crossed the great divide while on active service for their king.

MEMBERS of this year's graduating class of the University of British Columbia, the second graduating class of the university, will receive their degrees at the convocation this afternoon, when also prizes and scholarships will be awarded to honor students.

Last year's picturesque proceedings, through the court house grounds of gowned and hooded graduates wearing the robes of their respective universities that gave a spectacular touch to the proceedings of convocation, will be repeated today at this afternoon's ceremony in the more commonplace environment of the Laurel and Broadway thoroughfares.

The column of university officials, members of the senate and the body of convocation, including the graduates and undergraduates, will form at the physics building, the point of assembly, Laurel Street and Tenth Avenue, at 2.30 p.m. Its route will lie thence along Broadway to Willow and up that street to the arts building. Limited space only is available for guests who are asked to be at the assembly hall by 2.20 p.m.

As a prelude to the ceremony, which begins at 3 p.m., there will be music by the Grace Hastings Dresser orchestra. No seat will be reserved after 2.45, when the few remaining seats will be thrown open to the general public.

Yesterday, work on the making out of the pass and other examination lists was completed, and the results embodied as below, are now made public:

The following is the list of graduates ranked in the order of merit, who will today be invested with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, at the convocation ceremony. Two of the men students, Messrs. John Hamilton Mennie and Leroy Charles Wright, in recognition of their services to the empire in enlisting for active service, have in accordance with the custom established last year, been granted the degree without the formality of examination. Despite this privilege accorded soldier students, Mr. J. Hamilton Mennie, however, took the examinations in ordinary course and attained second place among the graduates of his year in the faculty of arts. In this department the successful students are:

UNIVERSITY'S SECOND GRADUATING CLASS TO GET DEGREES TODAY

Convocation Dance Cancelled.

The Convocation dance, which was to have been given by the junior year students of the Provincial University on Thursday evening of this week, has been cancelled owing to the death of Miss Pansy Munday, which occurred at the General Hospital Tuesday afternoon. Miss Munday was in the Junior Arts class, was prominent in social circles at the university and was editor of the "Monthly" and the "Annual."

UNIVERSITY GIRLS OPEN CAMP THURSDAY

Morning Courses of Lectures
—Afternoons Devoted to Outdoor Sports—June 26 to Be Visitors' and Sports' Day.

The Y. W. C. A. camp at Whytecliff opens on Thursday, June 14, and will be occupied for two weeks by university students. The gathering is under the auspices of the University Y. W. C. A., and will be known as the Pacific Student Conference. During the forenoon three courses of lectures will be given, one on Bible study, by Rev. H. R. Troumpour, one on Social Service by Rev. A. E. Hetherington, and one on Association Problems, by Miss Velma Hamill, general Canadian student secretary. In the evenings lectures will be given by Professor Lemuel Robertson, Dr. T. H. Boggs, Rev. W. H. Smith, Rev. K. W. Kerr, Rev. Ernest Thomas, and Mrs. Neph. The afternoons will be free for all the outdoor sports which make a camp life so jolly and healthful.

Mrs. L. S. Klinck will act as camp-mother and it is expected that there will be several visiting delegates from the eastern universities. Miss Bernie Bain, 1305 Barclay Street (phone Seymour 186), is the registrar and any one wishing to fill one of the few vacancies left may apply to her. Registered up to the present are: Mrs. L. S. Klinck, Mrs. George Robinson, Misses Isabel Harvey, Bernie Bain, M. Nairn, Helen White, Marion Mounce, Dorothy Houston, Bonnie Clement, Jean Abernethy, Margaret Hardie, B. Abel, J. Davidson, H. Boldrick, J. Bickell, Madge Gill, Shirley Clement, A. Morrison, Maizie Suggitt, Isabel Thomas, Vera Muddell, Kathleen Nutrie, M. Summerhayes, F. Irvine, Dorothy Trapp, A. Chatterton, Annie Hill, Phoebe McGregor, Evelyn Story, Viva Martin, Gertrude Rand, A. Grosse, Eleanor Frame, Marjorie Day, Violet Walsh.

Those registered are asked to purchase their tickets at the city Y. W. C. A. and meet at the North Vancouver ferry at 10 a. m. on Thursday next.

June 26 has been set apart as a day of sports, when many visitors will be entertained at camp.

FRIENDS FROM CITY VISIT 'VARSITY CAMP

University Girls Return From Whytecliff — Enjoyed Lectures — Leave for Berry-
Picking Tomorrow.

