Eighth Session Of The U.B.C.

President, Chancellor and Deans
Mass Meeting Addressed by

A mass meeting of the faculty and the student body was held on Tuesday morning, at 9:15. President Klinck who acted as chairman of the meeting formally declared the University of British Columbia open for the session 1922-23, and extended a hearty welcome to all its old and new members. The President spoke of the extraordinary growth of the University which is attested by the registration figures. He admitted the difficulties which must necessarily attend the introduction of increased numbers into our already cramped quarters, but he also spoke hopefully of the prospect of relief. In this connection the Students' Campaign was mentioned and praise was given to the indefatigable workers who have carried it on during the summer. In conclusion President Klinck expressed his hope that every student would obtain the greatest pleasure and the most lasting satisfaction from the year's work.

The Chancellor

Dr. R. E. McKechnie, Chancellor of the University was introduced by the President as "one who has been always ready and willing to give unhurried attention to all matters pertaining to the University." In his speech the Chancellor pointed out the comparative unimportance of "marble walls and tessellated floors," and by means of illustrations from his old college, McGill, stressed the part which the men rather than the buildings should play in shaping college life. Dr. McKechnie stated that the University of British Columbia already had the men and spoke optimistically of future possibilities in the way of buildings. He assured us that we were at least "one year nearer the goal." The Chancellor was also encouraging in his mention of athletics and concluded by urging the students to "balance work so that it might not swamp athletics and to balance athletics so that they might not swamp work."

The Deans

The next speaker, Dean Coleman, the Dean of Arts and Science, offered a special welcome to those who were entering University life through the door of his faculty. He pointed out the fundamental nature of a University in its relation to civilization and drew a picture of an ancient type of college with a clearness that perhaps reconciled us to some of the discomforts of our own college halls. Some ancient customs, however, still seem to be popular, judging from the applause which greeted the Dean's statement: "When the professor and students did not approve of the treatment meted out to them by the government, they simply moved on to another place and another government." In conclusion Dean Coleman thanked the Chancellor for interpreting those

PRESIDENT KLINCK AND A. E. RICHARDS WELCOME RETURNING STUDENTS

President of University and President of Alma Mater Society Issue
Addresses to Student Body

PRESIDENT KLINCK'S ADDRESS

President Klinck, interviewed on Tuesday morning and asked for a statement to the student body through the columns of the Ubysssey, said that he would be very glad to say a few words to the students. He wished to extend a sincere and hearty welcome to all of them and most especially to the freshman classes of 1926 who were entering the portals of the University for the first time.

"Of many developments since last May, I shall mention but one," stated the president. "The campaign initiated and so vigorously and successfully prosecuted by the undergraduates and alumni in favour of having the University moved to Point Grey, is to my mind the matter of greatest University interest and significance. I believe that the influence it has already had upon public opinion in regard to this vitally important question has been very considerable and I think I am safe in saying that the plan is fraught with great possibilities for the University."

"The fact that upwards of 17,000 signatures from all parts of the province have been obtained for the petition forms is an indication of the in-

A. E. RICHARDS ADDRESS

It is my hope and, I believe, the hope of the whole Student Body that this will be a successful year. We would like, at the end of our year, to have something worth while to show. We desire to leave something of permanent value to our University. We hope to bring honor to our Alma Mater.

The coming year holds a great opportunity for us to see our hopes realized. No realization could be grander than a share in the task of establishing our University on its permanent site. Due to the excellent work of the Home Guard Committee of the Publicity Campaign we can proceed with confidence. They have paved the way for big things. I hope the Student Body understand how far reaching is the influence of 1200 University Students, convinced of the justice of their cause, serious and sincere in their endeavor. That influence has already spread farther than we dared hope at this stage of the Campaign. Let us carry on the good work and all unite in the "Big Effort" of the year.

Student Campaign Vigorously Prosecuted During Summer

At the close of the last session, a Committee was appointed to direct the Student Campaign to move the University out to Point Grey.

THE PETITION FORMS.

It commenced its work by issuing each student with a petition, containing space for the names of twenty-five voters, and asking the general public to extend their support to the University. When these petitions were filled in, they were sent in to the Committee. During the summer this body also interviewed prominent individuals and such influential organizations at the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Associated Boards of Trade, and the B. C. Teachers' Association. Students attached to the Committee were deputed to deliver addresses before such institutions, giving them an idea of the needs of the University and the practicability of the Point Grey Scheme.

ORGANIZATIONS APPROACHED.

