DEDICATION

Six days before the atomic bomb put an end to war in the Pacific, Lieut. R. Hampton Gray, D.S.C., sacrificed his life, sank a Jap destroyer, and was awarded the Victoria Cross.

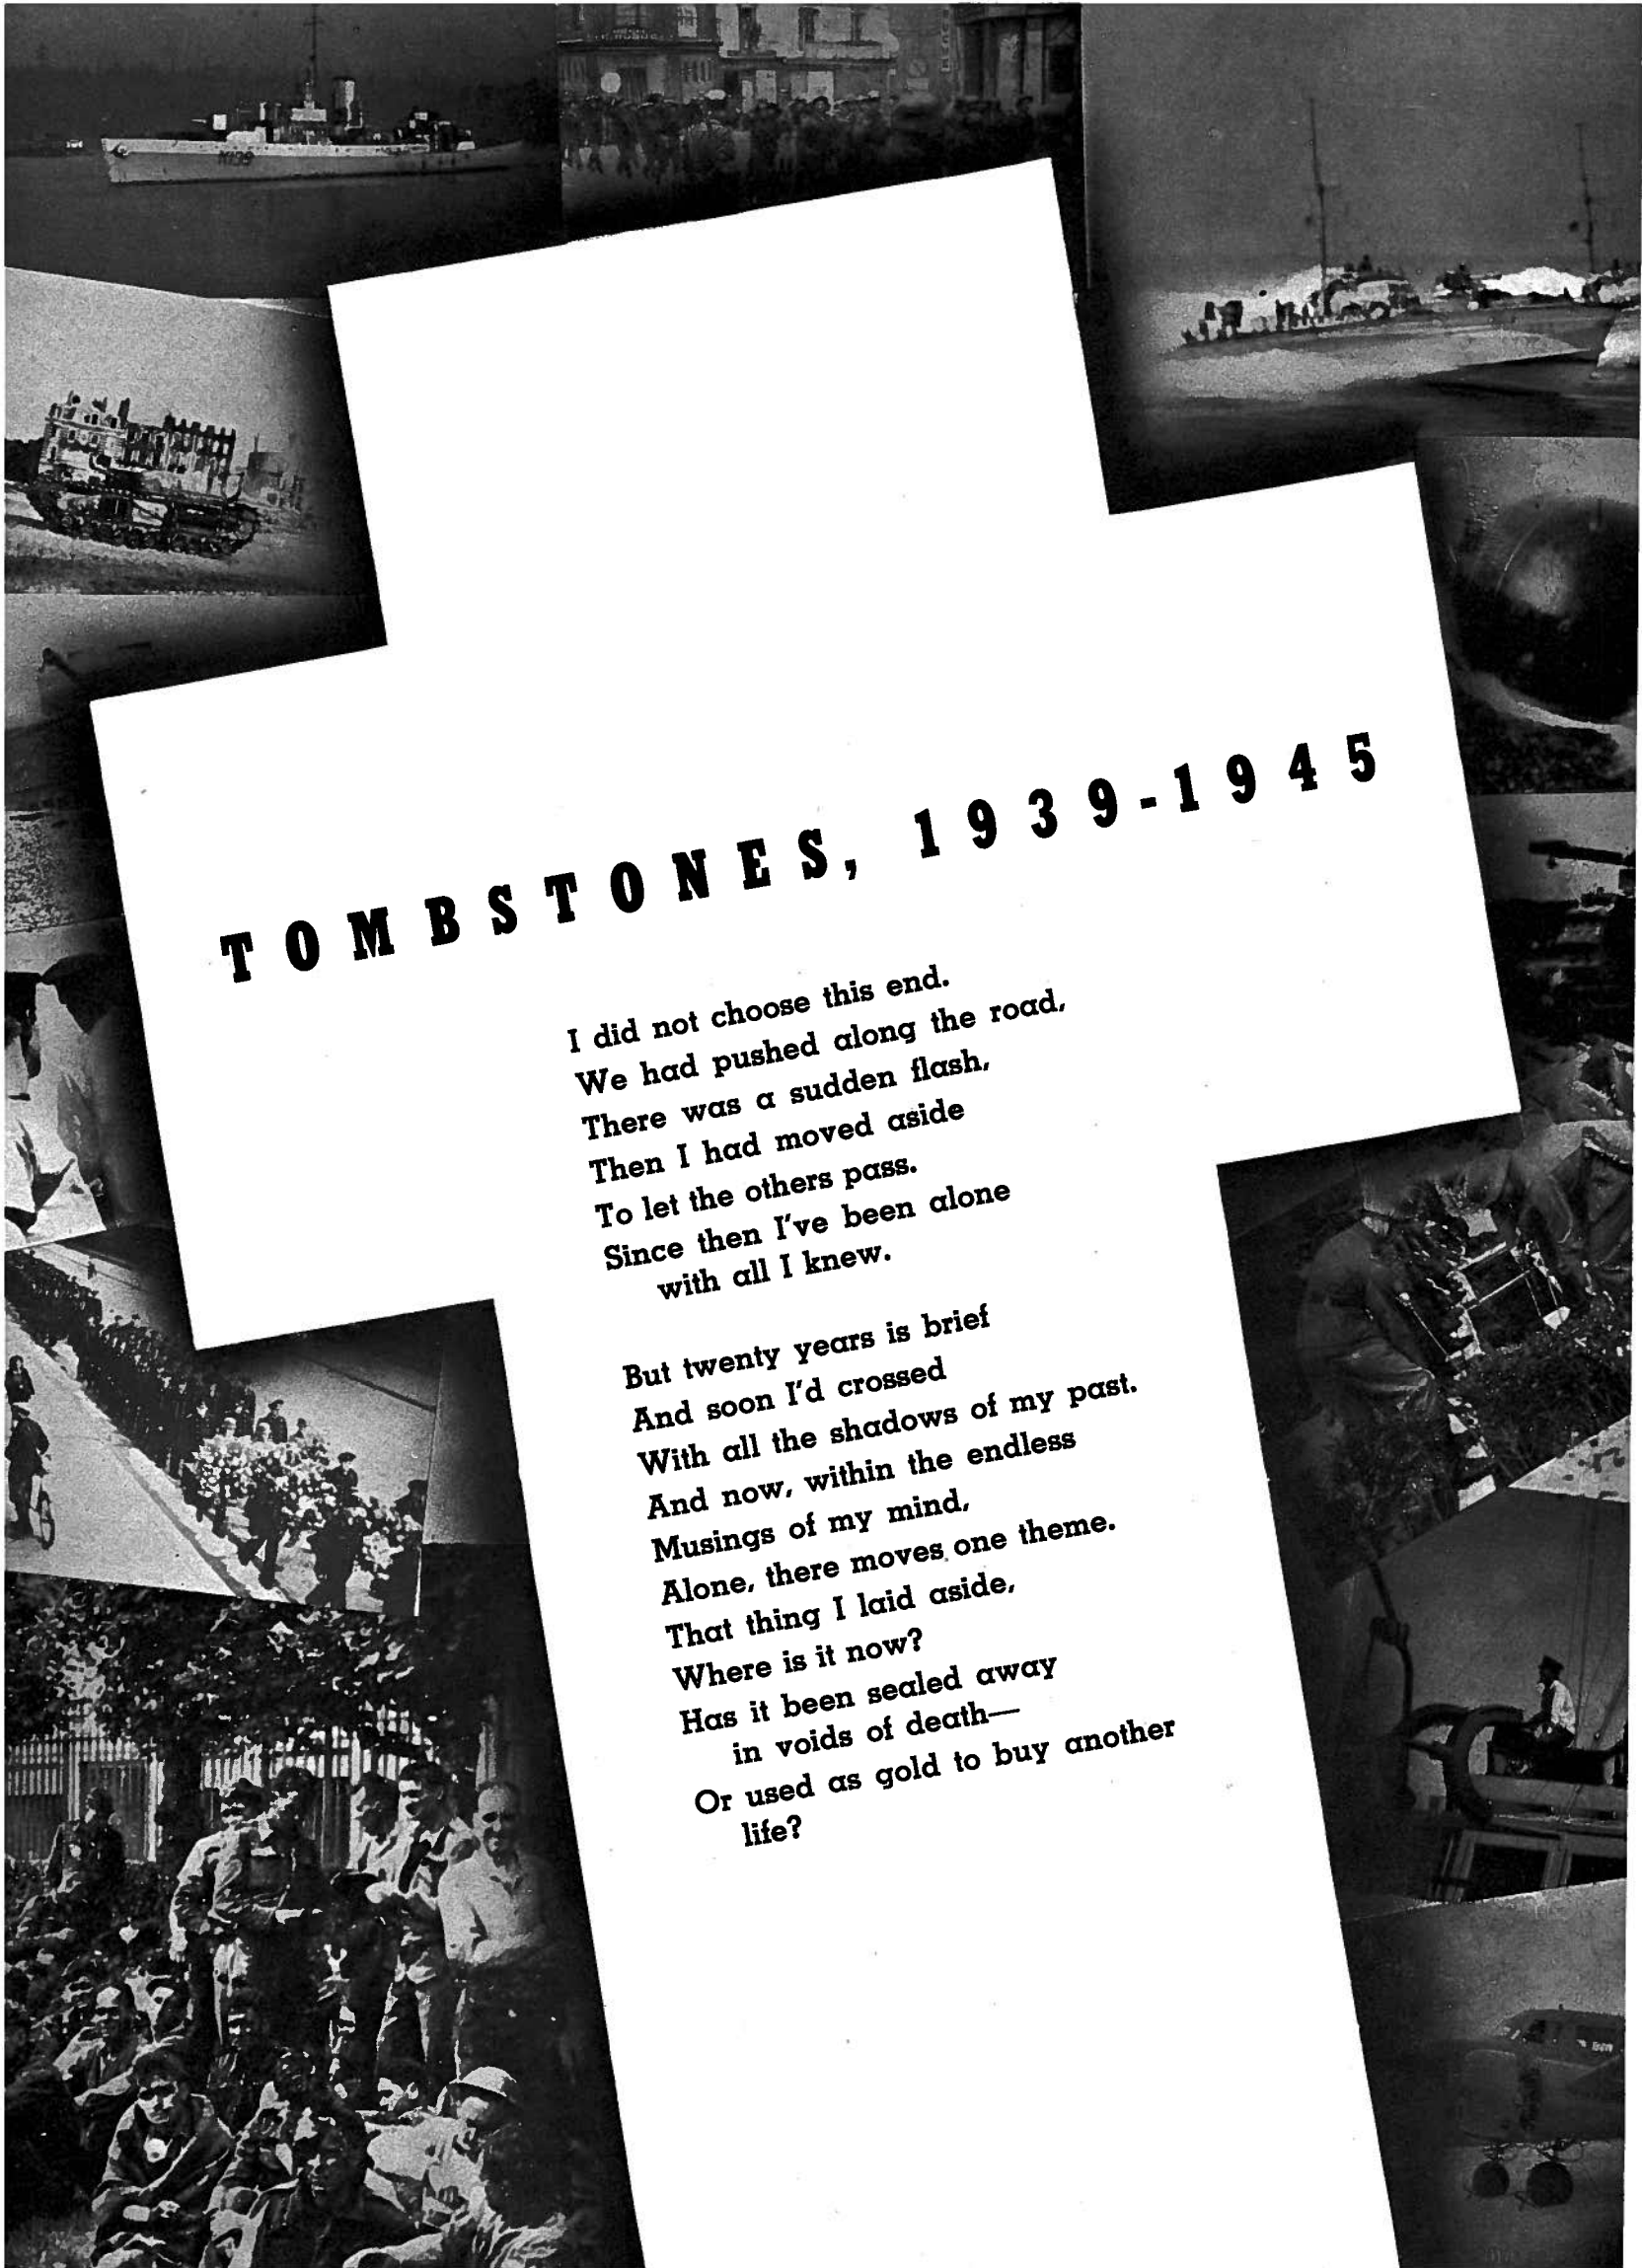

He took part in attacks on the German battleship Tirpitz, for which he was awarded the bronze oak leaf.

In the Pacific zone, Gray won a Distinguished Service Cross for a series of air attacks on the Jap mainland.

On August 9, 1945, he valiantly gave his life to sink a Japanese destroyer, an action which has emblazoned his name on the pages of war's history.

To the memory of Hammy Gray, Victoria Cross winner and university student, we gratefully dedicate this Year Book.

TOMBSTONES, 1939-1945

I did not choose this end.
We had pushed along the road,
There was a sudden flash,
Then I had moved aside
To let the others pass.
Since then I've been alone with all I knew.

But twenty years is brief
And soon I'd crossed
With all the shadows of my past.
And now, within the endless
Musings of my mind,
Alone, there moves one theme.
That thing I laid aside,
Where is it now?
Has it been sealed away
in voids of death—
Or used as gold to buy another life?

FOREWORD

The Indian totem pole, back in the days before the white man discovered the New World, was essentially a tribal record, prominently placed in the village, for the purpose of proclaiming to visitors and neighbours alike the story of the genesis and subsequent growth of that tribe, including all the major incidents occurring during its development.

Through the accumulating volumes of the Totems of passing years we can follow, as did the red men with their 'talking poles' the chronicle of our university, from its birth in 1916, through hardships and through successes, to its present super-saturated condition.

In this grotesque, unforgettable year of 1945-46 when the enormous influx of students from the forces transformed order into chaos for a few hectic weeks, there was much to add to the history. The installation of the ex-army huts as temporary lecture rooms, the beginning of the law faculty, the opening of four new cafeterias, the post war plans of our new president, the sight of students in beribboned battle dress, all these are faithfully reproduced on the following pages.

Thus, as this twenty-eighth volume carries on the custom established by previous yearbooks, we hope that we may have captured some portion of each student's life at the university, in this way strengthening this link in the splendid, ever-lengthening chain of UBC tradition.

President N. A. MacKenzie

I am glad to have the opportunity to write a short statement for the Totem, for in a sense it will be my farewell to those who graduate this year. But I would also like to include in it those who have come back to the University from the Armed Forces in such large numbers and those, too, who have come to us direct from school. This year has been a difficult but thrilling one for all of us, and the next few years promise to be equally interesting. My own belief is that in years to come we will agree that those who were students in the immediate post-war years were unusually fortunate in having as classmates the most interesting group of young people that have ever attended this or any other university. I hope all of us will realize this now and make the most of it. Those who graduate, too, will not lack interest and challenge in the world around them. It will not be an easy world nor a simple one, but it will be one of unlimited opportunity. I say this because of the many things that must be done in it, the problems that must be solved and the difficulties that must be overcome. Think only of our capacity for production, the possibilities that await us in the field of atomic energy, and the new world that has been opened up to us because of the ease and speed of transportation and communication. Or, putting it in other forms: Can we achieve peace and prosperity and employment and the "good life" that all of us want and need, in our day and generation? Or do we face a future of strife and depression and ultimate war and possible destruction? Either, or if you like, both of these possibilities lie ahead and we, and more particularly you, will have a hand in deciding the way we go and the fate we achieve. I believe and hope that it will be the first of these alternatives, namely peace and plenty that is in store for us. I believe, too, that all of you will, in your own way, do your best to make sure that these hopes and beliefs are realized.

Board of Governors

The Board of Governors, a group of men and women selected in the light of their success and leadership in their respective professions, and their interest in those things appertaining to the university, supply the shoulders upon which rest the responsibility for the furthering of the standards and reputation of the university.

Theirs is the task of establishing bursaries, approving scholarships, and accepting gifts in the name of the university.

The erection of the long-awaited permanent buildings must be sanctioned by the Board, as must plans for the improvement and maintenance of the present temporary structures.

Upon this group of eleven prominent citizens devolve what are perhaps the most important duties in connection with the University, namely, the appointment of the president, deans, and faculty members, as well as the decisions as to the size of the student attendance.

Of the members composing the board, two of the eleven are ex-officio, three are elected as representatives of the Senate, and the remaining six are appointed for six-year terms by the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council.

The chairman of the Board of Governors, the Hon. Eric R. Hamber, first took office in 1945, after the unfortunate death of his predecessor, Chancellor R. E. MacKechnie, in 1944. The chairman is elected to office every three years. President N. A. M. MacKenzie is the other ex-officio member of the Board.

The representatives from the Senate to the Board are: Arthur E. Lord, B.A., Vancouver; H. T. Logan, M.C., M.A., Duncan; and J. F. Walker, B.A.Sc., Ph.D., F.R.C.S., Victoria.

The remaining six members of the Board appointed by the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council include: William G. Murrin, Vancouver; Edward H. Barton, Chilliwack; The Honorable Mr. Justice Denis Murphy, B.A., LL.D., Vancouver; Joseph Badenoch Clearihue, M.C., M.A., B.C.L., K.C., Victoria; R. H. Neelands, Vancouver; and George T. Cunningham, Vancouver.

FACULTY LEADERS

Despite the traditional disparaging remarks from the engineers and aggies, the imperturbable Arts faculty continues to add over two hundred names to its list of graduates as each successive term expires.

In refutation to the arguments of the red-sweated throng concerning the value of an arts education, stands the impressive list of successful doctors, lawyers, business men, ministers, professors and teachers, and even engineers, who based their more advanced work or study upon the solid foundation of a BA degree.

Designed to give the students a well balanced education, the Arts faculty offers courses ranging from the study of the humanities to the latest developments in electronics and nuclear physics. The study of the earth, its structure, the history of its people and their tongues, are only a few of the many fields open for research. Working in close co-operation with the Arts faculty is the Department of University Extension which offers courses to interested persons unable to attend UBC.

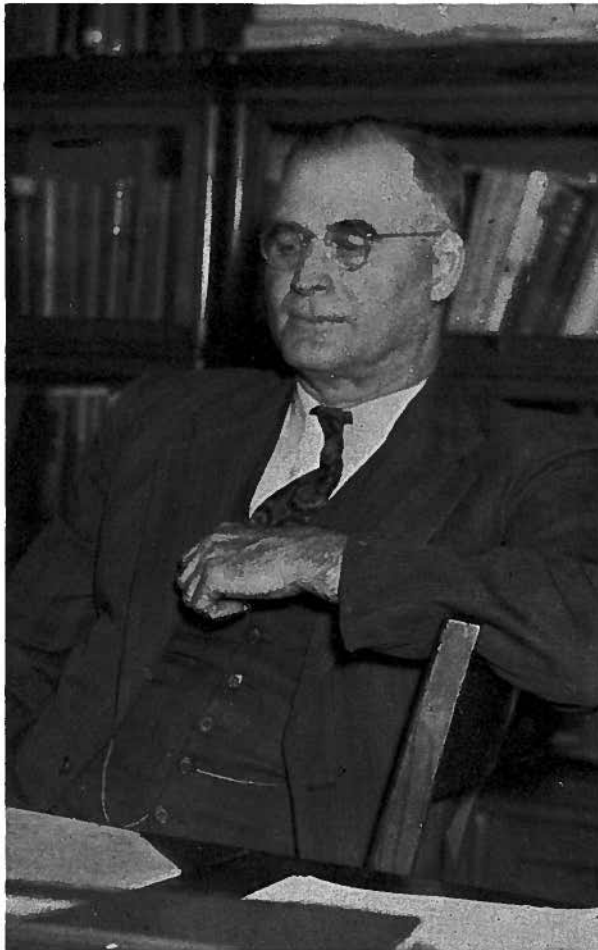

This term, with the completion of his twenty-fifth year at UBC, the Dean of Arts, Dr. Daniel Buchanan, also sees the end of the most hectic session that the faculty has experienced. With the sudden appearance on the campus of more than two thousand ex-service men last September, and then fifteen hundred more in January, the dean and his assistant, Prof. W. H. Gage, were working long hours interviewing and advising the prospective students, preparing timetables that would not clash among six thousand students, in an institution built for fifteen hundred, as well as performing their professional duties, which normally are a full time job.

However, in living up to their promise of accepting any and all servicemen who can fill the requirements of the university, and who desire a college education, no matter how many applied, the officers and staff of UBC have achieved a task worthy of the highest commendation. The results of such a magnificent effort cannot but show great beneficial results to our country in future years.

Lower: Asst. Dean W. H. Gage.

Agriculture, under Dean F. M. Clement, is becoming more and more popular with the students, and with the returning servicemen. Many returned men who have invested in a small farm or who don't wish to spend four years at university, find the short winter course or the year-long occupational course of great practical value in coping with the maintenance and production problems connected with a small holding. There are also extension courses in agriculture offered at different points in the province, under the auspices of the University Extension Department.

The cultivation and treatment of the soil, the scientific study of plant nutrition, the care and breeding of domestic animals, and all the associated subjects dealing with the satisfaction of man's basic need for food, have always been important above all else. Now, however, with the world's food supply depending to the extent it does upon Canada's natural resources, the agriculture faculty of UBC faces a new responsibility to Canada and to the world for the increase and betterment, where possible, of our already high standards of food production and exportation. Looking back, however, upon the previous achievements of the faculty and the successes of its graduates, we feel certain that it will be more than equal to its present and future responsibilities.

Dorothy Mawdsley, Dean of Women, advisor and friend. To the thousands of grateful co-eds who have experienced the benefit of her advice and generous help, she is always remembered first in the latter category. Over the five-year period she has held the position for which she is so ideally suited, Dr. Mawdsley has become generally known among the women on the campus for her kind understanding and cordial willingness to help any troubled or perplexed co-ed.

Miss Mawdsley accepted the position of Dean of Women at UBC in 1941, succeeding Dean Mary L. Bollert.

The problems that are brought to her for solving are many and varied. They may concern any phase of a bewildered co-ed's life, from her lecture timetable to her troubles with a hostile landlady, or perhaps the vicissitudes of a college social life.

She also takes an active interest in the sororities on the campus. She acts as chairman of the procedures during bidding, and supervises rushing in the fall and spring.

Top: Dean F. M. Clement

Lower: Dean D. Mawdsley.

Of all the memorable innovations introduced at the commencement of the fall term in 1945, perhaps the most noteworthy was the establishment of the long-awaited Law faculty at UBC. This new faculty, for so many years a serious deficiency in our curriculum, represents the first step by the Board of Governors in their long range plan of future expansion for the University.

Dean G. F. Curtis, capable and kindly head of the faculty, administers advice and instruction to his eighty-five budding young attorneys from his office in the south end of the ex-army hut that temporarily houses the faculty offices as well as the hundreds of dusty law documents and statute books making up the law library.

The lectures for the most part are taken by city men of the legal profession who leave their businesses to come to the campus in order to pass on the knowledge they have used so successfully in the correct employment and interpretation of those latinized legal phrases and statutes, that are so full of mystery to the uninitiated.

Though the need for more trained lawyers in B.C. has long been a subject of anxiety to the inhabitants of this province, there is no doubt that with such a capable staff, the new faculty will more than justify the confidence placed in it by these far seeing men who made its existence possible.

The men of the engineering department, under the leadership of Dean J. N. Finlayson, are justly proud of the part they played in the service of their country during the war years. Graduate engineers, now needed just as desperately in peace as in war, have been pouring out of the lecture rooms and laboratories of UBC in an ever-increasing stream for the past five years.

The major task of the engineers, however, upon the completion of which the progress of the whole world depends, did not begin until after hostilities ceased. This is the reconstruction of the regions of the earth ravaged by war, and the reconversion of those factories which, although built for peaceful production, were converted to serve the purposes of total war.

The majority of the discoveries arising out of war research can be, and many are being, turned to the use of a world at peace. Great unexplored vistas lie ahead to challenge the courage and ability of the young engineer, and the world is waiting to make use of his trained mind and hands. May future science graduates of UBC continue to uphold the high standards set by their predecessors in the realms of engineering!

To all the members of the University staff must go a great deal of credit for their patience and efficiency in dealing with the problems incurred by the tremendous increase in enrolment this year.

Keeping detailed records of each student, giving information on U.B.C. courses, tabulating and distributing exam results, answering entrance requirement questions; all these duties have kept the Registrar's Department, under C. B. Wood, busily occupied from nine to four each day.

The problems of the Bursar, A. MacLucas, have also jumped with the attendance this year. The handling of the fees of 7000 students, many government-financed, the annual bursary and scholarship problems, and the rounding up of recalcitrant students for last-minute fee payment, is no easy job.

Major MacLean, the veterans' counsellor, in his first year on the campus has done an excellent job of advising and giving information to the veterans, many of whom have been out of school for eight or nine years.

In the overcrowded Library the ever friendly W. Kaye Lamb has managed through the year to keep a watchful eye on the Library's 250,000 volumes, pamphlets, and serial publications, as well as to maintain an organization with a vast fund of information for the satisfaction of the student seekers after knowledge.

Students Council

The Students' Council

Every Monday night at seven o'clock during the past term, these 11 black-robed council members have solemnly marched into the austere council chambers in Brock Hall, and at one o'clock the next morning they have filed sleepily out of the smoke-filled chambers after fighting their way through red tape and the inevitable battles of student government. Increase in student enrolment has doubled the complexity of council problems this year, but with the help of much midnight oil the machinery of student government has run smoothly.

Staunchest supporters of the U.B.C. War Memorial Gymnasium drive, were Ole Bakken and Mary Ann Norton, Presidents of the Men's Athletic Directorate and the Women's Athletic Association respectively. Bakken, a busy man, periodically sauntered onto the basketball courts for the Varsity Thunderbirds, and Mary Ann's constant theme during council meetings was "I want a swimming pool."

Unhappy father of council's newest baby this year, the Undergraduate Societies Committee, was Hugh McLeod, who had the task of telling council what its right hand group was doing. Another unhappy father with 45 children was Fred Lipsett, President of the Literary and Scientific Executive. Chortling fondly over his charges

AINSWORTH

MILLER
LIPSETT
KIRKPATRICK

Lipsett rode on the wave of the "Let's all form a club" mania.

President of the Alma Mater Society this year was Rhodes Scholar Allan Harrison Ainsworth, a dogged, strenuous worker, who took the solution of every campus difficulty, minute or mammoth, seriously, and was perhaps the most conscientious taskmaster council members have ever had. He has done an admirable job.

Easy going, pipe-smoking Treasurer Garry Miller, retained a firm hand on the cash box, but was sympathetic to the financial demands of rapidly multiplying clubs which emptied their piggy banks before the end of the year.

"Girl Mondays" of council were, tall, attractive Sidney Flavelle, keeper of the minute books, who has had her hands full with the extraordinary average of 35 minutes each council meeting, and the official voice of the women, "personality kid" Nancy Pitman.

Most diligent surveyors of the A.M.S. rule books this year were Jack Cunningham, Co-ordinator of Social Activities, and Sophomore Member Cal Whitehead. The two council "freshmen"

Whitehead busied himself with Special Events features and sub-committees of sub-committees. Cunningham, whirlwind type of worker, unknotted snarls in the booking system.

These 13 members of the often abused, and always over-worked Council held the reins of student government this hectic post-war year. To their lot fell many unpleasant duties and many thankless jobs, but they executed them all with finesse, leaving behind them a memory of a year capably and executively handled for the Alma Mater Society.

Undergraduate Societies Committee

When the 1944-45 Council decided to increase the number of council members, they also deemed it wise to unite all the undergraduate societies into one committee and to make the chairmanship of that committee one of the responsibilities of the Men's Undergraduate Society President. Thus the Undergraduate Societies Committee was born.

The two original objects of this committee were set down as follows: 1. To promote the direct control of, and to co-ordinate, the activities of the Undergraduate Societies. 2. To act as a medium for the expression of their ideas on important matters.

The actual activities of the committee, however, have become more comprehensive and varied than these two brief sentences would indicate. This year, with all the changes in the status of some of the faculties, the USC has drawn up a new constitution, and incorporated the Education and Law Societies. The USC functions as the Discipline Committee, and, at the other extreme, presents the Honorary Activities Award for extra-curricular activity. The committee also sponsored the Fall Ball in November, and carried on with the work of the Employment Bureau. This year under the able chairmanship of Hugh MacLeod, the USC has experienced a difficult year of organization, in preparation for its future years at UBC.

Upper: Fred Lipsett

Lower: Mary Fagan

Under the guidance of President Fred Lipsett the major and minor organizations of the University in the Literary and Scientific Executive shared with the rest of the University in a very successful year.

Commencing in the Fall with the annual club week drive for membership, the L.S.E. drew up a new election schedule, and admitted four new clubs: the irrepressible Jokers, El Circulo Latino Americano, Amateur Radio Operators' Association, and the Pre-Optometry Club.

The newly organized Special Events Committee was constituted this year in time to justify its existence by sponsoring several very worth-while pass features on the campus.

The Glider Club, with its first glider nearing completion, has been supplied with a new workshop; the Musical Society and Players' Club provided with extra student nights for their production.

The energetic executive of the L.S.E. included: President, Fred Lipsett; Secretary, Mary Fagan, and Vice-Chairman of the Stage Committee, Lorne Butterfield.

Womens Undergraduate Society

WUS EXECUTIVE

Upper: Pitman, Kelsburg
Lower: Buchanan, Duncan

Beginning the year with the establishment of a precedent, the WUS executive broke all previous records by issuing fresh regalia to more than four hundred freshettes. In order to ensure complete subservience of the green clad novitiates WUS organized as STUFF (society to undermine freshette foolishness) and, donning green armbands and serious expression, and carrying green lipsticks, set out to green the lips of any freshettes found breaking the rules of conduct laid down for them. The big-little sister supper ended an unusually gay frosh week, filled to capacity with activities.

The biggest of WUS-sponsored events came with the Sadie Hawkins week in January, when all co-eds were sent out with explicit instructions on how to "get their man".

The traditional all-female Hi-Jinx was held in the fall, with each of those attending dressed as some comic strip character. Many were the weird and fantastic costumes seen around the campus that night.

Pre-Medical Undergraduate Society

The establishment of a Medical Faculty on the campus this Fall and the instillation of a spirit into the students that will start it off with a bang—these have been the aims of the Pre-Med Club this year.

The usual activities of the Pre-Meds have included weekly meetings for business, lectures or films, along with group visits to the hospitals on Saturday mornings to observe operations and autopsies.

The latter of their objectives, concerning the spirit of the students, has been accomplished in a manner that looks well for the successful achievement of the first of their aims. The Pre-Med Ball, held late in November, the Stag Party, and the snake parade, complete with skulls and skeletons, accomplished a great deal towards the success of the Pre-Med campaign on the campus.

Special Events Committee

A varied and imposing series of noon-hour entertainments was sponsored during the year by the Special Events Committee.

Violinist Adolph Koldofsky headed the list, followed by soprano Annabell Edwards. William Steinberg conducted the fall concert of the Vancouver Symphony in the Armoury.

Pianist Egon Petri provided entertainment for the students one noon-hour, as did ten members of the B.C. Institute of Music and Drama.

Still another noon-hour was filled with a jam session by local jazz musicians.

The spring concert in the Armoury saw Antol Dorati conducting the Vancouver Symphony.

For meritorious service beyond the line of duty . . . this phrase is especially fitting for the activities of the office staff of the A.M.S.

"Mitch" Mitchell, officially proctor of Brock Hall, arranges for the upkeep of the building, and for commissionaires and check room staffs. He also handles the catering tasks, with Frank Underhill, whenever food is to be served at social functions.

Lynn Pearson, office manager, allots the routine office work to her two assistants, Bev. Shepard and Marg. Patrick. She handles the petty cash for the A.M.S., and assists the new student Treasurer each year to fit smoothly into his job.