The Camp Conference of the University Y. W. C. A. closed yesterday morning and the girls, with their chaperones, returned to the city with no little regret. The two weeks spent at Whytecliff have been filled with the healthiest mental and physical exercises, and a number of the girls realize, as they never did before, what the Young Women's Christian Association stands for. They have learned that it is not an impractical theorizing organization, but that it is a live force holding students all over the country in the great union of service, which represents to those who belong to it the end of life.

During the fortnight a course of lectures was given on Bible study by Rev. Troumpour. Rev. A. E. Hetherington of the Central City Mission, gave a course on Social Service Problems, and Miss Velma Hamill, general secretary of the Student Y. W. C. A. of Canada, and leader of the conference, conducted a series of discussion groups. In the evenings at the vesper prayers, Mrs. L. S. Klinck, camp-mother, was most interesting and helpful in her twilight talks. Others who addressed the girls were Dr. Lemuel Robertson, Rev. Ernest Thomas, Rev. W. H. Smith, Rev. F. W. Kerr and Dr. T. H. Boggs and Rev. John McNeil.

Wild Time on Sports Day.

These lectures were all given in the mornings and the afternoons were free for regular camp activities. The girls rambled through the woods, boated, swam, climbed a mountain, conducted a tennis tournament and on sports' day had a wild time, to express it mildly. Rivalry was occasioned by the presence of the two factions defined by the fact that part of the campers were in the big dormitory, and known as Dormatites and the rest under canvas were known as Tentites. Each morning a tent inspection was held by Mrs. Klinck and marks given for neatness, individuality and artistic arrangement. The Dormatites won the prize, a large quantity of chocolates, which was kindly offered by Mrs. George Cowan.

On the evening of Friday last the Dormatites entertained the rest of the camp at a "Pantorium" vaudeville show, the acts of which were purely original and in some cases adapted from the scenes of college life. The compliment was returned by the Tentites on Saturday evening, when they were hostesses at a fancy dress ball. The costumes were wonders of construction and imagination. When one is five miles from anywhere, and it is necessary to borrow all one's equipment for such costumes from the camping outfits, a great deal of consideration is required to attain a desirable result. With unlimited supplies of flour and cocoa for powder and paint, with bracken for South Sea island skirts, and butcher knives for daggers, much can be accomplished.

Entertain City Visitors.

On visitors' day, Tuesday last, many from the city went out to the camp. Among these were Mrs. C. J. Peter, Mrs. George Cowan, Miss Gertrude Meredith, Miss Yvonne McConnell, Mesdames W. J. White, J. M. Centre, Houston, A. Z. deLong, Bush, Muddell, Harris, Martin, Gill, Morrison, Misses Gill, Miss Maude Wooster, Miss Annie McQueen, Miss Wilma and Lillian Clark, Miss Florence Irvine, Miss Laura Pin and Dean L. S. Klinck. The campers entertained their visitors by showing them all their territory and exhibiting various stunts on land and water. In addition they put on a pageant called the "Piper" and representing the spirit of the Y. W. C. A. and how it changes all one's viewpoint of her work.

Music for the parade was supplied by Miss Summerhaze and those taking part were: "Three Graces," Misses Dorothy Houston, Madge Gill and Margaret Hardy; "Councillors," Misses Phoebe McGregor, Viva Martin and Vera Muddell; "Spirit of Services," Miss Isabel Harvey; "Spirit of the Twentieth Century," Miss Helen White; "Country Girls," Misses Gertrude Rand, Maizie Suggitt and Violet Walsh; "Factory Girls," Misses Bonnie Clement, Helena Boldrick, Beatrice Able and Myrtle Swanson; "College Girls," Isabel Thomas, Dorothy Houston and Marion Mounce.

Most of the girls who were in camp leave tomorrow morning for Victoria, en route to Gordon Head, where they will spend the next few weeks picking strawberries. They will be accompanied as far as Victoria by Miss Hamill, who will meet her mother there and pass a short vacation before proceeding east again.

UNIVERSITY GIRLS GAVE SATISFACTION

President Westbrook of the University of British Columbia has received a pleasant letter from the fruit growers for whom the University girls harvested strawberries this season. The letter speaks for itself.

"Dear President Westbrook.—You are personally aware of the great appreciation and admiration which we have for the girls of the University of British Columbia who have helped us gather our strawberry crop this season. May we ask you on our behalf to convey to your Board of Governors, your Senate and Faculty, our heartiest congratulations upon the work of your students, their attitude toward the work and their courage in meeting every situation, no matter how trying, in the spirit of true soldiers. We have heard much of your young men who have entered a hard fight. We can only say that they are bound to bring honor to their country and themselves if they are possessed of the same spirit and are of the same calibre as the girls which you sent to us. Signed, W. F. Somers, P. McNaughton and F. E. Vantreight, Gordon Head B. C."