Just as the Committee strove to get into touch with corporate bodies, so the individual student endeavoured to influence the various persons he met during the summer vacation. In the Okanagan and Kootenay valleys, in the Cariboo, in Lillooet, on the Island and up the Coast as far as the Yukon, excellent publicity work was thus accomplished. Not only were individuals approached, but the local boards of trade, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, the Women's Institutes and Farmers' Associations were in many cases addressed by the students spending their vacations up country or along the Coast. The response to their endeavours was most satisfactory; very few refusals of support were encountered, either from individuals or corporate bodies.

Student Cafeteria Opens This Term Under New Manager

The Cafeteria, O you who lunch and tea, has taken to itself new ways. It is reformed. You would not know it.

The Cafeteria, to be perfectly serious, is "under new management." In the first place it is now much more directly connected with the University. The Students Council which has this year assumed responsibility, has secured a trained dietician for the head of the Cafeteria. Miss Frances Hansford who has taken this position, was for three and a half years dietician for military hospitals, and is late of the Shaughnessy Military Hospital, Vancouver. Miss Hansford will superintend the entire work of the Cafeteria, and we are promised a standard of service and cooking which will make the place deservedly popular.

Our reporter, after a tour of inspection, states that not only has the Cafeteria, the floor and all its corners, been scrubbed, but also the chairs and the woodwork! He became quite enthusiastic over the crisp cheerfulness of the newly-laundered curtains. And he mumbled something inarticulate about atmosphere. However . . . !

The Cafeteria will serve luncheon from 11:30 to 1:30, and tea from 3 to 5. Tea time will be extremely interesting, for excellent coffee and hot golden toast (as "starters") will be no longer an impossible dream. Perhaps there will be a hint of jam too; not to speak of hot biscuits, when it once gets under way.

Besides the important feature of "tea," there will be facilities for excellent catering for dance suppers, or tea dances, or for any of the smaller informal things to which delicious refreshments mean so much. There will be home-made cakes and fudges for the nearly-impecunious-and-always-starving person who tries to exist on boarding-house fare. Altogether the future of the Cafeteria is most cheering: it only requires the whole-hearted support of every student to make it something we will be proud of. For, to be very practical, the profits of the Cafeteria return to it to make it always a little better, and for what we put into it we shall receive three fold. It's an enticing proposition.

Extra! Extra!

This issue of the Ubysssey, the first for the college session 1922-23, is not a regular issue; it is merely a special edition, of half the usual size, gotten out hurriedly by a few members of the staff. The difficulties that lay in the way of publishing a regular edition at so early a date are obvious. It is expected the first full issue will be distributed next Thursday in the usual way.

MUCK -- A -- MUCK

MR. MUCK ADDRESSES STUDENT BODY.

Should we offer information on the subject of vacation with the statement that it's over now for good, though we know you'd hate to pain us we feel sure you'd rise and brain us, or if you did not some other fellow would. It is true the summer's over and each merry little rover must return to college halls right speedily, but once we think of past glories, we must tell some awful stories to prove the rovers do it eagerly. So that in this word of greeting Mr. Muck his patrons meeting does not wish to talk about vacation days, though

Muck feels to speak precisely those same days help very nicely to educate in lots of little ways. Still don't feel depressed and dismal plunged in gloomy thoughts abysmal, you can also learn a lot in winter time, and this solemn editorial would in manner dictatorial (it is made so by exigencies of rhyme) would get all the Freshies started, bidding them not be down hearted, but to go ahead and try things anyway. So bless you my children bless you, let not profs or gowns distress you,—Muck-a-Muck stands by to cheer you in the fray.

ideals of the University "by which we stand and through which we live."

Dean Brock, Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science declared that students come to the University for education rather than for information.

"The most important thing is the development of character."

He paid tribute to the sportsmanship of the University and urged the students to maintain their reputation as true sportsmen.

Dean Clement, Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture, spoke of the high standard of that faculty, and of the work which awaited graduate students, particularly in overcoming the segregation and isolation which is one of the chief difficulties of the rural problem. "Two of the nine provinces of British Columbia have farmer premiers," said Dean Brock. "Allow me to point out that seven other provinces will be needing premiers presently."

The last speaker, Miss Bollert, spoke of the world's wide-spread pre-occupation with education, and of the necessity of having a definite aim in one's college course. She concluded by offering all the students her best wishes for success in "the high adventure of education."

A few announcements having been made by the President, God Save the King was sung, and the meeting adjourned.

THE MEETING ON MONDAY.

A meeting of the Student Campaign Committee was held at noon, Monday, September 25, under the chairmanship of Mr. J. W. Clyne, who has been directing the compilation of data relating to the Point Grey project.