1. Freshmen's first lecture; 2. Learning to act nonchalant in the quad.

Frosh

Fifteen hundred eager-eyed frosh were heckled, laughed at, and made thoroughly welcome by upperclassmen in a gala post-war Frosh Week last September. Many of the newcomers were ex-servicemen fresh from the forces. Although the committee in charge decreed that those just returned from the services would be exempt from the usual indignities incident to a welcome to

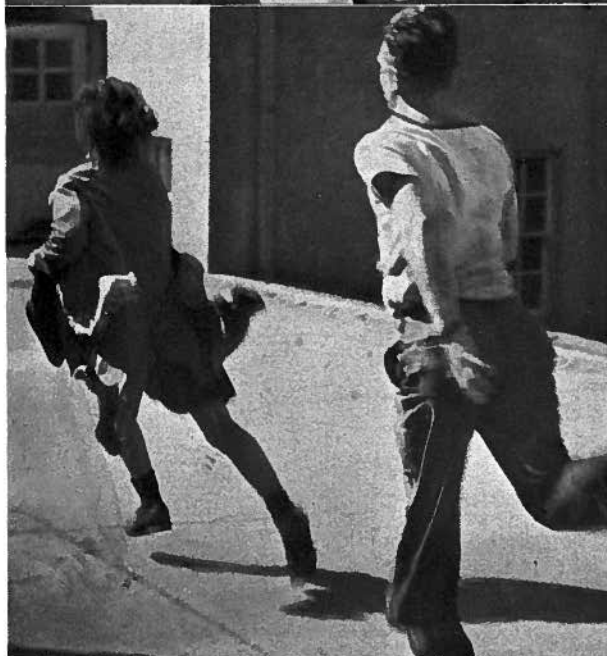

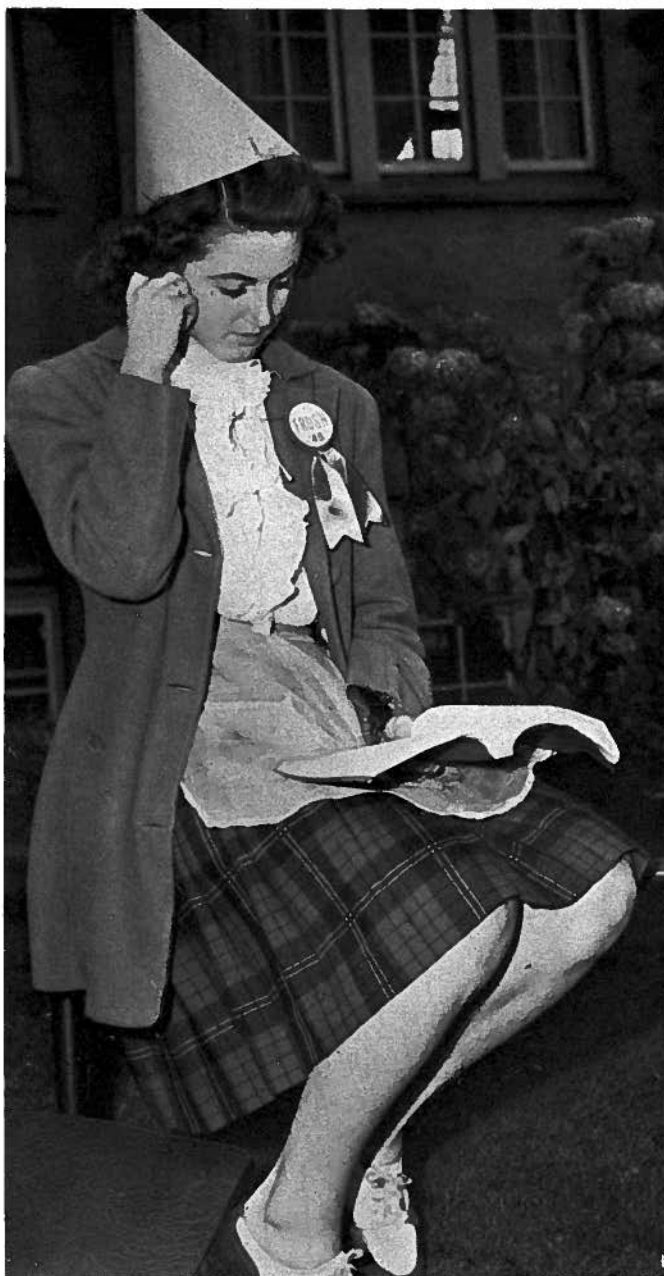

1. Where is the nearest army hut?; 2. What size ; 3. Which way is the caf?; 4. Swell day to relax; 5. This, children, is an artisan; 6. Carry me back; 7. I fain would lay doon.

Week

UBC, most of the boys insisted on donning regalia and taking part in all frosh activities. Probably most of them welcomed the opportunity to festoon their uniforms in a manner frowned upon by officers of His Majesty's Services.

However the Frosh were not the only ones bewildered by the magnitude of the welcome. Staid upperclassmen, used to the ersatz wartime

Frosh

To watch Freshettes, W.U.S. roamed the campus noting unruly novices who dared to wear make-up, or speak to Freshmen. Retribution for these sinners came at the Big and Little Sister Banquet.

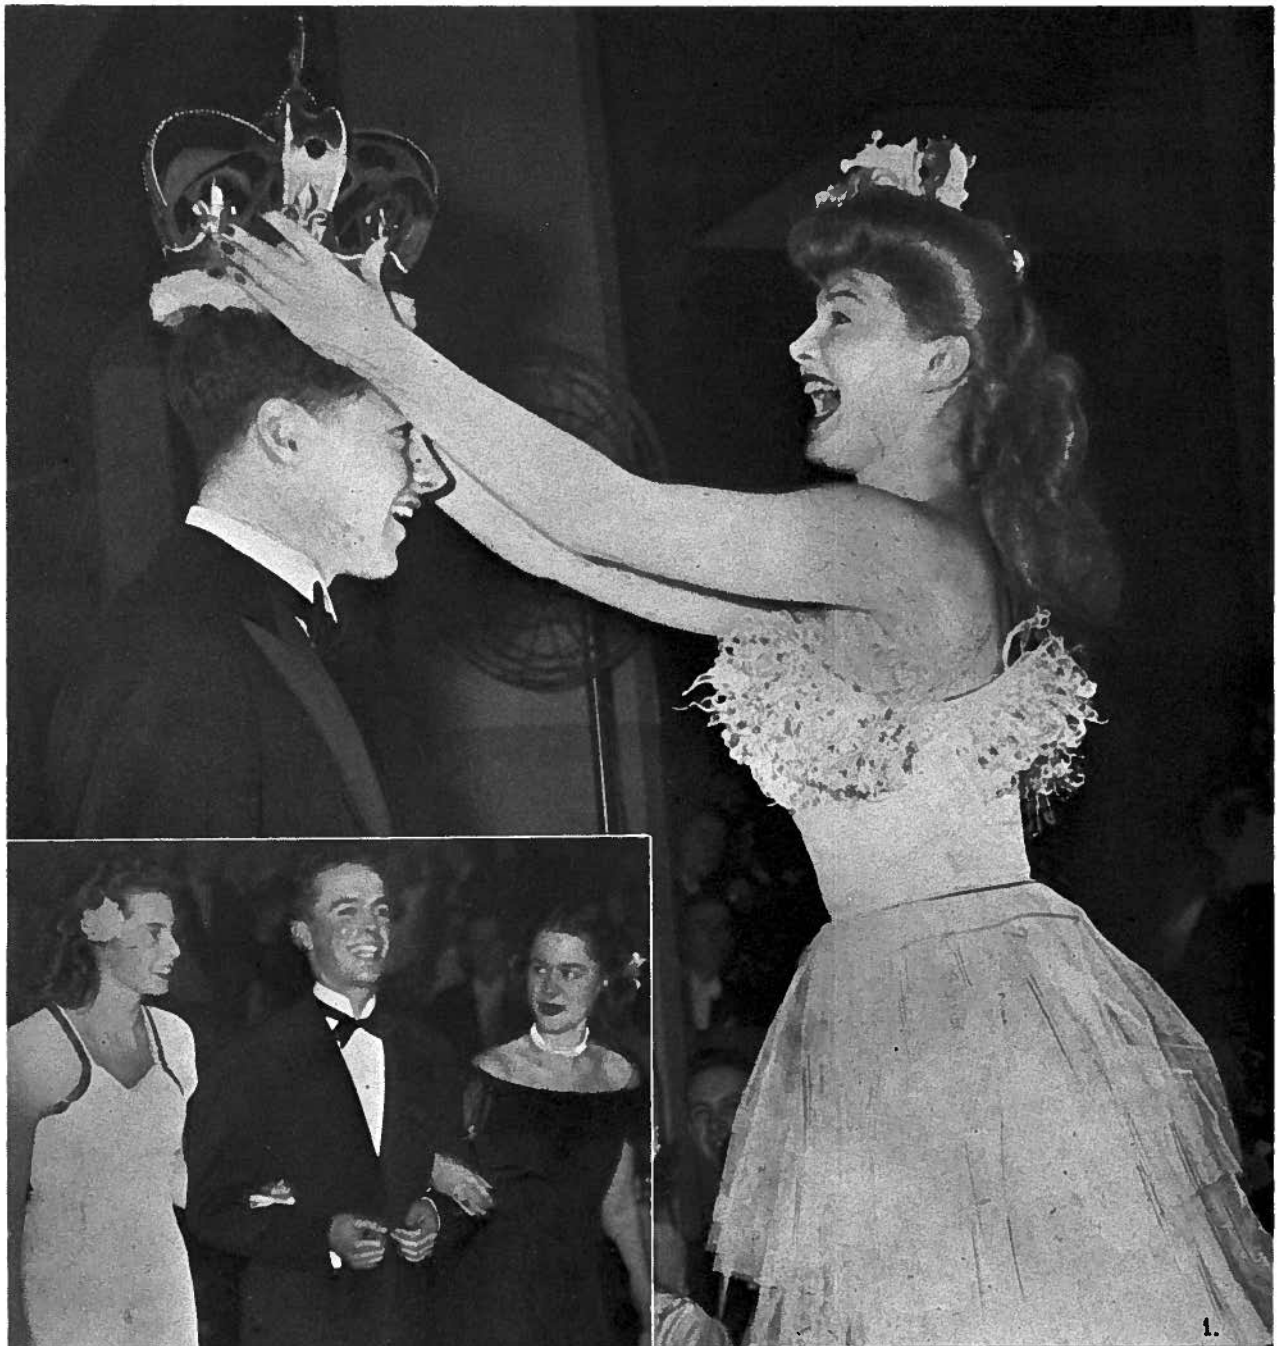

1. It's all so wonderful; 2. 'Now, this is the llypond';
3. cavorting at the Big and Little; 4. Burble, Burble; 5. Green for novitiates; 6. Freshettes like food; 7. That's a joke, son;
8. Splash party; 9. It was delicious.

Week

The boys were punished at the traditional Frosh Smoker. At the end of the week, with the Frosh thoroughly initiated, Freshmen and undergraduate went to work together, not as separate groups, but as one, as members of the Alma Mater Society.

1. Must be the feathers; 2. Big Moment!

Fall

The Fall Ball, successor to the once famous Junior Prom, entered its Sophomore Year at University on November 19, at the Commodore. Sponsored by the Undergraduate Societies Committee, the ball this year departed from the ordinary routine of college social affairs by featuring a King, to be elected at the event by those attending. The committee in charge of the ball included Cut Cunningham and Hugh MacLeod, Co-Chairmen, Sidney Flavelle, George Baldwin, T. K. Fisher, and Maxine Johnston, who arranged for the very excellent decorations.

1. Scienceman's nightmare; 2. Bottoms up; 3. Camera shy Welton gets cup for Chem. Engineers; 4. Breaking the record; 5. Harris inspects Chem. '47 display; 6. We told you so; 7. Smile for the birdie; 8. Touche.

Science

Climaxing weeks of intensive preparations, 500 Engineers forsook their slide-rules and log-books the night of Thursday, February 21, to descend on the Commodore for the annual Science Ball. Known this year as the Red Riot. All celebrants agreed that "this was it."

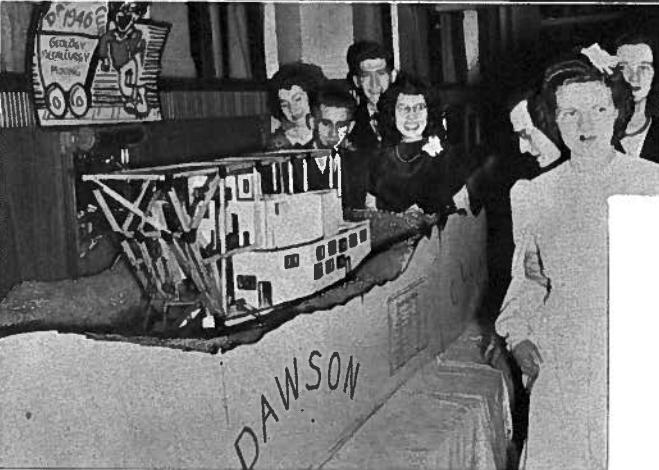

1. Forestry engineers; 2. Low bridge; 3. Death to the infidel;
4. Electricals and friends; 5. Dr. Harris awards "mystery" prize; 6. Electrifying; 7. Caviar, caviar; 8. Happy day.

Ball

Getting more and more elaborate each year, the table decorations at the Riot hit an all-time high. Red as their ribbons were the faces of the Civils and the Mechanicals who produced almost identical displays.

1. Science 48 and Lake Buntzen; 2. Plotting; 3. Munro, Currie, Peatfield and crane; 4. Nylon winners; 5. Practical application of civil engineering; 6. Dawsonites discover gold in Commodore; 7. Another crane; 8. Debonair.

Science

Other displays included the Dawson Club's gold dredge and the Electricals' perpetual favorite, the Kissometer. The "Mystery Prize" went to the Chemicals' working nylon plant.

Providing atmosphere was a huge mural by

1. Who turned that light on ; 2. Cam Layard and friend;
3. Johnny Allen and Sandy Hays, Mech. 47; 4. Pass the loving cup around; 5. Big joke; 6. Hello!; 7. It goes through here . . . .; 8. Chemicals exhibit prize winning display.

Ball

Harry Gordon and Lewis Lewis depicting an Engineer's nightmare, pieces of which went to adorn uncounted rooms. Cartoons of the other great riots of history were drawn by Doug Campbell.

1. Yum yum; 2. The pipers are coming; 3. Beauty on parade; 4. Got spots in front of your eyes?; 5. High powered salesmanship.

Mardi

The Commodore this year was the scene of a scintillating carnival of beautiful girls, dancing, music, masks, and all the traditional color of the New Orleans Mardi Gras festival that has become so famous for its merriment and brilliance throughout the ages.

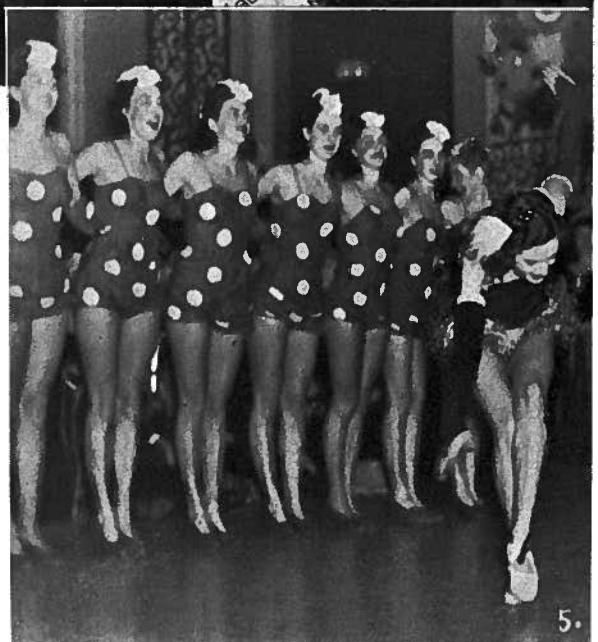

1. Three "small girls".
2. Lynn and supporters.
3. Thetas at work—for Isabel.
4. Roma McDonald, and "tall girls".

Gras

Succeeding the Greek Letter Societies Red Cross Ball, the Mardi Gras ran for two nights successively, with over a thousand people attending.

From the ten lovely co-eds sponsored by the sororities on the campus, Ruby Dunlop, Freshette,

1. Gae and Jack look happy.
2. "Oh, you beautiful doll".
3. Bodie in seventh heaven.

Sponsored by the Greek Letter Societies, the committee in charge of the ball included: Audrey Buchanan and Don Newson, co-chairmen; "Booty" Hebb, Don Mann, and Buzz Walker.

1. Nurses' skit; 2. Artsman not wanted; 3. Juliette; 4. Rolling them in the aisles; 5. She looks familiar; 7. Science rally on roof; 8. The boys like her; 9. That's a joke, son; 10. Artsman effigy and balloons; 11. Down at the Georgia.

Science Pep Meet

Heralding the eagerly anticipated Science Ball the Engineers held their infamous annual Pep Meet in the auditorium. Featuring typical redshirt humor M.C. Doug Campbell and the rest of the cast laid them in the aisles.

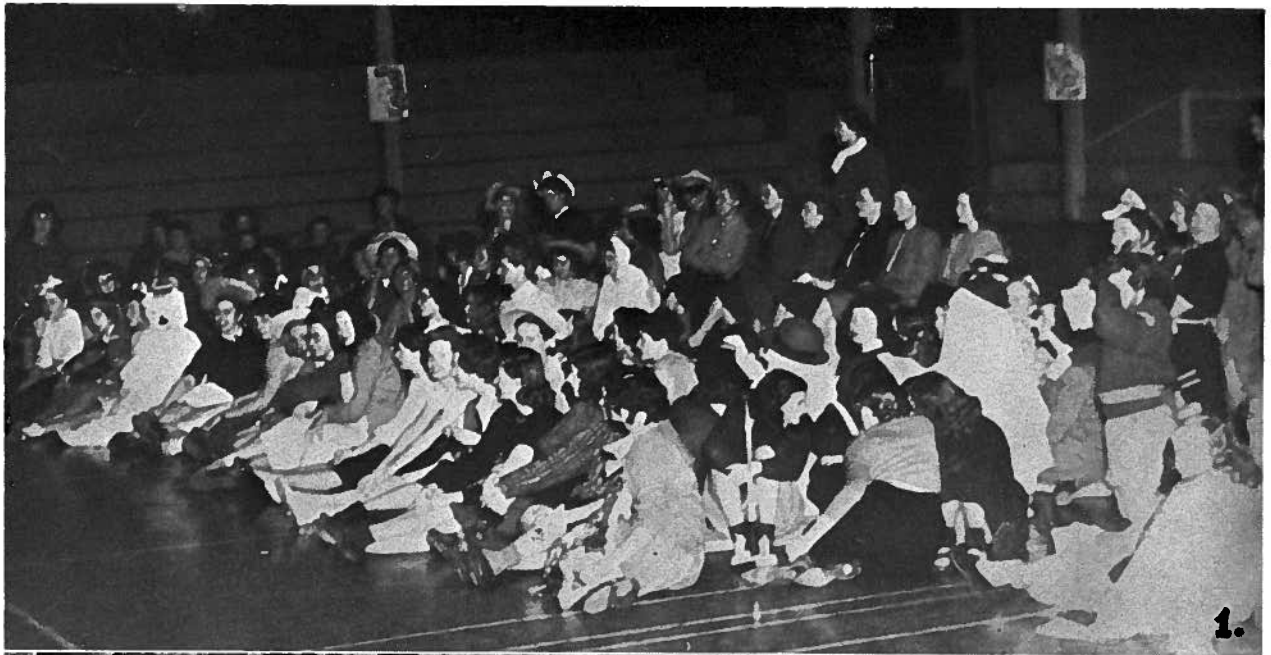

1. Aggies go formal, wear shoes; 2. Watching jitterbug contest; 3. Patrons; 4. Share the wealth!

Aggie Ball

In the middle of February the Aggies gathered at the White Rose Ballroom for their annual Barn Dance, featuring old clothes and the Leavy brothers. As usual the scientific farmers brought the house down, almost literally.

1. Gathering of the clan: 2. Big Block luncheon: 3. Ready for a hula; 4. Splash party.

Women's

The Women's Undergraduate Society, elected democratically by the women of the campus, has spared no pains to make this year the most active and interesting year for the feminine branch of the Student Body that the University has ever experienced. From the gala Freshette initiation in

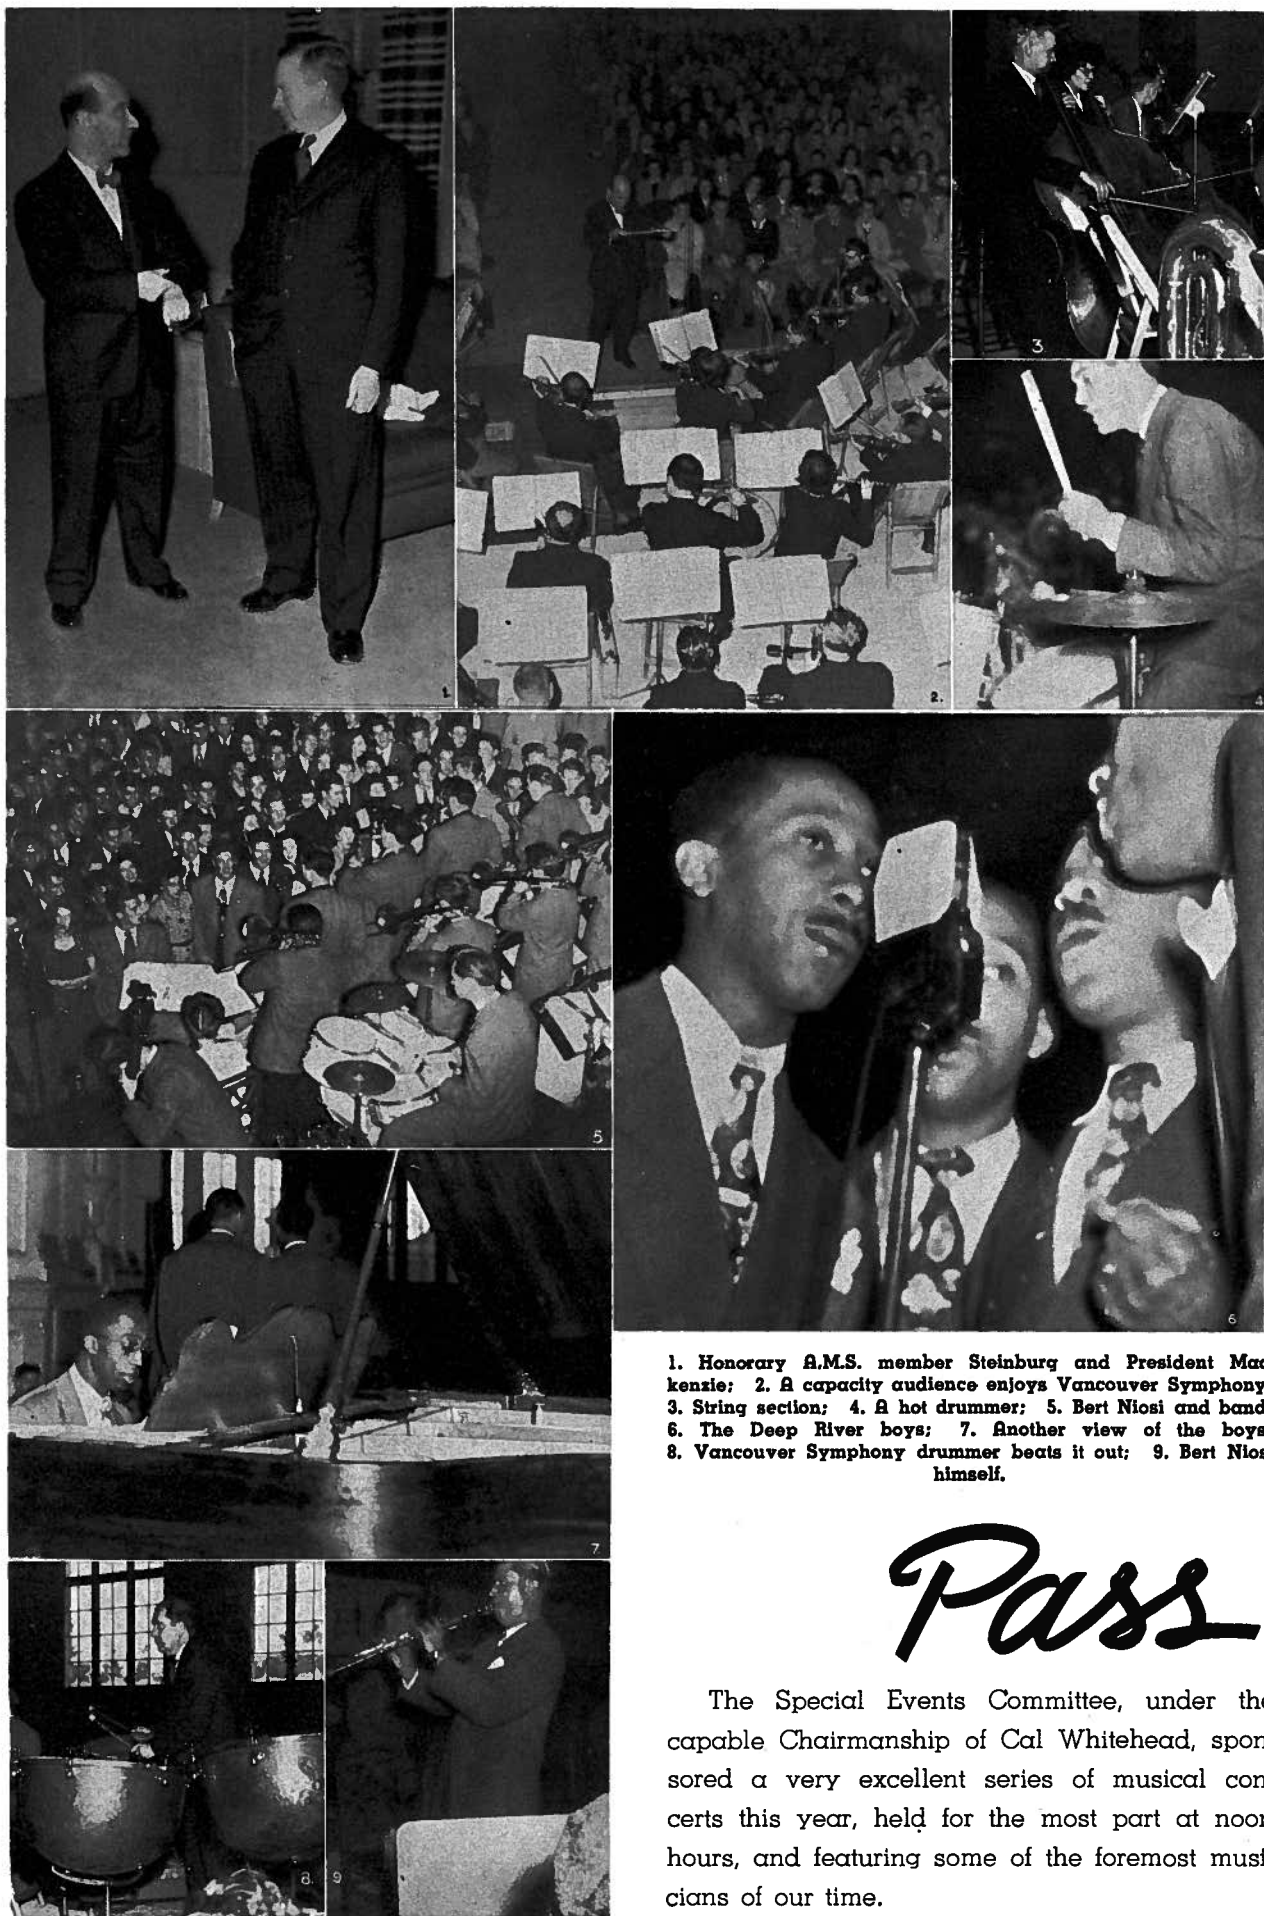

1. Women's Big Block luncheon; 2. W.A.D. make plans;
3. Preparations for Sadie Hawkins week; 4. 5. 6. Scenes from the annual, nefarious all female Hi Jinx.

Activities

September, through the Big and Little Sister Supper, the uproarious Hi-Jinx, the two Fashion Shows, to the unprecedented Sadie Hawkins Week in January, the teas for the ex-service students' wives, and finally the big W.U.S.-W.A.A. Banquet, it has been a noteworthy year.

1. Honorary A.M.S. member Steinburg and President MacKenzie; 2. A capacity audience enjoys Vancouver Symphony; 3. String section; 4. A hot drummer; 5. Bert Niosi and band; 6. The Deep River boys; 7. Another view of the boys; 8. Vancouver Symphony drummer beats it out; 9. Bert Niosi himself.

Pass

The Special Events Committee, under the capable Chairmanship of Cal Whitehead, sponsored a very excellent series of musical concerts this year, held for the most part at noon hours, and featuring some of the foremost musicians of our time.

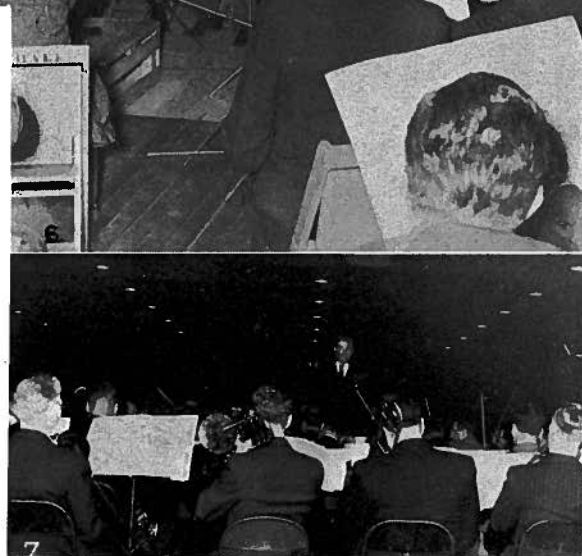

1. Petrie plays; 2. Egon Petrie again; 3. Antol Dorati, Koldofsky, and President of McMillan Clubs; 4. Dorati and Vancouver Symphony; 5. Niosi blows a hot horn; 6. William Steinburg and orchestra; 7. A rear view.

Features

Included among the artists performing for the students were such notables as Adolph Koldofsky, violinist; W. Steinberg and the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra; Egon Petri, pianist; Antol Dorati, conductor; Paul Russel, pianist; The B.C. Institute of Music and Drama, and interpretive dancers from Oregon State College.

1. The campaign starts at the library; 2. Legion sponsors "Operation Dollar"; 3. Some supporters; 4. Joker marathon; 5. UBS horse derby; 6. Some on, Seabiscuit; 7. Ready to go; 8. "Operation Dollar" pays off; 9. Another marathon view.

Memorial

Heralded by a special edition of the Ubyssy, the Memorial Gymnasium Campaign hit the campus and province early in February. With an objective of $500,000 this drive was the most ambitious campaign ever attempted by the students of U.B.C.

