Fonds Description

Institute of International Relations fonds. – 1973-1989.

10 cm of textual records.

Administrative History

The Institute of International Relations was established at the University of British Columbia in 1970 to promote multi-disciplinary research projects involving international relations. Included within the scope of the Institute is research on international politics and organizations, diplomatic history, strategic studies, international legal problems, and trade and development, as well as social science theory insofar as it helps to describe or explain international relationships.

Administered by a Committee of the Faculty of Arts composed of representatives of participating departments, the Institute supports individual or group research projects at the graduate, post-graduate and faculty levels, but does not itself offer courses or degree programs.

Scope and Content

The fonds consists of correspondence, minutes, reports, completed student survey forms, and brochures generated by the Institute of International Relations Coordinating Committee between 1973 and 1989.

Notes

Fonds consists of institutional records – access requests must be reviewed by the University's FOIPOP Coordinator.

Some restrictions apply.

File List available.