The report of the Extension Committee was taken up, containing the available data likely to be of assistance to the Committee, relating to the accommodation to be provided for students at Point Grey, the cost of the proposed change to the new University Site, the information furnished by the architects, and the plan to make the sale of the endowment-lands cover the new expenditure. This information will be given to Mr. Ian Mackenzie, M.L.A., who will make representations on behalf of the University to the forthcoming Liberal Convention.

tense interest displayed by the general public and is at the same time a happy augury for the success of the University, since in the last analysis the institution can render its greatest service only when the governing bodies, the faculty and students, and the general public, are vitally interested and consider that it is a common heritage for which personal sacrifices should be made.

"Official representations to the government on the part of the University authorities always savour of special pleading. This objection cannot be made in the case of the student campaign the prime movers of which will derive no direct benefit from the change. In endeavouring to make it easier for later generations of students to obtain an education than it has been for them they show an appreciation of the duty they owe to their Alma Mater and to the state. The campaign they have carried on is purely educational and as much is deserving of the highest commendation."

MR. RICHARDS' MESSAGE

Opportunities also await us in the field of Athletics. Seldom has the outlook appeared brighter for a record year. We feel that our Rugby team will maintain its standing. We are justly proud of our Soccer Team which in three years has worked its way into Senior Company. Old timers in the football game say that our team will not be far from the top when the season ends. It's a fine cup. Here's Luck!

In the Dramatic and in the Debating spheres prospects are equally bright. California has made an offer of Debate. "Yo Washington" will be welcomed in the Spring. The Washington home team still remains invulnerable. A win there would be a prize worth capturing. Who is going to do it?

After all our year is just what we make it. Its success remains with ourselves. Let our Motto be our Guide.

YELL LEADERS.

A meeting will be held shortly for the usual appointment of Yell Leaders. It is particularly important that each Year appoint a popular and live man to fill this vital position.

REPORTERS FOR THE UBYSSY TO BE CHOSEN AFTER CONTEST

Students with Journalistic Ability have Chance to Gain Valuable Experience on College Paper—
Best Reporters for Dailies.

In order to assist the members of the Publications Board in choosing reporters for this year's Ubyssy staff it has been decided to hold a reporters' contest of somewhat the same nature as Players' Club tryouts. The budding scribes will be required to submit signed reports on certain specified topics in time for the first regular issue of the paper which will appear next Thursday, their reports will be judged by a committee of the editorial board, and the staff will be chosen on the merits displayed in the contest.

There will be at least six reporters on the staff, assigned as in previous years to specified "beats," such as rugby, society, noon meetings, departmental offices, student campaign doings, and so on. Insofar as possible those who are taken on as reporters will be assigned to "beats" which they find the most congenial and interesting.

WORK FOR DAILIES ALSO.

Of the six reporters, at least three will be given the responsible positions of reporting for down-town papers as well as for the Ubyssy, and will thereby be able to earn a considerable amount of money as well as get excellent practical experience in newspaper work and an acquaintance with city journalists that may stand them in very good stead if they wish to enter the newspaper business later on. The editor-in-chief of the Ubyssy has interviewed the editors of the city dailies and has been assured by them, with one exception, that they will make their appointments through the Ubyssy. The idea is that publicity for student affairs shall be controlled by the Publications Board and that accuracy of fact will be insured in this way. The best student reporters will obviously be the ones appointed to the staffs of the dailies and will work competitively, under their respective editors.

BUSINESS ASSISTANTS WANTED.

The Ubyssy wants business assistants, chiefly for the advertising department. Three or four live wires who have had some experience in business already or who are filled with a burning desire to learn something about it are the people that the Business Manager and the Advertising Manager want to get hold of.

The work that the business assistants will be required to do is of an extremely interesting, instructive nature, and will not make great

MEETING FRIDAY NOON.

To explain fully the scheme of tryouts and to give out some information as to how to write news stories, how much to write, and what to write about, an open meeting has been called for tomorrow noon, in Room Z, when Mr. Al Drennan, Chief Reporter, and Mr. H. M. Cassidy, Editor-in-Chief, will speak about the scheme. There will be three or four topics given for news stories, a certain space allotted for each one, and applicants will be asked to submit their names at the time, to choose one or more topics, and to hand in their stories to the Publications Office not later than 9 a.m. next Tuesday. The best reports will be published in next week's Ubyssy, and the writers of these appointed to the staff permanently.

A general invitation to take part in these tryouts is extended to any students, men or women, freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, who think that they have writing ability and would like to get a start with the college paper. The tryouts, it might be said, present the only means of getting on the reporting staff, except in certain cases where a prospective reporter has already proved his or her capability.

The "Ubyssy" is the only school of journalism in the University. It provides training of a practical nature that is of the highest value to any young man or young woman who is thinking of entering the profession permanently. It serves also to bring students in touch with journalists throughout the province. Association with it keeps a student in the closest possible touch with all student activities.