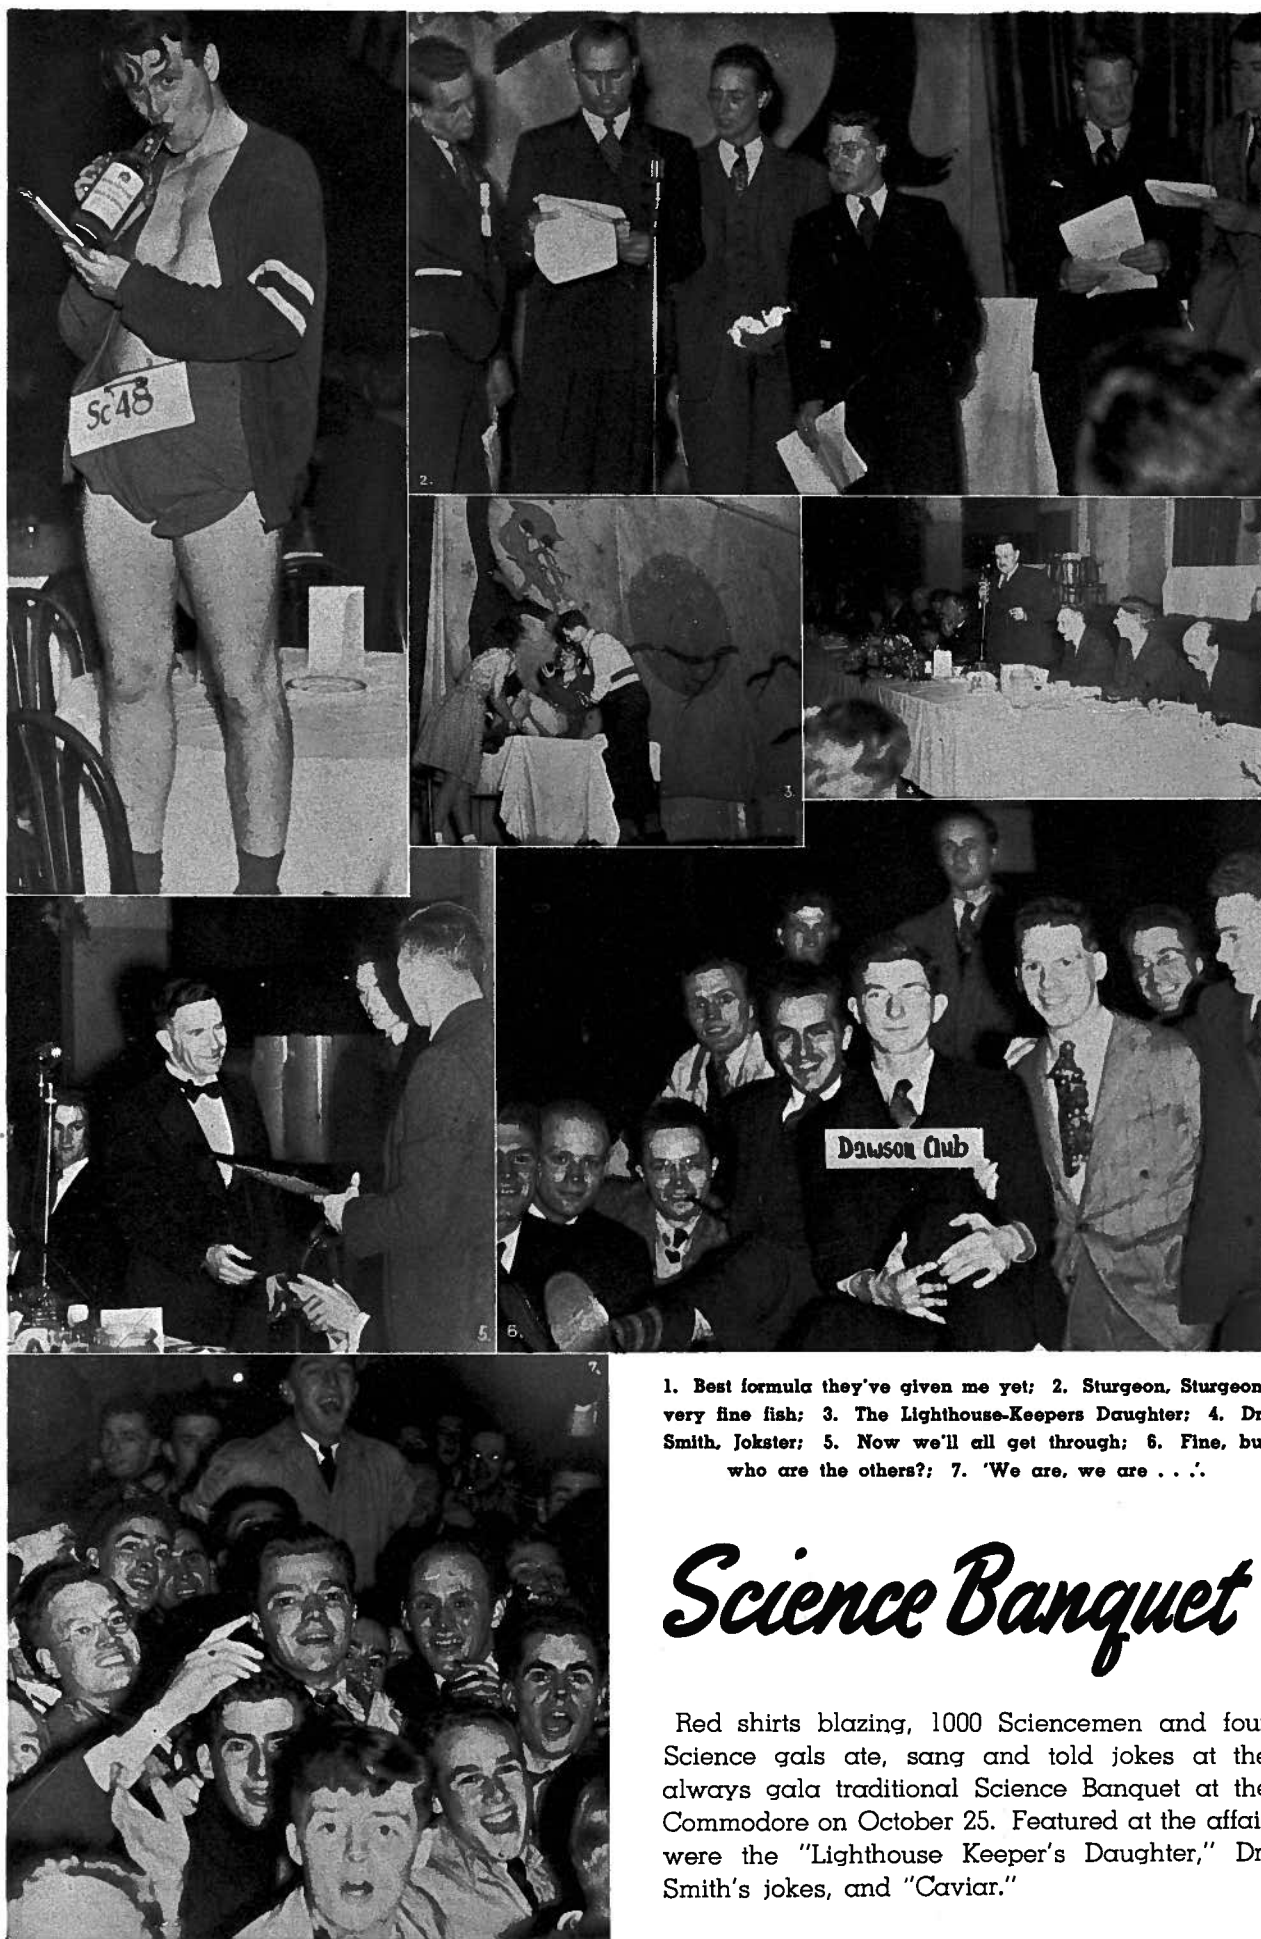

1. Howie McPhee Memorial Trophy; 2. Mardi Gras Queen and guests; 3. The last lap; 4. Just watch him go; 5. Spectators; 6. Our favorite jockey; 7. And the band played on; 8. Ruby kicks off; 9. Bets "on the nose"; 10. The winnah!

Gym

Quickly leaping to the support of the drive the Jokers' Club organized highly successful auctions, a roller-skating marathon and a carnival. The Legion organized "Operation Dollar" and all campus organizations gave their full support.

1. Best formula they've given me yet; 2. Sturgeon, Sturgeon, very fine fish; 3. The Lighthouse-Keepers Daughter; 4. Dr. Smith, Jokster; 5. Now we'll all get through; 6. Fine, but who are the others?; 7. 'We are, we are . . .'

Science Banquet

Red shirts blazing, 1000 Sciencemen and four Science gals ate, sang and told jokes at the always gala traditional Science Banquet at the Commodore on October 25. Featured at the affair were the "Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter," Dr. Smith's jokes, and "Caviar."

1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7—Formal opening of Law Faculty; 3. We can see through you; 8. Library before and 9. After the atomic bomb.

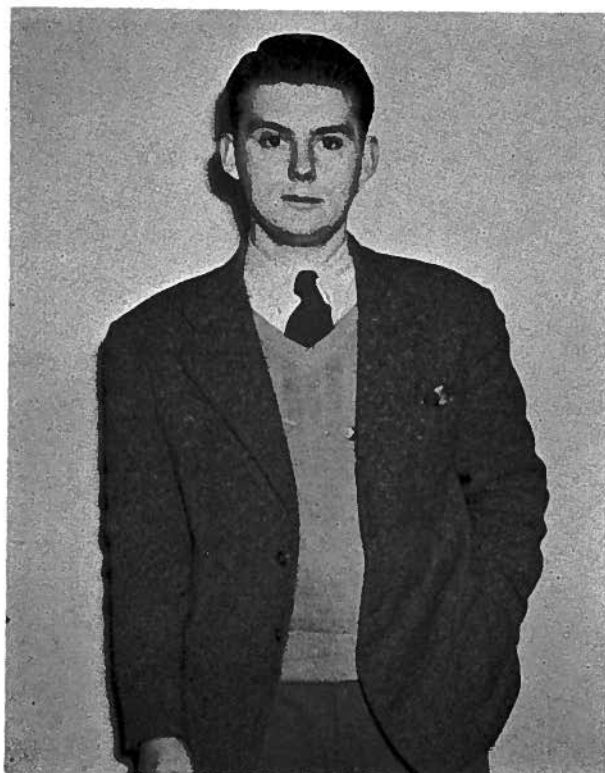

1. Part of record registration; 2. Cairn ceremony; 3. Pass; 4. Take that!; 5. Arguing?; 6. Seeing double; 7. Are there any opponents; 8. Peek-a-boo; 9. Fordyce, Perris and Knockmeter; 10. Betty Gray and friend; 11. Alinsworth and Wilkinson ignore warning.

Hall of Fame

Rhodes Scholar

The distinction of being the first post-war Rhodes Scholar fell to U.B.C.'s prominent citizen, Allan Ainsworth.

Now in his fourth year, Allan has proved himself scholastically in his honors course in English and Economics. He has, in fact, maintained a consistently high average since his high school days at Lord Byng.

His sound administration, as current A.M.S. President, as well as past record with the Little Theatre and the Players' Club, of which he has been made a life member, indicate amply his qualities as a leader. Also, in this connection, he was, during his undergrad years, active in the Parliamentary Forum and in various debating teams.

Allan is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi and with Sigma Tau Chi.

At Oxford, he will enter the Final Honours School in "Modern Greats", so fitting himself for the future he hopes to find in governmental service.

Research Work

Dr. K. C. Mann, widely acclaimed physicist, has been selected as the outstanding U.B.C. research worker of the year in consideration of his work with the National Research Council during the war.

Dr. Mann, who now holds an Associate Professorship, worked with the Navy Group of the Radio Branch of the Council from 1941 to 1945. His efforts were directed toward the design and development of a compact radar set to meet specifications of the British Admiralty.

Upon completion, the set was enthusiastically received by the authorities and was put into immediate use in the British coastal fleet. The same set is now being used extensively by B.C. coast shipping. Based on the principle of electronic screen projection, it will reproduce surrounding objects, ranging from driftwood to mountains.

Previous to joining the Research Council, Dr. Mann lectured here in Physics from 1938 to 1941, when he held an Assistant Professorship.

He is a charter member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Red Cross Ball Queen

The happy combination of a five foot six inch, by 125 pound stature—golden blonde hair—gay blue eyes—and a twinkling, ready smile, fully explain why Ruby Dunlop was elected and crowned the first Freshette Queen of the Mardi Gras, the annual greek letter societies ball, held early this Spring.

For her coronation ceremony Ruby wore a misty turquoise blue net evening gown with black lace elbow-length gloves.

Superficialities of surface beauty do not stand alone as Ruby's regal qualifications.

At Magee, her high school Alma Mater, from which she graduated last year, she was active in the Hi-Y organization. She served the 1944-45 term as President of the Vancouver Inter-Club Hi-Y and was, in this position, responsible for the direction of the Hi-Y Spring Conference.

Reconsidering her original intention to enter Nursing, Ruby will direct her above-average scholastic ability toward the study of Social Service when she returns next fall for her sophomore year.

Extra-Curricular Work

Pat Fowler, third year Pre-med, has been chosen as the student who has contributed most to campus affairs this year. Pat, born in Riondel, first attended U.B.C. in 1937. At that time he was active in the Players' Club and other campus organizations. Returning in 1944 after a six year absence, he entered Pre-med.

This year, Pat was elected President of the Pre-Medical Undergraduate Society, where he was the organizer of a successful campaign to bring about the establishment of a Medical Faculty at UBC in 1946. Through this position he became a member of the Undergraduate Societies Committee and the Discipline Committee, where he has worked towards a recognition and understanding of these bodies by the University as a whole.

Recognition of his wide interests and hard work has been made by Sigma Tau Chi, UBC's honorary fraternity.

Athletics

Leading athlete of the year was Sandy Robertson, who graduates this year in Civil Engineering. Robertson has starred in sports at UBC during his four years on the campus, gaining special recognition in basketball as captain and leading scorer of the Thunderbird team.

During summer months, he made the grade as Vancouver's leading baseball pitcher, and last year was signed by the Boston Red Sox of the American League.

A member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, he has also helped the intramural team in other sports. Kappa Sigma has captured the intramural title twice in the past three seasons.

Robertson has also played occasionally with Barsity soccer, cricket, and rugger teams. An all-round athlete, he expects to try his hand at baseball for a few years before turning to a life job in civil engineering.

Totie

As final candidate for the Hall of Fame, and in full recognition of his efforts in furthering the interests of the University, the editorial board of the Totem are proud to present Totie, representative of student spirit, ambition, and success, in connection with University activities.

Totie in this manner has become a symbol of U.B.C. life, and in this capacity we present him to the readers of this book. In the light of Totie's achievements during the past year, with the increase of the members of his family from 3000 to 7000, the second largest University enrollment in the Dominion, with the plans for the establishment of five new faculties and the actual opening of one of them, with his mentions in Time magazine, with his huts and new buildings, with his pies and goldfish, and in general, for the complete competence with which he has overcome the obstacles of the past year, the most trying of our history, we are proud to honour him with mention in this section of his Yearbook.

Drama, society, study, noon hours in the Green Room, rehearsals, play readings—this forms a composite picture of U.B.C.'s thespians, the mad, gay and terribly busy members of the Players' Club.

Barely had the term started when the hard-working student actors presented their first dramatic effort of the year, in conjunction with Frosh Week, for the edification of U.B.C.'s 1500 new students. This dramatic epic was entitled "The Cavalcade of Woo."

Shortly afterwards, the club began rehearsing for the Christmas plays. They chose for this year: "Orange Blossoms," a light farcical comedy by Phillip Johnson; "The Rainmaker," a dramatic experiment by Gwen Pharis; and Emmanuel Levi's "Altar Piece."

"The Altar Piece," an excellent picture of the cruelties of racial prejudice, was so well received that the club chose it as their presentation for the Western Universities Drama Festival held this year at Edmonton.

This festival, inaugurated this year at the suggestion of the University of Alberta, as a non-competitive meet, aims to stimulate interest in University drama. U.B.C. will sponsor it next year, with the Players' Club as host.

While the "Altar Piece" cast was performing at this festival, the rest of the Green Roomers began their biggest undertaking of the year, the annual Spring play. Selected this year was

John Balderston's fourth dimensional romance, "Berkeley Square."

A play of this type was a complete innovation to the club. Its great success can be attributed to the skill and versatility of both the director, Mrs. Elsie Graham, and the excellent character portrayals of the actors. The role of John Standish, immortalized by the late Leslie Howard, was played by Arthur Hill. Norma Bloom interpreted the feminine lead.

Heading these active Green Roomers this year was Jack Duffus, hard-working and long-suffering President. Assisting him were Treasurers Ron Heale and Don MacDougall, along with Joy Coghill, Secretary. Jim Argue, Don Wilson and Chester Taylor headed the club committees. The Advisory Board consisted of Professor Walter Gage, Professor and Mrs. F. G. C. Wood, Mrs. Elsie Graham and Miss Dorothy Somerset.

Celebrating its twenty-first anniversary, the University Musical Society reached the peak of success during 1945-46. Edward German's "Merrie England", directed by C. Haydn Williams, was presented as the Club's Seventeenth Annual production.

This colorful operetta portrayed the life at Queen Elizabeth's court in Shakespearean days. A new cast, with a few old-timers as leading players comprised the personnae.

Erika Nalos, Czecho-Slovakian dramatic soprano, played the May Queen. Alice Stonhouse, lyric soprano, who first appeared in "The Pirates of Penzance", was Bessie Throckmorton, Raleigh's sweetheart. Kathleen Cole, mezzo-soprano, who began in the "Pirates" also, played Queen Elizabeth's role.

Jill, the witch, was sung by Geraldine Foote, Freshette mezzo-soprano. David Holman, well-known tenor, who began in "Iolanthe", starred as Sir Walter Raleigh, while Richard Brawn, a newcomer, sang the tenor role, Earl of Essex. Another newcomer, Boris John Melnyk, baritone, was Silas Simkins. Edward Hulford, bass-baritone, took the part of Wilkins, first player in Shakespeare's company.

Dramatic direction was under the guidance of E. V. Young and Professor W. Gage, for the twelfth consecutive year.

This year's officers included M. Dorothy Mawdsley, Honorary President; W. Gage, Honorary Vice-President; Winnifred Irwin, President; Lucille Hawkens, Vice-President; Kelvin Service, Secretary; Dorothy McLeod, Treasurer; Jerry Mc-Donald, Advertising Manager; David Holman, Glee Club; Edward Hulford, Production Manager.

Glee Club activities were curtailed this year, but it is hoped that provision for a permanent conductor will be made next year. Under the direction of Henning Jensen, Jeff Corry, David Holman, and the supervision of Ted Kirkpatrick, the Glee Club presented the Minstrel Show at the Homecoming Potlatch.

"Music from Varsity", broadcast each Thursday evening over CJOR, featured the artists of the Society with classical numbers and a preview of the production. Erika Nalos headed this project.

The Society is indebted to Robert G. Fiddes, President of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society for his donation to the University to be used for the future establishment of a Chair of Music, and the purchase of a baby grand piano. It is to be hoped that these innovations will be available to students in the Fall of 1946.

Two changes in policy were made this year; a departure from Gilbert and Sullivan, and an additional performance, totalling five nights, to meet 7000 students' demands. The Society has come a long way from its 1916 nucleus of musicians to the present high standard of production.

Parliamentary Forum

Members of the Parliamentary Forum experienced an energetic year under the leadership of their hard-working President, Hal Daykin.

The activities of the society show a much more marked resemblance to those of pre-war years than have any since 1940.

With the first year of peace, the Forum launched a program of symposiums before downtown clubs, such as the Y.M.C.A., the Wisemen's Club and the Women's School for Citizenship.

Usually two students would attend the meeting for the evening as guest speakers.

Despite a lack of success, the 1946 McGoun Cup debaters gained a great deal of experience from the debates for that coveted trophy. Supporting the negative of the resolution that "the Dominion Government should undertake to guarantee the provision of suitable employment at all times for all persons able and willing to work, Stewart Chambers and Tony Scott travelled to Saskatoon only to be defeated by the Saskatchewan University team. The home affirmative duo of Morris Berson and Dave Williams also lost to the Winnipeg team.

B.C. liquor laws received a thorough going-over during the Frosh Debates between U.B.C.

and Victoria College with Vic College coming out over the Varsity team. Bud Gurevitch and Manson Toynbee stayed home while Marshall Bray and Fergus McKenzie debated in Victoria.

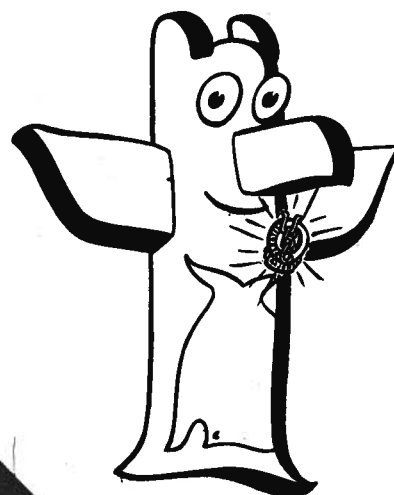

Linfield College, McMinnville, Oregon, was the only American college U.B.C. debated against this semester. Harriet Hochman and Rosemary Hodgins upheld the British colonial policy in India against the Americans and won.

The question of political clubs on the campus, one of the biggest issues of the year, arose as a result of the blood and fire of electioneering for the Fall Mock Parliament. A minority Conservative Government led to a second election which gave them a bare majority. Grant Livingstone, their leader, became Prime Minister with Bob Harwood, C.C.F. leader as Opposition Leader. Gordon Martin led the L.P.P., Harry Castillou the Liberals and Dave Williams the Retrogressive Progressives.

1945-46 Executive was headed by Hal Daykin until February when Bob Harwood, First Vice-President took over the official gavel. Joan Fraser, Second Vice, was followed by Dave Williams as Third Vice. Alan Roeher served as Secretary in charge of the Frosh Debates. Doug Leitermann, as Treasurer, arranged the Spring Mock Parliament while Program Manager Rosemary Hodgins looked after the weekly debates. With all the activities, Harry Castillou and Phyllis Webb, the Publicity agents, helped out immensely. Prof. W. N. Sage as Honorary President rounded out this year's Executive.

In 1946-47, the Forum promises to launch out on some big plans comparable to pre-war schemes now that the post-war period has arrived.

Chopin, Bach, Beethoven—these, and many other great names in music—were presented to student music-lovers by the members of the University Concert Orchestra. The thirty-piece aggregation, conducted by Henning Jenson, gave five presentations during the past season.

Like all other campus organizations, the Concert Orchestra could not find enough room on this overcrowded post-war campus to house all those who wished to hear their recitals.

Active interest was given the society by the patroness, Mrs. N. A. N. MacKenzie and Dr. G. G. Sedgewick, Honorary President, and Howard Bartlett, Business Manager.

University Radio Society

"Tuum Est", the motto of U.B.C., is personified amongst the student body by the dynamic and active members of the University Radio Society.

In spite of cramped and outdated studio facilities, and the lack of a regular broadcasting station on the U.B.C. campus, the Society has expanded its activities to such an extent that this year has seen it become the leading university's radio society in Canada.

Last term's expansion in the organization culminated with the official opening of the new studio in October, after months of concentrated effort on the part of the members in putting the new equipment in working order. On this occasion Dr. G. M. Shrum, Honourary President, congratulated the group on its progress.

These increased facilities necessitated a change in location, from the closet in the Agriculture building to the present location in the south basement of Brock Hall. In these still somewhat cramped quarters a fully modern, sound-proof studio was constructed and fitted with an eight channel standard broadcast mixer control consol.

and the students owe much of this achievement. Under his able guidance, both series programmes, special events, and sports broadcasts have been given throughout the year over local stations and the western network of the Canadian Broadcasting Company.

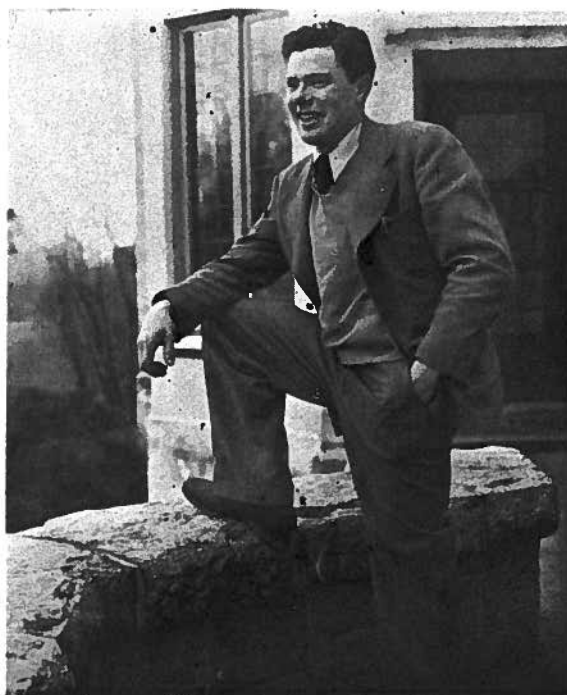

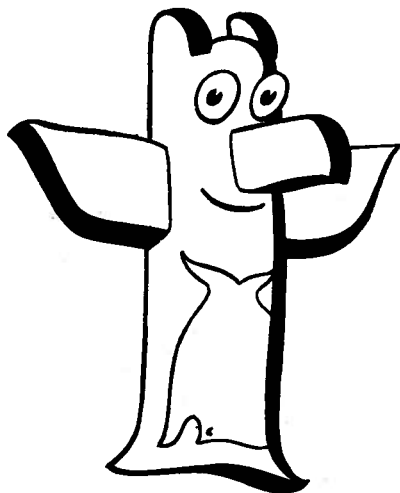

"Music from Varsity", "Microphone Goes to College" and "Campus Theatre", as well as daily presentations to the students in the Brock and the Caf fill up the club's agenda. Special arrangements were made with local studios and many or the Thunderbird basketball games, the final of the McKechnie cup game, and the turning of the sod for the new Physics Building were broadcast. A news service was conducted regularly from the Brock each noon hour, with notices and announcements of interest to U.B.C. students comprising the main portion of the broadcast. Scriptwriting for the dramatical productions was done by Ernest Perrault, Jim Beard, Peter Duval, Loyd Bulman, and some by President Watts himself.

Comprehensive future plans of the group embrace the establishment of a transmitting station right on the campus, so as to eliminate the necessity of airing programs through downtown stations. Further enlargement of the studio and control facilities is also seen as a future development. In general, it is the contention of the Radio Society that to increase the broadcast facilities is the most efficient way to put the needs of the University before the public, which is, after all, the onyl way to alleviate these needs.

The Executive for this year has included Bill Watts, President; George Broatch, Assistant Director; Pat Ottewell, Secretary; Loyd Bulmer, Chief Programme Engineer; Ray Perrault, Chief Announcer; Jim Beard, Chief of Dramatics; Phil Ashton, News Editor; Bill MacKinnon, Sports Broadcaster, and Roy Ruddell, Chief Technician.

Jazz as an art is the cause to which the enthusiasts of the Jazz Society pledge themselves. To further this aim, record sessions are held each week, at which the various aspects of Jazz as a serious music form are studied.

Presenting this music to the student body at large, a live improvised jam session is given annually by leading student and city jazz groups.

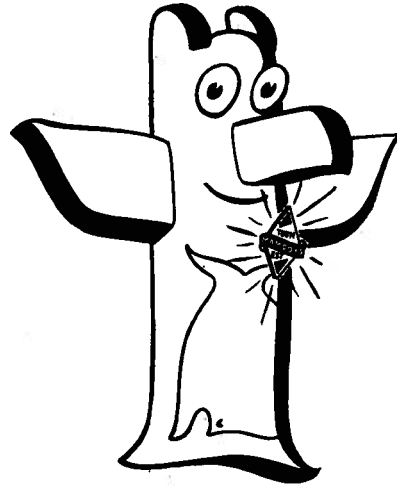

The executive this year consisted of Ross Stroud, President; Gordon Harris, Vice-President; Alex Cowie, Secretary; Ross Stewart, Treasurer; Betty Thompson, Librarian, and Ross Thompson, Publicity Director.

ticket sales, ushering, Totem and Thunderbird sales, and poster painting. Add to this the supervision of all the campus notice boards, and students begin to appreciate the effort and work of the Mamooks in campus life.

Probably the biggest single order came with this spring's Visitors' Day. The hundreds of posters, all demanded on short notice, were done well and punctually. To meet this particular need, and to generally speed production, an air brush set, complete with electrically operated air compressor, was added to the myriads of brushes, pots, jars, and bottles which comprise the equipment of the poster section. It was this intriguing device that made possible the wondrous subtlety of shadow and tone quality, so outstanding in this year's Mamook art work.

The gay Irish colleens and green shamrocks which comprised the motif for the decorations at the Junior-Senior class party, held this spring, demonstrated further the capabilities of this busy section of the Mamooks.

President Aaro Aho was ably assisted this year by Vice-President Bill Stewart and Secretary Charlotte Corbitt. Professor J. A. Harris acted as Honorary President. Mary McMillar supervised all the ticket sales, while George Bloor worked as the head cheerleader. Among the many talented signpainters of which the Mamooks boast are Malchia Sanford, Bob Nickells, Bob Armstrong and many others.

Working with little praise and many criticisms, the Mamooks have done a marvellous job of pulling the campus together. More power to them!

groups studying records of the life of Christ. In addition to a psychology group, there is a weekly social-political-economic series in which members analyse international problems. Russia's foreign policy, and the Japanese-Canadian situation, were the two main subjects studied. The general meeting, which all the members attend once a week, is chiefly concerned with the role of the University in society today.

The firesides and the out-of-town camps held during the year are planned to bring the students together in a friendly discussion of religion and the present day world.

Marching into the post-war world, the two service corps on the campus reconverted to their previous policy of voluntary enlistments with an encouraging number of returned men and previous enthusiasts.

One company of two platoons comprised the Canadian Officers Training Corps. The Corps carried on with the syllabus established during the war years.

Lieut.-Colonel Shrum continued in his capacity

1. Relaxing in the officers' lounge.
2. N.C.O's at an instructors' parade.
3. Lecturing on marksmanship.
4. Nichols and Idsardi, signalmen.
5. Captain Field.

as commanding officer, assisted in executive duties by Major Topping. Returned service personnel comprised the student officers.

An executive and training staff, much reduced from that of previous years, efficiently handled the affairs of the Corps. Lieutenant McCulloch, C.S.M. Irving and Sgt. Piper managed the paper work and quarter's stores, while C.S.M. Green instructed training.

The University Naval Training Division on the campus was but half the size of the Army Corps.

Training consisted of signalling, boat work, navigation and seamanship in the trend of previous years. Those who completed the training schedule satisfactorily were required to go before a selection board that chose the eligible candidates for officers.

Leadership of the Division was continued under Lieutenant-Commander (S.B.) MacIlroy, R.C.N.V.R. Lieutenant Nash of H.M.C.S. Discovery.

UBYSSEY

1. Mardee Dundas, Editor-in-chief; 2. Marion Ball, Senior Editor; 3. Jack Ferry, Senior Editor; 4. Bruce Bewell, Senior Editor.

Emanating from the northeast corner of the basement of the Brock Hall, where the editorial policy is determined, the influence and opinions of the Ubysey, campus newspaper, make themselves heard and felt in every phase of student life of the university. Every debate, every controversial part of campus politics, has the Ubysey taking its stand, setting forth its arguments, and welcoming constructive criticism.

Setting the policy this year as Editor-in-Chief of Publications, was diminutive, dark, Mardee Dundas, the fourth female to hold this stormy position. Mixing fingernail polish and printers' ink for four years in succession, Mardee rose from a Associate Editor in her first year to the exalted position of Senior Editor by her third session at University.

Taking the editorial reins from John Tom Scott, she guided a temperamental and diminishing staff through a hectic post-war year of Jokers, veteran and Greek Letter controversies and gold-fish swallowing students, to produce 60 editions of the campus tri-weekly paper.

Student interest in the Publications Board was concretely indicated by the overwhelming number of letters to the editor received this year. Ploughing through this melee of student opinions to present their individual papers once a week were the three hard working and much abused Senior Editors, Marion Ball, Bruce Bewell and Jack Ferry.

Scienecman Bewell, complete with oversized pipe, calmly waded through the deluge of first of the week news to produce the Tuesday issue, sometimes with his inimitable "Stresses and Strains" column. Assisting him with editing and head writing were Associate Editors John Green, Jean MacFarlane and Helen Worth, and Assistant Editors Audrey Garrard and Helen-Mary Gowans.

Wise-cracking Marian Ball condescended to appear in the Pub every Wednesday to browbeat cub reporters into writing the Thursday issue of the paper. Occasionally Marian herself did a little writing to convulse the campus with her unique "Home Thoughts From a Broad". Associates John Wardroper and Van Perry and Assistants John Gummow and Graeme Scott supplied Marian with her male harem of a staff.

More or less Senior Editor of the Saturday edition was Jack Ferry, who gave up the menial job of editing a paper early in the spring to take up the work of Features Editor, leaving the Saturday paper to his Associates Harry Castillou and Don Ferguson. These two divided the work, and alternated press nights until they barely saw each other.

Associate on the Saturday paper was Rosemary Hodgins, with Assistant Editors Betty Motherwell, Joan Grimmett, Howie Wolf, Val Sears and Bob Mungall helping with the proofreading.

News Editor for the three papers, Ron Haggart compiled the campus news into assignments for the Senior Editors, as well as arranging for pictures for the Ubyyssey with Photography Editor Pat Worthington. Assisting Haggart in the news gathering department, was Harry Allen, third year Commerce student, who handled the News Editor's job alone after the beginning of March.

Don Stainsby was responsible, as Canadian University Press Editor, for receiving and sending all C.U.P. telegrams and dispatches between U.B.C. and the eastern university papers.

Often seen trotting around the campus with bundles of Ubysses under his arm was hard-working Phil Ashton, circulation manager, who also performed as a reporter when deadlines were to be met and the regular staff was scarce.

Besides turning out three sport pages a week for the major part of the term, Luke Moyls found time to edit the sport page of the Totem, as well as act as manager for a basketball team. Assisting Moyls on the Ubyyssey were Don MacLean, and Laurie Dyer.

TOTEM

Nancy Macdonald, Associate Editor

Bill Stewart, Editor

The 1946 Totem, from the new red totem on its leather bound cover, to the distinctive end sheets which complete the expert job of binding, has undergone a complete renovation from the form in which the yearbook last appeared on the campus. After four volumes of the Totem had been published along a similar style of makeup, the 1946 editorial staff decided in favour of a modification of the format. The result—a more informal, streamlined continuity linking together the many student activities, we place before the reader with the hope that it may afford him pleasure, now in the perusal of it, and in future, in retrospection of these eventful college days.

Our diminutive, very hard working staff, under Editor Bill Stewart, divided up the work to be done, then bravely rolled up their sleeves and set to it, just finishing in time for the book to be printed and bound before the Easter exams.

The copy on the Class Executives, and the writeups of the Graduates, tell to the lot of Nancy Macdonald, who spent long hours over a typewriter and on the phone gleaning information that uncooperative students omitted to write on their course cards. Nancy also found time to write the Phrateres copy, as well as time to do proof-reading and captions.

Jean MacFarlane, our other Associate, took time out from a busy Pre-Med course to write up all the major and minor campus organizations, as well as to arrange for the accompanying pictures. In spite of these duties, she earned the undying friendship of the printers and engravers by turning in these assignments before the deadline.

Assisting her were, John Green, Bob Fitzpatrick, Fred Grover, Rosemary Hodgins, Betty Motherwell, Don Stainsby, Jane Seymour, Beverly Ann Widman, and Doug. Yates.

The Fraternity and Sorority pages, always a big headache, were well handled by Don Ferguson, who by now has a great antipathy for Greek letter groups. Bruce Bewell was depended upon for anything vaguely connected with engineering, as well as for much caption and proof-reading work. Bob Fitzpatrick covered the Theology and Aggie copy, and also helped Jean with the clubs.

Deane Sherman pushed the Totem sales to a new high with his "Got $3? Well, devote 'em to the Totem," while Luke Moyls, in his second year with the sports section, somehow managed to get his portion of the book to press, but at this time of writing we don't yet know how.

We wish to extend our warmest thanks to Al Black of Cleland Kent, and Charlie Philips of Ward & Philips, for all those evenings and overtime hours spent on this publication, and also to the men at both establishments whose workmanship kept the book to its high standards.

Deane Sherman, Sales Manager

THE THUNDERBIRD

A long cherished dream of the Publications Board was realized this year with the first edition of a literary quarterly on the U.B.C. campus. The Thunderbird, with its twenty-four pages of glossy paper, headline type, serious, comic, and poetic articles, was enthusiastically received by a small fraction of the student body, while the remainder expressed only indifferent reactions to the infant publication.

Ex Totem Editor John Green was chosen in the Fall to edit the quarterly, with Don Stainsby, C.U.P. Editor, as his Assistant.

