The final runnings have been heard, the preliminary votes have been cast, and the other set of metaphors may be inserted here for the purpose of opening the first story on elections for this year.

Arts, Science, and Commerce, will all be represented in the coming tussle, which will come to a climax a week today. Other officers will then be in the running, and more appointments as editor-in-chief of the student newspaper will be made.

The Arts section is in the tail end of its term in 1983-1984 to Mid-October. It has a year's Council experience behind it, having served in the capacity of Junior Member during the past session. If successfully acting as a freshening force through the first term, merging smoothly into the fall term, and working closely with the Arts Administration, it would do wonders for the Arts section and the Art Club as well.

The Science section is now running on its second term, and is making a bid for more Council positions. It has a year's Council experience behind it, and would do wonders for the Science section if it were given the chance to run its own affairs.

The Commerce section is now running on its first term, and is making a bid for more Council positions. It has a year's Council experience behind it, and would do wonders for the Commerce section if it were given the chance to run its own affairs.

SAFETY AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

With the announcement that four candidates will contest the election of President of the University this year, we urge all students to advise all candidates, not only to vote, but to vote according to the dictates of their convictions.

In view of the present extraordinary situation, and we urge that every student turn out and cast his ballot on Tuesday, April 3. If you are unable to attend the polls, you may send two of your friends to vote for you, we have traded columns for the required place.

We hope our readers will vote, and we hope that candidates will re-arrange the dinner of last year's Council Campaign advertising campaign. They decided that the last dinner of this year must be student work, and unsealed. The necessity of this step is obvious to any thinking student who is well aware of the present conditions.

We have in mind that our government is in great need of students, and that this is not a question of the position of president.

Once again the University confirms its policy of abiding by the student body, and the individuals concerned. The platforms of all four candidates will be published next Friday.

After the campaign meetings, and decide for themselves, or, if the individual candidates are concerned. The platforms of all four candidates will be published next Friday.

EXAMINATIONS ONCE AGAIN

The absence of spring weather does not preclude the possibility of April examinations. The University is unable to establish an intermediate grade, with the result that a detailed knowledge of the whole course is expected and will be demanded. The faculty has decided that the standard must not be lowered.

ACTIVITIES AND THE AFTER-LIFE

Two news items in this issue and the last issue have demonstrated the fact that college activities may be carried on in any climate. This is the case with basketball, and with the tennis tourney. In fact, the tennis team has already won a championship.

The University of Alberta has landed up to the ears in trouble. A brazen exterior to all rebuffs. Maybe you in where angels wear snowshoes, and cultivate ed things.

SPORTEAL

FROM BETWEEN TWO SKIES

Last Wednesday the University authorities approached the Burrell League basketball executive and requested that some of their official games be played at the Oval. Since that time, the whole question has been involved, and presents such a tangled mass of claims and counter-claims, that the entire situation now seems better able to be handled by the League executive. The League executive has decided to postpone the game until a later date, in order to give both teams a chance to prepare for the game.