The Publications Board is anxious for a large number of entrants for the contest that they may be able to pick out the best men and women in college for this responsible, interesting and instructive work and are looking forward to a large turnout at the meeting tomorrow.

demands upon their time. Working on the college paper is very attractive and those lower classmen who are appointed, even to subordinate positions, find their prestige amongst their fellow-students greatly enhanced and have a distinct start in "College Activities."

Volunteers from any year or faculty, and men in this instance, should see Mr. Cassidy or Mr. Bruun at the Publications Office, or attend the Reporters' meeting tomorrow noon in Room Z. Willing, enthusiastic workers are wanted at once.

SPORTING NEWS

SOCCER

Next Saturday the Varsity First Division Team will meet St. Andrews at Athletic Park. This is the Big Game of the Season, as St. Andrews have carried off premier honors in the First Division for the last two years, and it is Varsity's first appearance in Senior company.

The boys have a strong line-up, though they are a little handicapped by the fact that their rivals have already played two games this season.

Varsity line-up will be chosen from the following: Mosher, Baker, Crute, Don Emery, Buckley, Stan Say, Cameron, McLeod, Lundie, Jackson and Jeff Emery. It is hoped that the team may be able to play Wilkinson, providing his suspension can be raised.

Varsity also has a team in Third Division this year, which will make its appearance on Saturday. As yet the members of the team are not picked. For this reason the practices will have particular significance, as it will take several weeks to work up a good combination.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The annual tournament of the University Tennis Club will commence on Monday, October 1, on the Laurel courts. Entries will be received for the Men's Singles, Ladies Singles, Men's Doubles, Ladies Doubles, and the Mixed Doubles until Friday, September 29, at 5 p.m. The papers for signature are in the main entrance. The fees—$1.00 for non-members and 50 cents for members of the University Tennis Club must be paid before Monday, October 1.

The draws will be made on Saturday, September 30, by Mr. Cardinal of the Vancouver Club, who has kindly consented to conduct this part of the tournament. The results will be posted in the main hall early on Monday, October 1.

The executive extends a special invitation to the Freshmen Class to take part in the tournament. This, being the first major athletic event of the college year, offers an excellent opportunity to the new members of the Alma Mater to take an active part in college activities.

RUGBY.

The Rugby Club, under the able leadership of Bill McKee has been working hard. It is planned to field four teams this year, and as it is known that our rivals have also been practising well, the season promises some excellent sport.

In a tryout held last Saturday the Freshmen showed some fine form.

There is first-class material in the year, and it is no exaggeration to say that if the men of '26 live up to their showing they will clean up the Intermediate League.

RUGBY MEETING.

The date for the Rugby Meeting has not yet been settled, but all those interested are urged to watch the notice boards, and govern themselves accordingly.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL MEETING

The first regular meeting of the Students' Council was held in the Council room on Tuesday evening. Mr. Richards presented for the consideration of the members a large number of important matters which, although disposed of as expeditiously as possible, occupied the attention of the meeting until 11 o'clock.

Appointments and the setting of dates for meetings were the first matters of business on the agenda. Mr. Hunter Lewis was appointed Treasurer pro tem on account of the absence of Mr. R. Hunter, who is as yet unable to take over his duties. Monday nights, at 7:30 o'clock, were set as the regular meeting dates of the Council and dates for special meetings were also assigned. Amongst these are a combined meeting of the Students' Council and the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs which will take place on Thursday, October 5; and a mass meeting of the student body on Monday, October 2, at noon, when the progress of the extension campaign will be outlined and further plans will be announced.

The proposed initiation programme received careful attention as it was read, clause by clause, and received the approval of the Council. Another report that was read was that of the Student Campaign Committee and this was passed tentatively. The meeting approved the agreement with Miss Hansford for the running of the cafeteria on a salary and profit-sharing basis with the exception of certain small portions which it was recommended be changed.

The president read a report on the proposed policy of the Council and asked that the members offer him any suggestions they might wish to. A general discussion on policy will take place at a later date and something definite will be formulated.

After considering other minor matters of business the meeting adjourned.

PUBLICATIONS APPOINTMENTS

The Publications Board announces two new appointments to the staff, those of Miss Lillian Cowdell, Arts 24, as Associate Editor, and Mr. R. E. Walker, Arts 23, as Advertising Manager.

Miss Cowdell, formerly of Arts 22, was a member of the editorial staff three years ago when this year's senior class were freshmen, and returns to the Ubyssy well fitted for her duties. Mr. Walker is a well-known student of the senior year who by his knowledge of student affairs, as well as by his experience in the business world, has excellent qualifications for his new post.

The Ubyssy extends a very hearty welcome to the new members of the staff.