After a great deal of pleading with the indolent literati of the campus, Green managed to extract enough copy from them to fill the first issue of the magazine, only to find that, due to unforeseen difficulties with the advertising, it was impossible to publish the Thunderbird until the Spring term. Thus the "quarterly" was cut down to two issues in its Freshman year at the University.

Because of the work entailed in the job of C.U.P. Editor, Stainsby was forced to give up the Thunderbird, so that the Green editorial staff consisted of Alan Dawe, Don Scott Evison, and Strowan Robertson, Assistant Editors; Doug. Campbell, Lewis Allen Lewis, Cartoonist.

PRE-MED JOURNAL

As part of its campaign to put U.B.C.'s new Medical Faculty on the map, both locally and nationally, the first issue of the Pre-Med Journal has been published by the Pre-Meds. Lack of technical knowledge limits the scope of the magazine, but it is the ultimate hope of the present staff to publish a technical quarterly, similar to those published by other universities.

At present the journal is concerned with acquainting the embryo M.D.'s with a broad view of the medical profession, and giving them a chance to express their views on pertinent questions relating to their future profession.

To achieve these aims the first issue contained discussions on general practice, preventive medicine, social medicine, and medical school education as practised in other colleges. The publication also included some articles on special branches of medicine.

The Journal was established as a precedent, but in its present form it is providing a needed source of information to the students at U.B.C. who are planning to make a career out of medicine, as well as the university-conscious public.

DIRECTORY

The Student Directory, that indispensable little booklet containing the name, address and phone number of every student registered at U.B.C., remains the only offering of the Publications Board whose contents are faithfully read and implicitly believed. The Editor is never called a "radical" or a "hide-bound Conservative," nor does he take sides in dispute, prod council into doing their duty, and see that each event in the year receives its proper coverage and advertisement. Despite

The book this year, edited by Bruce Lowther, far surpassed in size any previous issues, and sported a modern two-tone beige and brown cover. Innovations also included a Business Directory listing the names of the advertisers, lists of the presidents of all the major and minor clubs, along with their addresses and telephone numbers, and the same information in connection with all student representatives on undergraduate societies.

Bruce Lowther was assisted at his job by Bob Berggren, Jean Jamieson, Betty Kemo, Alex Leslie, Helen Smith, Don Stainsby, Howie Wolfe, and Lyle Woodley.

TILLICUM

The Tillicum, published annually at the beginning of the term by upper year members of the Publications Board for the purpose of breaking the facts of University life to the wide eyed Freshman class, this year appeared in a different form, with different material, and under a different cover.

The editorial staff, consisting of co-editors Jean MacFarlane and Helen Worth, with last year's editor Bruce Bewell giving the invaluable aid of his hoary-headed experience, discarded the time honoured custom of methodically copying the preceding year's publication. At the beginning of the summer they began to rewrite copy that needed changing, bringing old copy up to date, and throwing out old Totie cuts. This feverish activity, along with the A.M.S. and M.A.D. revision of their Constitutions, resulted in the Tillicum emerging from its housecleaning a modern, more extensive, and more readable publication, which continued to serve the needs of the first year class in their difficult orientation period.

PHOTOGRAPHY

The Photography Department of the Publications Board was just one more of the large number of innovations around U.B.C. during this hectic year.

Although the first few weeks of the Fall term were spent among a overwhelming conglomeration of carpenters, lumber, planes, saws and cub reporters, the photographers managed to get organized in time to keep the Ubysey well supplied with pictures.

With the coming of the New Year, the head of the department, Gus Worthington, discovered the tremendous number of pictures a Year Book requires, counted up the extremely small fraction of that number we had, and began to crack the whip accordingly. The cameramen co-operated to the extent that several of them found, oddly enough, that spending eight hours in the dark-room was not compatible with passing their exams. They did turn out the pictures with a vengeance, however, with the result that Al Black, from Cleland Kent's, spent many of his January and February evenings and Sundays laying out and sorting large mountains of glossy prints.

Hal Harris

Gus Worthington, the energetic and capable head of the photographers, spent his noon hours sorting out prints, and handing out assignments as well as trying to co-ordinate the rush deadline work of the Ubysey with the slower, more time-devouring work of the Totem. Among the shutter-bugs themselves, Tom Hatcher turned out the bas-relief section pages and a large percentage of the prints making up the book. Hal Harris, despite the encumbrance of a tripod and flash extension, always managed to turn his assignments in on time. Bob Steiner, although rarely seen outside the darkroom, found time to cover the co-ops as well as several of the pass features and major events. Roy Dougans remained true to his faculty by using up thirty flashbulbs for as many good pictures at the Science Ball and Pep Meet. While Alf Evans and Fred Maurer co-operated on the class executives, and several major clubs; Dick Oulton and Van Perry handled the beauties on the spot and others of the more interesting photographic tasks. Gordie Young and Freddie Grover covered a wide diversity of subjects, both with flashguns and without, while Ron Bruce and Cece Yip turned in all the remainder of the photos.

CLASSES

Arts '46

Shouldering most of the responsibility of running an expanded post-war campus, are the Seniors, the class of Arts '46. But the class of '46 has come out smiling.

Heading the Student's Council was capable, hard-working Allan Ainsworth. Under his leadership, the A.M.S. helped the many functions to run more smoothly, in the transition period from war to peace. The tremendous task of organizing the War Memorial Gym campaign, the most ambitious project yet attempted by U.B.C. students, fell to a committee of Student Council members. Senior Nancy Pitman headed all women's activities, as President of the Women's Undergraduate Society, while Maryanne Norton looked after women's athletics.

On the Publications Board, Senior Mardee Dundas became the fourth feminine Editor-in-Chief in the history of the University. She was ably assisted by Thursday Editor Marion Ball and Sports Editor Luke Moys. Helen Worth was the right-man "man" of Tuesday Editor Bruce Bewell.

Keeping in step with the progressive campus was the University Radio Society, headed by Bill Watts. A newly-equipped radio station was constructed in the Brock and direct broadcasting lines were maintained with local studios.

Hal Drykin had the busy job of holding the active Parliamentary Forum in check . . . keen interest was apparent on the campus from the Mock Parliament debates, and two of the parties made application to the Board of Governors for permission to found campus political clubs. The final decision was finally laid in the laps of the student body, who voted on a plebiscite and refused consent.

In the Players' Club, Murray Sager upheld the Senior Class with a lead in Altar-Piece, the play which was chosen to go to Edmonton to the Drama Festival of the four Western Universities.

The Executive of Arts '46 was elected late in the year, as there was some hope that two definite groups, Pure Arts and Pure Science, would be formed. All arrangements could not be made soon enough, however, and a composite executive of Arts and Science was chosen at an unusually well attended meeting in January. Charlie Bullen was elected President and was assisted by Juniors Joy Donegani and Jean MacFarlane, as Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer. Dr. W. Sage was chosen as Honorary President.

Arts '47

Always a pace-setter, the Class of '47 led the way again this year. In the early Spring elections, Earl Hysler, a returned serviceman, was chosen as class President. His executive was made up of Mary Dolmage as Vice-President, and Heather Blundell as Secretary-treasurer. Barbara Kelsburg acted as Vice-President on W.U.S.

The new arrival in the publishing field, the quarterly, "The Thunderbird," was edited by a third year man, John Green.

This new edition was begun to furnish space for more serious literary efforts of the students. It was issued twice in the current year, and will take up its position as a quarterly next term.

This Year Book claimed the efforts of three Pubsters. Bill Stewart did a very capable job of editing our All-Americal Annual, assisted by Jean MacFarlane and Nancy Macdonald. Jean produced the club write-ups, and Nancy furnished faculty and Graduation Class copy. Gus Worthington filled the position of manager of the photographers and did his thankless task with little fuss.

Again this year, Jim Argue played one of the leads in the Players' Club production of "Bereley Square," and Joy Coghill was responsible for the club's extended tour of the Interior this Spring, acting as tour manager. In the Musical Society, Dave Holman sang the leading baritone role in Edward German's "Merrie England."

McGoun Cup debates saw Dave Williams, returned serviceman, coupled with Scienceman Morris Berson, go down to defeat at the hands of the debaters from Manitoba here at U.B.C. Winnipeg later won the cup, with perfect points.

Fame came to the Junior Class when Hettie Outerbridge was chosen as "the U.B.C. Co-ed with the loveliest legs" by the King candidates of the Fall Ball, and it put its magic touch on Arts '47 again when Keith McDonald was crowned King of the Fall Ball at the Commodore in November.

Pat Fowler worked well as the first President of the newly formed Pre-Medical Undergraduate Society. Jean MacFarlane served as Publicity Chairman on the same committee.

On the sports side of the ledger, Herb Capozzi helped lead the Varsity Chiefs to victory, while Ron Weber and Reg Clarkson worked with the U.B.C. Thunderbirds as they played the leading roles in the Pacific Conference.

Arts '48

Campus strangers one year and superior Sophomores the next . . . that is the Class of '48. Proud of their new-found maturity, Arts '48 has moved into the hallowed ranks of U.B.C. undergrads and have done their share in making the name of U.B.C. famous throughout Canada.

In the Publications Board, Ron Haggart held down the all-important position of News Manager, while Don Stainsby managed C.U.P. Bruce Lowther worked against almost insurmountable difficulties to produce a Directory to rival the Vancouver City phone book. Sheelagh Wheeler acted as feminine sports scribe for Luke.

Lois Shaw and Art Alexander, both Sophomores, played the leads in the Fall presentation of "Altar-Piece," which the Players' Club chose to send to Alberta in February to compete in the first Drama Festival held between the Western Universities. Gerry Foote won a coveted part in the Mussoc production of "Merrie England."

An Arts yell contest, sponsored by the Ma-mooks, was won by Soph Bill Hughes, who got a ticket to the Fall Ball for his efforts.

In the sports field, Bob Haas and Jerry Stevenson distinguished themselves with the Varsity Chiefs, as did Freddy Bossons. In Intermurals, the Sophs did very well, with Taddy Knapp acting as Intermural Chairman on W.A.D.

Cal Whitehead acted as Sophomore Member on Student's Council, and in that capacity headed the Special Events Committee and the International Students' Service Committee.

Pubster Don Ferguson, fresh from the R.C.A.F., acted as Publicity Chairman for the Homecoming Day in October, as well as serving as Associate Editor of the Saturday Ubysey.

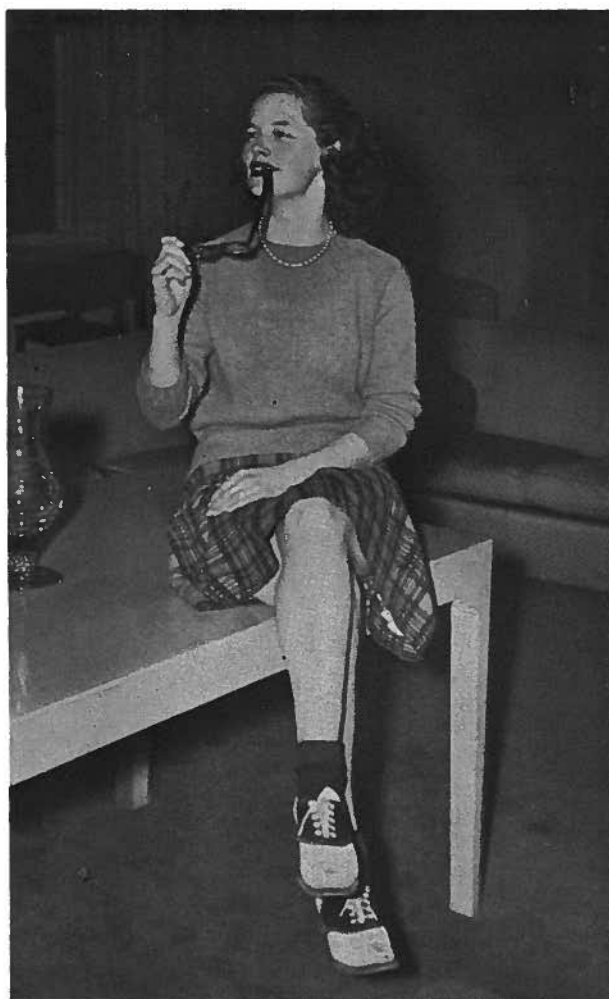

In the thriving Parliamentary Forum, Soph. Bob Harwood was chosen as leader of the C.C.F. party, and as such, precipitated many of the Mock Parliament debates.

Sophs Rosemary Hodgins and Harriet Hochman followed up their activities of first year, and were chosen for the second time as an all-female debating team to uphold the honor of U.B.C. against Linfield College, McMinnville, Oregon.

The Executive of Arts '48 was not chosen until the Spring term, when Nora Clarke was elected President of the class. Joan Mitchell acted as Vice-President, and Paul Delaney was Secretary-Treasurer.

Arts '49

Words cannot describe the invasion of the Freshman class to UBC this year. Over 1400 students, half of whom were returned servicemen, invaded our peaceful campus this past September with their green goggles, placards and rolled-up pants . . . . battled with their traditional rivals, the Sciencemen . . . . and quickly and overwhelmingly took their place among the undergrads of UBC.

Shortly after Freshman Week, the class of '49 held the usual poorly attended but hectic elections, and chose ex-serviceman Phillip Evans for president; Daphne Black for vice-president; Paul Delaney for secretary-treasurer; and Gordon Selman for athletic representative.

Ruby Dunlop made university history when she was chosen as Queen of the Mardi Gras in January. She is the first freshette to win this coveted position.

Norma Bloom was successful in winning the feminine lead in the Players' Club spring production of "Berkeley Square".

In the newly formed Jokers Club, freshman Alan Beesley was elected to the position of Noise Joker, and cheerfully lived up to his title. Another freshman to hold down a responsible position was Mary MacMillan, who handles all the ticket sales for the Mamooks.

On the Ubyyssey, Helen-Mary Gowans, Val Sears and Howie Wolfe attained prominence as assistant editors on their respective issues, while Laura Hahti cooked up some of the best features seen in a long time around UBC. Don McClean filled the position of assistant sports scribe. Directory assistant editors included Jean Jamison, Betty Kemp, Helen Smith and Bob Berggren.

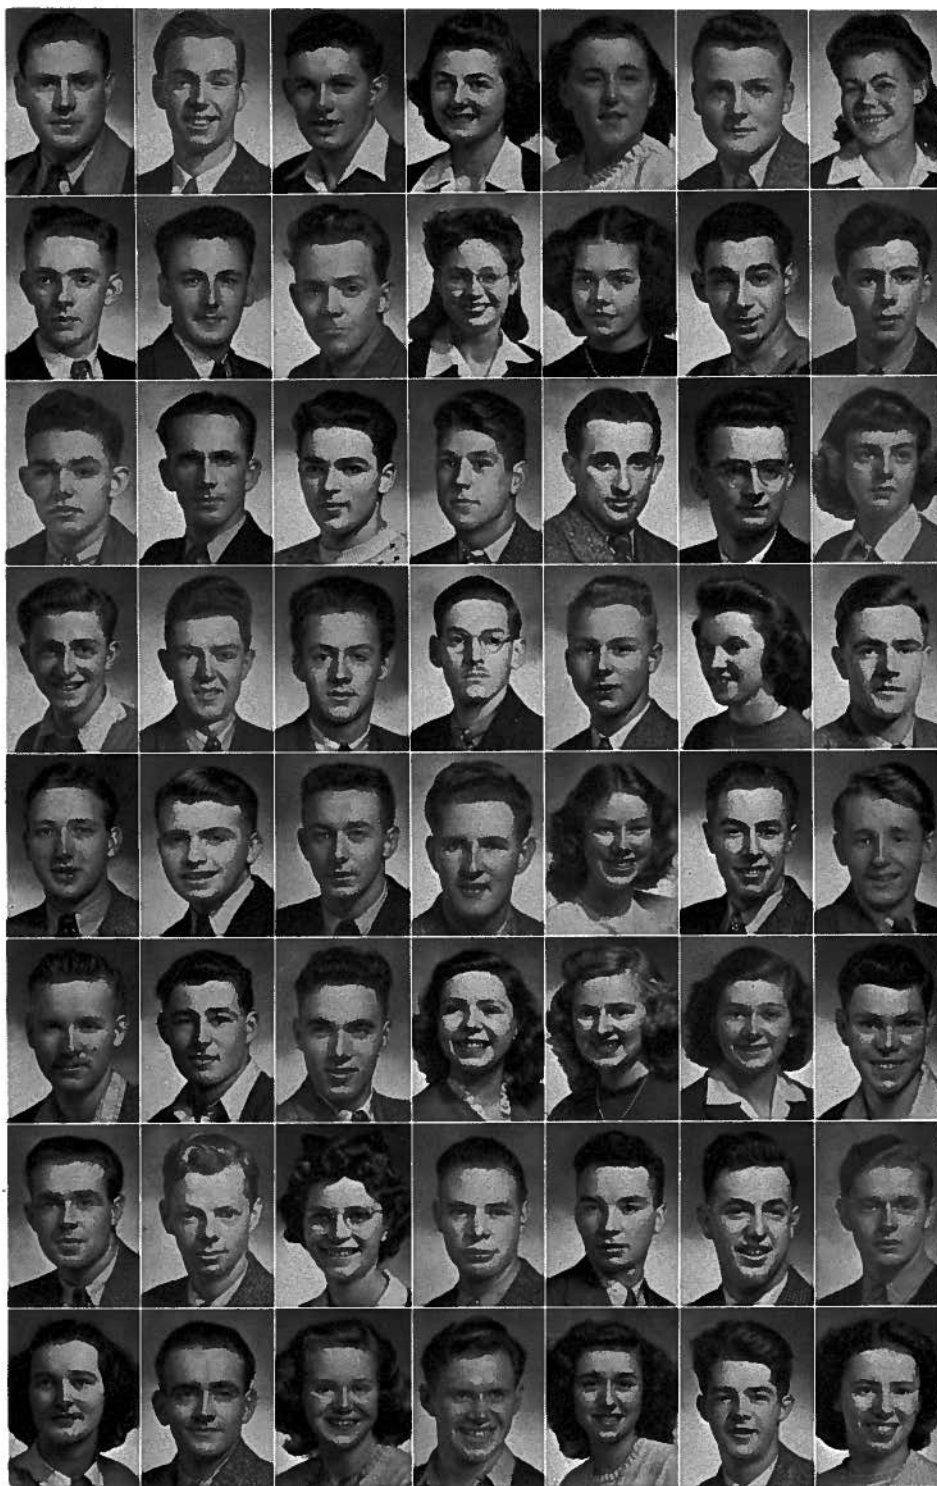

On the sports sheet are the names of Al Ban, who paced the UBC cross-country team on to its third straight victory in the track meet in Spokane, Wash. Lennie Letham rounded out UBC's basketball team.

The class of '49 has already proved itself a real asset to the university. With the maturity of its returned "vets", and the push of its high school grads, this class has nothing to fear about living up to standard. If first performances are any indication of things to come, 1949 will be an outstanding year at UBC.

Commerce '46

After the successful campaign in 1945-46 for the evolution of the Commerce Club into a full-fledged undergraduate society, the Commerce Department continued their campaign for conversion into a established faculty. No opportunity was lost by the more than 700 Com students to put in a boost for the department to be part of the $5,000,000 expansion plan of the University.

First big event of the year was the Commerce Dance at the Commodore in the middle of January. The Commerce students went on an uproarious post-Christmas fling that night before settling down to an arduous second term of statistics, commercial law and business finance.

The major occurrence in the term for John Commerce, however, is the semi-annual banquet held downtown each session. Although last year the affair was held in the Hotel Vancouver's Banquet Room, the increased enrollment in 1946 made it necessary for the committee to reserve th main ballroom of the big hotel. Among the 700 students and guests present, such prominent men as Lieutenant-Governor Woodward, Chancellor Hamber, Premier Hart and Mayor Cornett were in attendance. The banquet is usually considered a "must" on the Commerce social calendar because of the invaluable contacts with the prominent business men during the course of an evening, made while mixing informally around the banqueting table.

All Commerce activity is not confined to the Com department alone; these men of statistics also seem to find time to become successful in other fields as well. The society this year boasted such men as Ole Bakken basketball star and President of the Men's Athletic Directorate; Ralph "Hunk" Henderson, also a hoop star with the Thunderbirds; Garry Miller, Treasurer of the A.M.S.; Gordon Kersey, Secretary of the U. Branch of the Legion Housing Committee.

The C.U.S. executive for 1945-46 was composed entirely of fourth year students, with George Pierson as President; Hugh Gordon, Vice-President; Barbara Campbell, Secretary, and Bob Morris as Treasurer.

Coming down the home stretch of their five-year grind the men of Science '46 are eagerly anticipating the day when they will take their place in the industries of Canada to work with the other U.B.C. grads who have gone before. Once again the Graduating Class will go into the production of the articles of peace for the first time in six years.

Always making their voice heard on the campus, the Engineers, through E.U.S. President Jack Beveridge, took an active role in the development of the newly-formed Undergraduate Societies Committee.

Also notable in the ranks of the senior men in red sweaters was Tom Scott who, in addition to being President of the Mechanical Engineers and President of the Graduating Class, also found time to attend a mid-February conference of student engineers in Montreal, from which he returned with many valuable suggestions.

Science '46 was also active in fields other than those which have to do solely with engineering. Bob McLellan, remembered chiefly for his baritone roles with the Mussoc, was President of the Camera Club. Showing that science is involved in no small degree in the game, Chuck Dowding was President of the Chess Club.

Steve Howlett held the Presidency of the Symphonic Club, proving that the men of science are also men of culture. Peter Lindenfeld was President of the Social Problems Club.

Somehow managing to sandwich in a course in metallurgical engineering between press days, Bruce Bewell collected grey hairs editing the Tuesday Ubysey. Doug Campbell's cartoons brightened many editorial pages.

In the athletic field Thunderbird Captain Sandy Robertson is the pride and joy of the engineers. In addition to his activities on the maple courts, where his scoring record of 40 points in a single game will probably stand for some time, Sandy is also a baseball player of no little ability, having been signed up by the Boston Red Sox.

Executive of Science '46 this year was: President, Jack Beveridge; Dawson Club, Bob Seraphim; Engineering Institute of Canada, Gordie Heal; American Institute of Chemical Engineering, John Welton; American Institute of Electrical Engineering, Ken Broe; American Society of Representative, Gordon Ellis.

Presentation at the Science Banquet.

Science '48

Now past the half-way mark on their road to the precious B.A. Sc. degree, Science '48 is heaving a collective sigh of relief at the relative proximity of their goal.

Although returned servicemen have inflated the class considerably, the third year men have not been crowded to the same extent as some other classes. They claim that their year is "just comfortably full." Many of the ex-servicemen are no strangers to U.B.C., having taken the Canadian Army Course here two years ago. All express their pleasure at being back.

Still in there wielding tee squares and slide-rules with the best of them are those outstanding co-eds, Lorna Lang and Marg Stokkeland. After three years they are more convinced than ever that there is a place for women in engineering. The girls' enthusiasm and help in such matters as pep meets has gained them the admiration of the class.

Class President Ron Grantham worked tirelessly all year for the E.U.S. Readily identified by a mop of flaming red hair, Grantham was an easy and willing target when there was a job to be done.

Representative of Science '48 on Council was Fred Lipsett, of Players' Club fame, who held the chair of the Literary Scientific executive.

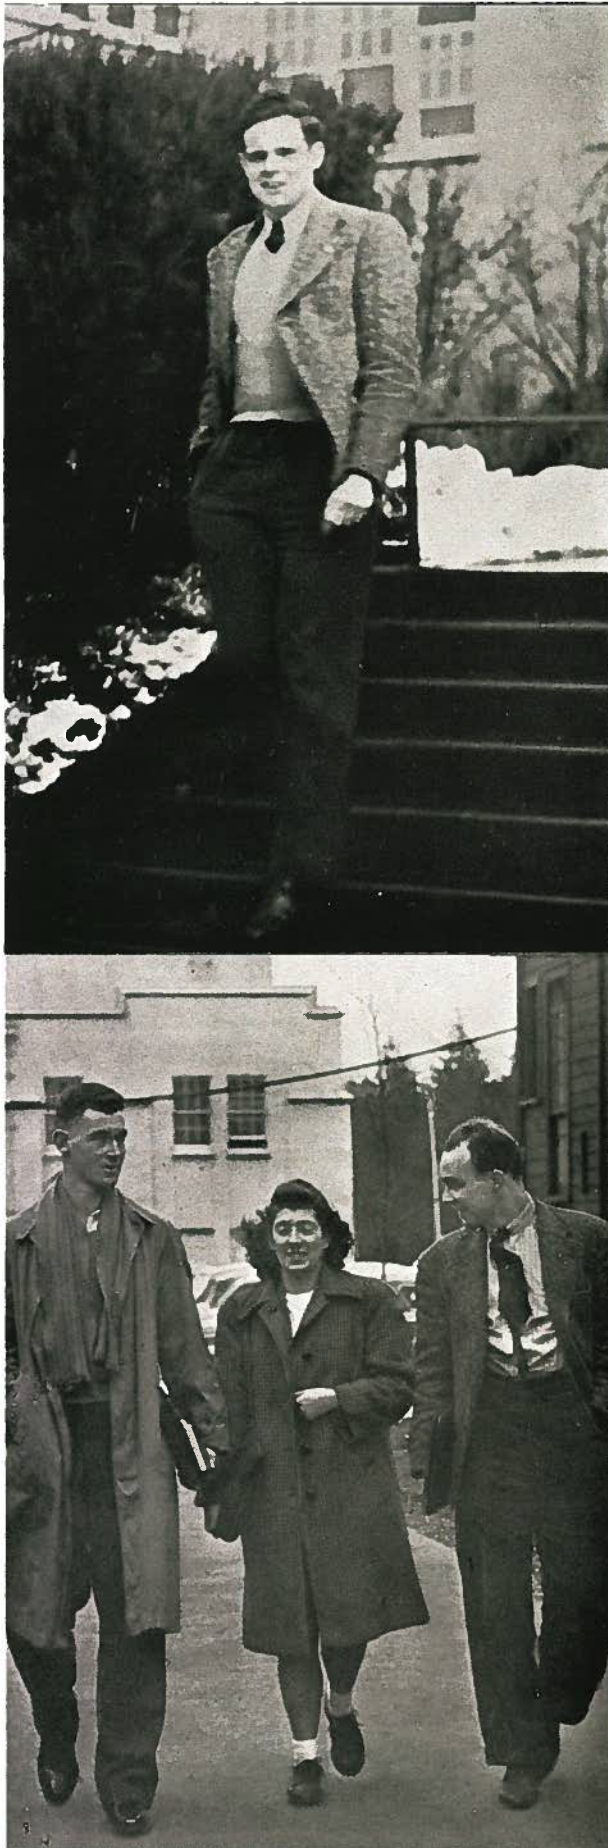

Another notable redshirt Green Roomer was Jack Duffus, President of the Thespians this year. Frank Woodward held the Presidency of the ever expanding Thunderbird Gliding and Soaring Club.

Science '48 did not neglect the sports field either. In addition to supplying most of the two intra-mural teams, the Engineers and the Science-men, third year also produced such stars as Thunderbird Harry Kermode, who has always done more than his share towards the success of the Birds.

Executive this year was: President, Ron Grantham; Vice-President, Alan Fletcher; Secretary-Treasurer, Lorna Lang; Sports Representative, Harry Kermode.

Science '49

Hardly started on the road to the coveted sheepskin, the 566 members of Science '48 are record-breakers. This session there are more second year students than there were students in the whole four years, a scant two sessions ago.

Most of these students are men fresh from the forces where they have learned some technical skills which they wish to pursue further. These men work with a singleness of purpose which will inevitably result in an even higher standard for the engineering graduate of the University of British Columbia.

In spite of this studiousness and the strange feeling that comes with totally new surroundings, this newest crop of embryo engineers was quick to show its spirit. They were always in the van when it came to organizing meetings and pep meet skits.

Science '48 has another claim to distinction. They, too, have a fair damsel who has forsaken the caf and knitting needles for the drafting room and tee-square. Nelda Ozel has also shown her devotion to the cause of the slide-rule by entering wholeheartedly into the activities of the ram-bunctious redshirts. She will long be remembered for her role in the skit at the Science Banquet.

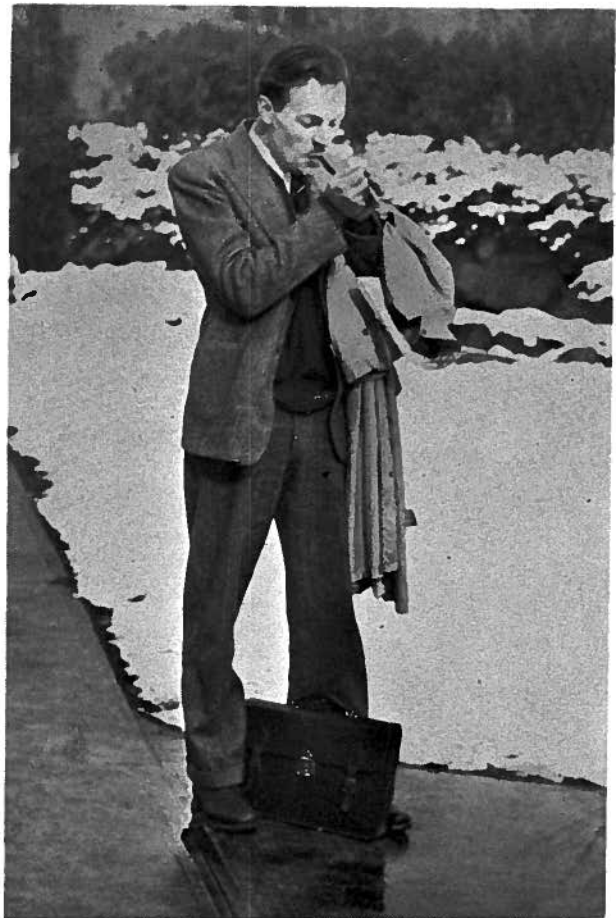

As any second year engineer will admit, battling the combination of Physics 4 and Civil 30 is no pushover, but in spite of this, the boys still find time for relaxation in one form or another.

Jerry Macdonald took time out to act as Advertising Manager for the Musical Society's production of "Merrie England."

Tom Preston wrote an occasional column for the Ubyyssey under the heading "Seeing Red," and Roy Dougans seemed to be in one continual blaze of glory as he shot flashbulb after flashbulb for the Ubyyssey and Totem.

Ritchie Nicol, formerly of the Victoria Dominos, ably represented second year on the Thunderbirds.

Executive of Science '49 was: President, Mike Dunn; Vice-President, John Kyle; Secretary-Treasurer, Don Elliott; Sports Representative, Daynard Welsh.

Agriculture

Although Agriculture, along with other campus faculties, has more than tripled in size, the Aggie students, unlike those in the other faculties, while working together in their classes, in their labs, in the barns, and in field work, have kept up their remarkable faculty spirit through all the overcrowding.

Naturally enough, with the growth of the faculty, a separate crest was needed. The accepted creation was designed by John Seiburth, a freshman, and the leading Aggie cartoonist.

A new venture of the Aggies was the edition of the first Aggie Ubyyssey. In charge of the green sheet were Fred Maurer, Doris Larkin, and Harold Huff.

The highlight of the Aggie's social calendar is the annual Aggie Barn Dance. Here the oldest and shabbiest thing wearable makes a fitting costume. Gordon Bell was in charge of this function, and the Leavy brothers, the official bouncers at all Aggie parties, were on hand.

Also on the social calendar are the class parties, and the faculty banquets. The Fall Banquet is the official initiation of the Frosh into the faculty. Traditionally, the Freshman Class provided the necessary humorous touch in the form of a skit.

The Spring Banquet is a formal function. The prizes won during the Spring Field Day, held at Agassiz Experimental Farm, are presented to the winners at this time.

Not to be outdone by the other faculties, the Aggies entered the intra-mural sports, in which they always rank with the leaders. Looking after athletics was Doug Knott, also of cross-country fame. Accompanying him to the Spokane meet was track star, Lloyd Tamboline. Jackie Stephenson was in charge of the girls' sport activities.

The Society executive consisted of: David Blare, President Bob Nilan, Vice-President; Halycone Webb, Secretary; Grant Larkin, Treasurer; Ken Devlin, Athletic Representative, and Kay Deas, Women's President.

Home Economics

A degree from the faculty of Home Economics was awarded for the first time at Congregation in May, 1946. Approximately a dozen co-eds received the Degree of Bachelor of Home Economics, after completing the necessary four-year course at U.B.C.

In the four-year course, Home Economics students have learned to prepare food on a large scale, and have had practical work along this line at the Acadia Camp, where the meals were planned and prepared by rotating groups of students. Courses in dress making, pattern designing, family management, family relations and many others were also included for the degree.

It was planned to institute a home management house on the campus, the funds for which have been provided by the Parent Teachers' Association, but building restrictions and priorities made this impossible. In place of the course on baby care at the home management house, the Home Ec. students went to the Baby Clinic for their practical work.

To help the students in their fashion and color courses, the Home Economics Undergraduate Society instituted a series of talks, given every two weeks by guest speakers on clothes, accessories, cosmetics, color schemes and many other phases of fashion work. Each speaker brought equipment to demonstrate her talk, and in that way, the Home Ec. students saw dress displays, cosmetic demonstrations and fashion movies at first hand. Other speakers gave talks on the future of Home Economics graduates in the industrial world.

In a lighter vein, a tea was held for the new members of the Undergraduate Society in October, and a graduation tea was given for the graduating members in April. Highlight of the year was the Valentines dance, held in the Brock on February 14.

Responsible for the many activities of the Home Economics Undergraduate Society this year were Doreen Parks, President; Casey King, Vice-President, and Joan Park, Secretary-Treasurer.

Nurses

Torn between an allegiance to the General Hospital or to the University, the ninety-three members of the Nurses' Undergraduate Society have completed yet another year of successful campus activities, both along social and scholastic lines. The Nursing Undergraduate Society serves not only to direct the activities of the nurses, but also to keep them in touch with their sisters down at the hospital.

There are several courses open to those students wishing to go into nursing as a career. It is possible for a student to go into training at the General immediately after high school, or she may take two years in Arts at the University, followed by three sessions at the hospital, and finishing up the course at U.B.C. with one more year, at the end of which the candidate may receive a B.A.Sc. degree.

The graduates include both Public Health nurses and nurses in Teaching and Supervision. The Public Health course consists of a short series of lectures followed by a period of field work. This field work takes the students to various clinics and institutions both in the city and outside. Classes for Teaching and Supervision of nurses are held both at the General Hospital and at the University.

Aside from the business meetings, the Nurses held four socials—a fireside held at the end of October at the home of Mary-Gordon Hazlewood—a Christmas brunch at the Devon Cafe—the annual Nurses' formal, given this year in collaboration with the Pre-Meds, in the Brock in November—and a Spring Tea held in the rotunda of the Nurses' Home at the Vancouver General Hospital, in April.

Along with the rest of the campus, the Nurses put on a display at Open House, as well as operating a "baby center" to look after small children for parents visiting the campus.

This year has undoubtedly been one of the most outstanding for the Nurses' Undergraduate Society, and much of the credit for its success goes to its hard-working executive composed of Mary Wilkinson, President; Betty Haliden, Vice-President; Jessie MacCarthy, Secretary; Dorothy Parfitt, Treasurer; Mary-Gordon Hazlewood, Publicity; Shelagh Wheeler, Sports Representative, and Thelma Whitman, War Work Chairman.

Law

Composed largely of ex-servicemen, U.B.C.'s newest faculty has done much to justify Dean George Curtis' proud description of his charges, "They're eager."

Sparked by the enthusiasm and friendliness of Dean Curtis, the 73 first year students spend long hours perusing the myriad volumes in their own Law Library which is housed in one of the bright, newly painted huts beside the Library.

Although the Faculty of Law of necessity consists mainly of Freshmen, there are a few students in second and third year who have taken their lower years at other universities.

The degree of LL.B. is awarded at the completion of a three-year course. To enter First Year Law a prospective student must have completed Second Year Arts.

Although the full time teaching staff of the faculty numbers only two, Dean Curtis and Professor F. Read, several prominent local barristers come to the University to give instruction in their specialties.

Crown Prosecutor S. J. Remnant lectures on criminal law, C. Schultz discusses homicide cases, and C. W. Brazier gives two lectures each week at the Court House on procedure.

In addition to lectures in their huts and the Court House the budding attorneys take lectures in the Brock stage room.

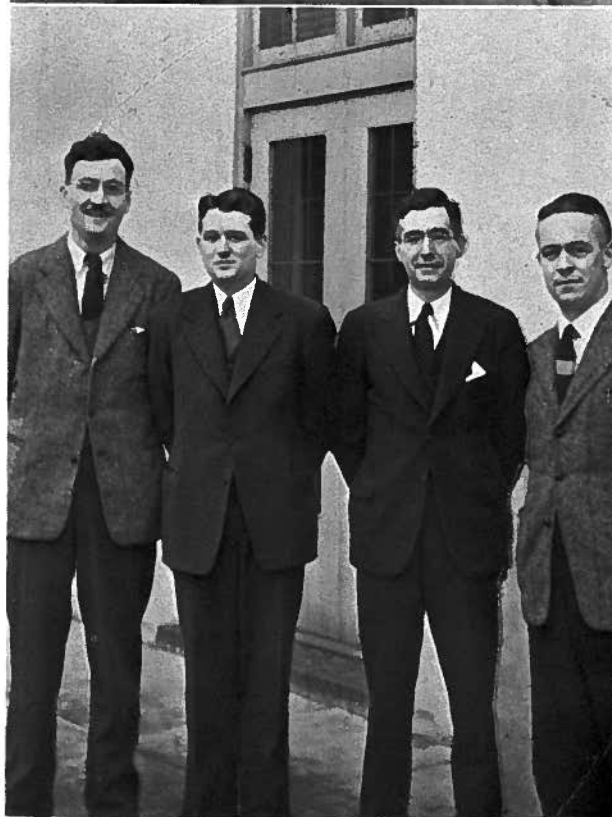

Indicative of the great interest taken by the students in their work is the appointment of three student librarians. W. R. Stubbs, J. C. Blewett, and A. E. Kobus hold the positions.

Because of the small size of this new but highly important faculty close personal contact between the students and staff is evident. Dean Curtis and his professors spare no efforts to aid the studies of their charges.

Unique also is the method of study used by the embryo barristers. Instead of devoting their time entirely to lectures the seminar method is widely employed.

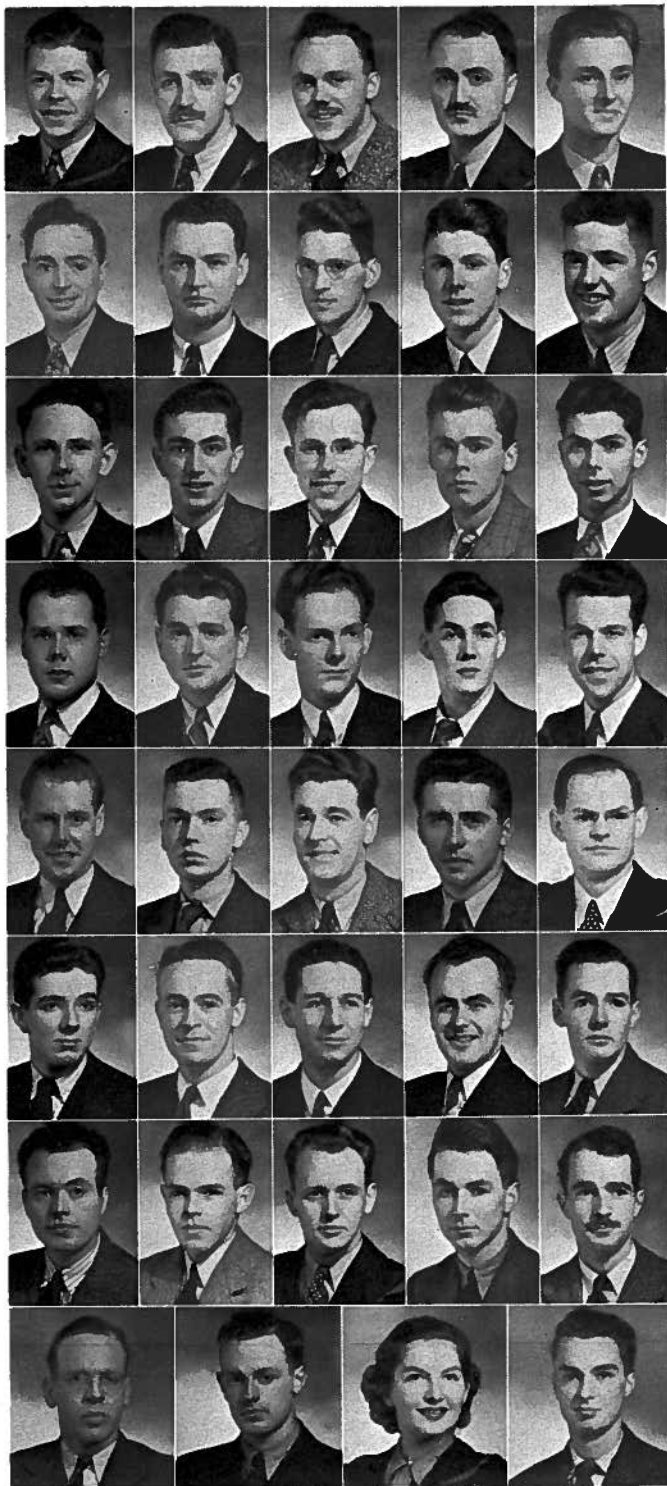

As the law magazine "The Advocate" says: "Here, indeed, is a fresh and eager beginning."

Executive of the Law Undergraduate Society this year consisted of: Tom Fisher, President; Tom Marshall, Vice-President; Ormie Hall, Treasurer; Tony Kobus, Secretary.

Social Work

For the first time at U.B.C., a Bachelor of Social Work degree will be awarded in 1946. Fifty-eight students will receive the new degrees at Convocation in May.

The Department of Social Work, headed by Miss Marjorie Smith, has worked tirelessly to obtain the courses for this new degree and has also instituted for the first time, courses in group work. Other courses which social work students undertake include case work, social psychiatry, medical information, social research, public welfare, child welfare and community organization. As well as courses taken at the University, each student must fill in fifteen hours a week in field placements, under a qualified supervisor.

Various field trips undertaken by the students include work at the Provincial Mental Hospital at Essondale, Division of T. B. Control, Division of V.D., B.C. Cancer Institute, Canadian National Institute of the Blind, Deaf and Dumb School and the Crippled Children's Hospital.

In collaboration with the other faculties at U. B. C., Social Work class exhibited a display at Open House in March. The student bodies in the various Social Work courses across Canada are undertaking the publication of an exchange pamphlet quarterly. Vivian Vincent and Con Ashby served as associate editors from the U.B.C. Social Work class. The pamphlet will be published in the very near future.

The students of the Social Work class held their annual Class Party in the Brock Snack Bar on March 18. Sheila Carlisle made the arrangements for the entertainment, part of which was produced by the men in the form of a skit. The theme of the party was "One Night in a Harem." Another Class Party will be held after exams. In the Fall term, the class held a banquet and social, and later in the year, two mountain hikes.

The executive, elected in the Fall term, consisted of Eric Winch, President; Julie Van Gorder, Vice-President; Stan Whitehead, Secretary-Treasurer, and Mary Chatwin, Dora Porter, Members at Large.

Teacher Training

In the Teacher Training Course, as in most of the courses on the U.B.C. campus, the influx of veterans has resulted in a greater enrolment of men than women. The total enrolment of 46 breaks a precedent of many years with this increased predominance of males.

Courses stepped up to handle the new enrolment included lectures on educational theory and methods, supplemented by practice teaching in junior and senior high schools throughout the city. In this way classroom techniques, studies in lectures, are put into practical use.

The Educational Course activities are many and varied. The social calendar arranged by Amy Hackney and Tom Crone resulted in a number of social gatherings throughout the term, climaxed by the traditional Class Party and Banquet at the end of the year.

The educational activities provided valuable experience in almost every field. American methods of teaching and educational facilities were observed on a field trip to Bellington, Washington, where the class visited many of the city's high schools.

Tips on Child Guidance work were picked up on a visit to the Child Guidance Clinic here in Vancouver.

The application of educational theory to mental cases was observed, first hand, in an afternoon spent at the Essondale Clinic of Mental Health.

The Deaf and Blind School provided valuable lessons in this specialized branch of teaching.

The class rounded off their field trips by a trip to the Boys' Industrial School for the purpose of observing educational procedures in that institution.

The year's executive for the Educational Course included: President, Elmer Sinclair; Vice-President, Lulla Ireland; Secretary-Treasurer, Terry Julian; Social Conveners, Amy Hackney, Tommy Crone; Athletic Representatives, Louise Reid, Walt Green.

ANGLICAN COLLEGE

Affiliated with the University are two theological colleges. These colleges co-operate closely in courses offered, thus making available a wider variety of subjects to the students of both. Also, the facilities of their libraries are at the disposal of the students of either institution.

The Anglican College offers courses leading to the Diploma of Licentiate in Theology and the degrees of B.D. and D.D. The faculty consists of Rev. H. R. Trumpour, Principal; Rev. D. P. Watnig, Librarian and Registrar; Rev. C. B. Reynolds, Rev. T. S. Boyle, Rev. J. B. Thomas and Rev. G. P. Gower.

The residents of the College entered teams in intra-mural sports, and ping pong games are played in the College recreational rooms.

Each fortnight outside speakers come to address the students on some timely topic. An oratorical contest is held among the theologists and the McGeer Cup is awarded to the winner.

UNION COLLEGE

Situated on the heights of the promontory that is West Point Grey, the chaste and dignified Tudor Gothic tower of Union College is a well-known sight to fishermen and sailors who frequent the coast of British Columbia. Gazing serenely up at the majestic Hollyburn and Grouse mountains, the College towers above the trees and smaller buildings around it as if scorning their part in campus activities.

Within the building itself there is included a large library, a recreation room, a chapel, offices, and a complete kitchen with all culinary facilities as well as the many individual rooms for the residing students.

To help out the critical housing situation, all the spare rooms not used by the Theologs are let out to other students. Board is provided for these residents as well as for the regulars.

Union College offers courses leading to the degrees of B.D. and D.D., as well as diploma and degrees in Religious Education. Dr. Gordon Dickie, Dr. G. B. Switzer, Dr. A. M. Sanford, Professor Mathews, along with the principal, Dr. J. G. Brown, constitute the staff.

Athletic Administration

Athletics at U.B.C. made great strides towards a full peacetime program during the 1945-46 session, and much credit is due to the leaders of campus athletics as U.B.C.'s athletes produced another successful year to go down in the annals of U.B.C.'s sport history.

Bob Osborne and Mrs. Jean Sleightholme organized the men and women athletes and paved the way for a much-needed Department of Physical Education.

A U.B.C. graduate, Bob took over the athletic reins from Maury Van Vliet last Fall. Himself a member of the Thunderbird basketball team which won the Dominion Championship in 1931, he again proved his ability in the casaba game as he coached this year's flock of cagers to the Northwest Conference title in this, their first season.

Controlling bodies of U.B.C.'s sports are the Men's and Women's Athletic Directorates. Chairman of M.A.D. this year was Ole Bakken, Thunderbird basketball star who became President of the Men's Athletic Association. Mary Ann Norton was chairman of W.A.D.

Top: Robert F. Osborne. Lower: Men's Athletic Directorate

Athletic Administration

Members of the Men's Athletic Directorate were Ron Weber, Treasurer; Jack McKercher, Secretary; Dr. Dickson and Dr. Gunning, Faculty Representatives; Bob Osborne, Director of Physical Education; Ralph Thomas, Alumni Representative; Maury Physick, Senior Manager of English Rugby; Cliff Wyatt, Senior Manager of Canadian Football; Dave Comparelli, Senior Manager of Soccer; Gardy Gardom, Senior Manager of Basketball; Norm Denkman, Representative of Minor Sports, and Luke Moys, Sports Editor of the Ubysey.

The Women's Athletic Directorate included Audrey McKim, Director of Women's Intramurals; Dr. Joyce Hallamore, Faculty Representative; Mrs. Jean Sleightholme, Director of Women's Physical Education; Audrey Thomson, Secretary; and Taddy Knapp, Representative of Minor Clubs.

While the W.A.D. continued under direct control of the Students' Council, the M.A.D. went through its first year as a reconstituted autonomous body.

With control of its own finances, the M.A.D. put U.B.C.'s athletics on a paying basis for the first time in the University's history.

Men's Big Block Club

U.B.C.'s Men's Big Block Club again offered its services to campus sports this year. The main function of this club is to provide willing helpers for organizing and promoting athletic activities at the University.

Big Block sweaters also indicate ushers at most sports events, either in the stadium or in the gym. However, the Big Block men were under a handicap again this year with the lack of their bright Blue and Gold sweaters.

The club held its eighth annual Homecoming Luncheon in the Brock Hall to welcome graduate Big Block members to homecoming. The club includes all students who have received the major athletic award, the large block "BC", in any sport, either as a player or as a senior manager.

President of the organization this year was U.B.C.'s speedy track star, Ken McPherson. Secretary was Keith MacDonald.

Among this year's active members were Hunk Henderson, Fred Joplin, Dave Hayward, Phil Guman, Luke Moyls, Ole Bakken, Jack McKercher, Hank Sweetman, Reg Clarkson, Sandy Robertson, Don Petrie, Jack Rush, Pat Campbell, Frank Adams, Bob Lawson, Johnny Wheeler, Joe Pegues, Harry Kermode, Ron Weber, Bill King, Harry Franklin and Gerry Lockhart.

Women's Big Block Club

On a parallel with the men's setup, the women athletes at U.B.C. also boast a Big Block club which serves women's athletics.

The girls also held a special luncheon on Homecoming Day, taking advantage of this opportunity to introduce their new athletic director, Mrs. Jean Sleightholme, who was guest speaker.

President of this year's Big Block Club was Jenny Rodenchuck, and Audrey Thomson was Secretary. Other Big Block members were Mary Ann Norton, Audrey McKim, Joan Stevens, Doreen Parks, Helen Matheson, Lois Reid, Jean Handling, and Irene Pierce.

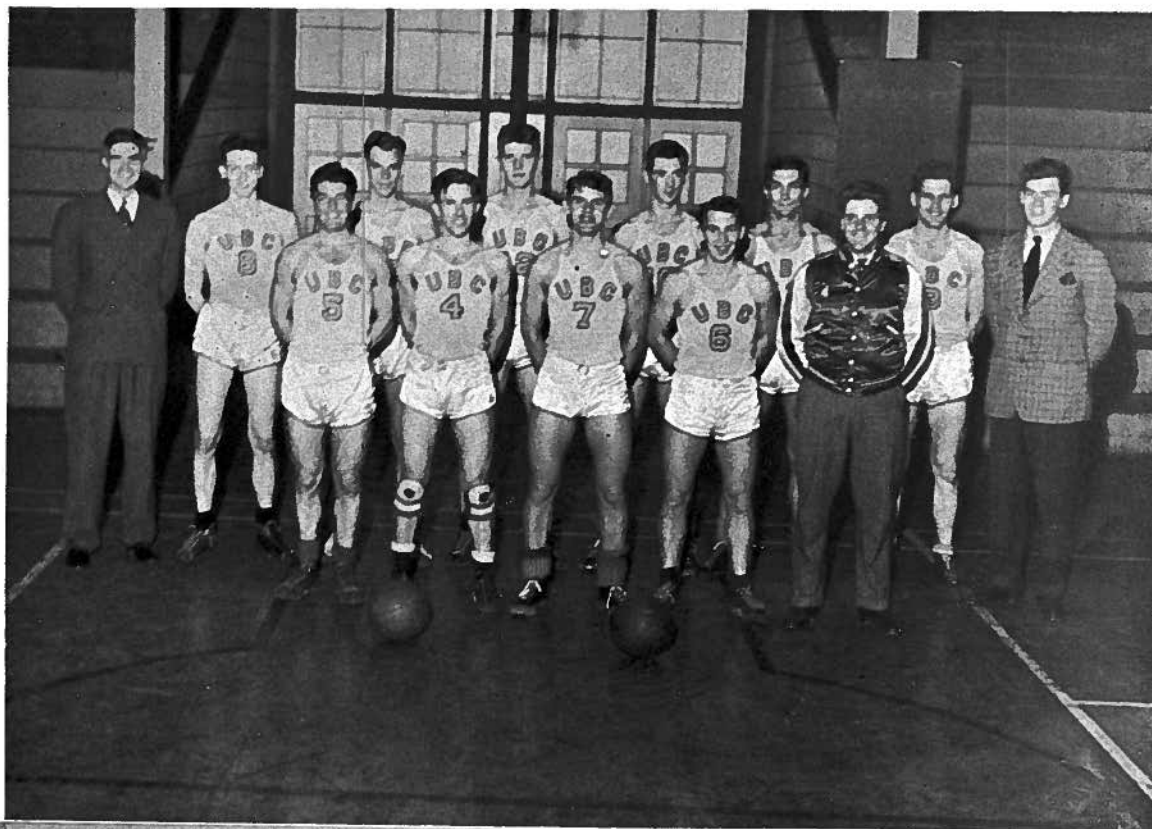

The Women's Awards Committee looks after the awarding of big blocks, small blocks and intramural blocks for athletic participation. Jenny Rodenchuck, President of the Big Block Club, was chairman of this group.

Other members were Mrs. Jean Sleightholme, Director of Women's Physical Education; Dr. Joyce Hallamore and Dean Dorothy Mawdsley, Faculty Representatives; Mary Ann Norton, President of the W.A.A.; Taddy Knapp, Club's Director; and Audrey McKim, Manager of Intramurals.

U.B.C.'s Thunderbird basketball team cleaned up all competition in its first year of inter-collegiate competition this year, waltzing to the championship of the Pacific Northwest Basketball Conference.

Playing a total of 34 games during their heavy schedule, the Thunderbirds lost only six during the entire season, totalling 2006 points for an average of 65 points per game, while only 1475 points were scored against them.

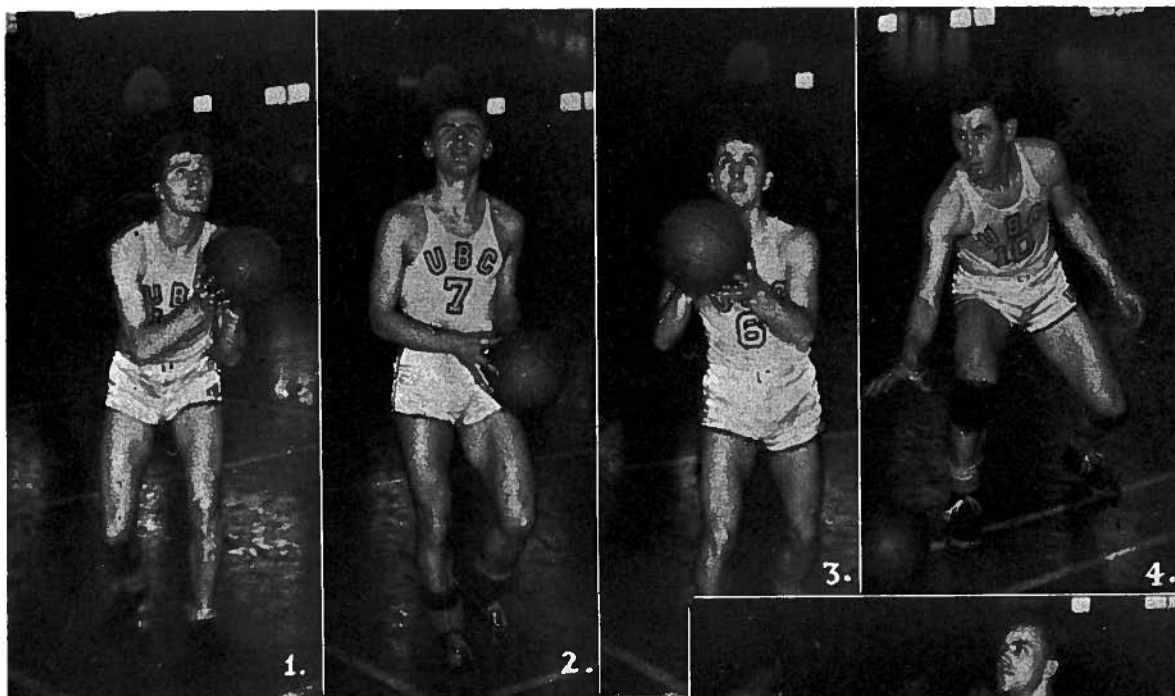

Coached by Bob Osborne and captained by high-scoring Sandy Robertson, the team started off against the tough competition, playing the University of Oregon, the University of Washington, Washington State College and Victoria Dominions in the pre-season slate.

The U.B.C. quintet split with all four of these teams, playing two-game series with each except Oregon to whom they lost two games at home, but evened the series by beating them twice at MacArthur Court in Eugene.

The latter pair of tilts were just two of the seven contests that the 'Birds played on their successful tour of the Pacific Northwest during the Christmas holidays.

Thunderbirds

Eugene, the British Columbia cagers ran into difficulties at Salem, Oregon, losing their opening conference contest by a 43-41 margin. However, they made up for this loss the next night by trouncing the Willamette University team, 52-27.

One of their greatest victories of the season was over the famous Harlem Grobe Trotters, shortly after returning to University in January. Playing before a crowd of more than 2000 students, the Blue and Gold outfit scored a 42-38 triumph.

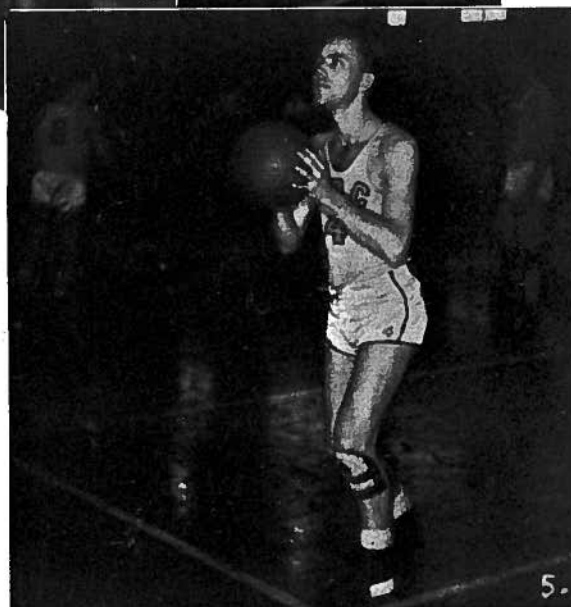

Coach Osborne's charges went undefeated throughout the rest of the season, having little trouble with the rest of the Northwest Conference competition, although the title wasn't decided until their final game against Puget Sound.

Another outstanding triumph was scored when the Thunderbirds notched a record total over the College of Idaho Coyotes, winning by scores of 124-33 and 110-38.

The U.B.C. hcopers finished off the season with three exhibition tilts for the benefit of the War Memorial Gymnasium drive, playing two games in Powell River and one in Chilliwack.

Altogether, they helped bring in more than $2000 for the fund, establishing themselves as the top team on the campus in furthering the drive.

Members of the Thunderbird flock this year were Ole Bakken, Ron Weber, Sandy Robertson, Harry Kermode, Ritchie Nicol, Hunk Henderson, Pat McGeer, Harry Franklin, Reg Clarkson, and Hal McKenzie.

Thunderbirds

Gardy Gardom was Senior Manager of Basketball, ably assisted by Dick Penn, Manager of the Thunderbird team. Art McPhelan was the team's Trainer.

Altogether, it was one of the most successful basketball seasons in U.B.C.'s history in spite of the fact that the Thunderbird team has broken away from the B.C. Basketball Association and thus established itself strictly as an inter-Collegiate team.

For proof, here are the final standings and the complete scores for the season.

U.B.C.'s second basketball team, the U.B.C. Chiefs, went through a tough season in the Senior A Intercity League this year. After pacing the other three teams, Lauries Pie-Rates, Stacys, and New Westminster's Adanacs, all through the season, the Laurie squad nosed out the Varsity Tribe in the stretch drive.

Ending up in second place, the Chiefs played Stacys in the best-of-three semi-finals. They won by a 54-43 count in the opener, but the Shoemen squared the series with a 47-44 win in the second game. However, the Chiefs came through in the final contest with a 39-35 victory.

Meeting Lauries Pie-Rates in the finals, U.B.C. dropped the opener 36-33 before coming back with two wins, 56-41 and 41-33. Lauries forced the series with a 36-28 decision and won the title by a 36-32 count in the deciding contest.

Chiefs

Coached by Art Johnson for the second straight season, both the mentor and the team had another year of tough luck. Red-headed Jerry "Jake" Stevenson was captain of the young, hard-working outfit.

Other members of the squad were Dave Campbell, Bob Haas, Herb Capozzi, Len Latham, Red Ryan, Pete McGeer and Frank Mylrea. Managers for the club were Doug Fraser and Nick Anderson.

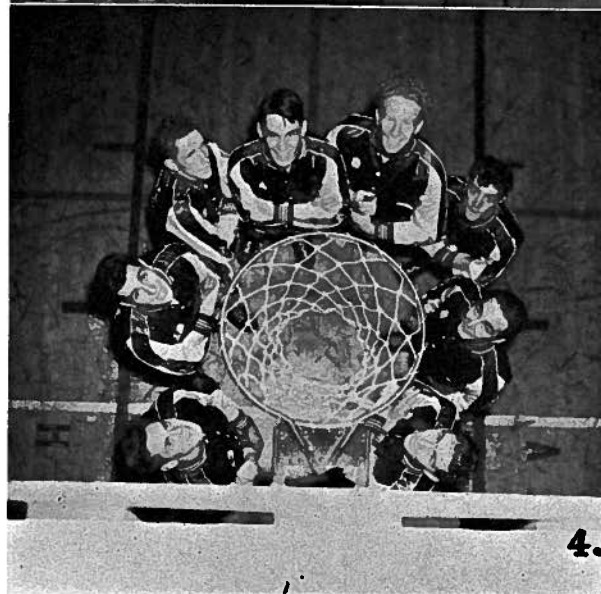

Two other contests were featured in their schedule, the Tribe travelling to Bellingham to play the return game against Western Washington's Vikings for their big brothers, the Thunderbirds. The second feature was a home tilt against Seattle College. The Chiefs won the first contest by a 50-43 count and the second game, 62-30.

Leading the team in scoring was hefty pivot-man, Herb Capozzi, followed by forwards Dave Campbell, Bob Haas and Pete McGeer.

UBC's youngest basketball team showed the others how to keep atop a league during the season, winning their first 12 games before losing three at the end.

However, the Blue and Gold squad ran into trouble in the playoffs as they absorbed defeat in the finals at the hands of Tookes.

After finishing atop their loop, the Inter B's went through their semi-final series, beating the Vancouver College squad 58-48 in the first game, losing by a 25-21 count in the second, and winding up with a 56-52 triumph.

Tookes took the edge in the finals with a 40-37 win in the opener, but Varsity squared the series by taking the Shirtmen 35-33 in the second contest. Finally, the title went to Tookes with a 27-26 score in the last tilt.

Long John Forsythe and Gordy Selman were the stars of the squad, Forsythe averaging better than 10 points per game.

Pat McGeer, Thunderbird cager, coached the outfit throughout the season. Players included Forsythe, Selman, Paul Plant, Bob Boyes, Les Matthews, Dave Barker, Ron Bray, Gordy Young, and Jim Costigan.

Senior B Basketball

Although overshadowed by the impressive records of the other five hoop squads on the campus, the Senior B basketball team went through a torrid season on the maple courts, only to lose out in the last few weeks of play.

With Coach Vic Pinchon moulding a green bunch of melon-tossers into a smooth-working quintet, the club got off to a successful start in the Fall, winning four of their first six games.

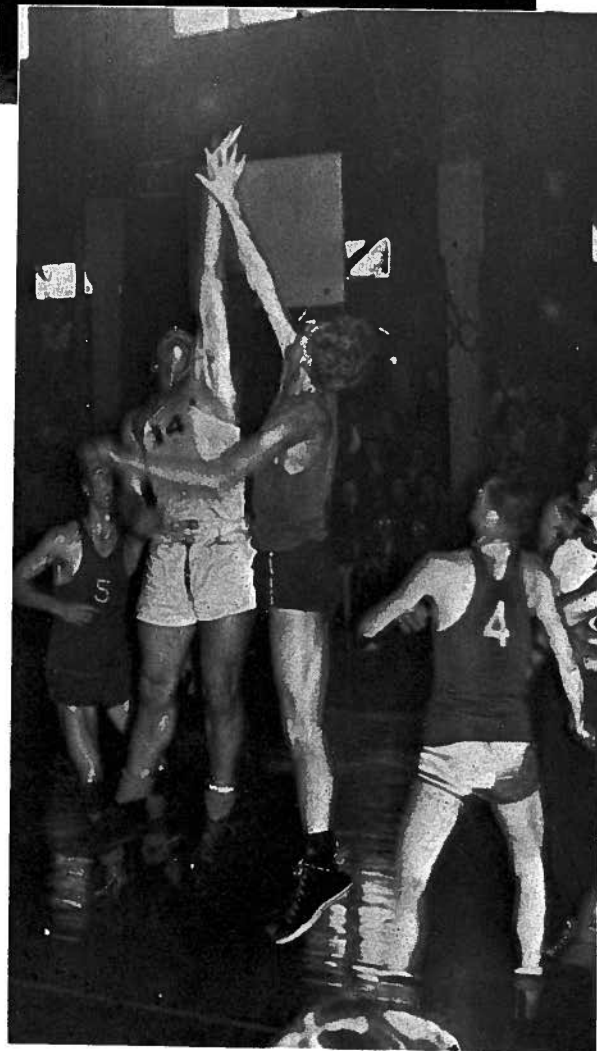

After Christmas, however, the others teams, Dowlings, B.C. Packers, and New Westminster, strengthened their rosters and outclassed the UBC Senior B's.

Although the Varsity Senior B's continued to play good basketball, they consistently lost their games by narrow margins, until the growing list of defeats finally got the better of the team, dumping them into the league cellar.

Leading the lineup were Ken Butchart, Bill Henderson, By Straight, Dave Hoskins, Don Holmes and John MacDowell. Other Senior B cagers were Bill Nelson, Bud Huyck, Ingie Edwards, Ches Pedersen, and Vic Vaughn.

Varsity's two Intermediate A entries in the Vancouver and District minor basketball leagues came through with flying colors in spite of the fact that neither won any championship.

Ending in a tie for the third spot in the league standings, both clubs lost out to superior outfits in the playoffs after a very successful season.

The Frosh team, coached by Doug Whittle, was slow starting, holding down sixth place at Christmas. They acquired Nev Munro when the spring term started, and the addition of this hoop star made the difference.

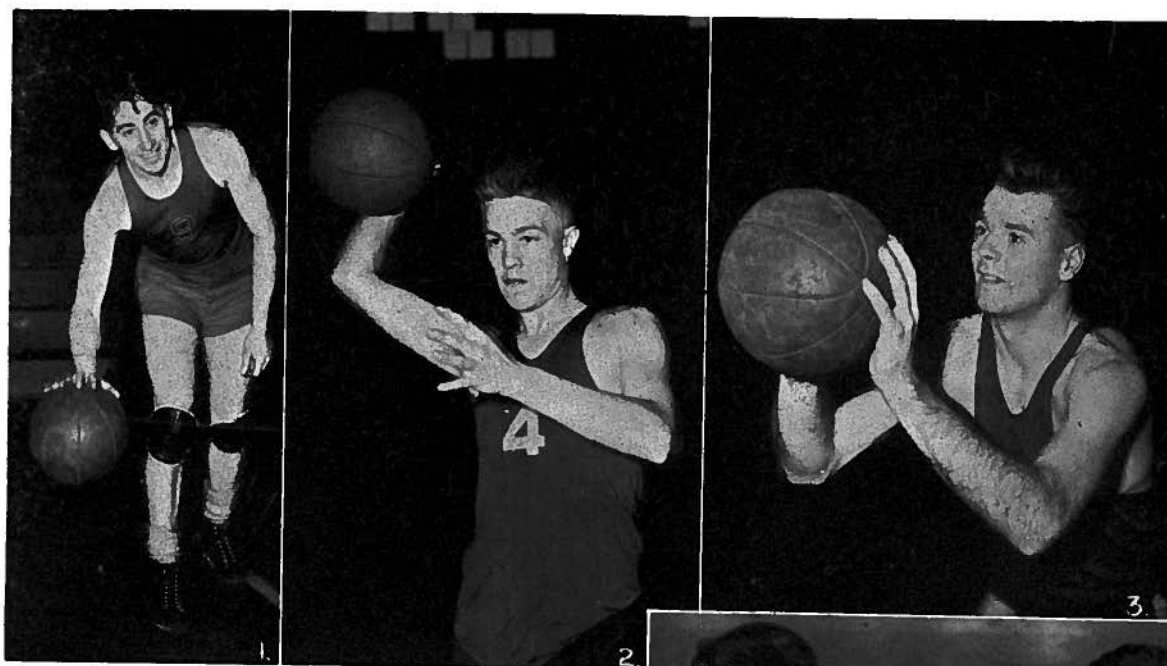

Playing the championship Farina squad in the semi-finals, they lost out by a narrow margin. The Freshmen took the opener, 39-35, but dropped the next two by scores of 39-37 and 40-38.

Cam McLeod took high scoring honors for the team. Dal Towne was captain and Al Taylor managed the club. Other members were Clair MacDonald, Dick Ostrosser, Roy McBride, Bob McKenzie, Eric McConachie, Don McKay, and Dave Saunders.

Meanwhile, the Inter A Sophs from Varsity, winning the playoff for third spot, went into the semi-finals against Arrows.

However, the second year hoopers didn't fare so well as their brother squad, for they lost the playoff in two straight games as the Transfemen took them by scores of 34-32 and 40-28.

Inter A Basketball

Coached by Pete McGeer, the Soph squad played consistently good ball throughout the season. Among the standouts on the team were Bill McLeod, John Anderson, and Reid Mitchell.

McLeod, the captain of the club, was presented with the Most Valuable Player Award by Wilf Moffat, commissioner of the Vancouver and District Minor Basketball Leagues.

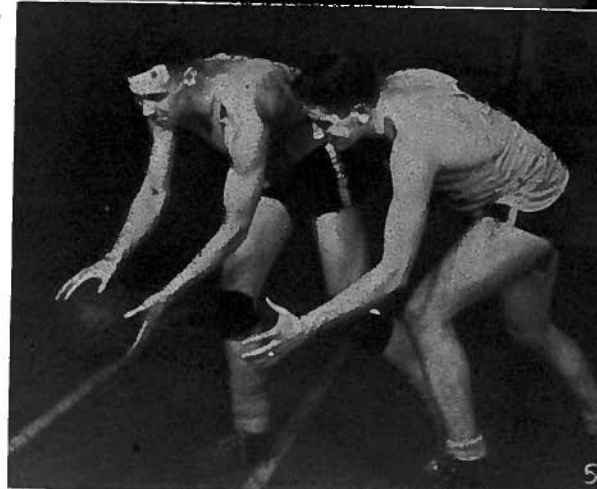

The team roster also included Ian Blake, Gordy Lade, Cliff Henderson, Lorne Swanson and Dave Hinds. John Hough looked after the managerial duties for the Sophs.

UBC re-entered competition for the Hardy Cup as the university grid experts got together, producing one of the finest teams ever to represent the Blue and Gold in very short order, and recapturing the prized trophy.

With Greg "Hardrock" Kabat taking over as coach, the Canadian football squad went through only two weeks' training before embarking on their invasion of the Universities of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

However, the lack of training and experience showed up on the trip east as the Thunderbird gridders lost both games on the Prairies.

Meeting the University of Alberta's Golden Bears on October 24 at Clarke Stadium in Edmonton, UBC absorbed a 12-0 defeat. A kick to the deadline in the first quarter, an unconverted touchdown in the second quarter, and a converted touchdow in the final period, accounted for Alberta's 12 points.

Scoring a touchdown in the first quarter of their game against the University of Saskatchewan, the Thunderbirds completely outplayed their opponents throughout the rest of the contest, but long kicking by Bob Shore resulted in a pair of rouges for the Huskies.

Then, with but four minutes remaining, Saskatchewan scored on a fluke touchdown as their end, Steve Molnar, picked up a loose ball and scampered across the UBC line to finish the score at 7-5.

But the Thunderbirds fared much better in their home series after two more weeks of practice. Finishing off the Hardy Cup series by meeting the Prairie winner, Alberta, twice in Vancouver, UBC showed a complete reversal of form.

Winning by a 19-3 score in the first game at Capilano Stadium on November 7, and 17-1 in the final tilt at Varsity Stadium on November 10, the 'Birds didn't allow the Golden Bears to score a single touchdown.

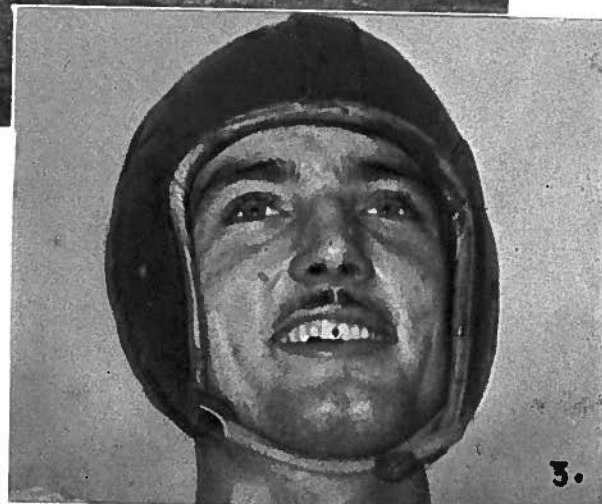

First string for UBC included Bert Horwood and Cliff Wyatt, ends; Alex Lamb and Herb Capozzi, tackles; Nate Kalenski and Dave Duncan, guards; Bill Macintosh, centre; John Tennant, blocking back; Rex Wilson, halfback; Reg Clarkson, tailback; Phil Guman, fullback; and Dmitri Goloubef, flanker.

Other Thunderbird gridders were Fred Joplin, Harry Mark, Bill Sainas, Don McKerricker, Les Strang, Paul Kitos, Pat Frith, Larry Pearson, Johnny Gray, Tony McLorg, Gus Carmichael, Archie Byers, and Ole Bakken.

Varsity's English rugby teams went through their second straight successful season as they recaptured three of the four major championships of the Province.

Of the four trophies that the rugger squads won last year, only the Rounsefel Cup will be missing.

Because of the increased enrolment due to returning servicemen, U.B.C. entered three teams in the Vancouver Rugby Football League instead of the usual two. The six-team circuit included Varsity, Varsity Vets, U.B.C., Meralomas, Vancouver Rowing Club, and Ex-Britannia.

In the Miller Cup race, Varsity lost only one game, that to the Vets in the annual Homecoming Game, to cop the silverware for the third straight year.

It was a three-way battle between Varsity, the Vets, and Meralomas right from the season's opener, and the championship wasn't decided until the final game of the schedule.

Following close behind the Varsity fifteen were the Vets who suffered but two defeats. U.B.C. wound up in fourth spot.

The Vets, composed entirely of ex-servicemen, added plenty of colour to the league, and certainly gave the other teams fine competition.

Although the Varsity Thunderbirds retained the highly-coveted McKechnie Cup, the best they could do was finish the series in a three-way tie for top spot with Vancouver Lions and Victoria Crimson Tide. As the trophy is a challenge cup, it is retained by the previous year's winner in the event of a tie.

Varsity got off to a fine start when they turned back the Crimson Tide by an 8-3 score in the first game of the series. Lloyd Williams opened the scoring for Varsity with a long penalty kick but the Victorians evened the count mid-way through the first half.

Captain Bud Spiers became a hero with only five minutes remaining in the game when he scored the winning try through a maze of players from the four-yard line. Williams converted to complete the scoring.

Going into their first struggle with the Lions as prime favorites, the 'Birds were taken by surprise as Vancouver romped to an 18-10 victory for the upset of the year.

The match was decided in the opening stanza as the Green and Gold scored two quick tries only 30 seconds apart at the thirty-five minute mark.

Although Varsity rallied in the dying moments of the game to score two converted tries, the first period deficit was too much and the 'Birds went down to their first defeat in six games.

Strengthening their lineup for the annual jaunt to Victoria, the Blue and Gold held the lead throughout most of the struggle before succumbing to defeat in the last few minutes of play. The final score was 12-8 in favor of Victoria.

At one time Varsity led by eight points via a try by veteran Johnny Wheeler and a penalty kick and convert from the toe of Don Nesbit. But the Tide surged steadily forward and finally took command of the game mid way through the last half to seriously dampen the Thunderbirds' chances to retain the cup.

However, Varsity came back strong and, led by their diminutive kicking star, Don Nesbit, eked out a close 11-8 victory over the Vancouver Lions in the final and deciding contest.

Besides kicking two penalty goals and a convert, Nesbit played an outstanding game on the wing and was indeed the star of the fixture. Varsity's only try was scored by Barney Curby.

Although the Thunderbirds' lineup changed many times during the season, their regular starting lineup included forwards Alex Carlyle, Tom McLaughlan, Barrie Morris, Joe Pegues, Hartt Crosby, Keith MacDonald, Harry Kabush, and Geoff Corry.

The starry backfield included Johnny Wheeler, Bud Spiers, Bob Croll, Don Nesbit, Maury Moyls, Andy Johnson, and Bill Dunbar.

Substitutes were Andy Fleck, Ray Grant, Harvey Allan, and Barney Curby.

Captains of the teams were Bud Spiers for both the Thunderbirds and the Vets, Nesbit for Varsity, and Harry Kabush for U.B.C. Much of the credit for this year's success goes to head coach Dan Doswell and his assistants, Roy Haines and Gordie Morrison.

The senior manager of rugby was Maury Physick and he was ably assisted by Fred Crombie and Mac Cameron who managed Varsity and the Vets respectively.

UBC Soccer Teams

U.B.C. entered two teams in the Vancouver and District Soccer League this year, Varsity, the senior team, in the "A" Division, and U.B.C., the junior team, in the "B" Division.

Both teams included many ex-servicemen in their lineups, as well as many freshmen, indicating that soccer has a healthy future in store on the campus.

The Varsity team had only two hold-overs from the previous season, Captain Don Petrie and Pat Campbell. Bob Wilson moved up from the U.B.C. squad, and Jack Rush, Frank Adams, Chuck Gudmundson, and Stu Todd all returned to the team after several years of war service.

U.B.C. had team captain Dave Bremner and Alex Jones from the previous season. The remaining players were freshmen either from the services or from the high schools.

Varsity again made a splendid showing in the Imperial Cup Ties, reaching the finals for the second straight year, only to lose out to Vancouver Uniteds.

The Goldshirts defeated South Burnaby, 3-2, in the first round, drew with U.B.C., 1-1, before knocking them out with a 3-1 victory in the replay, then ousted Collingwood, 3-2, in the third round. Vancouver Uniteds won by a 3-1 score in the finals.

The coaching job was taken over by Millar McGill, who graduated from U.B.C. in 1934 and played Coast League soccer. Organization of the teams was in the hands of Senior Manager

Track and Field

Trackmen start work in the spring, and so does this discus star who displays near-perfect Grecian form. Left: Ken McPherson breezes to an easy win in the 880.

UBC's Track Club became re-organized for the first time in several years this season, and after holding their intramural meet in the Varsity Stadium on April 6, selected a track team to represent UBC in the Pacific Northwest Inter-Collegiate Conference track meet in May.

With Bob Osborne, who specializes in track coaching, looking after the schedule, the club concentrated on developing runners in this, their first year of re-organization.

Many former high school stars came to the fore near the start of the year with the annual running of the Intramural Cross Country.

Winners of the road race were the Lambda Club, a group of ex-Lord Byng High School students, which was paced by Al Bain, who led the field from start to finish.

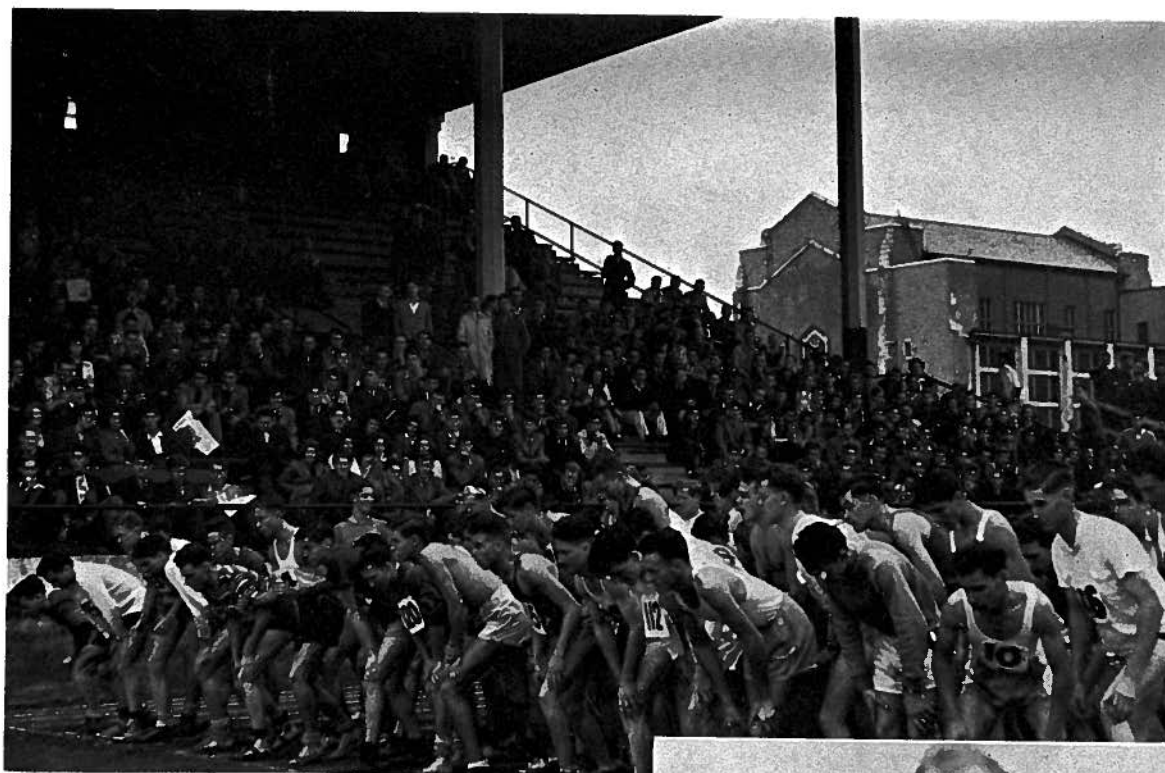

Bain covered the 2.6-mile course in 14 minutes, 2.4 seconds.

Jack Carlyle and Pat Minchon battled for second place in the stretch drive around the stadium track, the former taking the runner-up honors by a margin of .2 seconds.

Peter DeVooght, another freshman star with the Lambda outfit, placed in fourth spot with Doug Knott, Ace Williams and Bill Husband following him in that order.

The Cross Country Team, picked and coached

Cross Country

by Bob Osborne, again brought fame to UBC as they walked off with the Pacific Coast Cross Country Championship for the third straight year.

Paced by Al Bain, who placed second to the University of Idaho's Jack Anderson, the team ran in a group as has been their practice every year.

Jack Carlyle, Pat Minchon, and Doug Knott followed close on the heels of Bain in the third, fourth and fifth places respectively.

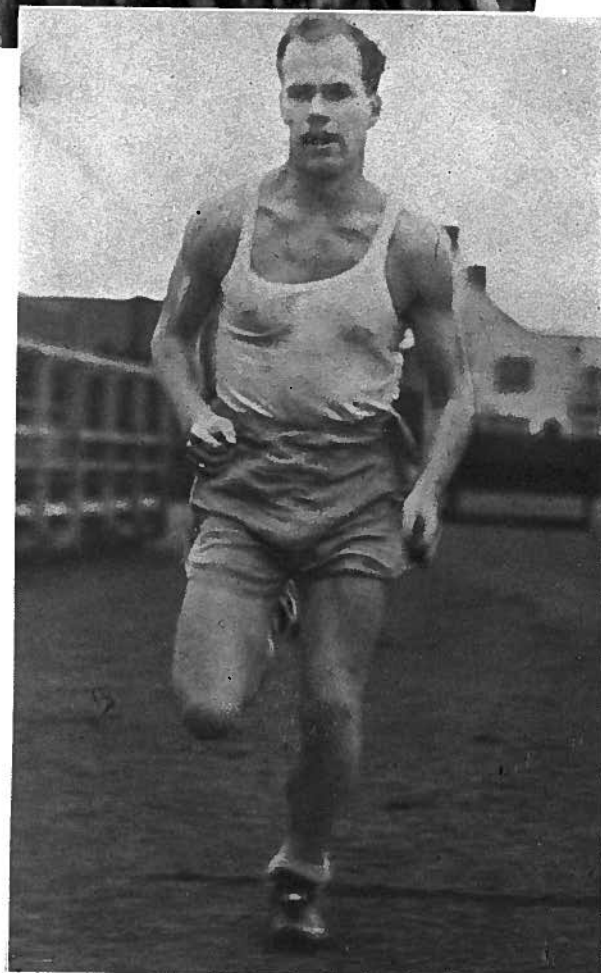

Ken McPerson placed 10th to finish off the UBC score at 24 points, a new record low total, three points less than the sum amassed by the 1944 team.

UBC's second team also ran well, taking fourth place and thus establishing this university as undisputed leaders in cross country competition.

University of Idaho placed second, followed by the University of Oregon's squad. The second UBC team included Al Pierce and Peter DeVought, another pair of freshmen who placed 12th and 13th respectively, and Ken McLeod and Bob Lane who took number 15 and 16 spots, and Bill Wood, placing 21st.

The two spares, Art Porter and Bob Ross, finished in the 25th and 30th spots respectively.

With most of the competitors freshmen and sophomores, the UBC Cross Country team expects to continue its successful exploits for many years to come.

Lining up with their numbers blowing in the breeze, cross country experts get set for the intramural event. Right: Stocky Al Bain crosses the line first, and also led the U.B.C. team to victory at Spokane.

Varsity's Thunderbird ice hockey sextet romped through a successful season of puck-chasing this year, entering the New Westminster industrial league, and pacing the other five teams throughout the year to cop the Twilight Hockey League trophy, symbol of supremacy in the Royal City loop.

At the conclusion of league play, the U.B.C. outfit entered the Intermediate playoffs, losing out in the semi-finals to the New Westminster Indians, winning the opener 4-2, but dropping the next two by scores of 10-0 and 7-3.

They concluded their season with an exhibition against Nanaimo's Junior Championship Clippers, losing by a 9-4 count but collecting some $200 for the War Memorial Gym fund.

UBC's Swimming Club

Varsity's Swimming Club was again organized to take its place in UBC's rapidly expanding sports circles this year. Swimming practices were held regularly twice every week at the Crystal Pool with consistently good turnouts.

Doug Whittle, newly acquired member of the Physical Education staff of the University, was the coach, and the officers were Chuck Bakony, President, Jim Marshall, Manager, Irene Berto, Secretary, and Kay Worsfold, Treasurer.

UBC's swimming teams participated in two feature meets during the year: the B.C. Championships and their own Swimming Gala which was instituted as an annual affair on February 2 at the Crystal Pool.

Although the Thunderbird team placed third in the B.C. meet, they gave the Victoria and Vancouver clubs some stiff competition.

As for their own meet, the ever-surprising Jokers' Club walked off with the Seaweed Crown in the intramural competition.

Leading the Varsity splashers were Lou Attrell, Dick Ellis, Jack Turner, Jim Hawthorn, Archie Byers, Don Morrison, Pete Townsend, Don Deans, Jim Marshall, Chick Turner and Bob Stangroom.

UBC's school of mermaids included Irene Berto, Kay Worsfold, Pat Gardiner, Gwen Avery, Elaine Twilley, and Rosemary Bell-Irving.

Although both of these hoop clubs played consistently good ball, neither of them managed to take any honors in their respective leagues.

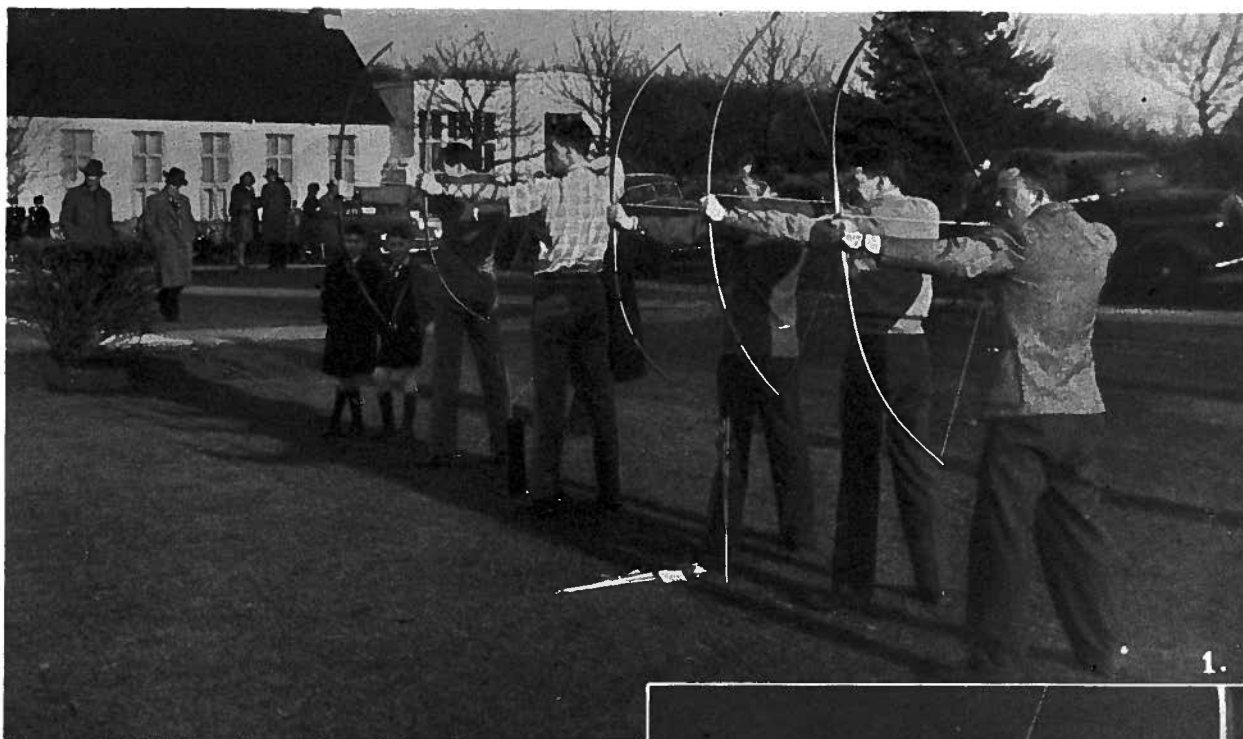

Audrey McKim captained the Senior B squad and Jacque Sherman led the Inter A's.

Trips included jaunts to Seattle and Port Alberni, the Senior B's meeting the Skyroom Skylarks and losing by one point, 33-32, in Seattle, while the Inter A's travelled to Port Alberni to play the champion Vancouver Island team.

The same Port Alberni outfit came to Varsity earlier in the season to play the Senior squad, the Blue and Gold five taking a 28-20 victory.

Among the star point-getters on the hoop clubs were Audrey McKim, Senior B captain, Norah McDermott, Pat MacIntosh and Phoebe Manley. Jacque Sherman and Carol Lewis paced the Intermediate team scorers.

UBC's Archery Club

Archery made its first steps towards a full-fledged sport on the campus during the year in spite of lack of equipment. With the help of the Women's Athletic Directorate, the UBC Archery Club was formed in the Fall, and although equipment was scarce until a shipment arrived from Alberta in February, the organization got off to a healthy start.

The club had a membership of 32 enthusiastic would-be Robin Hoods, including a dozen girls who gave the men some stiff competition, not to mention a few lessons on form.

Aside from the Archery Club, the bow and arrow sport gained in popularity on the curriculum of the women's physical education program. Under the instruction of Miss Isabel Clay and Mrs. Jean Sleightholme, some 300 co-eds learned the art of archery.

In October, an inter-collegiate team was organized and sponsored by the W.A.D. This team of eight co-ed archers competed in the annual Canadian University Telegraphic Archery Tournament to represent UBC for the first time in three years and win the title.

Grass Hockey

Varsity's women grass hockey enthusiasts fielded three teams in the Women's Lower Mainland and District Grass Hockey League this year, and all three of the squads are doing well this season.

Defending their title, the Varsity outfit is battling with a powerful Ex-Kits team for top spot in the league, while the other two Blue and Gold elevens are close behind.

Varsity and U.B.C. both travelled to Victoria in the feature grass hockey trip of the year, the first team managing to defeat Oak Bay High School's aggregation by a 2-0 score, while the U.B.C. club absorbed a 1-0 defeat at the hands of Victoria College's girls.

Coaches of the teams were Dr. Black and Isabel Clay, and the captains, Kay Hedelaye of Varsity, Yvonne French of U.B.C., and Norah McDermott of the third team, the Collegiates.

Outstanding goal-getters for the campus girls this season were Kay Hedelaye, Pat McIntosh and Isabel MacKinnon, while Jenny Rodenchuck and Irene Pierce starred on defence. Cherry Hooper, former R.C.A.F. player with the Pat Bay team, played goal most of the season.

Men's Grass Hockey

Though Grass Hockey was one of the first victims of the war, its return to the campus this year was as prompt as it was welcome. With increased enrollment at the University, little difficulty was met in forming two teams, Varsity and UBC, and with the competition provided by those two well known Vancouver squads, the Oldtimers and the East Indians, a city hockey league was quickly instituted.

From the mixed group of players at the beginning of the term, two separate squads were picked to represent the University. One, the Varsity team, under the direction of Don Currie, succeeded in taking first place in the league this year.

Varsity stalwart Norm Tupper led the league in scoring with eight goals. Varsity's line-up: Eric Greenius, Jim Files, Arnold Greenius, Don Grieve, Joe Piercy, Bob Riddell, Amos Eddy, Norm Tupper, Don Currie, Ned Larsen, and Tony Canic.

UBC's line-up: Herb Gasperdone, Fred Joplin, Joe Augustus, Allen Meavis, Elmer Cheng, Les Bullen, Bob Ross, Tom Wilkinson, Art Hill, Denny Bullen, Dick Massy, Stefan Arnason, Jim Taylor and M. Macdonald.

Golf enjoyed one of the best years in U.B.C.'s history this year. More competitions, both individual as well as team play, were sponsored by the U.B.C. Golf Club than ever before.

The first outstanding event was the Golf Club Championship, which was won by Bob Plommer, with Dick Hanley taking runner-up honors.

In February, the University Open Championships began with Malcolm Tapp winning the qualifying round with a crisp 76.

March saw the Varsity golf team in action for the first time. After a sound beating from Quilchena's experts, the team, which included Dick Hanley, Bob Plommer, Dave Dale, Ormie Hall, Malcolm Tapp, and Hans Swinton, played an exhibition against Vancouver's top six pros.

Although the student divoters lost out, they played heads-up golf which had the pros scared, and they raised another $20 for the U.B.C. War Memorial Gym Fund.

A tour of the Pacific Coast Universities will wind up this year's schedule for the golfers.

Jack Collum, who was largely responsible for reorganizing the club this year, and the retiring President, Howie Fry, who managed the affairs of the rapidly expanding outfit, were outstanding in their work during the year.

Rowing

Frustrated effort marked this session's rowing year for U.B.C.'s two sculling eights. Although Coach Hale Atkinson turned out two well trained teams, efforts to arrange meets met with no response.

With Washington unable to boat a crew, Oregon's club house washed downriver, Victoria's shells leased to the Navy, and Vancouver Club scullers still not organized after the war, the Blue and Gold oarsmen had to content themselves with a Henley mile-and-a-quarter race against themselves.

A meet with Kelowna near the end of July and a regatta with Vancouver Club's fours in the forthcoming Jubilee celebration will give the scullers a little recompense for their wintry bouts.

Training started last September, fledgling oarsmen receiving instruction in 16-oared barges, and continued after Christmas when the heavy and lightweight crews turned out together for the expected inter-collegiate competition.

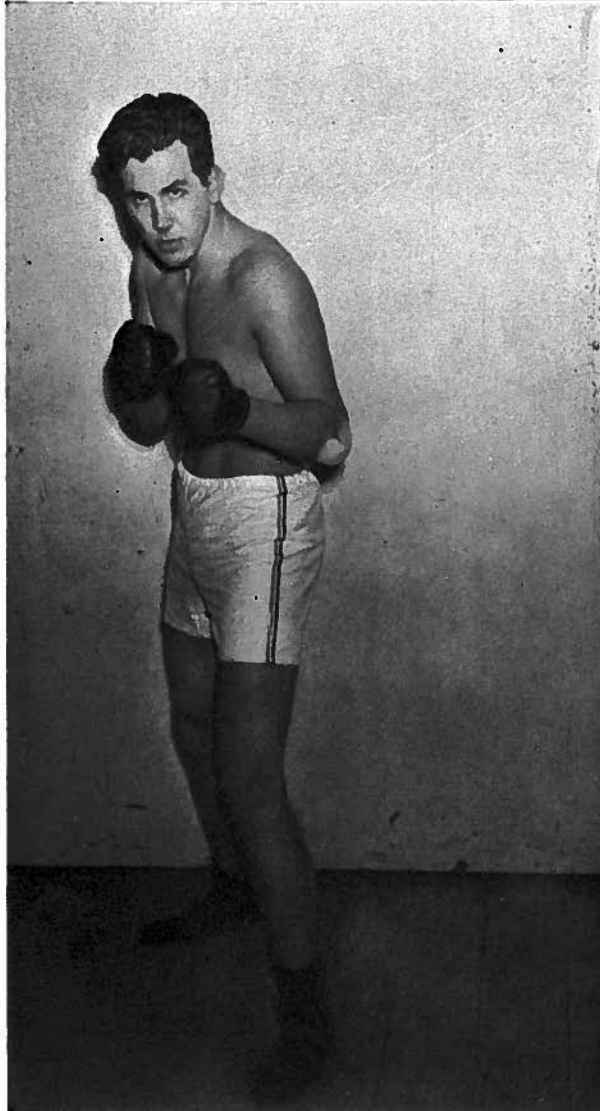

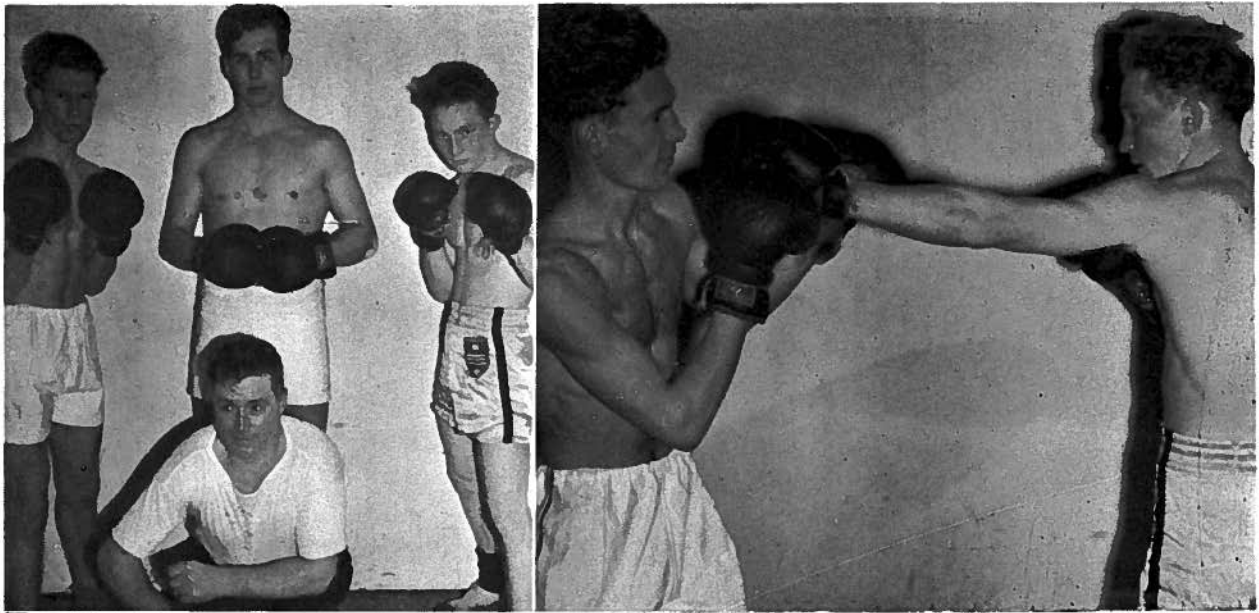

Line-up for the "eight" included: Heavies—Dave Moon, Johnny and Dyne Kayl, Neve Smith, Mike Fitz-James; Norm Denkman Club President, and Harry Castillou, Crew Captain, with Johnny MacDougall as Coxswain.

Lightweight—Tommy Neumarch, Al Frazee, Don MacLeod, Cam Wilkinson, Johnny Moran, Norm Sawyers, Eric Hojarth, and Bill Reid. George Lee sat in the stern.

UBC Boxing Club

Below: Phil Olsen in a fighting pose.

UBC's hard-working Boxing Club had only one chance to display their wares during the year, but they proved themselves champions when they walked away with the hearts of Vancouver's fight fans in the Vancouver Golden Gloves on February 14-15.

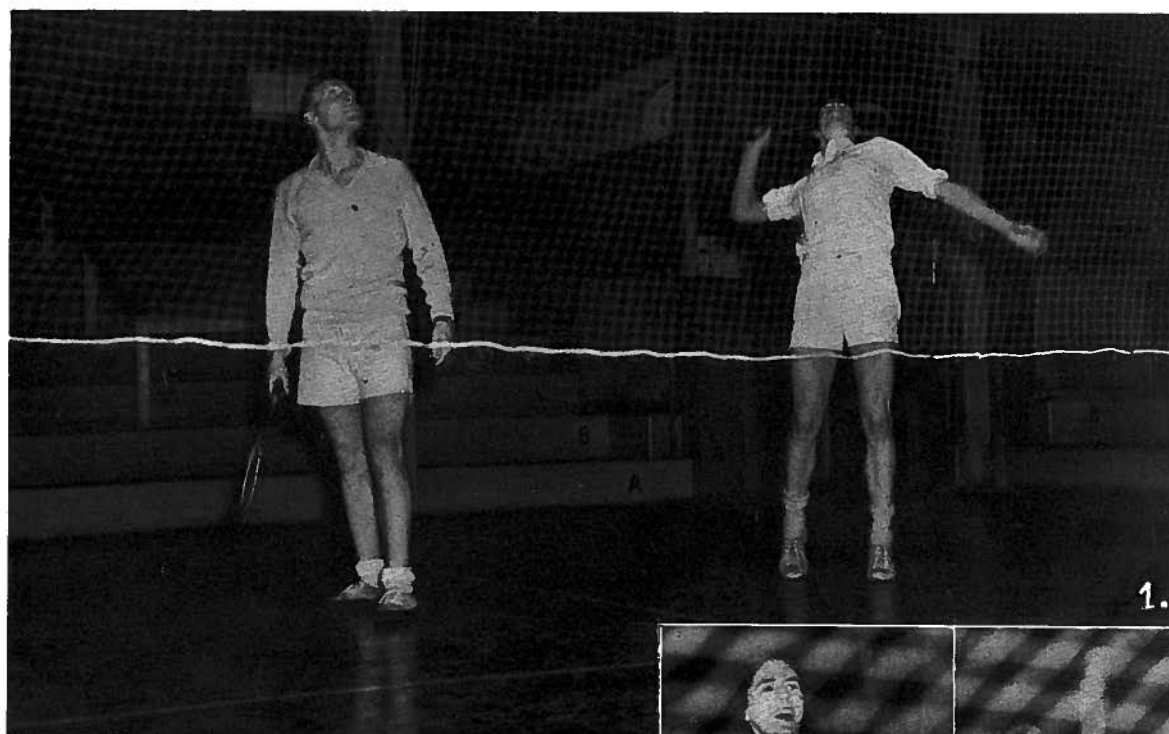

Trained by Johnny Owen and coached by Hec MacDonald, the trio of pugilists, which included Art Beaumont, Walter Gray and Phil Olsen, showed well against the tough competition in spite of the fact that Beaumont was the only one to take a title.

Fighting in the novice middleweight class, Beaumont won a clear decision over Reg Simpson of the Eagletime Club in his first battle, and was robbed of a knockout by the final bell.

Meanwhile, Walt Gray scored a technical knockout in his first round contest against Jack MacDonald of Ocean Falls in the novice lightweight division, and Phil Olsen decisioned Eric Smith of the Wallaces Club in the semi-finals for the heavyweight title.

These three victories went to make the first night a great success for the UBC boxers, but Olsen and Gray lost out by close decisions in their finals on the second night.

Badminton Club

Varsity's Badminton Club, boasting an all-time high membership of 80 active members, enjoyed one of its most successful seasons this year, taking over the gym and the armoury every Thursday night and Saturday afternoon.

From the top players, a university team of eight was formed which participated in the top city league division, competing with Vancouver, Hill, and Quilchena Clubs.

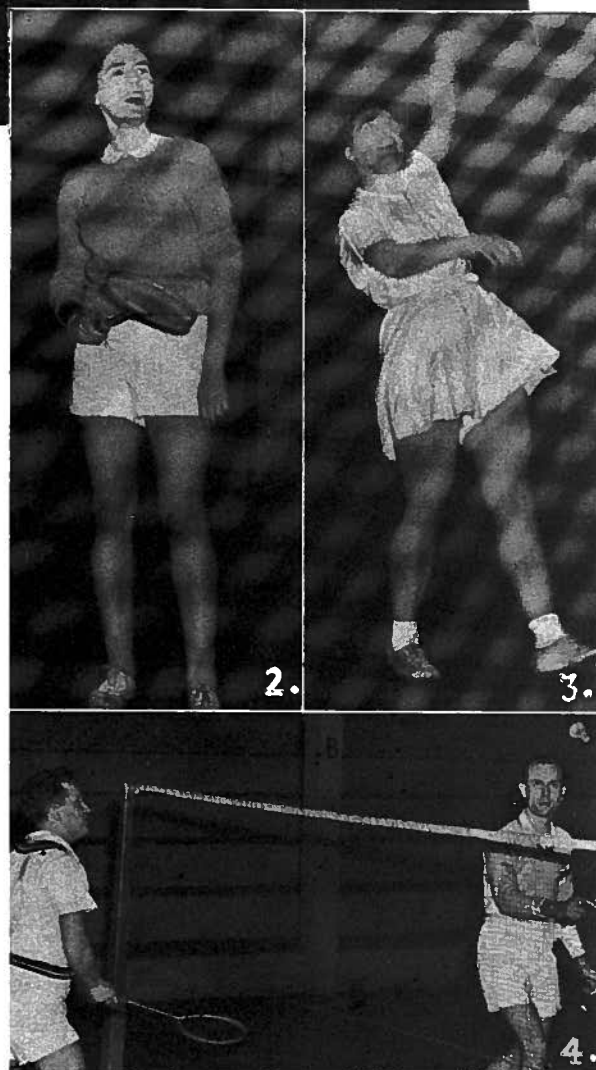

Lois Reid, Nancy Raine, Barbara Twizzell, Audrey Crease, Jim Watt, Ken Meredith, Darryl Thompson, and Murray Creighton were the steady members of the squad of shuttle-swatters.

This team also took part in the Vancouver Invitational Tournament, February 28, March 1-2, held at the Vancouver Badminton Club. Proceeds from the semi-finals went to the UBC War Memorial Gymnasium Fund.

Both of Varsity's men's doubles teams made the semi-finals against the top-seeded teams of Johnny Samis, Jack Underhill, Jim Forsythe, and Stan Hayden, extending them to three close games in both cases.

The team also took in the Washington State Open Championships at Seattle, March 22-23-24. Jim Watt and Ken Meredith had more success here, taking the men's doubles title.

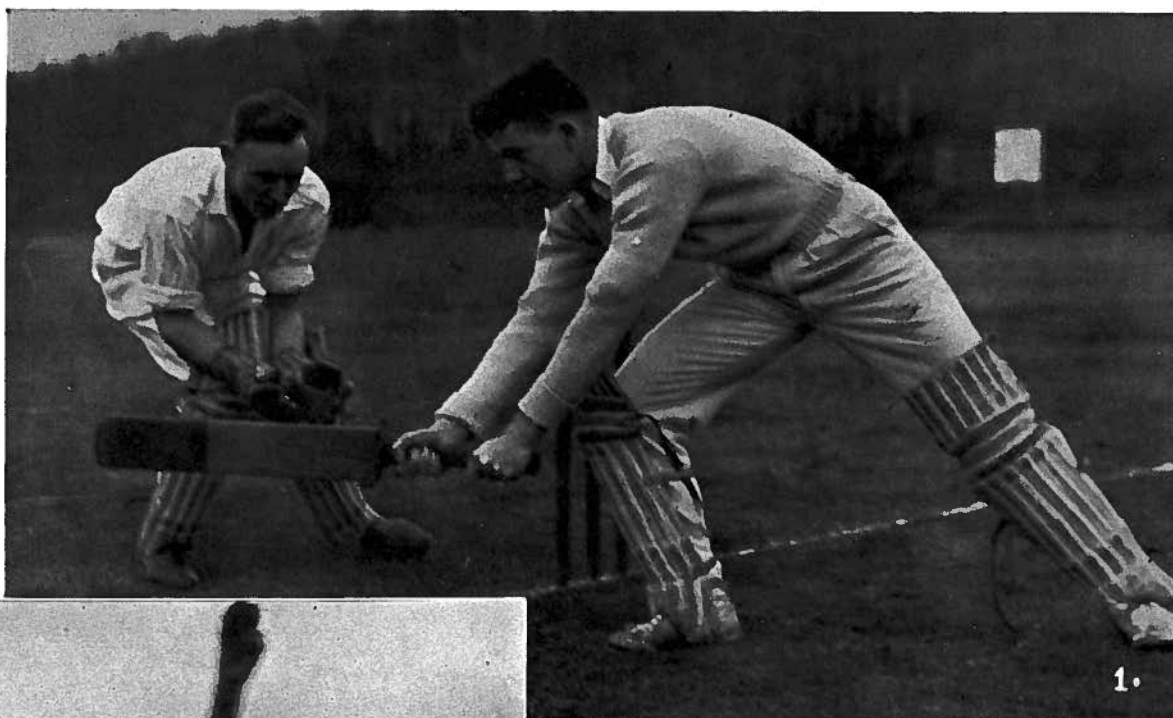

President of the club for the year was Don Outram, supported by Secretary-Treasurer Nancy Raine, and Team Manager Phil Heaps.

UBC Cricket Club

1. Wicket keeper Dick Massy snatches the ball as Ned Larsen swings and misses; 2. Dennis Bullen bowls one over; 3. Well caught, sir.

UBC entered only one team in the Mainland Cricket League during the summer of 1945, and the loop included seven other teams. Although the Varsity eleven reached the top of the standings several times during the summer, the Brockton Point squad won the league after two complete rounds of play.

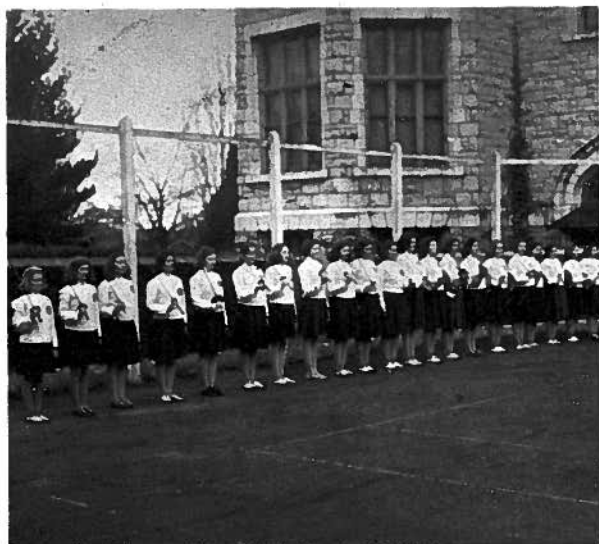

Continuing through another round, the UBC team bowed out again as the Brockton Pointers walked off with both the Fyfe-Smith and the Gardner-Johnson trophies.

Since it was impossible to field a complete undergraduate roster, several graduates and faculty members joined the eleven during the season. Aided by Dr. Warren, Frank Turner, Jim Brandon and Charlie Pillar, Varsity led the league throughout the first round.

It was mainly because of lack of players that the UBC outfit dropped off and finished in fourth place.

Captain of the team was Jim Beard, who became President of the UBC Cricket Club last Fall. His Secretary-Treasurer was Dick Massy, and during the winter months they have trained and equipped two full teams for this summer's play.

UBC Fencing Club

Fencing became one of the most popular sports on the campus almost overnight, this year, as a UBC Fencing Club was brought to life. Following the lead set by this organization, the Physical Education program was expanded to include the chivalrous activity also.

With fencing master Hale Atkenson taking over the coaching duties both of the club and of the special physical education classes, the sport gained rapidly in favor and popularity with the UBC students.

Steve Howlett, President of the Fencing Club, organized regular classes for his organization. They took over the new gym room in the UBC Stadium for regular meetings every Tuesday and Thursday at noon, and Wednesday afternoons as well.

Physical education fencing classes weren't limited to the male students. As a matter of fact, there were more classes for the girls than there were for the men.

Altogether, the classes took up some eight hours per week, and they were held either in the Stadium Gym or in the Armoury.

The UBC Fencing Club staged several displays during the year, including an exhibition match against The Blades Club between halves of a Whitman College - UBC basketball game on January 26.

The student fencers also played a large part in the Physical Education Display at UBC Gym on April 5.

Ski and Outdoor Club

Supported by enthusiastic memberships, the Varsity Outdoor and Ski Clubs produced one of the most successful ski seasons ever recorded here at UBC.

Both clubs offered many events for the outdoor enthusiasts, including inter-collegiate ski meets for the first time in many years.

The Outdoor Club boasted more than 180 members, and as a result, the Vee-O-Cee Cabin and Schuss Inn were crowded every week-end and during Christmas holidays.

Competitive skiing, which was handled by Thunderbird Ski Captain Sandy Martin, took over the first weekend in January with downhill and slalom trials on Grouse Mountain.

From the results of these, the ski team was picked, and this group represented UBC in all local meets as well as the Western Canada Championships at Princeton, B.C., and inter-collegiate meets with the University of Washington both at Mount Baker and at Martin's Pass.

Peter Vadjia, outstanding Vancouver ski expert, was obtained in February to take over the coaching duties of both the Ski Club and the Outdoor Club. The success of this move indicates that skiing may well be included in the physical education curriculum in the not too distant future.

Among the greater ventures of the Outdoor Club were the conquest of such peaks as Garibaldi, Mamquam, and Mount Panther.

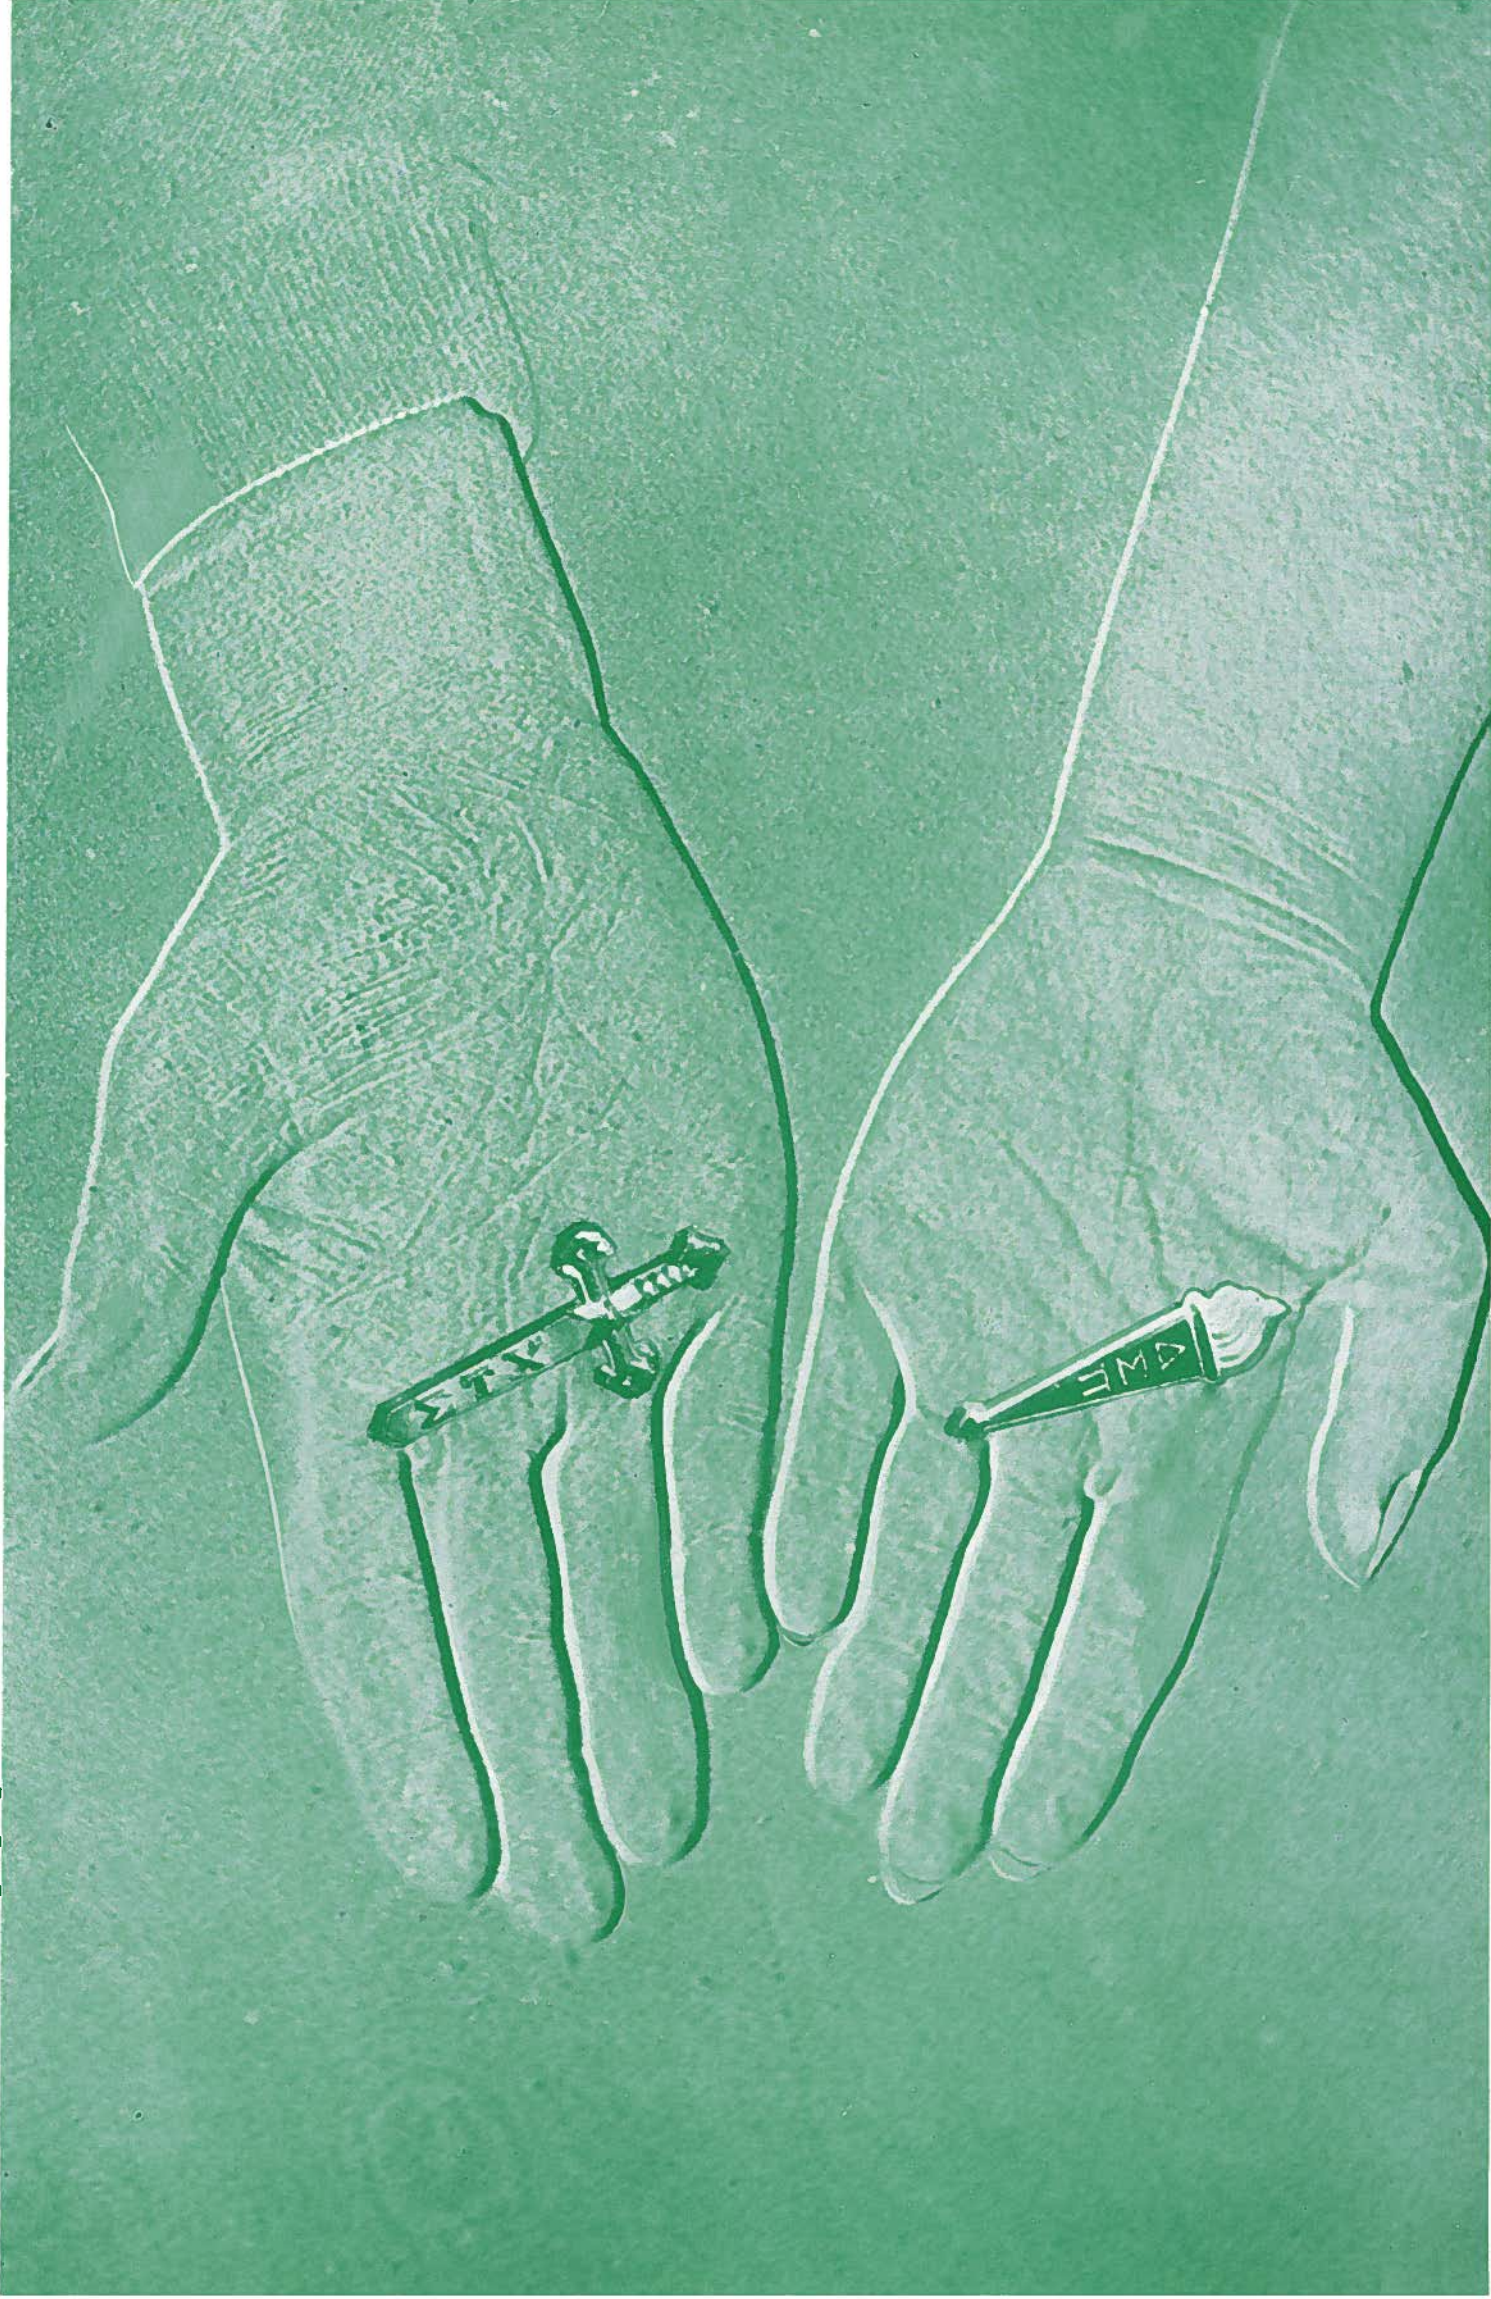

Top of the world; Final instructions; Let it snow; Nick and Millie admire Garibaldi; Bewell pulls one in; Back view; Cookie comes down the hard way; President Roots in fine form; Oh, the wild joys of living!; Excelsior!; Going down.

Pan-Hellenic Society

Edith Katznelson, Phyllis Grant, Annette Campbell

Working in close co-operation with the Inter-Fraternity Council, the Pan Hellenic Council sponsored many activities during the past year.

Beginning the fall session with the hectic month of rushing, the Council directed its efforts towards the regulation of various Sorority activities, including Red Cross work, its major activity. All pledges were required either to knit or to sew, while the senior member's work was on a voluntary basis. Completing the Council's pre-Christmas schedule, was the inter-sorority bridge tournament.

This term the Mardi Gras occupied the position of major importance. The War Memorial Gymnasium drive, too, received vigorous support. In this connection, each sorority operated a stall in the Armory for the Visitors' Day Carnival. The Song Fest, the bowling league, and the annual Pan Hell banquet completed an energetic year.

Phyllis Grant, Delta Gamma, presided over the Council during the Fall term. Her position will be taken by Roma McDonald, Alpha Phi, next year. Annette Campbell served as Secretary, while Edith Katznelson was Treasurer.

In the Spring term, both Phyl Grant and Roma McDonald went to Pan-Hellenic Conference at Whitman College in Washington. The ideas gained from that gathering were presented to the sororities in the Annual Spring Workshop in March.

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the organization elected from the twelve fraternities to coordinate fraternity campus activities and to regulate rushing and bidding of new men. The council is composed of a Faculty representative, three Executive members, and two members from each Fraternity.

With the aid of the Pan-Hellenic Association, the council set up a committee, headed by Don Newson, and Audrey Buchanan, which arranged for the annual Greek Letter Societies' Ball, the "Mardi Gras". The proceeds, $6200, were divided between the Red Cross and the I.S.S. The council lent its full support in boosting the War Memorial Drive morally and financially. Proceeds from the annual Song Festival, sponsored by them, were devoted to this cause.

This year the council revived the annual pre-war Inter-Fraternity Smoker, making possible a get-together for all campus Greeks.

The present rushing system was thoroughly investigated this year, and some definite changes in policy are imminent.

Jack Burgess, Ken Broe, Chas Pederson

The current Executive includes: Ken Broe, President; Jack Burgess, Vice-President; Chas. Pederson, Secretary-Treasurer; Faculty Representative, Dr. J. Allen Harris.

Phrateres

Co-eds who come to U.B.C. for the first time miss something if they do not join Phrateres. Ask any member and see if she doesn't agree. To most Freshettes, Phrateres, and its motto—"Famous for Friendliness"—are synonymous with FUN. And this year was no exception!

After a short pledge term in the Fall, the largest group of women in the history of the University were pledged into the twelve sub-chapters of Phrateres. Each chapter held its own ceremony at the home of one of their members with members of Phrateres executive and chapter sponsors as guests.

November 9 was a highlight in the life of Phraterians, when the annual Autumn Waltz-time formal was held in the Brock. The last month of the Winter term was spent on sub-chapter efforts for Christmas charity. Various charitable organizations throughout the city benefited from gifts of toys, food and money.

Candlelight and the soft strains of "To the blue and the gold of Phrateres," created the atmosphere for the formal January initiation held in the Brock. Almost three hundred new members were welcomed into Phrateres by President Pat Mayne, Honorary President Dean M. Dorothy Mawdsley, Faculty Representative Dr. Dorothy Blakey Smith, and W.U.S. President Nancy Pitman. Beta Chapter at the University of Washington was represented by four members of their executive.

With the announcement of the War Memorial Gym drive, Phraterians threw themselves wholeheartedly into the campaign, assisted Joker members with their crazy stunts, ran a refreshment booth at the Open House Carnival and served as guides to the many visitors on that day.

Proceeds from the Spring Formal held in the Brock on March 1, were also donated to the Gym Fund. Theme of this dance was P2B2. . . . President of Phrateres Birthday Ball, in honor of Pat's twenty-first birthday.

This year's hard worked executive consisted of Pat Mayne, President; Audrey Jutte, Vice-President; Nancy Macdonald, Treasurer; Betty Scott, Recording Secretary; Ruth Hardy, Corresponding Secretary; and Nancy MacLaren, Sub-Chapter Chairman. Dean M. Dorothy Mawdsley acted as Honorary President and Dr. Joyce Hallamore as Honorary Vice-President.

1. That Ellis is a card; 2. Convert, oker style; 3. Joker cerem onial; 4. Unbalanced line play; 5. We love our goldfish.

Jokers

1. No, this is not a freak show; 2. A fugitive from Sing Sing; 3. What am I bid?; 4. Dave and the crowd; 5. Two Jokers teeling off; 6. Some UBC "morons" get caught; 7. Hidden plays at half time.

Coming from a nonentity to gain a notoriety second to no other organization at U.B.C., the Jokers' Club have taken upon themselves the job of returning a post-war brand of Varsity spirit to a formerly war-weary campus.

The club really came into their own when the War Memorial Gymnasium drive gave them unlimited opportunity to perform their stunts, making goldfish swallowing, egg throwing, lily-pond swimming, freak auctions, comic songs and snake parades common on the campus. So active did the club become that it had to split into five "decks"—Green, Mauve, Black, Blue and Royal—in order to keep the club organized and let everyone in on the fun.

Legion

1. President Tony Greer; 2. The presentation of the Charter; 3. A Legion party; 4. Dr. Mackenzie addresses the vets; 5. Grant Livingstone, Second Vice-President; 6. Fun at the Legion mixer.

Early in October, 1000 ex-service University students attended a meeting of the Canadian Legion, University Branch. From these, over 600 men and women joined what has become the most important instrument for dealing with the problems of veterans on the campus.

Shortly after, Tony Greer, John MacKenzie and Perry Miller attended a national conference in Montreal which discussed cost of living, housing, general problems and employment.

Band

1. A lot of brass; 2. Fortissimo; 3. Johnny and Arthur; 4. Close harmony at rehearsal; 5. At the Home Ec. ball.

Everyone loves a parade, and the nucleus of any parade is the cymbal crashing, flute-playing, spirit-raising band. This reason alone would guarantee the popularity of the Varsity Band at any function. Add to this their musical ability and spirit and you get the picture of an organization that instills enthusiasm into any affair at which they present their music.

Under the direction of Arthur W. Delamont, the thirty-nine men and a girl practise every Friday noon in the Brock.

Much of the enthusiasm of the band came from the Executive, which included John Bayfield, President; Ken Grant, Vice-President; and Reg. Anderson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Film Society

Gwynn Holtby, Harry Nicholson,
Norman Barton, Lou Henderson, Tommy Klopp.

Education of the public by films has been the object of the Film Society this year. To facilitate this aim, the society has shown films of an educational and general interest each Wednesday at noon hour, in the Auditorium.

After Christmas full length feature pictures were shown for the benefit of those students living on the campus.

As well as education of the public, the society took care of its own education by sponsoring a series of talks on the fields of movie camera operations and the taking of films.

The executive this year was Norman Barton, Honorary President; Harry Nickolson, President; Clarence Henderson, Vice-President; Tom Klopp, Secretary-Treasurer; Gwynn Holtby, Publicity

Newman Club

Leo Leavy, M. Francis, Aline Ralston, Herb Capozzi, Jack Leavy.

The membership of the Newman Club is composed of members of the Catholic faith. Throughout the year the members carry out a three-fold programme, consisting of the promotion of religious, cultural and social activities.

This year meetings were held twice a month. Guest speakers were invited to address the club at these meetings. Discussion meetings were also held. Several social meetings at the homes of members were featured throughout the year.

The executive this year consists of Leo and Jack Leavy, co-Presidents; Marguerite Byrnes, Vice-President; Alene Roulston, Recording Secretary; Dave Francis, Secretary; and Herbert Capozzi, Treasurer.

Biological Discussions Club

Norman Wright, Art Waldie, Joan Anderson, Don Alderdice.

The Biological Discussion Club was organized to stimulate interest among students in the fields of biological science, and to give the members training in the preparation and presentation of papers of a scientific nature.

The members, both graduates and undergraduates, sponsor a series of lectures.

Another interesting meeting was "Observation night". Field trips were made to the Frasea Dairy Farms and the Western Peat Company.

The executive was Professor G. J. Spencer, honorary president; Art Waldie, president; Norm Wright, vice-president; Joan Anderson, secretary-treasurer; and Don Alderdice, curator.

Dawson Club

John Fyles, Bob Seraphim, Fred Rutquist, John Wheeler.

The G. M. Dawson Club comprises fourth and fifth year Metallurgical and Geological Engineers and Arts students who are taking required geology courses.

This year's meeting were held weekly. Here each member gave a talk on topics related to various branches of metallurgy and geology.

Meetings were held monthly to provide opportunity for speeches from members of the Faculty and from practising engineers.

These meetings were followed by a discussion and a social evening.

This year's executive was Bob Seraphim, President; Fred Rutquist, Vice-President; John Fyles, Secretary-Treasurer; and John Wheeler, fourth year representative.

University Symphonic Club

Tom Mallinson, Jean Thompson, Steve Howlett.

The University Symphonic Club was organized last year to foster an interest in classical music among the students on this campus.

The club presented three concerts each week throughout this year. The programs were chosen from a survey taken among members as to the music they enjoy most.

The club secured a reduced rate for students attending the Vancouver symphonies.

The Societys' programmes were open to all students interested. The club endeavors to fill the gap left by a non-existent Department of Music at the University.

The executive this year consisted of Steve Howlett, President; Jean Thompson, Secretary-Treasurer; and Programme Director, Tom Mallinson.

Menorah Society

Rochelle Epstein, Harriet Hochman,
Rae Pastinsky, Al Schulbaum, Florence Brody,
Lex Hyman, Reta Weinstein, Art
Goldberg.

The Menorah Society is an international organization open to all University students of the Jewish faith. The primary purpose of the Club is to act as official spokesman of the Jewish men and women.

This year Menorah has held open meetings which were addressed by such prominent speakers as Mr. Saul Hayes, who attended the San Francisco and UNRRA conferences.

The club sponsored bowling and skating parties, social, musicals and discussions groups during the year.

Members of the executive were Arthur Goldberg, President; Harriet Hochman, Vice-President; Rochelle Epstein, Secretary; and Rae Pastinsky, Treasurer.

Forestry Club

Dave Bakewell, Tommp Thomphon, Al. Webster, Harry Castillou.

The promotion of, and interest in forestry is the object of the members of the Forestry Club. They also strive to establish a closer contact between students and outside interests in forestry.

During the year, lectures were given to the students by prominent members of the lumbering industry, forestry profession, and the faculty. Members also offered papers to the club.

The club published the "Forestry Club News Letter" which contains addresses and general information of graduates of recent years. The executive consists of J. Liersch, Honorary President; D. Bakewell, President; A. Webster, Vice-President; S. Korsch, Acting Secretary; T. Thomson, Treasurer, and H. Castillou, Publicity Manager.

Chinese Club

Gilbert Wong, Elsie Wong, Vivien Wong, Man Chum.

The Chinese Students' Club is organized to promote friendly relations among Chinese students. It also aims to promote international good-will between it and other campus organizations. All Chinese students automatically become members upon entering the University.

The club promotes discussion groups and holds a series of social evenings throughout the year.

At the beginning of the year the club welcomed its new members with a private Froash reception.

The club also sponsored a Christmas party and an open dance in the Spring.

This year the Executive consisted of: Gilbert Wong, President; Vivian Wong, Vice-President; Elsie Wong, Secretary; Mun Lum, Treasurer; and Dick Chow, Social Convener.

Women's Public Speaking Club

Marguerite Byrnes, Hazel Greenwood, Helen Kitos.

Poise and personality in speaking is the purpose for which the Women's Public Speaking Club was organized.

Much support was given to the club this year by outside critics, who were invited by the club to hear these speeches. These critics offered their opinions to help the speakers improve.

In the spring term the agenda was varied with a series of guest speakers. A special course by a dramatic coach in the mechanics of speech and voice was also given.

Social meetings were held each term.

The executive consists of Dean Dorothy Mawdsley, Honorary President; Marguerite Byrnes, President; Hazel Greenwood, Vice-President; and Helen Kitos, Secretary.

Chess Club

M. Rothstein, J. Hammerslag, Chuck Dowding.

From the beginning of our historical world, the game of chess has been played by all peoples.

As University students, the members of the club find that the endless numbers of combinations of plays, the unlimited possibilities in planning and concentration which chess offers has for them a special appeal.

The club activities include organized tournaments both on the campus and with outside clubs. The older members also give tuition to the novices of the game. Any week members may be seen playing individual challenge games in the Brock.

The executive this year was Chuck Dowding, President; Julius Hammerslag, Secretary; and Morton Rothstein, Treasurer.

Letters Club

Sheila Davy, Peter Ajello.

The Letters Club, the oldest discussion club on the campus, has as its purpose the study of literature as a joy.

The club meets twice a month to discuss the works of various English authors. Some of the subjects which were discussed this year were: Aldous, Huxley, Satire and Irony in Jane Austin, The Poetry of Two Wars, The 1930's in Drama, Virginia Woolf, Joseph Conrad, E. J. Pratt, British and American Humour Today, and Thomas Wolfe.

One meeting was set aside for the presentation of original works of the members.

The executive consists of Professor J. H. Creighton, Honorary President; Peter Ajello, President; and Sheila Davy, Secretary-Treasurer.

Varsity Christian Fellowship

Jean Oben, Joan Frewing, Bill Lloyd, John Vandrick, Jim Martin, Bob Hampton, Nora Campbell.

The Varsity Christian Fellowship is primarily concerned with promoting faith in God and His Son Jesus Christ, as the justification for a way of life and as the basis of successful living.

To promote this ideal, the Fellowship held this year, a programme of study groups, devotionals and inter-Varsity conferences.

This year the executive was Jim Martin, President; Nora Campbell, Vice-President; JoJan Frewing, Corresponding Secretary; Jean Oben, Treasurer; Bob Hampton, Membership Secretary; John Vandrick, Missionary Secretary; Bil Lloyd, Engineers' Representative; and Ken Smith, Advertising Manager.

Psychology Club

Tom Mal'inson, Virginia Bampton, Emma Beech, Frank Bishop.

The study of psychology, the science of the working of the mind, is the object of the members of the Psychology Club.

Field trips are made to Gordon House and Essondale, as well as to other places where the use of psychology is extensively practised.

Members are addressed by prominent speakers on subjects which are closely allied to psychology. This year these speakers included Doctor Topping, whose subject was marriage predictions, and Miss Gorrie of Gordon House, who spoke on community work.

The executive members for 1945-46 were: Frank Bishop, President; Virginia Bampton, Vice-President; Tom Mallinson, Secretary-Treasurer; Irene Wilson, Social Convener.

Glider Club

Hank Zitko, William Adams, George McLeod, Frank Woodward, Barry Jeffries.

The building and flying of gliders is the object of the members of the Thunderbird Gliding and Soaring Club. With an eye to the future, the members hope to graduate into an aviation club. The membership has been large.

The club members have taken wings in a wooden frame glider of their own construction. It is thought that a second glider, appropriated from the Vancouver Glider Club, will be in the air before long. A new project of the Thunderbirds is the construction of a sailplane, when prefabrication kits become available.

The original executive remains in office. It consists of: Frank Woodward, President; Bill Adams, Secretary-Treasurer; Barry Jeffries and George McLeod, Production Managers.

American Institute Of Chemical Engineers

All fourth and fifth year chemical engineers are members of the Student Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

The purpose of the Chapter is to promote student interest in Chemical Engineering. The club provides an opportunity for the members to present technical papers.

On the social side the members held a dance in the Fall term. The fifth year students were also guests of Dr. W. F. Seyer at his annual stage party.

The executive this year consisted of John Welton, President; Gordon Barrow, Librarian; Eric Raeville, Vice-President; Gordon Ames, Secretary-Treasurer; Don Stewart, Corresponding Secretary; and Dr. W. F. Seyer, Coordinator.

Fencing Club

Steve Howlett, Evelyn Atkinson, Ken Carter.

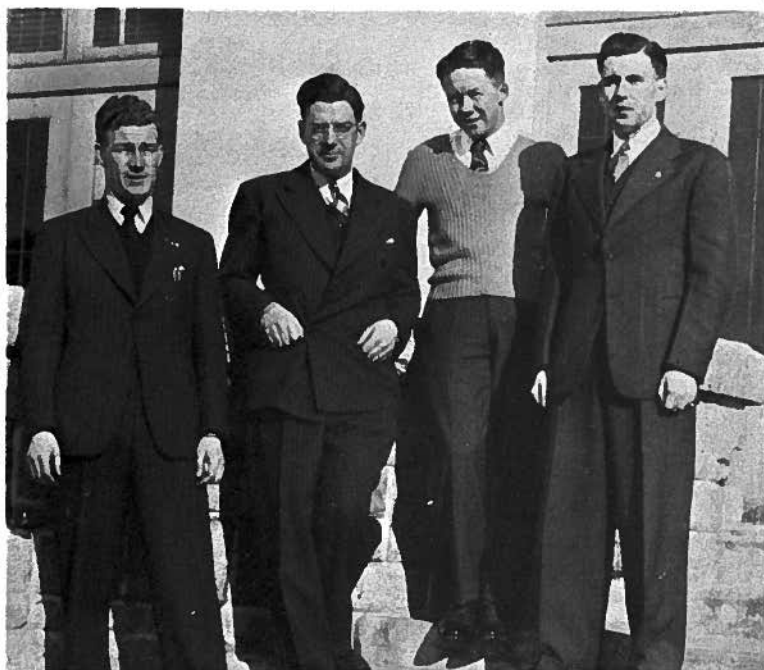

Entirely new on the campus this year was the fencing club, which rose from the ranks of those who took fencing classes in Physical Training. The club employs a professional instructor, Hale Atkinson, who has had considerable experience

The fencing meetings were held in the Armouries. A series of discussions on the art of fencing were sponsored by the club.

Because of the newness of the club, skill was no requisite to membership this year. However, it is expected that by next year the club will field a trained fencing team with which they hope to enter inter-collegiate contests.

The executive consists of Ken Carter, President; Steve Howlett, Vice-President; and Evelyn Atkinson, Secretary.

Pre-Optometrists

Gerry Hilton, Dr. A. M. Crocker,
John Tennant, Desmond Littlewood.

The Pre-Optometry Club is the youngest club on the campus, being organized early in January to congregate students—those students whose future lies in optometry.

Because of the increased interest by students of optometry at U.B.C., and the possibility that some would not be able to attend the only school in Canada at Toronto, the predominant purpose at present is to ascertain the possibility of an optometry school here.

The Executive consists of Dr. A. M. Crocker, Honorary President; Gerry Hilton, President; Gordon McKee, Vice-President; Desmond Littlewood, Secretary-Treasurer; June Lawrence, Recording Secretary, and John Tennant, Programme Convenor.

Camera Club

Bob McLellan, Ingrid Granberg.

The Camera Club was organized to further on the campus the science and art of photography and its applications. The club also aims to facilitate the exchange by its members of information and ideas on the subject.

Somewhat cramped by the loss of its darkroom early in the fall term, the club managed to set up another room before the end of the term. Lectures were given by guest speakers on all artistic and technical aspects of photographic work.

Something entirely new to the club, a photographic display, was held on the campus early in the Spring term.

The executive of the club this year consisted of Bob McLellan, President, and Ingrid Granberg, Secretary-Treasurer.

Engineering Christian Fellowship

Gordie Wolfram, Jack MacLellan, Bill Lloyd, Bob Cox.

Established last year, the Engineers' Chapter of the Varsity Christian Fellowship aims to present in a straightforward way the practical Christian Life as set forth in the Bible.

This year the club sponsored a series of talks by business men, Engineers, and Sportsmen, who spoke of the facts upon which the future Engineers could base their faith.

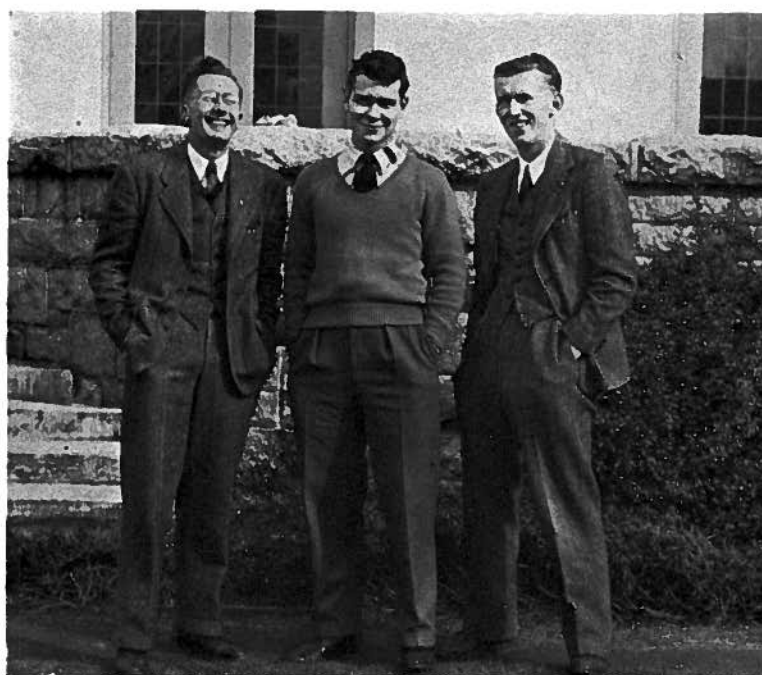

Featured on the program this term was a large and very successful "Engineers' Project" at the Vancouver Bible School.

The fellowship also held a weekly Bible Study Group, and together with the Varsity Christian Fellowship, entered a powerful team in the intra-mural sports.

Mathematics Club

Michael Ozeroff, Dave Carter, Bernie Ostle.

The mathematics club, open to all third and fourth year students as well as to graduates interested in mathematics, enjoyed a very successful year with many prominent members of faculty addressing the club at its bi-weekly meetings.

The club, formed to foster student interest in things mathematical, held meetings at the houses of the various members during the term. Students gave talks on a wide range of topics of current interest to the club. The typical subjects included Peter Pudney's lecture on Stereographic Projection, and Dr. Murdoch's on Map Projection. Book prizes were by the club.

The Executive included: Michael Ozeroff, President; Dave Carter, Vice-President; Bernie Ostle, Sec'y-Treasurer.

American Institute of Electrical Engineers

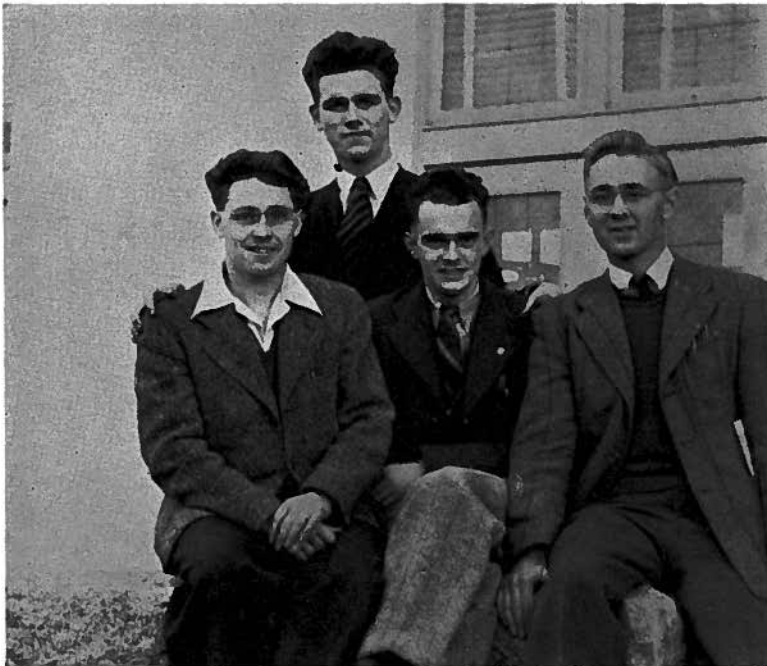

Prof. W. B. Coulthard, Ken Broe,
Mike Bodnar, John Sansum, William
Gill, Bob Lister

The electrical engineering students of the fourth and fifth years are given a helpful introduction to their future professional life through the Students' Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Through movie projections, inspection trips, and guest speakers, members become acquainted with a variety of professional questions.

In special trips have been made to H.M.S. Implacable, the hydro power plant at Stave Falls, the studios of "C.B.R." and the central station of the B.C. Telephone Company.

This year's executive consists of Professor W. B. Coulthard, Counsellor; Ken Broe, Chairman; John Sansum, Secretary-Treasurer; William Gill, Assistant Secretary; and Mike Bodnar, Librarian.

Engineering Institute

Hank Kolbeins, Philip Herring,
Gordon Heal, Bill Batemen.

The Engineering Institute of Canada, Student Branch, is composed of students from all branches of engineering. During the year, the club sponsors addresses by speakers on various aspects of the

Among those features this year were L. Austin Bright, who spoke on "Floating Harbours used after D-Day", and W. P. Henderson who discussed the famous Ripple Rock Project.

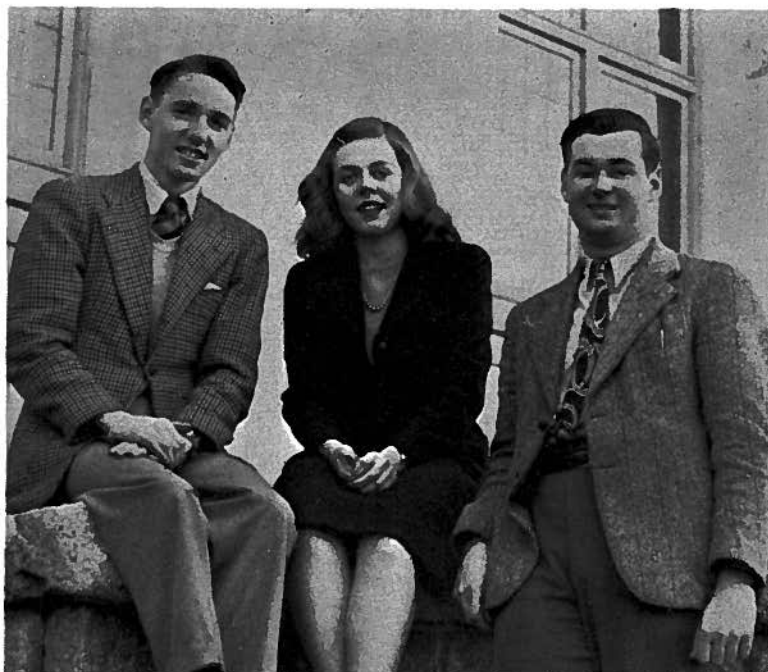

Members also attend the student night at the Vancouver Chapter of the E.I.C., at which members from the student chapter give papers.

The Executive for this year consists of Gordon Heal, President; Hank Kolbeins, Secretary-Treasurer; Philip Herring, Pres. 4th year; Bill Batemen, Secretary-Treasurer 4th year, and Roy Hooley, E.U.S. Representative.

Historical Society

Pat White, Jane MacIntosh, Don Oliver.

"The present day political problems of the several countries of the world" was the historical topic chosen by the members of the Historical Society for this year. Made up almost entirely of third and fourth year students majoring in History, the Society meets every two weeks to listen to papers presented by the members pertaining to the topic chosen at the beginning of the year.

At the end of the year the reports are bound and filed in the Library.

In addition to these talks, several panel discussions were held in the course of the year upon topics of current historical significance.

The executive of the club this year were: Pat White, President; Don Oliver, Vice-President; and Jane McIntosh, Secretary.

Chemical Institute of Canada

Dr. M. J. Marshall, Betty Olson,
Charlie Bullen, Joan Richards, Ross
Stewart.

The former Chemical Society this year joined a nation-wide organization, the Chemical Institute of Canada, as a student chapter. This new organization, for professional chemists, was formed to advance chemistry and the chemical industry.

The club has been fortunate this year in obtaining several excellent speakers at their noon hour meetings, including Mr. E. R. Rowzee of the Polymer Corporation at Sarnia, and Dr. Blythe Eagles of the Dairying Department of U.B.C. Other activities of the Club have included films.

Officers for this year included Dr. M. J. Marshall, Honorary Chairman; Ross Stewart, Joan Richards, Vice-Chairmen; Betty Olson, Secretary; Charles Bullen, Treasurer; Neil Henderson, Third Year Rep., and Jim Buchanan, Graduate Rep.

Le Cercle Francaise

The Cercle Francais is a club organized by students interested in the French language and customs. The club gives the French student practice in carrying on conversations in French; it also gives them an opportunity of learning more of "La Belle France".

At the monthly meetings this year, the members heard talks on the French people, their ways, and their culture, given by members of the faculty.

The executive for this year consisted of Rohan Peele, President; Aline Roulston, Vice-President; Ruth White, Secretary-Treasurer; and sponsor, Dr. Deborah Aish.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers

The student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers aims to acquaint its members with the practical side of engineering. It also gives them an opportunity for practice in the presentation of technical papers.

Weekly meetings were held throughout the year, at which student papers were presented.

During the year, the Society makes several field trips to observe the operation of local factories. This year the factories visited included B.C. Marine Engineering, Vivian Diesel, and H.M.S. Glory.

This year the executive consisted of Professor F. W. Vernon, Honorary President; Tom Scott, President; Ernie Rhodes, Vice-President; Don Stevens, Secretary; Geoff Parkinson, Librarian; and Dunc. Pitman, fourth year representative.

International Relations Club

Performing one of the important jobs on the campus, the International Relations Club has had a successful year in keeping students interested and informed on world affairs.

Speakers of national and international renown has been brought to the campus under the auspices of the club to give the student body both the broader aspects and the close-up views of International problems.

The United Nations Charter, and the future of world organization, have been the main interests of the IRC this year.

The executive this year consisted of Dave Reimer, President; Doug. Leiterman, Secretary-Treasurer; Peter Lindendorf, and Irene Grayston.

Physics Society

The Physics Society is composed of a small group of upper-class students who are interested in studying the extra-curricular aspects of Physics.

Meetings are held every two weeks. At each of these meetings, a paper is given by a professor, student or visitor.

After Christmas, students present papers for a contest for which book prizes were awarded to the Senior students.

Although membership in the club is limited to Junior, Senior and Graduate students in Physics, the meetings are open to all persons interested.

The executive for this year consisted of Bill Thomson, President; Art Johnson, Vice-President; Dave Carter, Secretary-Treasurer.

Economics Club

The discussion of current economic problems of local and world-wide interest is the purpose for which the Economics Society was organized.

At the regular meeting of the club, papers on these subjects are presented by senior members of the society. Many animated discussions were there result of the vitally important and often controversial topics of world affairs, chosen for this year.

Dr. H. F. Angus, head of the Economics Department of the University, addressed the opening meeting in the Fall. He spoke on the London conference of the UNRRA which he personally attended.

The executive this year was Dr. C. W. Topping, Honorary President; Marjorie Smith, President; Doug. Belyea, Vice-President; and Jacqueline Batt, Secretary-Treasurer.

Physics Exchange

The Physics Exchange Society was formed last year by those students in advanced physics and mathematics desiring informal talks in the general field of science. The purpose of these "Seminars" is not only to present the information to the students but also to give each member some practice in organizing material, in presenting this material to an audience and in abstracting the material for publication.

Another objective of the club is to give members some practice in the technique of conducting a business meeting by having the speaker of one week the chairman of the following meeting. Consequently the only club officer necessary is a Recording Secretary, responsible for organization. This position was held this year by C. D. Maunsell.

Radio Hams

The Amateur Radio Operators' Association, frequently known as the "Radio Hams", was formed this year to congregate those on the campus interested in Amateur Radio.

This year the club has almost completed a 250 watt transmitter to operate on the short wave bands. A short wave receiver was also been purchased. Morse code practises are given daily, as well as instructive lectures by prominent radio experts.

In the near future, the club hopes to communicate with other amateurs, especially those of other Universities.

The Executive consists of Dr. G. M. Shrum, Honorary President; Cecil Yip, President; Mike Kelcey, Vice-President; Ralph Gordon, Secretary-Treasurer; R. K. Brown, Technical Advisor; R. Cooper and E. V. Hird, Code Instructors, and Tom Whittemore, Theory Instructor.

Latino Americano Club

Following the organization of the Spanish department, a new club, El Circulo Latino Americano was founded on the campus this year. The object of this club is the study of South American customs and Spanish conversation.

This year the club met twice a month.

At these meetings, the students carried on a series of Spanish conversation. They also learned Spanish songs. These activities were interspersed with the showing of films.

The executive included Dr. C. Vyner Brooks, Honorary President; Walter Hirtle, President; Helen Brown, Vice-President; Genevieve Johnson, Secretary; Bob Armstrong, Treasurer; and Heather Blundell, Program Convener.

RESIDENCES

1. Co-op house mother; 2. Barney fries; 3. Obviously posed; 4. Sun worshipper; 5. and puppy dogs' tales; 6. Dainty; 7. Inhuman; 8. 16 more days; 9. ergo pu is constant.

Forerunning the establishment of student residences on the campus are three organizations: Acadia Camp, the Fort Camp, and the University Students' Co-operative Association.

Largest of these boarding places is the University-operated Acadia Camp housing 145 single men, 50 women, and 25 married men and their families.

Situated about a mile from the campus just off University Boulevard, the nucleus of the residence is a former Provincial Government forestry camp. The buildings have been renovated and steam heat installed. Since starting operation last September several army huts have been reconverted and added to the ever-growing establishment.

Out on the end of the Point about fifteen minutes' walk from the campus nestles the Fort Camp, also operated by the University. Arrangements at the Fort are similar to those at Acadia except that men only are accommodated and the kitchen is presided over by C.S.M. A. P. MacDowell.

Oldest of all student residences are the houses operated by the University Students' Co-operative Association. Although hard hit by the housing shortage, the Co-op has managed to keep one men's and one women's house in operation. Because of this severe limitation of accommodation the Co-op has been forced to turn away over a hundred applicants, but plans for expansion are well underway.

In the two residences the keynote is co-operation, with all members doing their share of the housework. Only the evening meal is prepared by the housemother.

Living and working together the residents develop a spirit of co-operation and responsibility which will serve them in good stead in the years

BADGE OF STYLE LEADERSHIP

The label in the garment is a matter of pride or indifference

Vancouver women are proud to have this "WILLARD'S" label on their clothes because it is the "BADGE of STYLE LEADERSHIP"

Business Is Moving To

BRITISH COLUMBIA

- ★ Forward-looking Industrialists all over the world are paying close attention to British Columbia.
- ★ With its wealth of natural resources, its open ice-free ports with their splendid terminal facilities, its abundance of power, its climate so salubrious as to permit of year-round operations, it is unique from the industrial standpoint.....
- ★ Its attractive living and labour conditions make for contentment and a low labour turn-over. Its attitude towards new enterprise, and its readiness to assist with all its facilities for study and research are distinctly encouraging.
- ★ WHAT THIS MEANS TO OUR YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN NEEDS NO EMPHASIS. Trained and equipped to take their places in the industrial picture, the movement of business to British Columbia opens up a fascinating field of opportunity.
- ★ Logging and Lumbering, Mining, Agriculture and Fishing all demand their trained personnel. In the secondary industries—manufacturing in all its branches—the possibilities are infinite.
- ★ Great years are in store for Canada. Still young among the nations, still thinly populated, her genius, toil and daring enterprise, and the intelligence with which she has developed her vast resources, have placed her in an unassailable position in the eyes of the world.
- ★ What applies to Canada applies equally to British Columbia. British Columbia shall reap her full share of whatever lies in store, shall participate in full measure in Canada's prosperity and advancement. Climatically, industrially, and socially, forward-looking individuals and industrialists all over the world already see it as a great field of opportunity.

Students and Staff are always welcome
at Spencer's.*

THROUGH 73 years of British Columbia's progressive history many thousands of citizens throughout the Province have learned the wisdom of "buying quality"—the best procurable goods—at Spencer's. "Quality" has been the tradition of Spencer merchandising down through the years, and it has become the wise tradition in many families, generation after generation, to do all their shopping under one roof—"in the big family store" . . . Spencer's.

BACKS UP EFFICIENCY!

Increased capacity, greater output and a related flow of production follows where clever minds and dependable machines are united. The history of western commercial development is being written on this formula.

Vancouver Engineering Works Ltd., newly organized under British Columbia ownership, specializes in supplying custom built machines required by lumbering, fishing, mining and agriculture.

Its watchword is to produce quality equipment on order and key it to the specific needs of the basic industry it will serve. Prompt delivery of every production installation is of foremost importance.

A MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF '46

You are leaving the relatively sheltered atmosphere of the University to take your places in the world of professional, business and industrial enterprise, a world in which the competition is keen and unremitting. But you enter it with the inestimable advantage of minds trained and disciplined by your years of study and research, and equipped with skills which place you in the forefront wherever technical ability is in demand.

No Province of Canada offers a finer field of opportunity than British Columbia. Its huge basic industries call constantly for specialized knowledge. Its great and growing industrial structure presents fascinating possibilities, rich in promise and reward.

May Good Fortune attend you in your new sphere, and may the years bring you that measure of satisfaction which comes from work well done and responsibilities well borne.

GEORGE M. WEIR,
Minister of Education.

WHAT DO YOU PLAN TO BE

Scientist?

It pays to experiment—when you know what you are doing. If you don't, you are due for unpleasant surprises. Of one thing you can be certain. No matter what your future calling may be, careful money management can mean much to your peace of mind, enable you to concentrate on making a success of your calling. A good way to acquire the habit of thrift is to open a savings account now even though deposits may be modest at first. We welcome your account.

In Memorium

The death of Cecil Everett Yip, on March 7th, 1945, spelt the loss of one of the best liked and most willing men on the Publications Board photography staff. He was active in many ways around the University which he had been affiliated with for nine years. Cecil was a member of the research staff in the Physics Department, where Dr. Smith speaks very highly of his ability and his willingness to undertake the most arduous tasks. He was a member of the Amateur Radio Operators at University, and had operated his own radio station for some years prior to the war.

His loss will mean a great deal to the many people with whom he came in contact every day in the course of his varied activities.

Apologies and Acknowledgements

As the end of the year approaches, and the staff is swamped with mountains of proofs and layout forms, amid the last minute flurry of preparation for final exams, mistakes begin to creep in. Many of them were caught by the proof-readers, several slipped by, and for any of these which time did not permit us to correct, both in pictures and copy, the editor and staff of the Totem offer their most sincere apologies.

In a few specific instances: To Harry Castil-lou, for the omission of his picture in the Publications Board section, and to Gordie Heal and Roy Hooley, whose pictures we mixed up on the Science '46 Executive page, we tender our regrets. In the Minor Clubs, two or three pictures of the Executives were misplaced in the process of engraving, and turned up too late to appear in the book. We regret this omission very much.

In the way of acknowledgement, we would like to mention the assistance of several individuals and organizations whose help and co-operation was greatly appreciated.

The staff of President's office, for their aid with the faculty information; Allan Dawe, whose excellent poem appears on the Memorial page; Art Jones, for the use of several of his very good photographs; Mr. and Mrs. Gray for the picture of their son; Mr. Walberer, of Russell's studios; the staff of the Ubysey; the Vancouver Daily Province; the Vancouver Sun; and the student organizations that appear in the book for their co-operation in handing in copy of their activities
